Soon Forgotten Unless .

People in general are soon forgotten by the masses. Relatives, close friends and members of immediate families remain in vivid memory for a certain few. But the world moves on.

This newspaper, for instance, must be edited, not just for the old timers, but for the new ones growing up, for the visitors arriving weekly, for those who decided to settle here permanently. In order to afford good coverage, stories must be intelligible for the stranger as well as the old codger who has lived here all his life. Even this fellow, if he isn't careful, gets into a rut and knows only the people with whom he was associated early in life.

Many of these people soon pass on, but it is hard for these old timers to realize that people they know may be entirely unknown to a new crop of humanity.

That is why business men must keep advertising constantly. The merchant who says "I've been in business sixty years and everybody knows where my store is and what I sell," soon finds out that his store is being passed by for the store that keeps its name before the public constantly and consistently.

There are always children growing up who have to learn the same things we learned in school. The method may be different but the basic learning must be obtained somehow.

Even from week to week, events of the community in which a newspaper circulates must be rehashed for the late comers. Facts must be re-stated from time to time.

One has only to stand on the street corner in Oakland on Saturday night to realize the number of people he doesn't know and has no idea whom they even resemble. It's a moving world. When we stand still we go backward.

In Garrett county, all of must keep pushing for continued improvements, must continue to be personal boosters for this recreational area, and do all we can to interest new industries in settling here. We can't sell Garrett county to others if we don't believe in it ourselves. So keep those tongues wagging through these cold winter months.

Operation Normal At Creamery Plant

Operations at the milk plant of the Fairmont Foods company in Oakland were back to normal this week as all workers returned to their jobs.

The plant resumed operation last Wednesday afternoon when nine of fourteen hourly-paid employes who were seeking an adjustment in the wage scale, reported back for work. The other five were accepted back for employment on Monday morning.

E. Paige Hickman, plant manager, said yesterday that personnel representatives of the company are expecting to be here within a few days to talk over wage and other problems with the workers.

The approximately 300 milk producers from a three-county area have been bringing their milk to the plant uninterruptedly since last Wednesday and conditions seemed to be as usual.

The cottage cheese filler machine, which was removed from the plant when the work stoppage occurred, is still in Ohio, Hickman said, but it was expected to be returned to Oakland in the near future. In the meantime the room which housed the cottage cheese machinery was being repainted.

Home Destroyed By Fire; Neighbors Cut Timbers for New One

The home of Mrs. Ida Glotfelty, widow of Sam Glotfelty, and her son Bruce Glotfelty, about 14 miles from Oakland, was destroyed by fire last Thursday about noon, but activity toward rebuilding the structure was under way by neighbors just two days later.

Starting from a defective flue the fire had gained considerable headway by the time the Oakland Fire Department arrived on the scene, but firemen had the blaze under control when the water supply was exhausted. Firemen and neighbors then carried much of the furniture from the two-story frame home, but were unable to halt its complete destruction.

On Saturday approximately forty neighbors, some with tractors, some with power saws, arrived at the farm and by a little past noon had cut enough timber for the new house. While some transported logs to the sawmill, others cleared away debris from the foundation. The lumber will be available to rebuild the structure when the weather permits.

Planning Behind Each Bloodmobile Visit Necessary For Its Success

When announcement is made of a regular visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile unit to Garrett county, not many persons will realize the hours of planning that must be spent by a large number of people in order for the schedule to be carried out smoothly.

In order that citizens may know what goes on behind the scenes, Mrs. W. W. Grant, publicity chairman for the Red Cross bloodmobile unit, has written an account of the various activities. This is being done to prepare the way for the next visit to Oakland on Wednesday, February 3.

Two years ago, on February 28, 1952, the first visit was made here and up to this time there have been twelve visits to the county, including two to Kitzmiller, two to Grantsville, one to Friendsville, and seven to Oakland.

Mrs. Grant points out that before each visit much of the necessary planning work is done by local women who make up the various committees. She explained the work of these committees.

The canteen committee of six or eight women plans menus for the lunch and dinner to be served to the Red Cross nurses. Meals are paid for by the nurses but the cooking and serving are done by the canteen workers. Sandwiches, coffee and fruit juice are also prepared by this committee for use of blood donors.

The reception committee has six members. They greet the donors, take charge of wraps, see that they are comfortable and at ease and direct them into the room where the program is being carried out.

The registration committee of five or more checks the lists of donors, fills in cards for each donor showing name, residence, number of times blood has been contributed, and other important facts. After the bloodmobile visit is concluded this committee compiles the necessary information about the visit for the Red Cross files. Between visits they re-check lists and make out new ones, send cards to prospective and former donors as to the date of the visit and the time of their appointment.

The Red Cross nurses need the help of local nurses during these visits and many former nurses volunteer for this work. In some instances they pay a baby sitter so that they might be free to donate their time.

Local physicians also donate their services, because a doctor must always be in attendance during the time the program is being carried on.

The Oakland firemen donate the use of the Firemen's hall. They assist in every way possible by lending their kitchen and equipment, helping to set up cots and doing other duties.

The overall chairman of the program is Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, who must spend a great deal of time working out the many details necessary to its success.

Throughout all the activity Mrs. Grant also directs much credit to those who procure the donors for the blood program through organizations and personal solicitation, and to the donors themselves for their part in contributing the fluid which is used to save the lives of other people.

Century of Service Accomplishment Of Three Carriers

Almost a century of service to patrons of the Oakland postoffice was completed December 31 by three veteran mail carriers, Robert T. Hoffman, Wade H. Mason and William E. Eggers have a combined service record of 98 years.

Mason's employment with the local office began in 1913, and has continued with one interruption of two years when he engaged in other business. He returned to the post office, however, and has been on the job continuously since 1918, serving under eight postmasters. Beginning in 1923, he has carried the mail on Oakland's Route 1, a daily trip of 52 miles, serving 232 families to the south and northwest of Oakland.

Since 1924, Eggers has served Route 2 out of Oakland to the south and east, including parts of Mt. Lake Park and the Gortner area. His daily trip is 57.8 miles, with 338 families on his route.

Hoffman also joined the post office staff in 1924, and since then has delivered letters and parcel post throughout Oakland. His period of service was interrupted for about two years during the war, but even so his association with the post office did not stop. He was assigned as a postal clerk for American forces in China. This past Christmas season was his thirtieth in carrying mail to Oakland residents.

The carriers' work begins at eight a. m., when each reports to the post office and sorts the mail to be handled that day. About nine o'clock, Mason and Eggers climb into their automobiles and Hoffman begins his daily walk of some seven miles—unless he has been assigned to parcel post and uses the delivery truck.

The experiences of all have been mostly routine. None could recall anything of an exceptional nature occurring while on the rounds, although Mason does remember being called upon at one farm to shoot a mad dog. "The gun they handed me to do the job," he says, "scared me more than the dog. I wasn't sure whether it would do away with the animal or with me."

Hoffman reports the stories often circulated of the large number of shoes worn out by postmen are "slightly exaggerated." "The pair I have on now I bought last May," he said, "and they still have a lot of mileage left."

Grantsville Area Soldier Listed As Korea War Victim

Mrs. Louise M. McKenzie, route 2, Frostburg, of near Finzel, received a letter under date of December 31 announcing that her son, Pfc. John L. McKenzie, U. S. Infantry, reported missing in action November 2, 1950, is now listed officially as dead.

The letter stated that no information had been received concerning Pvt. McKenzie, and on this account an official finding of death had been recorded under Provision 490, 77th Congress, approved March 7, 1942.

The finding does not establish actual or possible date of death. However, as required by law, it includes a presumptive date of death for the termination of pay and allowance settlement of account payment of death gratuities. In this case the death has been set as December 31, 1953.

Pvt. McKenzie was a graduate of Grantsville High school with the class of 1948, and enlisted in the Army May 3, 1950. Prior to his enlistment he had been employed by the Prichard Corporation, Frostburg. He left the United States September 6, 1950, and after spending a short time in Japan was sent to Korea with the First U. S. Cavalry.

His survivors include, besides his mother, his father, Cobey McKenzie, of Grantsville; two sisters, Mary Margaret and Maxine McKenzie, and a brother, Kenneth, all of Finzel.

Oakland Scouts Begin New Year

Scoutmaster Ralph Fauber Lists Names of Those On Troop And Explorer Rolls

Thirty-four boy scouts and explorer scouts will be re-registered for the new year in the Oakland troop and post, it was announced this week by Ralph M. Fauber, scoutmaster.

This is the second year that the registrations will be separate units. Boy scouts now are listed from 11 to 14 years of age, while explorer scouts are those 14 years old and older.

In the explorer unit will be Douglas Smith, Sam Moore, Bill Moore, Bruce Swift, John Brown, Dixon Nace, David Nace, Bill Johnson, John Hanst, George Hanst and Wayne Graham, the latter three are away at school. Brian Thayer also will register with the explorer group.

Sam Moore will also serve as junior assistant scoutmaster for the boy scout troop, assisting scoutmaster Fauber and Joe Soukup, assistant scoutmaster.

Explorer meetings are held on Wednesday nights, with regular scout meeting on Thursday night. Both groups are sponsored by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club and members of the troop committee are mostly from this organization.

Scouts must re-register each year to maintain an active group. The Oakland troop was chartered in the fall of 1924, and has remained active since that time with no lapse of membership.

1,657 Get Marriage Licenses In 1953

During the past year 1,657 couples were married in Garrett county, it was learned from the records of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court. This is about a thousand less than came here in former years, before the forty-eight-hour waiting period became a law, but is still a sizeable figure for this area.

The breakdown on the months showed that the busiest time was in October when 168 licenses were issued. This was only one more than August and four more than June, but the summer months usually are the busiest for the license clerk.

The months were listed as follows: January 118, February 112, March 132, April 140, May 143, June 164, July 145, August 167, September 137, October 168, November 112, December 119; total 1,657.

Most of the couples were from West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Calls Meeting On Civil Defense

A Civil Defense meeting has been called by Rev. John J. Atwell, civil defense director of Oakland, for Wednesday, January 13, at 7:30 p. m., in the Oakland Fire Hall.

Rev. Atwell urged a good attendance as he feels civil defense is extremely important at this time and he termed the civil defense program as every one's job.

Much organization remains to be done and he asked that people make every effort possible to be present. Those unable to be present are asked to notify him that they will give some of their time to the welfare and freedom of the country.

"None of us know when the godless enemy may strike," Atwell said, "but why wait until he has already done so. We have a responsibility to our families, our institutions, our county, state, nation and to God."

Legislature Will Open On February 3

The Maryland legislature will open for its thirty-day session on Wednesday, February 3, at Annapolis, it was learned this week from State Senator Neil C. Fraley.

Delegates from this county are Harry C. Edwards, Arthur H. Green and George E. Coddington. Only matters pertaining to the state budget, or state-wide emergencies will be introduced at the short session. No local legislation will be introduced.

March Of Dimes Drive Underway

The annual campaign to raise funds to fight infantile paralysis was launched locally this week. It will continue throughout the month of January.

Fifty percent of the funds contributed will remain within the county to help pay the cost of treating local patients. The balance will go to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Robert W. Stemple is county chairman of the drive this year with Charles L. Briner as campaign director and S. R. Pagenhardt as campaign treasurer.

Stemple said this week that a number of cards had been sent to people in the county who probably would not be within reach of the containers that were being placed in many places of business. Some of these containers were distributed last Saturday and others were scheduled to be given out this week.

During the 1954 March of Dimes the National Foundation is asking for 50 percent more than the amount raised last year. In stressing the need Basil O'Connor, president of the foundation said: "The new polio prevention program will be the hardest blow against polio we have ever struck. Wide-scale validity tests of a trial polio vaccine this year and the expanded use of gamma globulin as a stop-gap protective measure in 1954 mark a dramatic advance. Like all advances, it is expensive, but the fight dare not be weakened when victory seems almost in sight."

Mothers Plan March

This year the women across the country will conduct a Mothers' March on Polio, and will take place on January 29, at the same time of the nation-wide appeal over radio and television. The march will be a house to house canvass and will take the place of the annual visitation that usually took place during the campaign period.

In 1953, the sixth consecutive year of intense epidemics saw the disease strike more than 35,000 people, shooting the nation-wide toll to 225,000 since 1948. During 1953, 88,000 persons received assistance from the National Foundation at an expense of $29 million.

County In Midst Of Its Worst Storm Of Current Season

Garrett county was in the midst of its worst storm of the season, with a combination of snow and ice that made highways hazardous. The snow had reached a total depth of about six inches this morning and more was still falling.

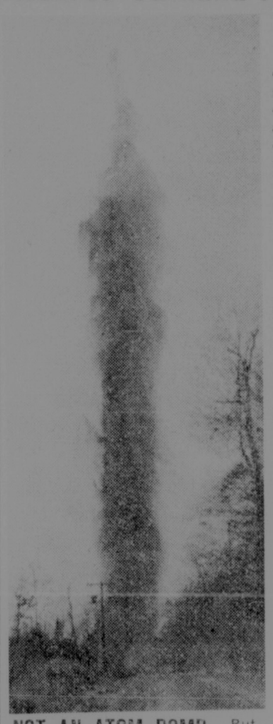
High winds had whipped the snow into good sized drifts that kept both County and State Roads plows busy during all of yesterday and last night. The Roads commission was advising motorists to use chains on their cars. Temperature yesterday and today remained in the early 20's and there was no sign of moderation up to noon today.

The week's weather schedule went something like this. Thursday, cold with slight snow; Saturday, clear and warm; Saturday night, rain, turning to snow Sunday morning. Monday, icy. Tuesday, some snow and rain, then additional snow; Wednesday, more snow and colder.

The ice of Monday morning caused a smash-up on route 50, near Red House, but no one was injured. A dip in the road near the Hamilton farm caused four cars to pile up. No motorist was blamed for the accident and State police gave out accident reports for all drivers to fill out.

Trucks and plows of the State and County were continuing in operation today.

"Shooting" Of Water Well Now Assures Oakland Ample Supply



NOT AN ATOM BOMB—But 80 quarts of nitroglycerin throw rock and clay nearly 200 feet into the air. The explosion last Wednesday afternoon substantially increased the outout of Oakland's No. 3 well on the municipal water farm. Height of explosion can be judged by 30-foot power pole in foreground. (Republican Photo)

An all night vigil over eighty quarts of nitroglycerin, an emergency trip to Oakland from Marietta, Ohio, by a demolition expert, and the spectacle of thirty quarts of high explosive hanging from a tree—all this had a happy ending last week as Oakland's water supply was substantially increased.

In order to increase the flow from the town's No. 3 well on the municipal water farm near the golf course, the Producers' Torpedo company, of Marietta, was engaged to "shoot" the hole with nitroglycerin, at a depth of 350 feet. The explosion was scheduled for last Tuesday afternoon. After removing the casing, 30 quarts of the explosive were lowered into the hole when it was discovered that some obstruction prevented the "soup" from going deeper. Reluctant to remove the explosive, which was described as a "very dangerous operation," the Torpedo company's representative put in a call to his home office, which dispatched an expert demolition worker to Oakland.

Tuesday night, an all-night vigil was maintained over the 30 quarts of nitroglycerin in the well, and another fifty quarts on the ground around the hole. Early Wednesday morning, the two men succeeded in raising the explosive already placed in the ground and, for safe keeping, hung it from the branches of a nearby tree. The well was then cleaned, the obstruction removed, and all eighty quarts of nitroglycerin were placed at the bottom of the hole.

The explosion was touched off by an automatic timing device, set to detonate at 2:59 p. m. last Wednesday afternoon. Actually, it was fired a few minutes early, throwing rock and clay almost 200 feet into the air.

Results of the explosion were determined this week. Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh reported yesterday that prior to shooting the well, the town was able to pump less than 50 gallons per minute from the well. Yesterday, he estimated that from 125 to 150 gallons could be taken without losing the water level.

In addition, two other producing wells on the town's property were helped by the blast. The nearest well, 2700 feet away, raised two feet; another, more distant, increased by 1½ feet.

It was explained that by blasting the bottom of the well, an underground reservoir, from 30 to 50 feet in diameter, was created, which tended to draw more water from the surrounding area. Any danger of a water shortage here apparently is now over.

Mayor Hinebaugh also announced plans for drilling a fourth well, to be used as a "stand-by" water supply, about 1000 feet north of the newest source.

Last Thursday, before water from the new well was turned into the municipal supply, the level in the town's reservoir had dropped 16 feet. Since then, it has gained about 1½ feet per day and yesterday stood 5½ feet from the top, according to Mayor Hinebaugh, who added that all restrictions on the use of water in the town have been lifted. Some weeks ago, when the drought had cut into the water supply, the Mayor and Town Council asked citizens to refrain from washing automobiles, watering lawns or using water unnecessarily.

The total cost of blasting the well, according to Mayor Hinebaugh, was about $300, which he described as very small compared to the cost of drilling another well.

Basketball Games To Benefit Polio Drive In County

Two basketball games in the Southern High school gymnasium will benefit the polio fund in Garrett county, it was announced this week by Robert W. Stemple, county director.

The games will be played Thursday evening, January 21. The first game at 7:15 will be between Southern High school alumni and Northern High alumni, and this will be followed at 8:15 p. m. by the Cumberland Old Germans and Oakland Independents.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. The games are expected to draw large crowds which should fill completely the new gymnasium which has a seating capacity of about fifteen hundred.

Stemple said that the Oakland band would be on hand to furnish music and that the local National Guard unit would present the colors at a brief ceremony.

The benefit games are only two activities planned in the county this month to raise funds to fight polio.

Efforts To Revive Agricultural Fair Are Being Made

Efforts to revive interest in a Garrett county fair are being made by a number of business men of the community, it was learned yesterday.

As a result of this interest, a meeting has been called for Monday evening, January 18, at 8 p. m., at the Fire hall on Third street, to discuss the matter. All interested persons are being invited.

Some talk previously among members of the Fire department had resulted in obtaining a lease on the Baltimore and Ohio property adjacent to the Manhattan hotel and adjoining the Carnation company property, which was considered a likely place for the affair.

There have been no Garrett county fairs for about the past twenty-five years.

The possibilities will hinge materially on whether or not much interest is shown at the meeting on the 18th.

Oakland Lodge No. 192, A. F. and A. Masons, will install their elected officers and invest their appointive officers, at the regular communication on Tuesday evening, beginning at 7:30. Louis W. Hicks, Westernport, district inspector, will be the installing officer, assisted by past masters of Oakland lodge.

After her marriage she came to Garrett county where she has reared a family and is the wife of one of the county's large turkey growers.

She has been president of the County Council of Homemakers clubs, president of the Associated Women of the Garrett County Farm Bureau and at present is president of the County Council of Parents and Teachers.

Now Is the Time to Kill Rats, Mice

Rats and mice move indoors when the mercury drops, so be prepared for the annual invasion.

Pest control specialists say that an effective anti-rat and mouse

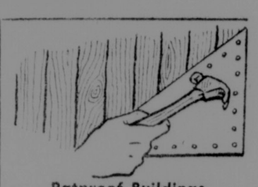
Clean Up Rubbish

campaign includes these three steps:

1—For good sanitation, remove all rubbish piles and stack lumber and firewood neatly on racks at least one foot above ground level.

2—Buildings in which grain and feed are stored should be ratproofed, if possible. Informative bulletins on ratproofing may be obtained from your county agricultural agent.

Third and most effective measure in the autumn anti-rat campaign is baiting. Outstanding among the available rat and mouse killers is warfarin, a potent chemical discovered in the laboratories of Dr. Karl Paul Link, Biochemistry Dept., University of Wisconsin, by Drs. Mark A. Stahmann, Miyoshi Ikawa, and Link. Many communities are now achieving a "rat-free" status by using warfarin bait in local campaigns.



Ratproof Buildings

This particular bait kills all species of rats and mice common to the United States; it is a slow killer and does not create bait shyness; no pre-baiting is required; no tolerance develops; it is easy to use; it may be used in any climate or season at any temperature; it is comparatively safe to use; and it may be purchased as a concentrate or a ready-mixed bait.

Place Rat Bait

In using warfarin bait, it must be made available to the rats and mice at all times. Bait stations—shallow containers protected with a board or a wooden box—are usually examined every 48 hours. A limited number of permanent bait stations will kill newcomers and control reinvasion.

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life

By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church

TANTRUMS

If you're one of those unhappy folk whose flights off the proverbial handle land you frequently in hot water, be comforted by the longest and loudest tantrum known to history. I'm referring to an 18th century bad-tempered gadabout named Philip Thicknesse. He spent 73 years in a tantrum. His biographer described him as a "peppery old fire-eater."

A word of caution! Beware of using this tantrum record as an excuse for lathering up more often. You can's argue down the fact that bad temper builds a wall around you so high that you can't get out and nobody else can get in. (It's hard on the digestion, too.)

Take to heart St. Paul's wise counsel: "Never let the sun go down upon your wrath," which might be interpreted "never go to sleep mad at anybody." Then you'll not end up like Mr. Thicknesse, loneliest man in seven states. At any rate, don't try for any records with your tantrums, the word that can change your life.

The '54 BUICK 's got it—

The BIG CHANGE you've been hoping for!

Exemplar of the 1954 Buick's years-from-now styling is this stunning new SUPER Riviera

THE instant you see these 1954 Buicks, you'll know that something sensational has happened in automobile styling.

Here is vastly more than the usual model changeover. Here is vastly more than could be done just by warming over what Buick had before. Here is something accomplished by going far beyond artful face-lifting.

But Buick didn't stop with the bolder, fresher, swifter-lined beauty you see in raised and lengthened fender sweep—in the huge and back-swept expanse of windshield—in the lowered roofline—in the host more glamor features of exterior modernity.

They upped all horsepowers to the highest in Buick history.

They engineered a new V8 for the SPECIAL—and in the process came up with new Power-Head Pistons that boost gasoline mileage in every engine.

BUICK

the beautiful buy

They brought to market a sparkling newcomer with a famous name, the Buick CENTURY—a car with phenomenal horsepower for its weight and price—a car with more pure thrill per dollar than any Buick ever built.

And they did all this without change of the price structure which, for years, has made Buick the most popular car at its price in the world.

We invite you to come in and inspect these great beauties, these great performers, these great buys. Then you'll see why the Detroit previewers are already saying, "Buick's the beautiful buy!"

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Looking Forward

In a few days now Congress will convene and the President, in person, will present his message on the state of the Union. But two days before that—on Monday night—he will speak directly to the American people over television, giving them a review, as he sees it, both of the foreign and domestic situation. In a few more days the entire Administration program, as formulated by the President, will be laid before Congress and the country.

This is the climax of a great many months of work by General Eisenhower, his aides, advisers and friends. It is the very best they can do. No one questions its sincerity. No one disputes the disinterested integrity of purpose behind it. No one thinks—at least no one not utterly partisan—that there is any personal or political motive anywhere in its pattern. Ike can, does, has and will make mistakes. But, so far, even among his most bitter professional political opponents and the very hostile and far to the left columnists (except a few of the acknowledgedly embittered ones), no one has questioned that what the President will propose is what he believes is in the national interests and that neither his personal nor political interests are calculatingly concerned.

It is worth noting that this is the first time in 22 years that the opposition to an administration has made this remarkable concession. In brief, it is the first time in more than a generation in which some of the congressional opponents of a sitting President have not doubted his personal veracity, good faith or the sanctity of his word. This does not mean that General Ike and his program are beyond criticism. It does not mean that he will not "go wrong" in a number of ways. All it does mean is that, for the first time since 1932, the American people have at the head of their Government a man whose good faith, whose honor, whose personal disinterestedness and intentions cannot be impugned. In brief, they have a man whom they can trust. He may make mistakes, but he won't "sell them out."

—o—

Above all else this is the great Eisenhower asset. If the people of the nation believe that this is the kind of man he is (and there is every indication that they do so believe), this is the reason his program, to a large extent, will go through in the coming session. This is why, despite the fact that he lacks one of having a Republican majority in the Senate and his party majority in the House is so slender that it easily may disappear over night—through illness or death—this is why if, when the crises occur, he follows out his present plans of taking his case straight to the people week after week and week after week, he will prevail—despite the odds against him and the poisonous nature of some of his opponents.

—o—

In brief, he can win if he does not falter. Until recently a constant drumming had been maintained by the Democratic National Committee and by the more virulent Democratic senators such as "Mike" Monroney, of Oklahoma; Humphrey, of Minnesota, and Lyndon Johnson, of Texas, to the general effect that General Ike had supinely surrendered to one or the other of the Republican factions; that he was failing to assert his "leadership"; that he was "timorous" and "confused." For a long time the anti-Ike propagandists sang on these keys. But they have not done so recently. They ceased to do so almost immediately after the President made his historic speech before the United Nations. Most of his critics on foreign policy fell into line with him after that.

When he followed through with his four days of conferences with Republican chairmen of House and Senate concerning the measures he will submit to Congress, the talk about Ike's "lack of leadership" just went "out the window." Undoubtedly, the President will have to fight to get his program—or even a large part of it—through. After the Republican conference the President invited the leading Democrats of House and Senate to go over his proposals with him. Notwithstanding the pain this caused some of the irreconcilable New Deal journalists, the Democratic conference promises to be almost as successful as the Republican. No one expects the Democrats to throw up their hats and cheer but even the most hostile among them concede it is a "friendly gesture."

Of two things there now seems no doubt—first, the Republicans in Congress have got the White House leadership for which they have been squalling; second, that for a considerable part of the Eisenhower program the Democratic support essential to put it through will be forthcoming. For this there will be two good reasons: (1), most of the President's proposals will be obviously sound; (2), most of them will have very great popular support.

Wants Doe Season

To The Editor:

Now that the deer season is over, and all reports are in and gone over, the results show that something definitely has to be done in Garrett County to increase the male deer herd.

For instance, there were 150 less bucks killed there the past season than in the previous one while other counties exceeded their kill of bucks. Why should Garrett County fall back? It is the largest county in Maryland and is more suitable for the protection of deer. The whole trouble is, as I see it, there is not enough of forage, and too many does. For example, I had a party of fourteen hunters on my place, Lone Wolf lodge, near Hutton, and only one 5-point buck was killed. It was scrawny and weighed only 87 pounds. Over fifty does were seen.

The State of Pennsylvania realized years ago what was happening to its deer herd, and immediately set up a DOE season. If this is not done in Garrett County next season our herd will be depleted rapidly. I would suggest a one-day doe season in September or just before the rutting season arrives. Maybe some conservationist can work out something better. Study the facts about the vast number of deer at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds. Why can't more deer be trapped there and shipped into Garrett County? This, in my opinion, would help solve our problem.

DEFINITELY something has to be done and done PROMPTLY.

Yours in Sport,
Frank W. Miller

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

One of the world's great problems within man's capacity to solve is that of adequately feeding the people. At many places on the earth's surface it has not been solved. It hasn't been solved in India where famine has stalked throughout the centuries and where teeming millions today are perpetually undernourished. It hasn't been solved in China where chronic hunger has been a miserable burden passed from one generation to the next.

India hasn't solved the problem of feeding her millions by adopting Socialism; nor is China's centuries-old hunger going to be appeased by the phony "land reform" of the Communists. The great food problems of Asia, and elsewhere, can be solved only by vastly increased productivity on the land. In our free America, industry and science have joined to make our farms the biggest producers and our people the best fed on earth.

The big chemical companies are constantly discovering new means of improving agricultural productivity. DuPont, one of the biggest, is spending millions for research in agricultural chemistry. It has just published a booklet entitled "The Story of Farm Chemicals." The booklet points up this fundamental truth:

"When each man can raise only enough to feed himself, then all productive effort must go to the raising of food. Thus, a valid yardstick of civilization's progress is the extent to which the farmer's productivity permits larger and larger segments of the population to use their skills in other fields."

How strikingly this truth is brought home as you travel across the Orient, or the Middle East, or India! In the rich Nile valley, I saw literally a whole people enslaved to the land because their ancient farming methods produced so little. I lived among similar conditions in China where the tools and techniques of farming are as old and unchanged as the Great Wall and where 85 per cent of the people are pinned down to the soil in an attempt to eat. Too few are left to be producing the sinews of advancing civilization.

In 1820 America was producing very little more than enough foodstuff for herself even though 85 per cent of her people lived on farms. Today with 12 per cent of the population on farms we are much better fed. Industrial research has helped us accomplish this significant advance; and it has freed millions from the farm task to go to business and industrial centers and produce goods and services to enrich American life. But the greatest promise of industrial research lies just ahead. All mankind has a stake in it.

U. M. T. Again An Issue

President Dwight D. Eisenhower's commission on National Security Training has recommended a program of universal military training. Of course, this has been a hot issue before and the bill has always been defeated in Congress on past occasions.

Nevertheless, the commission headed by Julius Ochs Adler considered the question thoroughly in the interest of all the youth of the country and particularly the problem of a fair distribution of military obligations among the country's young men.

We have always believed that it is wrong for this country to call upon some of its young men to serve and give up their lives, while other able men are never required to serve at all. No matter what the reason for his exemption, the young man who is fit and able, and who is not required to serve, is getting an unfair advantage over the man who must serve.

It has long been inconceivable to many Americans how Congress refuses to distribute the obligation of the country's young men fairly and impartially. It is also surprising how many people have the idea that dodging military service is smart, or that they can do so and let others defend and even save the United States in an emergency.

Of course, the problem in Congress is actuated because various private groups bring pressure to bear on Congressmen to vote against universal military training. There are always some religious groups, and groups composed of mothers who believe that their Johnny or Johnnies cannot serve without going to the dogs. This line has been thoroughly disproved by the examples of the country's millions of veterans of two world wars.

It should also be remembered that when military training becomes universal, the same conditions will not attend military training which now attend it with a professional army and a draft only. Compulsory military training would mean that classes of boys, all of a certain age, would be sent in training at the same time and they would associate largely with young boys of their own age.

U. M. T. would furnish the country with a large supply of reserves, allow the standing military force to be reduced in strength and impose equal obligations on all the country's youth. No system could be fairer and the longer Congress delays passing such a program, the longer inequalities in our present set-up will exist.

Statehood For Hawaii

Recent developments have indicated that statehood for Hawaii is only a short period in the future. Senator Russell B. Long, Louisiana Democrat, has indicated he would support a bill in both the Senate Interior Committee and on the floor of the Senate.

Since Senator Long is a member of the Interior Committee, which held up a vote on the Hawaiian Statehood bill at the last session, his announcement is an important one. He voted at the last session in favor of further argument before the bill was reported to the Senate.

The question of statehood for Hawaii raises basic issues which the Congress has never yet dissolved. There has never been a state detached from the mainland in the history of the country. There is also the question where the process will stop if the United States begins to incorporate faraway areas into the United States. Admittedly, those in favor of statehood of Hawaii have put up a strong case, although the measure is not likely to be passed in the Senate without bitter opposition.

It is our belief that while Senator Long's recent announcement is significant, it does not necessarily insure success for the bill—as proponents are proclaiming. No doubt, the bill now has its best chance for passage in the last session of the Eighty-Third Congress. It could well be that the forty-eight states will be forty-nine before the year 1954 is ended.

Injunction Granted In Estate Case

Judge Acts After Hearing Additional Testimony In Dispute

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris prepared an opinion Tuesday, following a hearing in Circuit Court, in which he granted a mandatory injunction against the executor of the estate of a Luke merchant.

Plaintiffs in the case were Carl G. Miller and his wife, Mary Lee Miller. The defendants were E. Ray Jones and Lewis Jones, executors and trustees of the estate of the late John H. Miller, who died last June.

When Miller's will was probated he had left $150,000 in trust with the Garrett County Memorial hospital at Oakland to receive $3,000 annually for a period of 25 years. The balance of the estate was to be divided among the heirs upon completion of the 25 year period.

Had Deed For Property

Carl G. Miller, a grandnephew of the deceased, and his wife were given a deed November 6, 1947 by the deceased for the home property on Pratt Street in Luke in four lots. The deed was never recorded in the land records at the Court House with Carl Miller keeping the document in the safe at his store.

Later John Miller and his grandnephew were about to take an extended trip to the south. The deed at that time was placed in the safe deposit box of John Miller at the Citizens National Bank.

When John Miller died the deed was in the safe deposit box at the bank. Carl G. Miller went to the exectors of the will and told them about the document and requested they turn it over to him.

The executors, of Oakland, refused to do so on the premise that they did not know if it was the proper legal procedure. It was then that Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., filed a petition in Circuit Court asking for the injunction and return of the deed to his clients.

Denied Previously

A previous hearing in the matter was held in Circuit Court here before Judge Harris and at that time he denied the injunction pending further information and testimony in the matter.

Arguments in the case were heard by Judge Harris and he decided on the basis of the facts that Carl G. Miller and his wife were entitled to the deed. A written opinion in the case is being prepared by the court stenographer.

All Candidatess Required To File Loyalty Affidavit

Office Seekers Must Swear They Are Not Subversives Or Members Of Such An Organization

The year 1954 is the time to fill county political offices, and although no candidates have announced their intentions as yet, it is certain that none will be an openly avowed subversive. The county-wide primary election this year is on June 28.

Under terms of the Subversive Activities Act of 1949, passed by the Maryland General Assembly, every candidate for county or state office in Maryland must sign under oath an affidavit certifying that he is not a subversive person nor a member of a subversive organization.

Of course, each candidate also must file his certificate of candidacy and must enclose with it $25 if the office pays $300 or more. A $10 fee is required if the office pays less than $300. No payment is required for members of the State Central Committee or delegates to conventions.

In his certificate each candidate must designate the party and office for which he seeks nomination. He must list his name as it is to be printed on the ballot, his residence, precinct and election district in which he is a registered voter, and his address.

Candidates have until April 19, 70 days before the primary election, in which to file their certificates and affidavits with the Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors.

In the affidavit each candidate swears in part:

". . . I am not a person who commits, attempts to commit, or aids in the commission, or advocates, abets, advises or teaches by any means any person to commit, attempt to commit, or aid in the commission of any act intended to overthrow, destroy or alter, or to assist in the overthrow, destruction of, the constitutional form of the Government of the United States, or of the State of Maryland, or any political subdivision of either of them, by revolution, force or violence."

Commerce Secretary Weeks said 1954 may fall a little short of 1953's record-setting boom but outlook is for one of "the better years of economic history."

Survivors' Insurance Checks Reach $24,300 Monthly

At the end of 1953, the 17th year of Federal social security, old-age and survivors' insurance payments of about $24,300 in monthly benefits were going to 720 persons in Garrett county and $167,000 to 4,000 persons in Allegany county.

The five millionth person was awarded payments in December, 1952, for the entire nation.

About 40 percent of all aged persons who are without income from employment or self-employment are now getting old-age and survivors' insurance payments.

The old-age and survivors' insurance program is financed from social security taxes paid by employees, their employers, and self-employed persons whose trade or business is covered by the law. Tax contributions amounted to four billion dollars in 1953.

At the end of December, the average monthly payment to all retired workers without dependents was $49; to a retired worker and aged wife, $84.75; and to widowed mothers with two minor children, $111. For persons whose benefits were computed under the provisions of the 1950 amendments to the social security law, based on earnings after 1950, the averages were higher. Retired workers average $62.75 monthly; retired workers and aged wives average $103.60; widowed mothers with two children average $152.50 monthly.

Account Given of Family Partnership

Story Tells How Three Sons of N. U. Bond Manage Holdings in St. Petersburg

An account of the business activity of the N. U. Bond family in St. Petersburg Fla., was recently told in a newspaper account there. Mr. Bond has three sons who assist in managing their father's varied holdings.

Mr. Bond is now 85 years old, and was a former resident of Oakland at a time when he engaged in the lumber business in this vicinity. He is an uncle of Mrs. Ralph Weber, south of town.

The properties mentioned include the Pennsylvania Hotel, the Wilson-Chase and Sears-Roebuck store properties, a 10-acre homestead in the Florida city and 23,000 acres of coal and timber land in Jackson county, Kentucky.

Son William is manager of the hotel, his twin brother Sam is president of the hotel corporation, and Ninian, Jr., is treasurer. William is a graduate of Cornell university, 1939. Sam joined the army in 1940, serving in the air force, emerging with the rank of major. Ninian studied at Rollins college prior to joining the air force. William also served in the air force during the war.

The Bonds first went to St. Petersburg from Lexington, Ky., in 1920. After many winters there they settled down in 1939, after 40 years in the lumber business. After a partnership with his brother for six years in Pennsylvania he went to West Virginia, Maryland and finally to Kentucky, buying and developing timber lands and building a fortune.

In Kentucky when he ran for the state senate as a Republican in a Democratic county, only one vote was recorded against him in the precinct where his employes voted. He served as senator from Madison county for eight years.

In St. Petersburg the senior Bond and William pioneered in acquiring off-street parking space in the downtown area when they were able to clear practically an entire city block to furnish a store with a parking space.

Rotating crops . . . and money

You don't have to be a farmer to know that crop rotation improves the soil. But you may not know about another kind of "rotation" . . . one that helps keep this state prosperous. This is "money rotation." For instance, the money you pay in telephone bills. A large part of it goes to pay telephone men and women, who spend most of the money right in the neighborhood. Chances are, in one way or another, some of the money comes back to you. So, you see, a healthy, growing telephone company means not only good telephone service, but more prosperity for the community.

You can't keep a good deed down

When you stop to think about it, favors you do for others often do more for you. Just to show you what we mean, take the telephone party line. When you treat a neighbor with courtesy and consideration, he's quite likely to return favor for favor. And what happens? You get better service . . . and so does everybody on the line. No doubt about it . . . telephone courtesy is catching, and it helps party line users get more for their telephone dollar.

News Accounts Reveal Incidents In Life of Crim

Cincinnati Newspapers Recall Events in Activities of Head of Detective Agency

Newspapers of Cincinnati, in giving an account of the death of D. Cal Crim recently, recalled many events which occurred during his active years in that Ohio town. The Nationally famous detective was a native of Oakland.

Crim solved some of the most sensational crimes around Cincinnati and in other parts of the United States during the past half century. He was credited with solving the Pearl Bryan murder mystery in 1896. The headless body of a young woman was found in a field and Crim's work on the case was credited with solving the crime and bringing the criminals to justice.

By tracing the manufacturer's number in the woman's shoes, he established her identity as Pearl Bryan. He learned that two dental students were seen with her on the night of the murder and located the cab driver who had taken the party to the scene of the murder. Later he established the fact that the two dental students had left a suitcase that contained the woman's head with a bartender. The students were convicted of murder and hanged in 1897.

As he lay at the point of death after being shot by "Foley the Goat" in 1901 a popular subscription raised money to pay for his home. He carried one of the bullets in his back for the rest of his life.

In 1904 Crim played a major part in sending to the pentitentiary a gang of "blackhanders" who blew up a number of homes in Ohio. He helped protect Presidents McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Taft, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover at inauguration and other affairs. Once he was hired to protect a rare rose valued at $100,000 at an exposition.

He assisted in sending five men to the penitentiary for the murder of Don Mellett, a newspaper editor in Canton, O.

His later years he devoted to helping youngsters who like himself, had nothing to start with. He served on fund drives for Protestant, Catholic and Jewish youth agencies and was active in setting up the Boys' club movement in Cincinnati.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA CLOTFELTY

Body tissue, we are told, has a "Growing Edge." Laboratory experiments show that tissue puts out new columns of cells like the row of bricks added in building a wall. Each new growth provides the basis for further growth. This constantly new tissue is the "growing edge" of the body.

Our minds and souls have a "growing edge," too. We delude ourselves if we think that we are ever full-grown mentally and spiritually.

One of the promises the New Year, we are just beginning, holds for us is that once again we have a chance to grow. We are sure we shall grow one year older, perhaps acquire a little more wealth, but more important than either of these, we can grow in knowledge and in spiritual stature.

The resolutions we annually make at the beginning of each New Year are the subject of many jokes such as, making them one week, breaking them the next. Perhaps that is what often happens, for habits of long standing are not easily broken. However, I believe if we would look at those resolutions thoughtfully we would find some merit in them.

First of all, the person making them shows that he realizes he could and should form better patterns of daily living. That we are conscious of our weaknesses, is a sign we are capable of growth.

Also, the maker of resolutions shows that he understands life does not stand still, but grows either better or worse. He realizes there is no such thing as a vacuum in life. Nature abhors a vacuum, so if he resolves to at least try to do better, he expresses a conscious wish for better growth.

I read of a man who, at the beginning of this year, is starting a unique experiment. He wrote down on paper a complete analysis of his personality weaknesses. He placed them in his Bible, marking the chapters he was planning to read for that day. At the end of each day, he is planning to check himself on how well he had done for that day. He expects no miracles, but I, for one, would be interested in the results at the end of the year.

Each one of us has his weaknesses, ranging from serious character-destroying habits, to talking too much, listening too little, and just plain wasting his time. These all keep us from being the mature, helpful person we can be.

In spite of this, I believe the year 1954 holds for each of us a golden opportunity for new growth, and best of all, gives us the privilege of asking God to guide us each step of the way.

Here is my choice of the ten most significant political events in the country in 1953:

1. There is no real peace yet in the Far East, but the shooting stopped in Korea and there were no new casualty figures in our newspapers Christmas morning. When the United States withdrew its Seventh Fleet from protection of the Communist Chinese coast, evidently that was proof enough to the enemy that we meant business, and they signed the armistice by summer.

2. Controls over prices and wages were removed last spring, and while the cost of living continued to rise, it was at a slower rate than when controls were in effect. The latest information from the Department of Labor shows the cost of living dropped back down in November, contrary to the fears of those who said removal of controls would create further inflation.

3. The federal government began action to restore lost authority to state and local governments. Reversing a trend of 20 years, the first action was approval of the Tidelands law which settled once and for all the unnecessary dispute as to who had authority over the coastal lands—the states or the federal government. The new law properly favored the states. The Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, created by President Eisenhower, found 78 separate programs of overlapping federal-state functions, and set about studying how to divide them up clearly and erase this so-called "twilight zone" of authority.

4. Within a few months three great leaders, Senator Taft, William Green of the AFL and Philip Murray of the CIO, were taken by death. While they often opposed one another, these men always fought for standards they considered fair for American working people, and in 1954 their successors will have to work hard to achieve their stature.

5. The new look in foreign affairs was unmistakable. Secretary Dulles told Europeans to get busy and ratify their defense community pact; he told the world we would regard the re-election of Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany a favorable act; President Eisenhower challenged the imagination with his gift of food packages to starving peoples behind the Iron Curtain, and his proposal to share atomic resources for peaceful uses. Americans felt they were indeed getting something for their money.

6. To fight the Communist menace at home, security regulations regarding employment in the government were tightened up. More than 1,450 security risks were dropped from the payroll in six months.

7. Vice President Nixon was assigned tasks of liaison between Congress and the White House, and a round-the-world good-will trip which raised his office to unprecedented prestige.

8. The federal budget was reduced $14 billion, making possible lower taxes.

9. Beef cattle buying and drought emergency aid to farmers brought the three-year decline of farm prices finally to a halt.

10. The whole pattern of events, both at home and abroad, showed the American people they could continue having confidence in their government leaders.

Preparation Prevents Calving Troubles

The spring calving season will soon be starting in most Maryland beef herds, and Dr. J. E. Foster of the animal husbandry department at the University of Maryland says farmers should be reminded of the old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Dr. Foster points out that most calving troubles can be avoided by having the cows and bred heifers in good, strong, thrifty condition at the time of calving.

If some of the bred animals are in rather poor flesh as calving time approaches, Dr. Foster advises separating them and giving them some extra concentrate feed. He adds that all the animals due to calve should get plenty of exercise and cautions against crowding them in close quarters or forcing them through narrow gates or over high doorways or sills.

Good surface drainage in barn lots is listed as another help in preventing calving troubles. Cattle that are due to calve or have young calves will come through the maternity period in better shape if they are bedded in dry quarters during bad weather.

The animal husbandry specialist adds a warning that hogs must be removed from cattle quarters during the calving season. Hogs may eat the newborn calves.

Dr. Foster also points out that the time when cattle are being given special care in preparation for the calving season is a good time to check the whole herd for lice and grubs. One of the standard remedies should be used if they are infested.

Authority of God

Lesson for January 10, 1954

IT LOOKS as if the last thing said in this column last week were not true. The power of Christ, it was said, is not the power of force, but of love. And yet Jesus (as we read in John) made a whip of cords and drove the money-changers out of the Temple. Is this not a use of force? Was he not using compulsion? Was this not indignation rather than love? Two things have to be said at this point. One is that this is hardly a case of physical force. There were many money-changers and any number of Temple police. Jesus was no Sampson or Goliath. If there had been any show of resistance, how much would a corded whip have done? No, the whip was a symbol, not a weapon. The other thing we should say is that the power of love is not always gentle. Love can be stern. And it was love for God and reverence for his house and worship, that roused Jesus to drive out the men who were desecrating the holy place.

Dr. Foreman

* * *

Power of Personality

Jesus did use force; but it was not physical force. It was moral force. His weapons were powerful but invisible. One reason for his success in driving out those temple racketeers, single-handed, was no doubt his own personality. We all know the difference between weak and strong personalities. Painters have sometimes pictured Jesus as a weak and dreamy-looking character; he was certainly nothing of the sort. It is not necessary to think of him as a big brute of a man; most likely he was not. But we can all think of occasions when a rather small man, or small woman for that matter, has dominated the occasion by sheer force of personality. Can we not feel certain that Jesus' personality was even more compelling? There are persons whose mere presence can stop some shameful thing from being done; and our Lord was prince of such persons. Some years ago there had been disasters in Scotland; and as a recovery measure a national lottery was proposed. One Scottish minister wrote one letter to the papers, showing up that gambling scheme for what it was; and that stopped the bad business dead. Not every man's letter would have had such an effect; but P. T. Forsyth was a known man.

Authority of God

It can also be said with truth that Jesus acted there at the Temple with the authority of God. He did not say, "You must move because I am Son of God and I say so." He simply said: "Take these things away. You must not make my Father's house a house of trade." As a matter of fact, we know from sources outside the Bible just what that money-changing and cattle-selling racket was. It was not honest business at all. When a Jew would come to the Temple wishing to offer a sacrifice, these people, who had a monopoly in that business, would sell him one of their animals, at an outrageous price. The priests would accept no others, so between the cattle-sellers and the priests the sacrificer had no choice but to buy what they said for the price they demanded. Then the Temple authorities would not accept offerings in any but local money; and the money-changers (also tied up with the priests) would charge terrific rates for exchanging coin of the realm into local shekels. The point is, Jesus spoke to bad men, running a bad business, with a bad conscience; spoke in the name of the God of right and justice. The authority of the right is the authority of God. No wonder the racketeers scattered.

* * *

Bad men do not always run. They sometimes fight. Bad businesses such as the narcotics racket and the liquor traffic have hard consciences. Still it is true now as it was long ago, that evil practices in church or out will continue till some one person has the courage to confront them in the name of God and right. One man, John Woolman, an obscure working man, was the personal wedge that worked into the consciences of Quakers and from them on into society, convincing men that the slavery business was wrong. One man, again and again, has been the spark that has set fire to ancient rubbish and lighted the night with the flame of God.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

When the clock struck twelve on New Year's Eve we moved into the year 1954 with the full knowledge that most of the problems which plagued us last year were still with us—and, indeed, many firmly feel that these problems will become more complicated with the passage of time.

Among the more or less mixed blessings of the New Year is the second session of the 83rd Congress which is now convening in Washington, and while many opinions are greatly affected by partisan leanings, all of us realize that this session will be most important, and perhaps decisive, in solving our current problems.

Undoubtedly the root of our troubles lies not here in the United States but within the walls of the Kremlin, and until the Communist dictators of Moscow permit the world to live in peaceful security our everyday life will be complicated by the evils of Soviet aggression.

In the last few weeks, however, there has been considerable publicity about a new situation which is causing great concern among the people, and which looks as if it may be a major issue before the Congress and the Eisenhower Administration.

Public officials, newspaper columnists, and others are now devoting thousands of words to a discussion of our national economy and the change is termed variously as adjustment, rolling adjustment, orthodox recession, and that most fearful term depression.

Most of us recall with painful memory the economic collapse of the late twenties and such outspoken comment reflecting a downward change in domestic affairs is apt to be very unsettling to our peace of mind.

The great danger in my opinion is just that—our judgment is too easily conditioned by fear and not enough by a full understanding of the true situation.

First, I think we should realize that the expressions of fear originated with New Dealing Democrats who are up for reelection in 1954 and they are setting the stage for what they hope will be successful campaigns. Typical statements are those of Paul Douglas, a true follower of the unorthodox economic theories which brought this nation so close to socialism, who faces a tough campaign in his efforts to be reelected Senator from Illinois.

These New Dealers are trying to capitalize on a program of fear psychosis in order to achieve a political advantage in the coming campaigns—they hope spreading fear out this nation is headed for economic collapse will persuade the American people to give them the responsibility of government.

That then is the background for the rash of headlines, speeches and statements which is reflected in your daily papers by black type reading—Economists See Mild Recession; 53,000 Laid Off Across Nation, Economists Differ on Recession Plans; British See Disaster Lurking For Them In Any U. S. Slump.

These Fear Mongers must be pleased with the results, for many Americans are now vitally afraid that 1954 offers little for them, and fearful for their economic security.

But what is the truth of the matter? Do facts justify these fears? The answer can easily be found by looking at the state of our national economy.

First let us take a look at the employment situation. So the scare headline says 53,000 have been laid off. The Associated Press dispatch then goes on to state unemployment during November, 1953, was up only 20,000 compared with November, 1952—and that the total number of gainfully employed was 61,925,000. The Department of Commerce reports this "stands as the highest annual volume of employment in the records."

To the average person, his family security is based on whether or not he has a job—if he is working and able to supply his family with the necessities and some of the luxuries of life, then his economic position is secure.

How did the wage earner fare? Personal income to the American people amounted to $284 billion—five percent higher the Department of Commerce reports than in 1952, and the largest in our history.

"Time" magazine in its end of the year report related our economic progress by saying that "with only 7 percent of the world's population, the U. S. turned out 65 percent of the world's manufactured goods."

In material improvements "Time" stated that "In 1953 Americans slipped behind the wheels of 6,000,000 new cars (the second biggest auto year on record) and drove off over 40,000 miles of new roads worth $3 billion. They put their feet into 500 million pairs of new shoes, walked into 1,100,000 new houses and apartments, spent a record $54.7 billion on construction of all types. Housewives cleaned their homes with more new vacuum cleaners (2,000,000) than in 1952, and washed their clothes with more new washing machines (3,700,000); to do the job, they bought a record $400 million worth of soap and detergents. They sat down before new TV sets (7,000,000 v. 6,000,000 in 1952)—so many, in fact, that TV sets outnumbered telephones in six U. S. Cities, and even outnumbered bathtubs in one (Chicago). They bought more food ($60 billion worth) than ever before. Per capita, Americans last year ate more than their avaerage weight in meat alone—151 lbs. vs. 144 lbs. in 1952."

Does that sound like hard times? Is it possible that a nation capable of producing 65 percent of the total manufactured goods in the world with only seven percent of the world's population could actually plunge into a state of moral and economic depression in only a few months?

What then are the possibilities for 1954—what is behind the scare headlines? The newspaper story headed by "Economists See Mild Recession" goes on to state that "Even if industrial production falls as much as five percent below this year's record level, as some economists predict, they say it would still leave 1954 as the second best business year in the country's history."

What a fearful prediction! Actually if the worst happens 1954 will be only the second best year in our history!

The ability of the American people to produce new goods, to constantly provide new markets, to raise this nation to the highest standard of living on earth should justify firm confidence in the future.

The secretary of Commerce expressed his optimism by saying, "No one can contemplate this nation's intrinsic power—as embodied in its natural resources, industrial know-how, machine energy, limitless products, increasing aspirations, growing population and spiritual might of its enterprising people—without abiding faith in three years. America's future are yet to be."

The fear-monger Douglas, could to an expression of their political ment... have so often quoted. he said, "We have no thing to fear, but fear itself." If th... was true in 1933 it is equally v... and twenty-one years later.

Soviet Premier Malenkov declared "there is no serious obstacle" to improved Soviet-American relations and he hopes "traditional bonds of friendship" will be strengthened.

Negro population in Baltimore showed a 10 percent rise in past three years.

Bessie Hinebaugh In Music "Who's Who" In Pittsburgh

Miss Bessie Ward Hinebaugh, music composer, who resides in Pittsburgh, was publicized in the music section of the Pittsburgh Press of Sunday, December 27, in an article on "Who's Who in Pittsburgh Music Circles." Miss Hinebaugh is a former Oakland resident.

The article reveals that since early childhood Miss Hinebaugh has been concerned with various aspects of musical art, having been nurtured by her mother who taught her many sacred and secular tunes when only two years old.

She began singing for church affairs and musical entertainments when three years old and under her mother's tutelage she became an apt guitar player and performed with this instrument when only six.

Miss Hinebaugh started piano study with the late Lottie M. Loar when she was ill and took organ with Ingram Lord, of Cumberland. She studied singing also at Baltimore Peabody conservatory. She continued piano and vocal study in Pittsburgh and took flute lessons. She studied composition with Rinehart Mayer and Oscar W. Demmler.

In addition to being a successful piano instructor, she is an imaginative composer.

The author continued: Miss Hinebaugh's ability as a composer was hailed in 1937 when Tuesday Musical club awarded her its composition prize in a song contest. Several of her works for string orchestration and woodwinds have been performed many times. Her anthem for mixed voices, and "Chime Prelude" for organ, are widely used.

Also performed are her "Autumn," "On Spanish Waters," "Indian Legend," and "Gypsy Caravan," for strings and woodwind; "Serenata" for flute-harp-piano; "Humoresque" for violin, flute, cello and piano; the D-minor piano sonata; "Andante" and "Schon Gretchen" for violin; "Old Spinning Wheel" and "Toccata" for piano.

Also used are "Prelude" and "Will O' the Wisp," for piano; "Nocturne," "First Returning Bird," "To a Dandelion" and "Gypsy Life" for soprano.

For many years she was flutist and soprano soloist with the Pittsburgh Ladies Orchestra and traveled extensively on the Chautauqua circuit. She also was on the Fillion Studios' faculty for a brief period.

Miss Hinebaugh is a sister of Harry Ward Hinebaugh and Roy Hinebaugh, Oakland.

Beall Five Defeats Northern High 68-57

Beall High's mountaineers of Frostburg rang up their fourth victory in five games during the New Year holidays by defeating Northern High quint at Cove 68 to 57, despite a 26-point effort by center Bob Murphy of the losers. Jim Sigler had 19 points for Beall.

Beall led by only one point at the quarter, 15 to 14, but added 19 points in the second quarter while holding Northern to 9. Others scoring for Northern besides Murphy were Hershberger 5, and Georg 11, Wright 6, McKenzie 8, Savage 1. Selby and Baker were non-scoring. Northern High made only 13 of 34 foul attempts, while Beall shooters made only 10 of 32 tries.

Banner Mortality Declines In State

Alltime low records in Maryland were established last year for tuberculosis, syphilis, and the maternal mortality. There were no deaths at all for whooping cough or diphtheria, and for typhoid fever there have been no deaths for five years, the last death from this disease in the State having occurred in 1948. Even the mortality from diabetes, kidney disease, and cerebral hemorrhage, which had been on the increase, declined somewhat in 1953.

On the other hand, there were increases from influenza and pneumonia, poliomyelitis, and preliminary indications are that cancer of the lung was at least equal to the 1952 alltime high record.

Tuberculosis Decline

Outstanding in the record was a drop in tuberculosis mortality, all forms, from 27.0 per 100,000 population in 1952 to 17.5 in the year just closed.

Favorable Year for the Elderly

Mortality from diseases of maturity, most of which had previously been increasing, also showed appreciable declines: the diabetes mortality dropped 16 per cent; kidney diseases, 14.9; and cerebral hemorrhage and thrombosis, 5.4. The heart disease mortality showed a smaller drop, namely, 2.1 per cent.

Respiratory Cancer Major Problem

In 1952, the mortality from respiratory cancer (16.4 per 100,000 population) was exactly twice the rate of ten years earlier of 8.4. Complete figures for 1953 are not yet available, but provisional data for the counties of Maryland suggest that 1953 mortality will not be less than that of 1952.

The recorded mortality from respiratory cancer is now on a par with that of tuberculosis. For males, the mortality rate (26.7 per 100,000 males in 1951-52) is over six times the female rate of 4.3. Furthermore, during the last ten years the male mortality rate from respiratory cancer has practically doubled whereas the female rate increased by only one-fourth.

One fact is clear: Cancer of the lung is presently a major medical problem of the people of Maryland.

I DON'T NEED TO GO TO CHURCH-

Yes, I'm one of those seventy-five million Americans who are not members of a church. Saturday and Sunday are the two days of the week I like to devote entirely to relaxation and recreation. Why should I spend an hour or so in church?

I try to live straight—to put in a full day's work for my boss, to get along with my neighbor, to bring up my children in the proper way. As long as I'm trying to live respectably, why do I need to go to church?

There is an answer, my friend. Since the beginning of history, you and millions like you have been trying to run your lives and this world of ours by your own knowledge and strength. You've said you didn't need help. But human experience declares that you have failed. The past has left us an ugly picture of cruelty and bloodshed, of hate and crime. The present finds us on the edge of fresh disaster—of devastating war on the outside and moral decay from within. This is the tragedy of man's proud attempt to live without God.

You need help—help beyond the pale of human resources. You need the love of God that empowers a man to live a good life. You can find this love only in the Church—in fellowship and communion with Christ. He is in His Church—forgiving, loving, strengthening, giving men the courage and power for right living.

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Research Shows Conservation Pays

Maryland farmers not now practicing conservation can well afford to make a New Year's resolution to adopt conservation practices on the basis of soil and water conservation research, according to the Committee for Conservation Now.

Contour farming, strip cropping, drainage, crop rotations and other such practices have proved their value in increasing yields by holding soil and water. Comparisons have been made at numerous experiment stations.

The value of contour cultivation and strip cropping has been demonstrated in tests which showed up to four times as much water loss and up to 15 times as much soil loss from fields with up and down hill farming as from fields where the conservation practices were applied.

Tests also show that crop yields decline in direct proportion to decreases in depth of top soil, because erosion removes the best soil.

Soil washed away by erosion has been shown to contain 4.7 times as much organic matter, 5 times as much nitrogen, 3.1 times as much phosphorus and 1.4 times as much potash as the original surface soil. Finer soil particles are washed away and coarse material is left behind.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Well, it's all over for another year, and as we take the trimmings off the tree and the greenery off the door, we're glad enough that the joyous season is gone. As we look about a living room that seems almost empty there's a feeling of peace that comes with the emptiness.

For many a woman the quilt pieces will be brought out, the crochet hooks and carpet rags will be in plain view for the next few weeks.

Some of us will want to read, read, read, hoping that in these long months of winter the well will have a chance to fill up; that maybe some new ideas will spring forth. Others will try out every new recipe, satisfying the creative urge.

There was once a time when this long winter season turned into the party period and folks had other folks in to eat or play or sometimes both. Whether it's a national trend I don't know, but big parties in Oakland seem to have vanished. We depend almost entirely on wedding receptions to chat with well-liked but seldom seen friends.

My Slate Is Not Clean

It's not that I'm starting off the new year with an empty slate, for already there's a nagging feeling at my conscience for not getting around to see my shut-in friends, carrying with me a plate of cookies or a jar of grape juice.

I believe I'd be a lot happier if I had no conscience on this subject, since I seldom get beyond good intentions.

The psychologist says you should free yourself of guilty feelings. Then I know it's all my mother's and father's fault, and try to unload this burden on the wrong kind of up-bringing.

Theirs was a clear cut pattern and each child had to fit into it. They took care of the needy—the needy being the widow, the aged, the crippled or the sick.

And THEY meant WE. It was a part of our lives and we didn't question it.

No, we can't get away from early training, at least when it's indelible. So, I guess if I want to clear my conscience I'll first clean my slate, and once I start I shall just love it.

But there are other satisfactions. When the boy writes home to say he'd arrived O.K. and adds, "I don't know when I ever had a nicer two weeks," getting out and around for me seems rather unimportant.

—o—

I'd ten times over rather be kept awake until 2 a. m. with daughter from the kitchen, than to be awake waiting for the sound of the car pulling into the drive.

—o—

The Ice Age Is Here

This is the year for ice. Already there's been a lot of skating. There'd be a lot more if only some level spot could be flooded. It's a better winter sport than basketball, for so many more can take part.

Oh, how I wish I had influence or money. Our kids would have That period between boyhood and manhood is when he takes both milk and coffee at breakfast.

—o—

Am so glad the old year went out carrying his usual scythe. For a while I feared it would be a pitchfork.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College

When the original 13 states of the U.S.A. began to function as a Constitutional Republic in 1789, the private enterprise economic system had already demonstrated its great worth as a creator of material welfare for a nation's people. Although hampered by the many economic restrictions imposed by Great Britain, the system had revealed several of its basic assets to be unmatched in previous human history. And these assets began to flower when the yoke of Britain's regimentation was thrown off.

The most important assets are (1) the principle of private ownership of property; (2) the profit motive; and (3) the free market. Modern American history highlights their importance to every man, woman and child in the nation.

How well do I remember the first automobile that came to our town 40 years ago. It was a chain-drive Metz, a one-seater. You cranked it on the side. It had a rubber-bulb horn, high pressure tires, and a buggy top. It broke down constantly. Yet its owner was envied far and wide. Of course, he was the richest man in the area. Only the wealthy could afford an automobile when I was a boy. And yet today there are more automobiles in America than there are families, and almost every family owns one.

Competition—the free market—did this. And what it has done in the production of automobiles, it has done in many other things, too. When Henry Ford began making his "tin lizzie," automobiles were still beyond the reach of most Americans. But he was determined to outstrip our manufacturers, and produce a car that all Americans could own. He won the low-price market—but not for long. Chevrolet, Plymouth and others competed. And they competed so well that the product continued constantly to improve.

The low priced cars of today, which are driven by millions of Americans, are 50 times better than the high priced car of 1910 which only the few wealthy people could own. In my opinion, this adequately illustrates the unmatchable benefits to the whole population of our unique American economic system, with its principle of private ownership, its profit motive, and its free market.

Do your children know these vitally important facts about the American system? If they do not know these facts and do not appreciate the worth of our system in bringing about further human progress, then our American heritage is to that extent jeopardized. Let's be sure such facts are taught in our homes and in our schools.

THE REPUBLICAN

Stabilized Poverty . . . .

Leave it to the level headed farmers to make a "bull's eye" shot on the weakness of socialized farm programs. Accounts of several speeches delivered at the State Farm Bureau meeting last week provide a most comforting outlook. The speakers put their stamp of firm disapproval on any schedule to regiment farmers.

Wilson Heaps, re-elected president of the Farm Bureau for the sixth time, called on farmers to take the initiative in solving their own problems rather than relying on politicians, and reminded them that prosperity could not be legislated to any group.

This free economy theme was also echoed by an American Farm Bureau legislative director who pictured too many people as having a bad case of "satchelitis"—"everytime a problem arises we pack our grip and head for Washington."

This man is the one who also made the statement that should be re-emphasized all down the line. "Continuation of the present high rigid price support program will eventually mean stabilized poverty to American farmers."

The farm people are the ones who realize that you can't get something for nothing. They realize that prosperity must be earned through high productivity. The farm people of Maryland deplored the tactics of a handful of individuals calling themselves cattlemen, who tried to create a near panic in agriculture last summer.

That phrase, "stabilized poverty," is a mighty good phrase to keep in mind whenever the planners try to tell the people what they can grow, how much they can grow, how much land they can use for crops, and how much for pasture and woodland. That socialized planning will bring everybody to one level—that's for sure. Things will be stabilized. But you can bet that the level will be a low one. Missing will be any form of private enterprise, or industrious activity. Everyone will have equal income—and nobody will have anything.

Storms Bring Snow And Cold to Area

Garrett County Fares Better Than Most of East

Garrett county, covered with ten to twelve inches of snow this week, seemed to fare better than most other sections in the east, but appeared to be in for more snow over the week-end.

While temperatures in the county dropped to no more than five above zero, other sections of the east reported below zero readings, and in the Philadelphia area over thirty deaths were attributed to the storm.

Parts of the Chesapeake Bay were freezing over as the result of prolonged cold weather in the Baltimore area. While schools were closed around Baltimore and Washington early this week, the public school system in this county was working smoothly.

Yesterday was an exception with some of the roads drifted shut. Attendance at school was reduced materially but that condition was remedied later in the day when the snow plows got busy on the closed areas.

A resume of the week's weather showed that about 10 inches of snow fell on Sunday and Sunday night as the result of an eastern storm. There was no drifting and Monday was clear. However, more snow fell Monday night and Tuesday and a high wind piled the snow in huge drifts, closing some of the secondary roads.

Temperature dropped early on Wednesday morning to 5 above zero and Wednesday continued clear and cold. Thursday morning there was some moderation but snow again began falling about 9 o'clock.

R. Bowen Hardesty, superintendent of schools, said classes were well attended Monday and Tuesday and that school buses had little trouble until yesterday. Quick work by State Roads Commission crews in plowing and cindering main highways as well as the work done by the Garrett County road workers had roads fairly open until Wednesday, but worked overtime to open the closed sections on Wednesday. Attendance had improved greatly this morning.

White Bass Put In Deep Creek

One hundred fifty adult white bass, recently purchased from the State of Tennessee, have been stocked in Deep Creek Lake, it was announced by the State Game and Inland Fish commission.

The fish were brought to the lake from Tennessee by truck. The bass are brood size and are heavy spawners, laying as many as 20,000 eggs in a single nest, according to fish culturists.

The schedule for trout stocking in the three Western Maryland counties is to be drawn up soon. It is planned to stock about 45,000 adult trout in streams of the three counties.

Stocking of bass will be resumed in March, it was stated.

Fike Urges Rotary To New Visions In The New Year Ahead

Stressing that the dawning of another year in the world meant the dawning of new opportunities and new visions of the future for every human being, Rev. Olonzo P. Fike told Oakland Rotarians at their meeting last Friday night they must not be satisfied to just drift along.

Pointing out how many people never concerned themselves about the future, about building a better world, Mr. Fike told Rotarians that there was great need today for people to cherish and reverence the gift of the future, and to not only cherish the dawn of a new opportunity but to do something about it.

"The most urgent need of the day is for all of us to have a new vision of God, the Father, the Lover, the Helper of the whole human race, the cure for all the mistrust, hatred and disregard. We must become conscious that the hand that rules the world also rules our lives."

In doing our part to contribute to a just and lasting peace, Mr. Fike stressed that our task was to help bring about a greater measure of individual happiness and a higher standard of living, by continuing to encourage and inspire those with whom we come in contact to prepare themselves for useful lives. "Attitudes are so important," he declared.

"Don't think in terms of what others can do for you; rather think of what you can do for others. Don't think of what the world owes you—think of what you owe the world. Depend upon yourself and determine to do your part to make the world a better place in which to live."

The power of self-improvement and self-preparation cannot be over-emphasized, he said.

Two Are Named To Library Board

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin has appointed two to the Garrett County Library board for seven-year terms. That of Mrs. Caroline Wilson is a reappointment. Her term expired January 1, 1954.

The other appointment was Olonzo P. Fike, of Accident, who was named to take the place of Bernard I. Gonder, Sr., whose term expired January 1, 1953, but who had never been replaced. Commissions for both Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Fike arrived this week at the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court.

Mr. Gonder also received a letter this week from Governor McKeldin, thanking him for his valuable service as a member of the board during the past several years.

Other members of the Board include Lowell Loomis, Mrs. Lewis R. Jones, Mrs. Foster D. Bittle, all of Oakland; Mrs. Mildred Beachy, Grantsville, and B. O Aiken, Accident. Mr. Loomis is president, Mrs. Beachy, vice-president; Mrs. Jones, sec'y.-treas.

Financial Report Places Oakland In Sound Condition

Town Spends Over $98,000 To Conduct Its Affairs During 1953

The town of Oakland spent $98,023.75 to run its affairs during 1953, but took in more than that to give the city fathers a balance of $21,089.39 to start off 1954. The expenditures were about $9,000 less than for the previous year, but purchase of the Hinebaugh water farm property took place during 1952 for which $20,000 was paid, and because of which $14,000 was borrowed from local banks.

The annual statement of Arthur Lawton, clerk, was approved on Monday night by the Mayor and Town Council at the official January meeting, and appears in full form in The Republican this week.

The statement showed receipts amounting to $100,113.14 which included a balance of $917.45 carried over from the previous year. Of the total amount received taxes brought in $34,333.64; water department, $27,409.98; miscellaneous, $28,125.42; and parking meters, and police, $9,326.65.

Town In Good Condition

That the town of Oakland was in good financial condition was shown by a report of the bonded indebtedness, reported at council meeting on Monday. The town has an assessable basis of $3,899,960.00, and its total indebtedness of $37,500 is less than one percent of the assessable basis. The town owes water and sewerage bonds amounting to $18,000, and electric bonds amounting to $5,000, with balance due on the water farm of $12,500, and balance due on the garage of $2,000.

Other Business Is Routine

Other than approving the annual financial statement, the councilmen conducted routine business. They agreed to place a street light on the golf course road, near where two houses were erected recently. The area is part of the section taken into the corporation limits in 1952.

They agreed to give all receipts from parking meters on January 29 to the March of Dimes campaign.

Receipts for December amounted to $9,763.63, which included $1,-

Pleads Guilty To Charge of Larceny

Charles Moorehead, 38, Bloomington, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny when given a hearing Tuesday before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer in Oakland. The arrest was made by State Trooper Milton Hart.

The man was fined $50 and costs or 90 days in jail in lieu of the fine. He was released upon payment of the fine and costs and upon return of the stolen goods. Several hunting articles were taken from the automobile of Howard Duckworth during deer season, in the Spring Lick area near the Savage River dam. The articles included boots, coat, parkas, gloves, and even the lunches of the hunters.

Bitzer said Moorehead was a previous offender. James Raymond Moorehead, a youth, who was with the man, was released upon future good behavior.

To Transcribe Voters' Records To New Books

Election Board Authorizes Transfer of Names—Work To Take Eight Weeks

The Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors has authorized the job of transcribing the names of 9391 voters in the county to the new election books. The work is expected to start next Monday.

The job of transcribing the names, affiliation, address, age and other data from the old election books, will be done by six stenographers and typists, three of Republican and three of Democrat registration. About eight weeks will be required to complete the work, it was estimated.

The new books consist of a loose leaf binder arrangement, the system is essentially the same, as previously used, it was explained, but the new books will allow for substitution or elimination of pages. The books were purchased last November through a Cumberland firm. The new system will also permit the filing of names in alphabetical order in Christian name as well as surname. Work of the typists from day to day will be checked by members of the election board.

Board Met Monday

Other details of the coming primary election on May 28, were worked out by the Election board which met Monday night at the court house.

William L. Gibson, president, said there would be a regular registration day prior to the primary election, and another registration day and a revision day prior to the general election in the fall.

Three voting precincts will be divided this year on account of the heavy registrations in those areas, which will make a total of 27 voting precincts. Those to be split will be district 5, Accident; district 16, Mt. Lake Park; and precinct 14-3, a part of Oakland. The latter now includes all persons in district 14 whose surnames begin with K and including those whose surnames begin with Z. Just where the split would be made the board had not yet determined.

Two years ago the Board authorized the union of Kempton district, formerly 8-3, with the Red House district, 8-2.

Accident district had a total registration of 625 in 1952. Third precinct of district 14 had a registration of 703 and Mt. Lake Park had a registration of 797. The revision of precincts is calculated to speed up the work of the judges and clerks of election and to hasten the receipt of final returns throughout the country. With the division of the three voting places completed, Kitzmiller will be the largest one left on record with a registration of 536. Next would be Deer Park with a registration of 512.

Southern High Plans Group Level Session

Group level meetings, from 7th grade through 12th, will feature the next meeting of the Southern High school Parent-Teacher association meeting on Monday evening, December 18, at 8 p. m., at the school, it was announced by Howard D. Naylor, president.

Grade chairmen or coordinators will be a parent or teacher in each unit, it was announced.

Mr. Naylor said the groups would consider any general or specific question asked by an individual. Some suggested topics were: "Are my children getting the fundamentals" (the three R's); "What is the guidance program? How does it help my child?" "What is the school's basis for evaluating abilities and grading?"

Mr. Naylor said also that parents would be able to talk to the teachers on an individual basis following the group meeting.

March of Dimes Campaign Now Going Forward

County Group Will Attempt To Raise $6,000 During January

Workers for the Garrett County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis were contacting people of the county this week in an attempt to raise about $6,000 this year in the annual March of Dimes campaign. With a county population of slightly over 20,000 workers figures this would mean about 30 cents from every person in the county, on an average.

Robert W. Stemple, county chairman, said letters are going to all business and professional men in the county who are being asked to make their contribution by mail or directly to the authorized volunteer in their community. Stemple said there would not be any personal canvass or soliciation of business and professional men. Any person overlooked may make a contribution directly to the March of Dimes, care of the postmaster, at Oakland.

Mothers March On Polio

The Mothers March on Polio, which is nation-wide in scope, will be undertaken in the Oakland, Crellin and Grantsville areas on Friday, January 29, from 7 to 9 p. m., and possibly in other communities, if the organization of mothers is completed.

In this activity all persons who wish to contribute to the March of Dimes are asked to turn on their porch lights or entrance lights. If no lights are turned on that particular home will not be visited. In the Oakand area the Civic club is organizing the march but still needs volunteers to assist in the canvass.

Television and radio stations will be offering special programs during the evening and the county March will be coordinated with the marches in the Johnstown and Pittsburgh areas. Persons living outside the towns mentioned are asked to send their contributions to The March of Dimes, postmaster, Oakland.

Stemple advised about making contributions to unauthorized persons. He said that over the weekend several children were reported to have been making a house to house solicitation supposedly for the March of Dimes. Stemple urged that contributions be made only to authorized persons or that they be mailed. Authorized volunteers will have identity cards. For the Mothers' March the official identification will be the test-tube coin collector.

Dance on Thirtieth

A March of Dimes dance is scheduled for Saturday night, January 30, sponsored by the local National Guard unit. Tickets will be $1 per person and will be on sale after January 21. Special attractions are being planned. Music will be furnished by The Continentals.

Rudy, publicity; Robert Forshey, costume and make-up; Donald M. Browning, tickets; Herbert C. Leighton, stage and decoration; Thomas Cain, lighting; Richard L. Davis, finance; Art Calhoun, program advertising; and Robert W. Stemple, program format.

Eight Farmers Are Listed In Charge

Eight farmers of the county have furnished bond for their personal appearance before Magistrate W. O Bitzer when called in a matter which was the outgrowth of difficulties at the Imperial Ice Cream plant in Oakland late last month.

The eight are charged specifically with "wilfully and maliciously injure or molest the four-door Dodge sedan owned by Wilbur Coffman on December 29, in Oakland." The same eight are also listed as charged with committing an assault upon the said Wilbur Coffman and Robert Latkovich.

The two named were representatives of the United Mine Workers from Uniontown, who were in their automobile in front of the strikebound plant, when the vehicle was turned over on its side. At the time there were a large number of farmers in the area, determined to see that their milk would be accepted at the plant. According to spectators at the time the car was toppled by "A big wind."

Helbig Re-elected Commissioner Head

At the regular meeting of the Board of County Commissioners this week J. Edward Helbig, of Deer Park, was re-elected to serve as president for the coming year.

Stewart F. Stahl, Grantsville, was named vice-president. Jonas W. Sines, Oakland, is the third member of the board.

Appointments were the same as the past year for other county offices which included Jesse J. Ashby, clerk; Gertrude E. Aronhalt, stenographer; S. R. Pagenhardt, attorney; Mrs. Bertie Thrasher, county assessor clerk; Thane O. White, custodian.

Night Auto Racing Planned This Year

"Hot Rods" will race again this year at the Deep Creek Speedway at McHenry, but the racing will be done at night, with a lighted track.

These facts were learned this week from the owners of the speedway, Bud Vanucci, Wells Bray and Leon Sites, who announced that a lighting system was being installed in early spring.

Tentative plans call for racing on Friday nights. Last year the races were held on Sunday afternoons and on holidays and drew large crowds, but the owners were of the opinion that even larger crowds would be attracted if the races were held at night.

The actual opening date and starting time will be announced later. The date selected by the Deep Creek Speedway will not conflict with other "hot rod" races held at Hopwood, Elkins, Reedsville, or Winchester.

A number of Garrett county drivers became interested in the races last year and at the close of the season there were 10 or more participating. It was estimated the number would be increased at least to 15 for the 1954 season. Drivers last year included Park Tressler, Bux Herman, Frank Beckman, Albert Gatto, Paul Thomas, Charles Shahan, Earl Pope, Marlin Lawson, Dale Upole, Bud Fauber and Ralph Humberson. A number of local women also drove the "hot rods" in special races last year and can be counted on to participate again this year, the owners say.

The management announced that the track would be reconditioned and that special events will be planned for intermissions. Owners are hopeful of a banner year at the speedway.

Attend Convention

Attending the 38th annual convention of the Maryland Farm Bureau, Inc., in Baltimore last week were President of the county Farm Bureau, Marvin G. Callis, and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Speicher, Miss Ida Engle, Mrs. Ethel Schlosznagle, Allen S. Paugh, Wendell Umbel, Edward Buckel, Ray Jenkins, William Merrill, John H. Carter, county agent; James McHenry, assistant county agent; and Mrs. George Hanst.

The banquet and dance Friday evening concluded the convention activities.

Five Businesses Under Arrest on Liquor Charges

Trustees Will Appear Soon Before Magistrate Bitzer To Answer Charges

Five places of business in the county were placed under arrest this week for alleged violations of the Garrett County Liquor Laws. Sheriff Paul W. Fisher said warrants had been served at the following places:

V. F. W. Post No. 8049, Friendsville.

Oakland Lodge No. 786, Loyal Order of Moose, Oakland.

Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, American Legion.

Manhattan Hotel, Oakland.

The Arlington Hotel, Grantsville.

The arrests were made on Tuesday and Wednesday by Sheriff Fisher assisted by Edward J. Frantz, deputy. They were charged with having whiskey in their possession for the purpose of sale on certain days within the past month.

The charge against the Manhattan hotel included Dick Sheehe and James McNelis, who were both charged with the sale of whiskey. They both appeared before Magistrate W. O. Bitzer on Tuesday and furnished bond in the amount of $1,000 for their appearance. Assisting the local authorities in the round-up were two state policemen who were in the county for several days in civilian garb, and who reportedly made the purchases.

All places under arrest have licenses to sell beer.

Only other individual to furnish bond was Roy Zehner, owner of the Arlington hotel at Grantsville. He furnished bond last night before Magistrate C. S. Zeller, for his appearance at Oakland when called.

W. Dwight Stover, State's Attorney, said that preliminary hearings probably would be held next week before Magistrate W. O. Bitzer, at which time either the owners of the establishments or the trustees would appear, either to ask for a jury trial before the March Term of court, or seek trial before the magistrate.

Plans for Benefit Basketball Complete

Plans for the double basketball attraction for benefit of the March of Dimes have been completed. Robert W. Stemple, county chairman, said the games would be played in the new Southern High school gymnasium on Thursday, January 21, and that a crowd of 1,000 or more was expected to witness the events.

The preliminary game starting at 7:15 will be between alumni of Northern High school versus alumni of Southern High school.

This will be followed by a flag ceremony featuring the National Guard with the Mountain City band playing the national anthem.

Immediately after the flag ceremony the Oakland Independents will meet the Cumberland Old Germans. The Oakland squad has been working out at regular sessions and the squad consists of Leo Treacy, Kyle Wilson, Harland Kelley, Gene Rook, Bill Sharps, Joe Kahl, Linwood Davey, Harrison Stewart, Art Wolf, Vane Iden, Frank Robinson and Jack Veader.

K. Of P. Lodge To Install Officers

Officers in Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, will be installed on Friday evening at a regular meeting, with Maurice Brockhart as installing officer.

Those to be installed are Lawrence Groves, chancellor commander; James H. Campbell, vice-chancellor; Robert Hoult, prelate; Harry Coddington, secretary; M. W. Mann, financial secretary; A. G. Gortner, treasurer; Harrison Thrasher, master at arms; Paul E. DeWitt, inside guard; Charles Fizer, outside guard; Reaford Purbaugh, trustee.

A financial report of the organization will be given and other business conducted, it was stated.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Washington, Jan. 11, 1954—The idea most certainly is not new, but a newsletter of this type presents an excellent medium with which to acquaint the people of Maryland with my viewpoint on significant and controversial issues before the Congress. This first issue coincides with the opening of the 2nd Session of the 83rd Congress, and subsequent issues will be mailed from my office each Monday.

This week, I should like to discuss the St. Lawrence Seaway. Legislation authorizing our government to participate in this project with Canada will be debated by the Senate within the next few days and I shall speak extensively on this subject. Passage would have serious economic repercussions in Maryland. Long a controversial issue, it is no less so at this time.

It is difficult to rationalize the reasoning of the proponents of this measure. American participation in the construction of the St. Lawrence Waterway is not necessary and is not desired by the Canadian Government. Lionel Chevrier, Canadian Minister of Transport, has stated, "Canada is not seeking financial aid on the St. Lawrence Seaway. On the contrary, Canada is ready, willing and anxious to proceed with the Seaway at her own expense and without cost to the American taxpayer." C. D. Howe, Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, has gone even further in declaring that the "proposals now being advanced that the United States should build the new canal in the International Rapids Section" (the real objective of the bill now before the Senate) could "only complicate the present situation. Ownership by the United States of a short section of a very long seaway would not only add to the over-all construction cost, but would complicate problems of maintenance and operation of the canal system."

In view of the Canadian position, I am unable to understand why the Senate should be called upon to consider proposals for the United States to spend millions of dollars it doesn't have, and would have to borrow, to build a small segment of a waterway which was going to be built anyhow, without the necessity of the United States spending a dollar. Why should Congress appropriate over $100 million of money that we do not have in order to get a project that we will have the use of without spending anything?

A waterway vulnerable to air attack and sabotage, and frozen for four or five months of the year would have no significance to the United States from the standpoint of national defense. Also, the project would not be economically sound, and could not be made self-liquidating, while it would be harmful to many segments of the American economy. These considerations, plus the Canadian attitude toward our participation, and the fact that whatever value the waterway might have to the United States could be secured without the complications and expenditures proposed, dictate my unwavering vigorous opposition to the pending legislation.

Offutt Case Ruling Before Appeals Court

Trustees Ask Study Of Opinion By Judge Henderson In Estate

Trustees of a $369,000 estate asserted yesterday at Annapolis a circuit court judge lacked authority to tap it for more than they figured the beneficiary needs to get along each month.

They asked the Court of Appeals to overrule Judge George Henderson who hiked the monthly allowance for Daniel E. Offutt 3rd, of Oakland, from $200 to $300 a month.

University Student

Offutt, 22, a student at University of Maryland, is the son of the late Daniel E. Offutt, who died in 1943. The trustees are State Sen. Neil C. Fraley and William R. Offutt, a brother of the deceased.

They argued Offutt's will gave them alone the right to decide how much to allow the son until he becomes 30. Young Offutt will receive the principal of the trust estate when he reaches 40.

They also insisted the Western Maryland judge should have taken into considerataion $2,000 Offutt receives annually from $69,000 in life insurance and bonds.

Lawyers for Offutt contended the trustees' opposition "no doubt stems from their desire" to avoid digging into the principal. Mrs. Karen Offutt, the young man's mother, receives $5,000 a year from estate income.

Inherited Station

Young Offutt's "inherited station in life" also entitled him to an increase without considering other income, they said.

Along The Potomac

With Your Congressman DeWITT S. HYDE

Congress has settled down to work on what may be one of the most extensive legislative programs in history following President Eisenhower's memorable address on the State of the Union.

Hasty comment offered by some of the members of Congress who didn't have time to really study the President's message pretty much followed party lines. But after hearing the message delivered and studying its contents, certain impressions became outstanding.

First, I was pleased with the President's acknowledgment of Americans as individuals. He kept away from lumping us into nameless units in categories such as farmers, laborers or businessmen. "Banishment of destitution," he said, "and cushioning the shock of personal disaster are proper concerns of all levels of government including the federal government. This is especially true where remedy and prevention alike are beyond the individual's capacity."

Second, the State of the Union address seemed to be one of the most extensive discussions ever given before Congress by a President. He covered dozens of subjects—even discussing federal responsibilities for interstate highway systems. I noticed this particularly because about three-fourths of our Congressional District is bounded by other states and the congested metropolitan area of Washington.

The President has asked that the federal gasoline tax remain at its present 2-cent-a-gallon level in order to keep the federal highway program in high gear. I am in favor of this because I think in our situation in western Maryland the need for improved highways, particularly our main U. S. routes 240 and 40, is so great we should be willing to pay this 2 cents a while longer.

President Eisenhower finished his speech by talking about some of the things a government cannot do. Enterprise and ambition in our own people, he declared, as well as peace in the hearts of foreign rulers, must come from the individuals themselves. But, he continued, "a government can try, as ours tries, to sense the deepest aspirations of the people, and to express them in political action at home and abroad. So long as action and aspiration humbly and earnestly seek favor in the sight of the Almighty, there is no end to America's forward road . . ."

I have introduced a House Joint Resolution to make September, 1955, John Marshall Bicentennial Month. September 24 is the birthdate of John Marshall, often called "the Great Chief Justice" because of his profound expression of Constitutional principles . . . Monday I will give a brief talk to the Interfederation Council, a group of civic associations, in Washington . . . Wednesday I speak to the Christ Lutheran Church Brotherhood in Bethesda, and Thursday to the Hancock Rotary and Lions Clubs in a joint meeting at Sagle's Restaurant in Hancock.

State Roads commission began construction of a beltway, 39-mile parkway designed to speed traffic into and around Baltimore city.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

A Foul Blow?

From time to time in this country new political parties, organizations, agencies or associations spring into being and for a while flourish amazingly. They make their bows with splendid pronouncements of principles and goals to which few can take exception. Those well equipped with press agents and widely known names sometimes get such a high degree of publicity that they can coast along for quite a long time without the hollow nature of their claims and their inherent lack of strength being revealed.

One of the most prominent of these in recent years is the so-called Americans for Democratic Action. This organization, from the start, has been extremely left wing or, as it prefers to call itself, "liberal." Among its members are many of the old Roosevelt and Truman New Dealers and Fair Dealers. These include Mrs. Roosevelt; her son, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., now an aspirant for the New York Democratic gubernatorial nomination; Mr. Walter Reuther and a number of CIO subleaders, the late venomous Mr. Harold Ickes and many of the old Roosevelt-Truman jobholders. Some of its presidents have been good men—not sound but good—notably former Attorney General Francis Biddle who recently retired.

The resounding resolutions passed and speeches made at A. D. A. conventions always got big plays in the newspapers and more or less gave the impression that the A. D. A. represented a mighty force in the nation. Its hero last year—and now—was the noble Mr. Adlai Stevenson and since the election apparently it has been dedicated to correcting the horrible mistake made by the American people when they voted out of power the Democrats (entrenched for twenty years) and elected General Eisenhower. For some time past, these A. D. A. publicity outbursts have seemed to become more feeble and, possibly because of more important news, they have been rather crowded out of the headlines. Also, not long ago Mrs. Roosevelt launched another agency for saving the country known as "The National Issues Committee." While Mrs. R. and young Franklin retain their A. D. A. membership, the new agency appeared rather to overlap and duplicate. Though relatively little has been heard of the "National Issues Committee" and it obviously lacks the A. D. A. publicity equipment, still it certainly has done the latter no good. However, no one in either organization was quite prepared for the foul attack made upon the A. D. A. by a former Democratic congressman at a gathering of its Massachusetts branch a few days ago.

The man's name is Foster Furcola. He is now State Treasurer of Massachusetts and he is being prominently mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination for governor. At the meeting in question Mr. Furcola did not tell the assembled Americans for Democratic Action what splendid men and women they were. He did not tell them that it is they who should run the country. He did not speak of the glory and achievements of the A. D. A. Instead, to their utmost surprise, he told the A. D. A. members that support of the A. D. A. was a killing burden, "weakening or defeating Democratic candidates." "The fact is," he told the A. D. A. delegates gathered in their annual convention, "the public is apt to oppose immediately whatever you support." Continuing, Mr. Furcola told the delegates that "you no longer enjoy the confidence of the people" and that there is only one question for their consideration—"should the A. D. A. continue or not?"

—o—

This question, Mr. Furcola said, in effect, applied not only to the Massachusetts branch but to the A. D. A. nationally. Quite clearly he implied that the A. D. A. was through and the best thing it could do, as one newspaper expressed it, was "to crawl into a corner and quietly die." If words like these had come from an Eisenhower Republican or an Eisenhower Democrat they could easily have been discounted. But, coming from an influential and aspiring Democrat, of standing in his community, they cannot help but have a damaging effect.

Undoubtedly, the A. D. A. will have an explanation. Undoubtedly its high-powered publicity boys will use plenty of words to show how wrong Mr. Furcola is, how he was "misinterpreted" and how he does not amount to much of anything, anyhow. But in their hearts they will not believe their own stuff. They were beginning to be a little short of breath before Mr. Furcola struck. For the moment he has taken the wind all out of of them. And he did not do Mrs. R.'s Committee On National Issues any good either. It may be beyond even the remarkable talents of Mr. Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., to reinflate them.

AURORA - EGLON

Thomas Teets, of Aurora, was taken to a Philippi hospital for treatment after he had fallen down steps and received a spinal injury. His condition is not thought serious.

Mrs. Effie Harsh, of near Eglon, was called to Ohio, where her daughter, Mrs. Flora Ellen Weaver, underwent surgery on Saturday.

A child was born Monday night to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence White in the Garrett County Memorial hospital. The child expired. The mother is the former Miss Mazie Arbogast, daughter of Mrs. George Waybright.

Funeral services were held at Aurora Methodist church on Monday afternoon for Summers D. McCrum, Sr., who passed away Saturday, January 9, in a Washington hospital.

The body of Mrs. Charlotte Smith, 88, of Rowlesburg, widow of W. W. Smith, was brought Wednesday to the Eglon cemetery and interred beside that of her husband.

Mrs. Saloma Staubaugh remains at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stemple, of near Aurora, where she was taken last week after she fell at her home at Eglon and fractured a rib. She appears to be recovering nicely.

Donnie Ford, student of Bethany Biblical Seminary, is spending a father and step-grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fike, at Eglon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Helmick returned Sunday to their home at Eglon from Winchester, Va., where they had visited at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Wotring and family.

Southern goes to Parsons on Friday night for its next game. Bayard is scheduled for the next home game on January 19.

The Junior high team will play the preliminary for the Bayard game on the 19th.

The Southern High school band was on hand and played several numbers before the varsity game and between halves. The band was directed by H. B. Wright, instructor.

Is Your Name WELCH?

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

WELCH, an old and honored surname, is of relatively simple origin, for it signifies "a native of Wales." It is the equivalent of the name Welsh; and when applied to settlers in England, it was transformed, in many instances, to Wallis and Wallace, the latter being the form that was, and still is, widely used in Scotland. In the case of those who migrated from Wales to Ireland, the name was gradually changed to Walsh which has become very popular over the centuries.

Among the patriots of Colonial days were WILLIAM WELCH and his son WILLIAM WELCH, JR. (1753-1838), both of whom lived in East Hampton, Connecticut. The former was a selectman and took the Oath of Fidelity in 1777. The later served as a private in the Connecticut troops during Revolutionary War.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has 29 listings of men bearing the name of WELCH who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

A brief history of some of the descendants of PHILIP WELCH, who sailed to this country on the ship "Goodfellow" in 1654 and settled in Ipswich, Mass., was compiled by George Burbank Sedgley and published in 1928 by The Knowland and McLeary Company, Farmington, Maine.

SAMUEL EARL WELCH has been justice, Supreme Court of Oklahoma, since 1932.

PHILIP JAMES WELCH, a former mayor of St. Joseph, Missouri, is serving his third term as a member of the U. S. House of Representatives.

Join The March Of Dimes - - -

The first collection in behalf of the annual March of Dimes for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis this year was made by a four-year-old boy 19,000 feet up in the air. Delbert Dains, this year's March of Dimes poster boy, opened the year's polio fund drive with a collection of $30 on a flight from New Orleans to New York.

Passengers on the plane contributed $30 as the kick-off contribution of this year's March of Dimes campaign, which continues throughout the month.

Of all the fund drives dedicated to the task of reducing human misery and suffering, none has more appeal than the March of Dimes, which is an effort to eradicate a disease which usually attacks children. It is also true that of all the major diseases, progress in checking the ravages of polio seems nearer at hand than with any other major killer.

It might well be that 1954 marks the first year in which a fully effective vaccine is made available to large numbers of children. If that turns out to be the case, the March of Dimes fund drive might eventually be curtailed.

Therefore the need this year is greater than ever before, in a drive which may not be necessary in another five or ten years. This newspaper urges its readers to start 1954 off right by contributing to a great cause in behalf of this community's, and the nation's, children.

The Nation's Health Improves

A major insurance company reported recently the 1953 death rate had averaged 6 per 1,000 inhabitants. This matched the rate in 1952—which was a record low rate.

For six years now the death rate in the United States has been below ten per 1,000 inhabitants. As medical treatments and advances are recorded, medical science is reducing the death rate proportionately.

The greatest factor in the low death rates in 1952 and 1953 has been the reduction achieved in the mortality rate from tuberculosis. As an example of how new treatments have reduced deaths from this disease, statisticians figures show that in 1953 the mortality rate from tuberculosis was less than thirteen persons per 100,000 population! In 1949—only a few years ago—the death rate was more than twice that, or more than 26 persons per 100,000 population.

The death rate from pneumonia has been sharply whittled in recent years, as well, and there is now some promise that the death rate from polio will be reduced. New anti-coagulant drugs also hold out the hope that the deaths resulting from strokes and heart ailments might be reduced in the next few years.

Altogether then, the health record of the people of the United States is the best it has ever been and while such diseases as cancer, heart disease, mental disease and others continue to exact a heavy toll, your chances for survival today—amidst the many germs and diseases that attack the human animal—are the best in history.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Fifty-six years ago Sir William Crookes, noted chemical scientist, foresaw the possibility of the end of life on earth. He wasn't forecasting a plague, another great Deluge, the development of the H-bomb or bacteriological warfare. He was merely calling attention to the dwindling supply of usable nitrogen in the earth's farmlands.

Unless a way could be found to replenish the nitrogen being drawn from the soil by crops, the soil gradually would become unproductive—and wholesale starvation would face the human race. Chile's nitrate mines would be a mere drop in the bucket of the need.

Long before Crookes lived, pure scientists had discovered that nitrogen sustains all plant and animal life. They'd found, too, there was more nitrogen on earth than any other element. The air we breathe is 80 per cent nitrogen, and thus in the air column over each acre of land on earth there are approximately 70,000,000 pounds of nitrogen. But before the soil, or man, or animal can use this air-nitrogen, it must be extracted and made into a different kind of chemical called "fixed" nitrogen.

The chemists found that a bolt of lightning converted the air nitrogen into "fixed" nitrogen, and rain brought it down into the ground and it renewed the soil's productivity. This occurrence wasn't widespread enough to be of any consequence, but it gave them a clue. European chemists worked with a test tube, heat and pressure and developed a cumbersome process for "fixing" nitrogen, but no significant quantities were manufactured until the big American chemical industries began to spend millions on research to perfect the process for mass production.

By 1940 the fertilizer business had been revolutionized and Sir William Crookes' spectre of a starving civilization was erased. In time there will be enough "fixed" nitrogen for the entire world's farmlands. And the source is inexhaustible.

American farmers now have learned how to use the life-giving, stimulating nitrogen in every agricultural production job. It is performing amazing feats in increased production of crops and livestock. Man gets his nitrogen from the meat, vegetables and grains he eats, and it keeps him alive. Thus, American industry, with its freedom to grow, with its powerful incentive inherent in our competitive, profit system, and with its great capacity for research, is helping mankind to be fruitful and replenish the earth, as God ordained.

Over Million Trees Earmarked For Area

More than 40 percent of the 2,250,000 seedling trees which the state nursery in Anne Arundel county has ready for distribution to Marylanders will come to Western Maryland, according to William H. Johnson, district forester.

Johnson expects to have about 1,500,000 young trees and 500,000 or 25 percent of the state's total, are earmarked for Garrett county. Frederick county will get about 250,000 and Allegany and Washington counties each will receive over 200,000.

Johnson said he already had received applications from about 100 property owners for the seedling trees. He will continue to take requests until all of the available seedlings are promised.

The species of trees include more than a million each of loblolly pine and black pine and lesser quantities of red and Scotch pine, Norway spruce, black locust and tulip poplar.

The trees must be used for reforestation of idle land and to improve watershed conditions under provisions of a 1943 act.

The department has nine tree planting machines which are available to landowners to set out trees at cost. The cost per acre is estimated at about $6 more or less, depending on the roughness of the land.

An item in an English newspaper said the bride was a former Rayon Queen and had taken an active part in amateur theatrical productions. She was principal girl in the Flint Theatre club's production of "Aladdin."

The rector of Flint, the Rev. H. J. Williams, officiated at the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white and silver brocade gown with train and full length veil held in place by a headdress of orange blossom. She carried a bouquet of red carnations.

The bridesmaid was Miss Sylvia Davies, and she wore a gown of turquoise taffeta with a lace overlay and a floral headdress to match. She carried white carnations.

Best man was T/Sgt. Frame and the groomsmen were Peter Williams and Clive Hughes. A reception was held at the bride's home.

The groom is a son of Mrs. Iva C. Rounds, of route 1, Swanton. A honeymoon trip was spent in Yorkshire.

Pre-Red Russia Observed New Years

In some cities the streets were decorated with flags and lanterns and thronged with merry-makers. The year was ushered in with a hundred shots fired from cannon.

One New Year's Day the Winter Palace was opened to society. Festivity reigned throughout the city, hospitality and charity were the watchwords from palace to cottage.

The mythical Oysen was supposed to be around about this time. He was usually depicted astride a boar, symbolically associated with the pork served for New Year dinner and the symbolism of Aryan descent.

Nearly 10 million pilgrims from India are preparing to journey to river Ganges in next two months to bathe in the waters.

Government announced plans to build gigantic atom-smashing machine, 10 times more powerful than any in use.

Behind-the-scenes talk in labor circles pointed to the creation of a "third force" in big labor, but not as a third labor organization.

Apple blossom festival was set for April 29-30 at Winchester.

Steel production dropped along with steel prices and there were layoffs in the industry.

Looking at WASHINGTON

Looking Back On 1953—
Peace Prospects Improved—
Business Prophets Wrong—
Foreign Policy Setbacks—

Washington, January 13—January is the month for recapitulations. Business experts look back over the past year to see how their predictions panned out, administration leaders figure up their won-and-lost percentage, and the executive branch of the government reviews its conduct in the field of foreign affairs and presents a program for the new year.

Looking back over 1953, business prophets find they were wrong in setting the first six months of the year as the period for a recession. Later some of the predictions were changed to the latter half of the year but even some of these were off. In trying to piece together a clear picture for 1954 these miscalculations are now being taken into account by government experts, who see another good year in 1954.

The average administration leader in Washington is not pessimistic about business developments. Most of the top officials agree with Sen. William Knowland that business will be off less than five per cent in 1954, and many of them look for a business surge in mid-year.

As far as peace prospects are concerned, the consensus of opinion in both business and governmental circles at present is that the outlook is its brightest in several years, at least since the dark days of November, 1950, when the Chinese entered the Korean War against the United States.

In Europe the situation has been summed up by both Generals Alfred Gruenther and J. Lawton Collins (U. S. representative on the NATO council) as being an improved one. War fears in West Europe are at a low point and the NATO defense force is now supported by atomic artillery and over 2,000 aircraft, not counting the U. S. strategic air force.

Administration leaders feel that real peace with the Communists is a long way off but they also are confident that now U. S. military strength gives the free world a better chance for peace in the next few years than it has enjoyed for the last five. The old time table of maximum danger from the Soviet Union, in 1954, has been discarded. That was the official Chiefs of Staff schedule just a year or two ago.

The Republican Administration is counting on tax cuts to stimulate business this year, just as they did in Great Britain after the Conservatives regained control, and if a solution can be found to ease the farm problem, there is no reason why the economy will not move along on a high and prosperous level for years.

In the field of foreign policy the Administration is confronted with urgent and difficult problems, though the toughest task was accomplished in 1953—the halting of the Korean fighting. Looking back over the year, the State Department sees success in Korea, continued stalemate in Indo China, trouble and even setbacks in central Asia, and failures and success in West Europe.

India is the big question mark in Asia. During the first half of the past year India seemed to be leaning toward the democracies, but in recent months the attitude of Indian leaders has been chilled by the prospect of a U. S.-Pakistan military pact, and late reports indicate the Communists are threatening to begin a guerilla campaign in this vast country. To U. S. military leaders this sounds ominously like China, 1946.

In Europe 1953 brought a major success in West Germany, when German voters ratified the policies of Konrad Adenauer, but in France and Italy, little progress was made in the effort to get a European Defense Community Army finally approved. Thus the new year opens with greater hopes for peace but with less cooperation from some of the major powers, whose cooperation is necessary if defense plans are to be achieved.

In the field of atomic energy, great progress was made by the United States in 1953 but the world also learned for the first time that the Russians probably have the secret of the hydrogen bomb also. President Eisenhower went so far as to say publicly in late 1953, that the United States was in operation producing results (bombs) daily. It was the first time an official indication had been given that the mass production of these weapons had reached such a stage.

Mainly because of the growing number of these weapons and the increased destructive ability of them, the administration is eager to arrange some sort of conference with the Russians, and others, aimed at international control of atomic and hydrogen weapons. The Reds say they favor a ban on the use of these new bombs, on the order of the Geneva Agreement outlawing the use of poison gas.

Toward this end the administration is now moving, hoping that international control of these terrible weapons will safeguard U. S. cities and prevent the slaughter of millions of civilians sure to result in indiscriminate atomic warfare. If that goal can be achieved in 1954, the administration's foreign policy will have scored as heavily as it did in 1953, in bringing an end to the war in Korea.

Statistics Reveal Importance Of Blood Recruitment Program Here

The extent to which the contributions of blood from Garrett county citizens have helped in the over-all Red Cross program has been explained this week by Mrs. W. W. Grant, publicity chairman for the local chapter.

Blood from local donors is used not only locally but throughout the entire area. Total blood collection by the Red Cross in this county from February 28, 1952, to December 16, 1953, was 1,182 pints, Mrs. Grant stated. Of that amount 659 pints have been used at the Garrett County Memorial hospital and in several replacements for hospitals in Baltimore, and one hospital in Cleveland. Replacements were for blood that had been given by these hospitals to citizens of Garrett county.

The Red Cross blood program is nation-wide and there are few places not covered by the program. Mrs. Grant pointed out that any citizen of this county who should need blood during medical treatment, or in case of an accident or sudden illness, while in another area, would receive blood without cost, since they come from a community which has a blood program. The only cost would be the laboratory fee for typing and cross matching of the blood.

In summing up what has been accomplished in Garrett county, she revealed that there have been 818 different donors. Of that number 465 have come from the Oakland vicinity. D. C. MacMurray, Mt. Lake Park, is the only local member of the Gallon club under the Red Cross plan. Mrs. Arthur Ofsthun has given seven pints of blood and is hoping to be the second member of the gallon club after the next bloodmobile visit to Oakland on February 3.

She listed others and their records: George Perrine, Mt. Lake Park and Milburn Mann, Oakland, 6 pints; Mrs. Nola Runehart, Rosedale, Elmer Updle, Joseph Kahl Mt. Lake Park; William Wildecen, German, 5 pints each. Eighteen persons have given four times, 58 three times, 94 two times and 206 are one-time donors. The blood collection from the Oakland area has been 752 pints.

Honor Roll Is Kept

After each bloodombile visit, Mrs. H. C. Riggs, of the registration committee, adds to the honor roll. On it are listed the names of all the donors and the number of times they have given blood. This is placed on display.

Mrs. Grant said those working with the blood program feel that having access to the Red Cross blood bank has meant for the county not only the saving of effort and time in the recruitment of blood donors when the need arises, but also in the time element involved. The availability of the blood bank has done much toward the saving of lives and the speeding of recovery to those in need of blood transfusions or blood plasma, she said.

Dr. Thomas F. Lusby, chief of staff of the Garrett County Memorial hospital, declared, "In many cases the presence of blood has meant the saving of a life. This is possible in cases of emergency by the use of the universal donor type of blood which is always kept in the blood bank. This type of blood can be actually used on the patient during the time the laboratory is typing and matching the patient's blood. Certain types of surgery and other procedures would not be possible without the availability of the blood bank."

Must Issue Gas Heater Permits

The Maryland Public Service Commission has ordered the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company to issue permits for 2,000 space heaters in Garrett and Allegany counties.

The Public Service Commission executive secretary, Albert L. Deen, said this number will take care of the applications the firm has on file.

The move followed a series of conferences by the PSC and Del. Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Westernport, during the past several months.

Deen recalled that the company several years ago established its own restrictions on the amount of furnace installations so that the service to its regular customers would not be interrupted. Following this move the federal government during war time also established restrictions on the use of natural gas in order to conserve the supply for war industries.

The federal action was followed by similar regulations issued by the various public commissions of the state, including Maryland. After the war the Maryland PSC removed its restrictions, but the company maintained its control on new space heaters. The C. and A. firm has in the past several years issued permits to only a certain number of homes.

It was stated the company would send out cards to the persons having heating permit applications on file. They will be asked whether they want the installation at this time.

President Tito denied claims that Yugoslavia has entered in a "secret agreement" with Russia.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

My Community

A thought by our editor, that each one of us has a part in a growing and developing community deserves our attention.

What do you think of the community in which you live? Is it a place where there is jealousy, poor neighbors, little cooperation? Or is it a place where many people play together, work together, worship together, grow together?

You know YOU may help to decide what kind of a place it is to live in. Each one of us plays a part in deciding what kind it shall be. We all carry with us that force called influence. If your community is not all you hope for, you can help to change it.

I have always felt rather sorry for the few people in every community who never show any interest in community activities. The local school means nothing to them, the work of the Church leaves them cold and disinterested, and to other community affairs, they give no attention.

These folks miss so much of the warmth and just good fun of working and sharing problems together. Here in Garrett County, we can do many worth-while things if we only work together.

Sometime ago, I won a small cash prize, on a radio program, for writing a few lines on "Why I like my community." The cash award was small, but I was happy I could put what I felt into words.

It seems to me our entire political philosophy is changing. We are changing from thinking government to be a big Santa Claus, capable of solving all our problems, to a return to our own self-reliance, our own initiative, our own strength, and I, for one, am glad of it. Once again we shall build on our own, and find new strength long unused.

The spark plug of business is always the salesman. Each one of us is a salesman, too. We sell to our community our ideas, our enthusiasms, our convictions. Look them over, and see if they can make your community better.

As your community grows, you will find yourself growing, too. Let's all try it and see.

Harris Upholds Accident Ruling

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris has upheld the decision of the State Industrial Accident Commission disallowing the claim of a Garrett County miner who alleged he had contracted silicosis.

The commission, on February 15, 1951, had disallowed the claim of Elzie McRobie against the Johnstown Coal and Coke Company.

County Home Rule Opposed By Farm Bureau

Seeks Better Roads For Rural Areas—Re-elects Wilson A. Heaps As President

Members of the Maryland Farm Bureau denounced greater home rule for Maryland counties and called for a fair share of road building for rural areas before heading home Saturday from their 38th annual convention in Baltimore.

They also re-elected to his sixth term as president, Wilson A. Heaps, of Street.

Home rule and road questions were among numerous resolutions which came up for consideration by delegates. The convention recommended that "due emphasis" be placed on secondary road construction and improvements in the state's highway program. It also urged a careful watch that "proposed super highways provide frequent access for rural areas, farmers be given just compensation for acquired rights-of-way, and reasonable access be provided from one part of a severed farm to another."

The farm delegates also favored the state's getting out of the property tax field, leaving it to local government, and condemned the rotational plan of reassessments.

The resolution contended the three-year rotational plan "is neither practical nor will it guarantee equal tax burdens on properties of like value either for the duration of the rotation or over a long period." The bureau favored a system under which all property assessment values would be determined annually.

Bureau delegates advocated repeal of the Federal gasoline tax and urged the State and national governments to allow income tax deduction for medical and hospital insurance costs.

The counties were appealed to use every effort to see that the Maryland sales tax is removed from insecticides, fungicides, marketing containers, binder and baler ties as a means of insuring the consumer of high quality food.

The New Birth

Lesson for January 17, 1954

THERE are many doctrines which unite all Christian churches. The doctrine of the New Birth is one of these. Some churches talk about it all the time. Some do not, but that does not mean they do not believe in it. If you are going to put churches on a black-list because they do not keep talking about the New Birth, you will have to rule out a good many writers in the Bible, because it is seldom mentioned on the pages of Scripture. However, the fact back of the words is there.

* * *

Not a Command

There is a common misunderstanding about the New Birth which is based on a mis-reading of the English translation of John 3:7, "You must be born anew." You can hear sermons on this text, preached as if this were a command, an imperative: Go and be born again! As the Greek original plainly shows, Jesus did not mean this as a command. He was stating it as a necessity. Nothing can be commanded which cannot be willed; and no man can decide to be, or will to be, born again. It is an act of God, not of man. The word "must" in John 3:7 is like the word "must" when you tell a gardener: "In order to raise tomatoes you must have a certain amount of rainfall during the spring." It is like the word "must" used by an art teacher saying to a pupil: "If you want to be an artist, first of all you must have artistic talent." A gardener cannot go out and make it rain. A young man cannot make up his mind to have talent. Still, rain is necessary for tomatoes, and talent is necessary for art. In the same way, although the New Birth is necessary to the Christian life, no one can say, "I have decided to be born again," for this is not something we can do ourselves.

Dr. Foreman

Not a New Leaf

Again, the New Birth is not simply a new start, a new leaf, a new stage in life. Every moment is a fresh start, every day turns a new leaf, every week marks a new stage in life. But no matter how much a baby grows, no matter how many times he is weighed, no matter how many changes come as the child grows to boyhood and manhood, that child is born only once. Life has many new leaves, but only one new birth.

The New Birth is not even conversion. In conversion the Christian does something; in the New Birth something happens to him. One is perfectly conscious of conversion, in fact it is not possible to be converted unconsciously. But the New Birth is not anything visible, observable at all, it is not even conscious. Let us put it as simply as possible. Take the case of some bad person who is converted. If you say to that person before his conversion, "Be good" (or anything that means that), he will not be good. The big reason why not, is that he does not want to. If you were to say, "Don't you even want to be good?" he might well reply, "No I don't, and what's more, I don't even want to want to." But one day or night, perhaps suddenly, perhaps slowly, this man realizes that for the first time he does want to be good. Perhaps he does not go so far at first. All he could say is that he wishes he did want to be good. If that is the truth about him, then he is already born again.

God's New Life

Without this first desire, faint though it may be, no progress can be made. Turning over new leaves in the wrong book never gets you anywhere. God has to put the right book into your hands. What the New Birth means, is God enabling you to desire what is truly good; in more personal language, it is the touch of the Holy Spirit on your dead and indifferent spirit, waking you so as to desire Him. It is an act of God, not of man. It is not something God does about man, but in man. The Old Testament calls it exchanging a heart of stone for a heart of flesh. The New Testament sometimes calls it the "New Birth," sometimes "passing from death to life," sometimes regeneration, which means the same thing. The New Birth cannot be seen, because it is the beginning of life. You cannot see life in the maple trees now, but you will know it is there, one spring day, because you will see the maple buds. So it is in the soul's springtime.

It takes a lot of energy to wield a rattle.
It takes even more to crawl across the room.
A fellow just has to take a time-out once in a while
That's an important lesson for all of us to learn. It is nothing short of suicide to let one's work and recreation rob his body of the natural opportunity to replenish its resources in rest. Our souls also need a frequent time-out. Life depletes our spiritual resources. Man needs regular times for worship, for prayer, and for religious inspiration.
The Church is meeting this need in the lives of many of your neighbors and friends. Are you—and your whole family—taking advantage of the time-out for spiritual replenishment which the Church offers? We invite you to attend the church of your choice next Sunday!

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

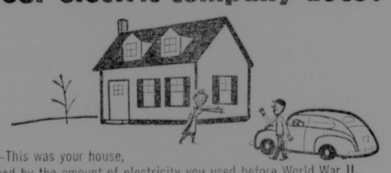
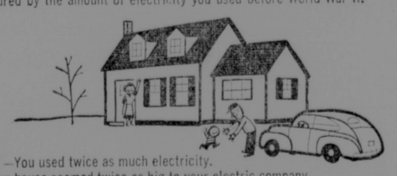
Ever look at your house this way?

Your electric company does!

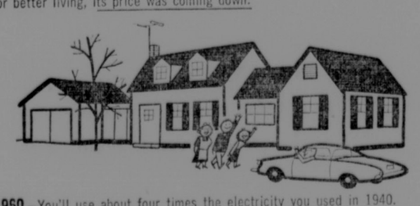


1940—This was your house, measured by the amount of electricity you used before World War II.



1947—You used twice as much electricity. So your house seemed twice as big to your electric company.

Today—You use a lot more electricity—three times as much as in 1940! And all the while you were finding new ways to use electricity for better living, its price was coming down.



1960—You'll use about four times the electricity you used in 1940. Your electric company already is investing millions of dollars to have it ready.

This means that the electric light and power companies of America are planning and building well ahead for the nation's growing electric future. Their $10 billion expansion program is the largest in all industrial history. America's business-managed electric companies prove daily that they can meet the country's electric needs. In view of this, you have the right to ask whether any federal government electric power projects—paid for with your tax money—are really necessary.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

The Answer Is "Nuts"

Perhaps it has not been pointed out with sufficient clarity, but it does seem that already there has accumulated sufficient evidence to prove to most detached persons that the one group in the country most strongly in favor of a depression is composed of the Democratic politicians of the New Deal-Fair Deal persuasion who see in it their big chance of regaining control of the government in the near future.

—o—

That was the way they gained control in 1932. The theme then was that Herbert Hoover had brought on the depression. Totally false as was that contention, they succeeded in riding into office on it. Once in, the old Harry Hopkins formula of "tax, tax, tax, spend, spend, spend, elect, elect, elect," was put into operation. The result was that, aided by the war, a spurious prosperity was maintained and great groups of voters welded to the Democratic side. It was not until last year that with General Eisenhower as a candidate the Republicans were able to break through that formidable setup and elect a President who wants to keep in the middle of the road instead of traveling faster and faster to the left.

Considering the facts it is natural the Democrats should concentrate on the effort to get back at the earliest possible moment. Natural, too, is their belief that the thing most helpful to them would be another nice depression. Accordingly, there seems a fairly well organized attempt to talk the country into one. Depression forecasts flavor all the Democratic National Committee propaganda and few Democratic members of Congress ever make a speech without stressing the dreadful prospect of a business collapse and a vast army of unemployed.

Two of the most insistent of the depression prophets are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mr. Walter Reuther. Both are members of the so-called Americans for Democratic Action, whose publicity experts are spreading the depression doctrine far and wide. Others, including some of the more conspicuous Truman "economic advisers," are doing what they can to promote the idea that a collapse of our economic system is just around the corner. Shortly, the A. D. A. will hold one of its conventions at which its hero, Mr. Adlai Stevenson, will "emote" in his usual noble way, but the organization which so whole-heartedly supports him will pass resolutions about the deplorable state into which our economy has gotten and loudly call for prompt measures to save the country.

—o—

Most of the A. D. A. proposals will be based on those which Mr. Reuther, who is also a member of Mrs. Roosevelt's new "National Issues Committee," laid before the CIO convention two weeks ago and which, as usual with Mr. Reuther's conventions, were unanimously adopted. Fifteen of these Reuther resolutions involved large expenditures of Federal cash. The sixteenth urged that personal exemptions in the income tax law be raised from $600 to $1,000. This would lower the Government revenue by $9,500,000,000 a year. In other words, the Government must spend more and take in less. This does not make sense and it never did. Nevertheless, it is basic in the New Deal philosophy and, despite the fact that the ultimate end of this road is national bankruptcy, one very dear to the hearts of the labor union demagogues. Some of them actually believe it—which raises the question—how dumb can you get?

When last week the President referred to the "peddlers of gloom" there is no doubt he was referring to the type of person who wants to promote himself politically at the expense of the American people. Because that is what it amounts to. If the country could be talked or maneuvered into a big-time depression, probably the Eisenhower Administration would be blamed and the next election would go against the Republicans. That is the way it worked in 1932 and it may be that will happen again. But there are several things that ought to be considered carefully in connection with the present depression predictions.

(1) They largely come from politicians anxious to get back to power (2) in the judgment of Secretary Humphrey and other informed men in the Administration they are utterly without foundation; (3) the political self-interest of those who lead in the depression cry is so clear that it is not likely to have much effect. Another thing worth noting is that the only persons who outdo these Democratic "peddlers of gloom" are the Communists. From the Soviet press in Moscow and New York come weekly outpourings to the effect that the United States is on the verge of economic disaster. As one clear-headed man of wide business experience expresses it—the answer to that is "Nuts."

Credit Group Has 20th Anniversary

The Potomac Valley Production Credit association, serving farmers in five West Virginia counties and two Maryland counties of Garrett and Allegany, from its offices in Romney and Petersburg, observed its 20th anniversary January 3.

Roy L. Day, secretary, said the association was organized January 3, 1934, and since that time has made more than 3,000 loans totaling over $5,800,000, principally for the purpose of assisting farmers in buying farm supplies, livestock and machinery, and in planting, harvesting and marketing crops.

When first organized the Federal government provided a substantial amount of this capital, the peak amount being $150,000. Day said all this has been repaid but $10,000 and the association has a net worth of $104,000, owned by its farmer members. Losses have been less than 1 100 of one percent.

A formal celebration is planned at its annual stockholders' meeting to be held February 25. Its board of directors includes A. O. Riley, of Oakland.

U. S. disclosed it would make a supersecret series of atomic tests in the Pacific soon.

Announcing The New Packard CLIPPER

The new Packard CLIPPER Panama Hardtop! Sportiest car in the new CLIPPER line.

America's Newest Medium-Priced Car!

Luxury at a lot less...because Packard builds it

A year ago the Packard CLIPPER was introduced as America's newest medium-priced car.

■ And men who know were quick to say: "That's a lot of car for the money!"

■ And it was a lot of car for the money. And it is a lot of car for the money. Because Packard builds it.

So the news spread!

■ And in 1954 the new CLIPPER brings you fine-car luxuries, fine-car power, fine-car ride . . . (the high-price features everybody wants) . . . and yet at a popular, medium price!

■ We have built a finer car for '54 because experience in '53 proved that there are many thousands of Americans who want a true luxury car in the medium-price range.

■ Most cars in the medium-price field are simply big brothers of smaller cars made by the same company. These cars may offer the modern gadgets and the smooth look of the big car, but in most cases their basic engineering is still influenced by small-car engineering.

"Packard-built" makes the difference

■ No feature or claim will ever give you a more powerful reason for buying a CLIPPER than the name Packard.

■ You'll find the reason when you take command of a Packard CLIPPER and put it through its paces over a road of your own choosing. Make that date with "Packard-built quality at a popular, medium price" very soon . . . won't you?

■ You'll get luxury for a lot less in a Packard CLIPPER.

Since you can't test the new Packard CLIPPER at the famous Packard Proving Ground, get the story, fact by fact, on the pocket proving ground at your dealer's. But don't stop there! For the real thrill, drive a CLIPPER. N-139C

OAKLAND EQUIPMENT COMPANY
92 THIRD STREET OAKLAND, MD.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Washington at times seems far removed from the daily difficulties and joys of the individual and his family.

The President of the United States has delivered his State of the Union Address before the Second Session of the 83rd Congress which has now convened. The lofty ideals expressed, and his recommendations for legislation, probably do not appear to relate to any particular problem which you experience.

Washington can seem to be quite separate from the rest of the United States—and I know from personal experience that life in our Nation's Capital can appear quite detached from Maryland and my own home town of Frostburg.

President Eisenhower spoke of three goals—to protect the freedom of our people; to maintain a strong, growing economy; and, to concern ourselves with the human problems of the individual citizen.

"Only by active concern for each of these purposes," he told Congress, "can we be sure that we are on the forward road to a better and stronger America. All my recommendations today are in furtherance of these three purposes."

He then proceeded to talk of foreign affairs, foreign assistance and trade, defense, internal security, strong economy, the budget, taxes, agriculture, conservation of resources, labor and welfare, health, education and housing.

The President's recommendations in these fields, and comment by Members of Congress, were in general terms, national in scope—the language of government too often seems peculiar to Washington, intelligible only to the initiated.

President Eisenhower's stated purposes will probably have general acceptance. It would be difficult to disagree with their intent, but you may question as to how such purposes come to be stated, and how they are put into effect by your Federal government.

How, you may ask, is it determined that these purposes are desirable for us as individuals and citizens of the United States? How does government decide what action will be beneficial to me?

Concluding his address President Eisenhower gave as good an answer as can be stated. He said, "a government can try, as ours tries, to sense the deepest aspirations of the people, and to express them in political action at home and abroad. So long as action and aspiration humbly and earnestly seek favor in the sight of the Almighty, I can see no end to the road ahead for America and no human limit to the service we can perform."

Government action is the result of problems which arise in your daily life—at home, at your job, in your local communities. We, your elected representatives, try to gain an understanding of these problems and also to anticipate such problems. Action by government—in the form of new laws; of administrative acts by the President—then has a direct effect on you, your home and your community.

When you see the President on television delivering his message to Congress, or read in your newspaper of the discussions in Congress, the men and their ideas may seem far removed from your living room or breakfast table. They are not—they are your personal problems and aspirations, expressed in terms applicable to a nation.

Foreign affairs to your family can be reduced down to war or peace.

Defense can mean whether the factory where you work produces military or consumer goods—and to your sons it means how aware they are of the existence of the local draft board.

The budget and taxes are just as real as your weekly pay envelope; and the policies established by the Treasury Department affects the value of the dollar in your pocket, your savings in the bank, the insurance you have for your security and the mortgage on your home.

Foreign trade means how much competition the businessman can expect from businessmen in other countries.

Your Government in Washington may seem formidable and distant, but it is as personal as your own, and your family's health, happiness and security.

MRS. JAMES FRANK JUNKINS

Mrs. Eliza Virginia Dixon Junkins, 79, wife of James Frank Junkins, died Thursday morning, January 7, at her farm home on Atlantic Hill near Shaw, W. Va.

A native of Garrett county, she was born April 30, 1874, a daughter of the late Joseph A. and Amy Braggs Dixon. She had resided at Shaw for the past 75 months.

Although in failing health for the past six months, she observed with her husband, their 54th wedding anniversary on Christmas Day.

Besides her husband, one son, Albert Junkins, of Shaw, and three grandchildren survive. She was a member of Nethkin Hill Methodist church.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon from the residence, with Rev. William Withers, pastor of Elk Garden Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in Jenny Springs cemetery on the home farm.

MISS KATE BANNATYNE

Miss Kate Bannatyne, 69, native of Eckhart, died Saturday, January 9, in Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville, where she had been a patient one day.

A daughter of the late James and Annie (Glen) Bannatyne, she had taught in the Allegany County school system 20 years before being appointed supervisor of elementary schools in Garrett County, a position she held for more than 25 years. Miss Bannatyne suffered a nervous breakdown in 1949, from which she never fully recovered.

Miss Bannatyne was a member of Eckhart Baptist Church for 55 years and had served that church in many capacities, including teaching of Sunday School and church work courses.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. William Harriman, Eckhart, and Mrs. Edwin Grim, Frostburg. A number of nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. from the Durst Funeral home in Frostburg by the Rev. Sidney Aldrick, pastor of Eckhart Baptist Church, and interment was in Eckhart Cemetery.

Water And Litter Are Wintertime Poultry Problems

Freezing water in the drinking fountains and wet litter are two problems that face many poultrymen this time of year.

George Quigley, of the University of Maryland poultry department, has suggestions to both these problems.

If there is danger of water pipes becoming frozen Dr. Quigley suggests that electric resistance tape be used to protect the pipes. The problem often is one of simply keeping the float valve and the water in the fountain from freezing and Dr. Quigley says a simple solution is to hang a 250 watt infrared bulb about 24 inches above the water. He stresses the importance of having a porcelain socket for the bulb rather than a metal one, and points out that the bulb should be protected from birds flying against it.

A lot of harm will result if hens are without water for only a few hours, and the effect is worst in high producing flocks.

Litter may not be as tough a problem this winter as it is most winters, Dr. Quigley believes. This is because we entered the winter months after a dry summer and fall and the litter was drier than usual going into the winter season. Even so, there is apt to be some troubles with damp and caked litter.

The poultry specialist recommends treating litter with hydrated lime, a finely ground limestone product. One hundred pounds can be used for every 400 square feet of floor space.

Dr. Quigley cautions against the use of quicklime. It is dangerous to use. A labor saving method of mixing lime into the litter has been tried at the University experimental farm with good results. This method consists of using a 5-tined hand garden cultivator with curved teeth and a straight handle for stirring lime into the top inch or two of litter.

Dr. Quigley says this method was found to be superior to deep turning, and estimates it takes only about one-third as much time and labor.

The hand cultivator is also an excellent tool for "spot turning" of litter around feeders and water fountains.

Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff, Maryland court of appeals, was scheduled to be nominated for post of solicitor general of United States by President Eisenhower.

It is a super-refined gasoline . . . plus three great additives that give you protection against knock, protection against stalling and protection against valve sticking. Here is a gasoline engineered to meet the total power and anti-knock requirements of even the highest-compression new cars. For millions of older cars it means better working horsepower and better total engine performance. If you've tried it, you know what we're talking about. It is the finest gasoline made by the Esso Standard Oil Company in its many years of product leadership . . . it's by far the largest-selling premium gasoline in the area served by Esso Dealers. See your Esso Dealer for a tankful today.

THE BEST GASOLINE YOU CAN BUY!

TOTAL POWER means:

• POWER for quick starting in any weather • POWER for fast warm-up • POWER to resist cool weather stalling • POWER to kill off knocks and pings • POWER to take steep hills in stride • POWER to pick up swiftly and smoothly from a standstill • POWER to get the most possible working horsepower from any engine under today's all-round driving conditions

KNOCK AND PING are completely stopped in millions of cars, particularly in the overwhelming majority of new cars and especially those with high-compression engines.

FULL PERFORMANCE is made possible for many other new cars which now have their sparks deliberately retarded to prevent knock.

COOL WEATHER STALLING and power loss caused by carburetor icing are effectively combated by an anti-stalling ingredient. Esso Extra was the first fuel to give you this extra value.

BETTER MILEAGE and better all-around performance can be obtained in short trip, round-town driving this winter by motorists who formerly used "regular" gasoline.

No. 4429 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property situate in Election District No. 3 of Garrett County, Maryland, sold by Arthur H. Green, Late Treasurer and Collector of Taxes for the State of Maryland and for Garrett County, the certificate of sale for which is now owned by the plaintiff in these proceedings:

All that tract of coal assessed as containing 326 acres to James Anspach, in District No. 3, and being the same coal which was conveyed to Charles E. Anspach, Frederick F. Anspach, and James Anspach, by deed from Peter Wilhelm, et al, dated March 13, 1872, and recorded in Liber No. 52, folio 531, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, which said deed describes five parcels of land containing a total of 305 acres, more or less. An undivided one-third interest in the above coal was conveyed, or attempted to be conveyed, by Charles E. Anspach and wife to Frederick J. Anspach by deed dated June 11, 1881, and recorded in Liber No. 55, folio 252, one of said Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland. An undivided two-thirds interest in said coal was conveyed, or attempted to be conveyed, by Frederick J. Anspach and wife, to F. Rea Anspach, by deed dated December 23, 1895, and recorded in Liber No. 78, folio 276, one of said Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland. Rea Anspach to James Anspach, dated August 3, 1900, and recorded in Liber No. 99, folio 674, one of said Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

The bill states, among other things, that the amounts necessary for redemption have not been paid although more than a year and a day from the date of sale has expired.

It is thereupon, this 7th day of January, 1954, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ordered, that notice be given by insertion of a copy of this order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks, warning all persons interested in said property to be and appear in this Court on or before the 5th day of April, 1954, and redeem the property herein described and answer the bill of complaint, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the plaintiff a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life

By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

HONESTY

Be dishonest and you turn your soul into a prison and lock yourself in.

It was once reported that a woman in New Mexico wrote a letter to a popular mail order house enclosing one dollar for an article she had obtained 20 years before. "I've never been satisfied with myself," she wrote, "so I'm sending one dollar to pay the bill and ask your forgiveness for the delay. I'm glad that at last I can be free."

You can almost hear that woman's sigh of relief. You can almost see her straighten up as she drops the burden and says "I'm glad that at last I can be free."

Even when it's only a dollar involved, you can't rest easy unless you've been honest. The amount of money in such an instance is beside the point. Here's a happiness maker which never goes out of date—honesty, the word that can change your life.

December 28, 1953.

Honorable Walter J. Kohler
Governor of Wisconsin
Madison, Wisconsin
Dear Governor Kohler:

In further reference to your earlier correspondence inviting Maryland to participate in the 1954 heaviest turkey contest, I thought you would be interested in seeing the clipping from a recent edition of The Oakland Republican.

From this article and picture, you can readily see that Maryland citizens take all challenges seriously.

Sincerely yours,

Many thanks for your letter of December 28 together with the enclosed clipping from The Oakland Republican. I must admit that I am somewhat impressed with the photograph of the Garrett County turkeys.

I have enjoyed immensely the letters I have received from the other governors regarding the contest and am anxiously awaiting the decision of the judges at the time of the weighing in.

With good wishes,

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

It's Two Pants Weather

Last week when a few of us Garrett county folks were in Baltimore attending meetings we hurried from one place to another with goose pimples the size of warts, teeth chattering, and feeling cold to the marrow of our bones.

Never have I been so cold. I was tempted to go shopping with a blanket around my shoulders. (Now that might have made a story for that young reporter who was out to find something funny to write about.

Baltimoreans know that our mountain top is a place to cool off in the summer, but if those poor souls wanted to shake hands with real living they should come here in the winter to get good crisp air in their lungs and the chill out of their bones.

We take so much for granted up here. Schools close all over the east with less snow than we have, but our busses move on time. Our kids say, "Oh, it's not cold."

The folks down Grantsville way have a way of knowing when the thermometer drops. When Miss Ida Engle, Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle and I were bucking that damp, penetrating 20 degrees in Baltimore in order to see "The Robe," Miss Ida's only comment as we shivered and shook, was "It feels like two pants weather."

She explained that when it really got cold on her farm they wore two pairs of slacks instead of one.

Independence—1776 Style

The Fair Association committee was holding a meeting to make some important decisions (not local). One business man after another said he didn't want to get involved in any controversy that would hurt his business. Others said it wasn't good politics.

One woman, who gave up an interesting career to become a farmer, spoke up, "I can speak my mind without fear of business or politics—for I am an independent farmer."

—o—

Hood That Camera

We have all gone mad over photography. A generation ago few individuals owned even a Brownie and one was lucky to have a half dozen pictures of his early childhood.

Today, photography is everywhere. It's a wonderful way to tell a story and is a favorite hobby among young and old. But there now is a need for someone to include its proper use in an etiquette book.

Take, for instance, the marriage ceremony. The first time I ever saw a camera in that sacred place, a photographer (friend of the family) stepped out of a door from the chancel and as the bride and groom kneeled to pray, he took their picture.

Sometimes I wonder how brides and grooms ever store away any memories or feeling of deep reverence or emotion on their wedding day, because they are so busy posing.

Many of us don't need a glossy print to bring back the expression of his face as we took our place beside him at the altar. A flash bulb at that moment would have turned it into a show.

Sometimes wedding receptions are havens for hobbyists and something else for the guests as they wait and wait to bless the couple.

A half hour period between ceremony and reception for pictures would free them for their role as it was intended.

The etiquette book should also include when not to take pictures of a speaker—and that is—when he is speaking. It's amazing when one is trying not to miss a word, to have someone bob up in front, hold up his flash bulb and in due time set it off.

When Secretary Benson spoke to the 4-H club congress at Chicago it was like a display of northern lights and it kept up for his entire talk. How he bucked that, I will always wonder. I imagine he would have preferred they listen to what he had to say even at a cost of five minutes of his time later.

Youngsters just don't know by instinct some of the rules of etiquette and someone needs to teach them.

MARRIED

Glass - Sites — Announcement is made of the marriage December 24, of Miss Marguerite Sites, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Sites, of Moorefield, W. Va., to Ray Glass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Glass, of Accident.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mrs. Deborah Burkett, in Cumberland, by Rev. Arthur Scrogum, former pastor of the Church of the Brethren at Accident. Mrs. Nettie Evans and Kenneth Jacobs, both of Hyndman, Pa., were the attendants.

The bride was attired in a Navy blue wool jersey dress with white accessories. A corsage of white rosebuds completed her costume. The matron of honor wore an ice blue costume with white accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Glass is manager of a hat shop in Cumberland. Mr. Glass is associated with the Coddington Lumber company at Friendsville. The couple will reside in Cumberland.

MY MOTHER

After sick for a long long time,
There came a special day
On the 13th day of January
Our Mother was called away.

She was called to a peaceful place
Where no sorrows or troubles are
And on that very day
There blinked another star.

We think of her on this day
As we have so many times.
We think of her whenever we worship
And when the church bells chime.

We think of the way she solved our troubles
And laughed our blues away.
How she saved her special problems
Until she kneeled to pray.

The road's been rough and very long
These past few years we utter.
oS we ask our good Lord up above
To guard over those without a mother.

In memory of my mother, Mrs. Phoebe Collins, who passed away January 13, 1953.

Mrs. Myrtle Harvey.

Fair and Fowl . . . . .

Most any person one talks with will declare he is in favor of having a county fair. Twenty-five or more persons who attended a meeting on Monday night, called to find out the sentiment of the public, said the same thing.

The group planned to send out letters to various organizations throughout the county so that a wider viewpoint could be obtained. These letters will go to Farm Bureau, Homemakers, Associated Women, Service clubs, and individuals. We can write down the answer in advance for a large majority, and it would be favorable. Sure, we are in favor of a fair, they will say.

We are glad they favor a fair, even if they will have various reasons for such an answer. We believe, too, there ought to be a fair. With this county largely agricultural, there is nothing finer with which to stir up a little friendly competition, a little ambition to improve crops, a Christian lesson in good will, and an increase in educational values. The value of a fair to farmers could be invaluable.

But interested persons will have to be able to say more than just the words, "I am in favor of it." They will have to be determined to display their products. They will have to get behind the project with words plus effort. They will have to be sold on the idea completely themselves, and convince others of its importance in bettering this county.

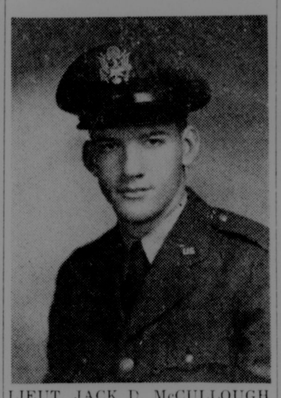
We don't have to start off with the biggest and best fair in the state. We don't have to have the finest entertainment available. We don't need the best shelters for animals, or the best building for the displays. We can begin this project on a very modest scale. Make it a community exhibit the first year. It doesn't have to be colossal or stupendous.

A small splash this year could send the accompanying waves a long distance in a few years. To try for a tidal wave could swamp the whole program and leave a bad taste.

All around us we have activities. The Preston County Buckwheat festival started modestly enough and has grown each succeeding year. Terra Alta has a growing fair. Meyersdale has a maple festival that is known far and wide. There are others. All made a small beginning.

Sure, we'd like to see a fair for fowl, animals, handicraft, 4-H projects, canned goods and all the rest. We can have one too, if people will take a personal interest in it.

Is Commissioned



LIEUT. JACK D. McCULLOUGH

Jack D. McCullough was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air force on December 11, after having successfully completed Officer Candidate School at Lackland air force base, San Antonio, Tex.

After a twenty-one day furlough spent with his mother, Mrs. B. Pearl McCullough, he is presently stationed at Keesler air force base, Biloxi, Miss., where he is attending a course for ground electronics officers which will last for forty-two weeks.

Previous to his entrance into O. C. S. he took a special 13-weeks' course in air research at Wright-Patterson air force base, Dayton, Ohio.

McCullough was graduated from Friendsville High school in 1948 and from Washington college, Chestertown, in 1952, after which he was employed at the Aberdeen Proving ground as a physicist. He enlisted in the air force in October, 1952, and received his basic training at Sampson air force base, Geneva, N. Y.

Interest Shown In Revival of County Fair

Representative Groups From Other County Areas To Be Invited To Next Meeting

Interest in reviving the Garrett County fair or some similar attraction for the fall season here, brought out 25 or more persons to a meeting in the firemen's hall in Oakland on Monday evening.

While most of those present expressed a desire to see the fair revived, they were of the opinion that more information about the entire program should be known before any organization was effected.

Lawrence M. Fraley was named temporary chairman of the meeting whose duties will continue until the information is secured and letters written to various organizations in the county inviting representatives to attend another meeting on Tuesday, February 9.

Business men present at Monday's meeting were of the opinion that there should be expressions from representative business men and farm people of other sections of the county; that there should be definite information about the possible site for a fair; just what conditions would be necessary to receive funds from the State Fair board, and other information.

Fraley said he would prepare a letter which would be sent out within the next few days.

Purpose of the meeting was outlined by Emroy Bolden, member of the Oakland Fire company, who had made some investigation previously as to possible sites and what expenses to expect.

There has been no fair in Garrett county for about twenty years. Within the past few years a Preston county fair has been held at Terra Alta, and a number of the counties of Maryland hold annual fairs.

SNOW DOESN'T REMAIN LONG—Snow doesn't remain for very long on the business streets of Oakland. Drifts have piled up every now and then but the next day you'll find Clyde Sines, street superintendent, and other city workers busy scooping up the stuff and clearing the streets so that business can be conducted as usual and places made available for shoppers to park their automobiles. The above was taken one day last week on Liberty street as Mr. Sines was digging into a snow pile (not seen because of the grader and truck) that was twelve feet high, and which had been pushed into position for loading and carting away. Five Violators of Liquor Laws Plead Guilty

Representatives of five places of business in Garrett county, accused of violating the county liquor laws, pleaded guilty when given hearings Tuesday morning before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer, in Oakland. Fines totaling $3,400 were levied against the traversers.

Licensed only to sell beer, three clubs and two hotels were involved. The cases were presented by State's Attorney W. Dwight Stover.

Charles O. Ross, Jr., pleaded guilty for the V. F. W. Post No. 8049, of Friendsville, to a charge of selling a pint of whiskey.

Represented by Attorney Neil C. Fraley, Roy Zehner of the Arlington hotel, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to having whiskey for the purpose of sale and having sold two shots of whiskey.

Represented also by Fraley, the Loyal Order of Moose entered a plea of guilty to having whiskey for the purpose of sale.

James McNelis and Richard Sheche, both entered pleas of guilty to selling whiskey at the Manhattan hotel in Oakland. They were represented by Attorney Stuart F. Hamill, Jr.

Fraley and Hamill both sought minimum fines in brief pleas before the magistrate. Stover reminded the judge that it was the second offense for the VFW, the Moose and Zehner.

American Legion club, $500 and costs; Veterans of Foreign Wars, $600 and costs; Roy Zehner, Arlington hotel, $700 and costs; Loyal Order of Moose, $600 and costs; James McNelis, $500 and costs; Richard Sheche, $500 and costs.

Bonds for appearances at the hearing were furnished by Paul Turney for the Legion; Donald Stemple and William Hinebaugh for the Moose; James Lininger and Lawrence Selby for the VFW. The others had furnished bond individually last week, including Richard Sheche, James McNelis and Roy Zehner.

Stover explained that other action concerning the possible revoking of beer licenses is up to the Garrett County Board of License Commissioners, which is the Board of County Commissioners acting as a licensing board. No date for a hearing was set, Stover added. Stover added that he did not know if further penalties were contemplated.

All those charged had the privilege of either being tried before the magistrate or taking the case before the Judge or jury in the Circuit court. All preferred to lay their case before the magistrate.

Edward C. Crowther, Jr., State policeman, was present at the hearing prepared to give testimony of his investigations several weeks ago with a companion, Victor L. Guilmino, another state patrolman, but he was not called. The two men had assisted Sheriff Paul W. Fisher and other local authorities in probing the business places in the county around the first of December. They were here at that time in civilian apparel and made the purchases and found the evidence which resulted in the arrests.

Commissioners Set $2.00 Tax Rate For 1954

evy Completed Last Thursday—County Plans To Spend $819,163.85 For Year

The County Commissioners, in completing the annual levy list Thursday, kept the county tax rate at $2.00 per each $100 of assessable property.

The county will operate on an expected revenue of $819,163.85, and of this amount $582,455.50 will come from the county tax rate of $2.00 on a taxable basis of $29,122,775, less an allowance of $20,000 for discounts, insolvencies, etc., allowed taxpayers.

The tax basis over two million dollars more than last year in spite of a decrease in the amount for personal property as the result of a 1953 act of the legislature wherein personal property on business places is assessed at only 60 percent of its value. This figure dropped from one and one-quarter million dollars to $875,222. Other real and personal property was increased almost a million and returns from the state tax commission also were increased. The latter includes the Pennsylvania Electric company and other utilities and corporations.

Other estimated income of $256,708.35 included uncollected taxes of $98,775.32, beer tax of $50,000, automobile tax of $43,000, and other items. There is a cash balance on hand of $10,858.03.

Urges Defeat Of Amendment For Added Judge

Gov. McKeldin's special commission on court reform measures has urged rejection of an amendment to the State Constitution providing for more judges in Maryland. The commission reported after nearly a year of investigation.

The group recommended that "before any action be taken to increase the number of judges the Legislature authorize establishment of an office of administrator of the courts."

The amendment is due to be passed on by voters at the next general election November 2. A dinner meeting for discussion of the amendment will be held in March for Washington, Frederick, Garrett and Allegany counties, at Hagerstown.

The amendment provides for at least one judge for every county except in the less populous First and Second Circuits; an additional judge in the Fourth Circuit, for Garrett County and the Seventh for St. Marys county; election of judges in the counties (except the First and Second circuits) by voters of one county only.

It also provides for an additional judgeship in Anne Arundel, Baltimore and Prince Georges counties.

Blood Donations Will Aid In Fight Against Paralysis

An opportunity to help children ward off crippling effects of polio, will again be given to residents of the Oakland area when the Red Cross bloodmobile visits Oakland on Wednesday, February 3.

Mrs. Grover Stemple, county blood recruitment chairman, advised that gamma globulin, a constituent of human blood, provides protection against paralysis in polio and from the second through the fifth week following injection of those exposed to the disease.

She added that it takes a little more than one pint of blood to provide one dose of gamma globulin. The February quota here is calculated to add to the gamma globulin stocks and will also be allocated as usual to the needs of persons in the armed forces and for civilian emergency needs.

Donors not already listed are urged to contact Mrs. Stemple at her home, telephone 2-2186, or Mrs. O. T. Graser, chairman of registration, telephone 2-3963. Mrs. Stemple said appointments to suit the convenience of the donor may be arranged. Volunteers are being sought who can give blood but who have not been scheduled.

Top officials of the government held two secret conferences on ways to use atomic power for peace and defend the country against atomic war.

North High Music Students Present Program At Rotary

Several of Northern High school's music students presented the entertainment at the regular meeting of the Oakland Rotary club last Friday evening. The program was in charge of F. D. Bittle, who has arranged all the programs for January.

Participating were Donna Yommer and June Green with vocal duets, Audra Shaffer with a monologue; and Juanita Buckel with a flute. Marlene Patton was accompanist for the latter. The students were brought to Oakland by Miss Luellen Brock and Roger Cole, music instructors.

Dr. Ivan Diehl, Frostburg, official representative of the district governor, attended the meeting and held a club assembly after the regular meeting. It was arranged for all committee chairmen to report on their activities and plans for the future.

It was announced that in the past six months $190.99 had been turned over to the crippled children of the county. The club also is supporting the March of Dimes movement.

Mason Glotfelty will have charge of the programs for the February meetings.

Hearing Scheduled For Next Tuesday

A hearing for eight farmers accused of molesting the four-door sedan of a United Mine Worker representative in front of the Imperial Ice Cream receiving station in Oakland on December 29, will be held next Tuesday morning, January 26, at 10 o'clock, in the office of Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer.

The eight also are charged with committing an assault upon Wilbur Coffman, owner of the automobile, and Robert Latkovich, both of Uniontown, Pa.

80 Now Practicing In Little League

Twenty additional boys showed up for basketball instruction at the Southern High gym on Saturday, making 80 sixth and seventh graders who are interested in the basketball league.

Instructors and coaches are Kyle Wilson and Jack Veader. Wilson said they would still accept boys who reported this Saturday. Instruction in basketball fundamentals will continue this Saturday, after which coaches plan to divide the group into ten teams for a league schedule.

To Mail Tax Bills

Around 8,000 tax bills will be mailed out from the County Treasurer's office the last week in January, it was announced yesterday by G. Harold Yutzy, treasurer.

Several workers are now in the process of making out the amounts and preparing the bills for mailing.

All county taxes for 1954 are due and payable February 1st and are considered overdue and in arrears on October 1.

A discount is allowed on county taxes if paid before June 30. On county taxes paid during January and February a discount of 5 percent is allowed; on taxes paid during March and April a discount of 4 percent is allowed; on taxes paid during May and June a discount of 3 percent is allowed. The entire amount of the tax must be paid to receive a discount. No discount will be allowed after June 30.

Yutzy said that after September 30 interest will be charged at the rate of one-half percent per month or fractional part.

No discount is allowed on state taxes. Interest on state taxes of one-half percent per month begins October 1st.

Baltimore Mayor Drops Out Of Race

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro last Saturday withdrew from the race for the Democratic nomination for governor and adopted an attitude of "friendly neutrality" toward others.

The mayor's announcement left the field to H. C. Byrd, president-emeritus of the University of Maryland, and George P. Mahoney, Baltimore contractor.

The mayor's withdrawal was followed in an hour by the word from J. Millard Tawes that he would seek re-election as state comptroller.

Former Governor William Preston Lane was recently named as chairman of a committee seeking the nomination of Dr. Byrd as the Democratic candidate. Philip B. Perlman, former solicitor general of the United States, on Saturday also joined the Byrd committee and became its third vice-chairman. Other vice-chairmen include Lansdale G. Sasscer, former Congressman.

Civic Club Plans Panel Discussion

A panel discussion under direction of Mrs. Ralph Weber, chairman of Literature and Poetry, will feature the meeting of the Oakland Civic club on Tuesday, January 26, at the William-James hotel. There will be dessert, the meeting starting at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Weber selected "Children's Books" as her topic. Participating will be Mrs. W. W. Grant, moderator; Mrs. Arthur Naylor, Mrs. Alfred Haines, Miss Irene Sharpe, Mrs. Frederick Thayer, Miss Edith Brock, Mrs. George Deacon. Mrs. Paul Naylor will give the invocation.

Chairman of arrangements for the day will be Mrs. W. W. Dawson, assisted by Mrs. Howard Turner, Mrs. B. F. Selby, Mrs. W. R. Browning, Mrs. Emroy Bolden, Mrs. Wade Meese.

Those desiring reservations are asked to call Mrs. Dawson or any committee members. Mrs. E. Ray Jones, president, urged a full attendance of members and prospective members.

Defense Equipment In County Listed

A compilation of the Civil Defense equipment now in the county was made recently by John S. Elliott, county director, showing a large amount of material that would be vital in case of an enemy attack.

There are now four portable water pumps assigned to fire companies at Oakland, Grantsville, Friendsville and Kitzmiller. They have a capacity of 100 gallons per minute at 60 pounds pressure. There also is 150 feet of discharge hose with each portable pump.

Sixty stretchers have been assigned, 10 each to Oakland, Grantsville, Kitzmiller and Friendsville, and 5 each to Deer Park, Gorman, Accident and Bloomington.

Also stored at the Garrett County Memorial hospital are the following items: case of compress and bandage gauze, 4 cases of surgical dressings, casualty clearing station equipment with 8 cases of field instruments of 12 units each; case of 100 each Chloromycetin; case 100 each amoules; case Procaine penicillin in oil; 7 cases emergency kits, case human plasma, 5 cases dixie drinking cups.

Mr. Elliott has stressed that U. S. route 219 has been declared a civil defense highway and that road signs indicating this fact would be placed soon.

Error In Figures

One too many figures was used last week in the news story of Oakland's financial condition. Oakland is in sound condition, as reported last week, but the cash balance on hand is only $2,089.39 instead of $21,089.39 as stated. The correct figure appeared in the town's annual financial statement but was in error in the news story.

We regret this error in figures.

Communities Active In Polio Campaign

Several Plan For Mothers' March On January 29

Several communities in Garrett county were active this week in making arrangements for the Mothers' March for polio funds, while others were making plans for special events where proceeds would be turned over to the March of Dimes campaign.

In preparing for the Mothers' march in Oakland, Mrs. E. Ray Jones, president of the Oakland Civic club, and the Women's Activities co-chairmen, Mrs. I. R. Rudy, Jr., and Mrs. William DeWeese, met with Charles Briner, campaign director, and Robert W. Stemple, county chairmen, to complete plans. The town has been divided into eleven sections with from two to four women being assigned to each section.

The March will be made January 29 starting at 7 p. m. Only those homes where the porch light or entrance light is turned on will be visited. Persons wishing to contribute are reminded to turn on the lights. A light in the window will suffice if there is no porch light.

Following the march the volunteers will turn in their collections at the fire hall where refreshments will be served to the volunteers by local chapter officials.

A mothers' march is scheduled in Loch Lynn that same evening.

Mrs. Dan Hershberger, Grantsville representative, said a similar march would be conducted there the same evening, and that also there would be a March of Dimes dance there Saturday, January 30, at the American Legion home.

At Friendsville the W. S. C. S. is sponsoring the Mothers' March

Spring-like Weather Due To End Today

Garrett county was experiencing spring-like weather this week after a brief cold snap, but the weather men promised that it wouldn't last long. A new cold wave was moving east, preparing to bring the season's worst cold snap.

A surge of polar air already had driven the mercury down to 53 degrees below zero in northern Montana. Sub zero cold was common in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Nebraska. Colder air was expected to reach the eastern seaboard by late Thursday.

Since last Thursday the county has had several inches of snow and a drop in temperature which reached 14 degrees below zero on Monday morning. South winds quickly changed that however, for on the following day the mercury rose to the 50's and there was a good deal of melting. Snow fell both last Thursday, about three inches, and additional snow on Sunday morning.

Rain fell on Friday, Saturday, and was falling slightly this morning. Monday and Tuesday were clear and moderate in temperature, with Wednesday continuing warm but cloudy.

Boy Scouts Map 1954 Activity Goals

Activity goals for 1954 in the Deep Creek Boy Scout district were discussed at a meeting of district scout leaders on Tuesday evening in the Methodist church assembly room. The outdoor program and advancement program were stressed. Willis V. Smith, scout executive, Potomac Council, was present.

Rev. John J. Atwell, district chairman, presided. Lewis R. Jones, Ralph Fauber, Harold Lantz, Willard Hayden and Francis Fauber were listed as planning to attend an advanced scout leaders' training course in Camp Potomac this weekend. Jones will be instructor at one of the afternoon class periods.

Crossing Barriers

Lesson for January 24, 1954

NOT all walls are made of brick and stone. Some walls are not to be seen at all, but they are there. Have you ever been a shy young girl, a stranger perhaps, at a party where everybody seemed to be having a wonderful time? To your mind it almost seemed as if there were a sort of conspiracy against you. Everybody seemed to see the point of jokes you could not see at all. Everybody else felt at ease but you did not in the least. It seemed as if you could feel the wall that shut you in. Or consider another kind of party, a dinner in a home of some wealth. The guests at table are beautifully and frank they talk about matters that perhaps concern the servants who are waiting on the tables but there is a wall there no one can see. The servant could not for the world interrupt, because she is not supposed to hear. The guests talk as if she were not there.

Dr. Foreman

Man-Made Barriers

It is these invisible walls that cause more trouble in the world than most of those that can be felt with the hand. In some countries they are more numerous than in America, but we have them too. The gulf between the educated and the uneducated; between those who go to church and those who never do; the wall between the sexes; another between races; walls between old and young; between city people and country people; between management and labor; and so on. Such barriers are not always intentional, they arise naturally in certain situations. It is person to person we mean when we speak of the community. If he has committed theft or adultery, and it is known, he finds himself shut out from decent men's company even if they do not put him behind the walls of some prison. He may find these invisible walls so hard and high that he can no longer live in the town where he was born, but must go to live among strangers. Other walls too, less tragic in consequences, rise without any one's planning them, such as the wall between teacher and students, between the boss and the workman, the customer and the merchant.

* * *

Some Walls Are Good

Some walls are actually good. One of these is the wall of Privacy. The lady that runs the "Ding Dong School" on TV was saying only last summer that even little children need privacy. Mothers make a mistake when they insist—sometimes right on into the teens—on seeing every scrap of mail the child writes, on knowing every minute of the day what the child is doing. Virginia Woolf wrote a book called "A Room of Her Own." Isn't that what we all need? Many a family has broken to pieces just because the house where they lived was a bit too small. There was no place where any one of the family could get away from everyone else for a rest. We all naturally dislike busybodies, asking questions they have no business to ask.

* * *

How to Cross Barriers

On the other hand, many man-made barriers are bad in their effects. They act as prison walls, behind them men and women sink into dark and poisonous air, wilting without the sunshine that comes to those living beyond the wall. Such a wall, in ancient times, was erected between the Samaritans and the regular Jews. It was an invisible wall; but it had no doors and no one crossed it. Yet one day Jesus walked right through that barrier and several other walls all at the same time, to talk to a Samaritan woman. Between were the walls of sex—gentlemen did not speak in public to women; of morality—she was beneath even "ordinary" respectability; of nationality and race—he was of pure blood, she of a decidedly mixed breed of intelligence—she must have had a pretty low I.Q. But Jesus talked with her—not small talk, which she would have preferred, but something far more serious and searching. Jesus was always doing this kind of thing. How did he manage it? By the simplest way in the world: he would go right through these man-made barriers as if they were not there, because he knew that walls which man's mind has made, man's good-will can make to disappear.

The more I study President Eisenhower's plan to strip citizenship from convicted Communist conspirators, the better it looks.

When the President made his proposal in his State of the Union message, some confusion developed over the impression that convicted felons are always denied the right to vote, etc., hence there was nothing new in the plan.

After checking with top legal authorities in the White House and the Justice Department, I am able to report the facts of the case.

It's true the convicted robber and murderers and the like are denied the right to vote, serve on juries, or hold public office. Since 1940 we've had the Smith Act, which makes it a crime to conspire to advocate the overthrow of the government, and the people convicted under the Smith Act have been treated like any other felons.

But President Eisenhower, who evidently knows how to really get tough with the Communists, would put them in the position of voluntarily expatriating themselves if they take any part in such a conspiracy. It puts them in the same spot as convicted traitors, draft evaders, or deserters from the Armed Forces.

Expatriates are men without a country. If they stay in the U. S., they are treated like aliens—they always have to keep the government notified of where they are, and some states won't even let them own property or engage in certain business activities. And if against our nation could be passed they ever leave the country, they can never get back in.

There is another twist to this that very few people realize. If a convicted conspirator had any children who happened to be born outside the U. S., and his wife was not a citizen, the children might find it extremely difficult to get the American citizenship to which they would otherwise be entitled.

Next Wednesday I will be the guest of the American Legion at its annual Congressional dinner in Washington's Mayflower Hotel.

Hearings on alleged Communist infiltration of some Labor unions have started before a Senate subcommittee.

Senator Margaret Smith has already introduced a bill to carry out President Eisenhower's request in my opinion it deserves the support of every Senator and Congressman regardless of his party.

Next Wednesday I will be the Paragraph Opinions

Land of Opportunity - - -

Writing in Nation's Business, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey says that more tax cuts are essential. He adds: "This nation, as the land of opportunity for the young—eager for work and ambitious to better themselves—cannot long endure as such under the restrictive taxes which we inherited. They must be further reduced."

The nation has seldom heard so unequivocal a statement from an official in so responsible a position. It should be as welcome as a gust of fresh air in a smoke-filled room. And every American should pledge himself to support the government's present efforts to reduce costs—even though he may feel a temporary pang in his own pocket. Here is a case where the character, courage and patriotism of the American people will be thoroughly tested.

"We must have the courage to stand against undue governmental paternalism and the cowardly cry that 'the world owes me a living.' Nobody owes us anything for crops we do not grow, goods we do not produce, or work we do not do."—Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Speak Up - - -

Has the trend toward socialism in this country been checkmated? Representative Gwinn of New York recently gave this warning: "There is a very, very slight majority of votes in Congress that stands for freedom as against socialism and communism. Therefore, the groups for the right must organize throughout the entire nation, to inform and to arouse citizens in all walks to speak up to their representatives in Washington and to support them with their constitutents at home.

"Only thus can the members of Congress be shielded against the demands of the ever-present, highly organized pressure groups, seeking to milk the Treasury," said Gwinn.

Looking at WASHINGTON

Ike's New Deal . . . End of a Romance . . . Crisis in Italy . . . Communists and Catholics . . .

Washington, Jan 20—President Dwight D. Eisenhower is ready to turn on the heat, if necessary, to get his program through Congress. Ike is keenly aware of criticism that he is too easy-going, and has hidden his resentment for months, biding his time until he has presented a program to Congress.

His program is now unfolding in detail before Congress. Ike has chosen this as the time to crack down on the party boys on the Hill if necessary, and has a number of lieutenants hard at work on congressional liaison. The Chief Executive is of the opinion that he can get the great majority of his recommendations enacted into law.

The average reporter's view in Washington is exactly the opposite. The general opinion among Washington's correspondents is that Ike won't get half of his legislative program through both houses. But then the President has never yet really come out swinging, and he might surprise people.

The President thinks the fact that elections are coming up this year is an added reason why the Republicans should enact a progressive legislative program. Some members of Congress think this is a circumstance, though, which might have a tendency to make lawmakers up for election less free to support controversial proposals in the President's program.

Ike says the party could be repudiated if it does not give the country a program such as has outlined and believes it his duty to lead an aggressive fight. That fight might mark the end of the beautiful romance between the President and members of his party in Congress, which romance Ike has been conducting tactfully for a year now.

The time for action has apparently been reached, however, and the inside view is that some bitter days are ahead for the President and his aides as they attempt to hold Congress in line with the administration program.

—o—

A general feeling of disgust is building up in government circles over the latest trends in France and Italy. Italy is the biggest news right now even though France seems to be in just as much of a mess. That's because things in Italy were thought to be going smoothly only a short time ago.

Our new Ambassador to Italy, Mrs. Clare Luce, arived in Italy with matters apparently well in hand. Today they are going to seed fast, despite the efforts of this government and its representatives. This the U. S. Ambassador reported recently in secret Washington talks, in which she reportedly asked that the flow of U. S. dollars to Italy be kept coming.

But there is opposition to a continuance of our dollar aid to Italy. Despite the efforts of the official church there, of billions of dollars of U. S. aid and of our officials and government, Italy seems to be slowly drifting communist again.

It now turns out that the De Gasperi government won the June election after all. The June count gave the former Premier less than fifty per cent of the Italian vote. That ended him, and a new government has since taken over and been overturned. De Gasperi does not now have the power in Parliament to throw out those now actually illegally seated and return himself to power.

So the seat of the Roman Catholic Church, in Italy, will be threatened with communist domination, if the present trend continues. The communist party is gaining in popularity among Italian Catholics. U. S. observers are as flabbergasted over this situation as they are over the inability of another counted-on ally to measure up, France.

In France the mood is disturbing. The workers are whispering about an eventual revolution and there is a surprising amount of talk about a new strong man as the only solution for France's problems. Many workers who are not communist-inclined admit a revolution may be needed to end France's quandry.

In France, too, the communists seem to be gaining popularity at the moment, incredible as that seems when the communists are daily killing Frenchmen in Indo China. These two leading Latin nations, then, France and Italy, are wavering weak in a time of crisis, which causes consternation in Washington.

The question even arises whether they will ever be great world powers again, on their own. If not, the U. S. might have to look to West Germany and Japan to take their place.

I SEE BY THE DAILIES

It was officially proposed that Congressmen receive a boost of $12,500 a year in pay. They now receive $15,000.

U. S. prepared to send guided missiles to Europe in impressive numbers.

Cabinet Men Speak - - -

The January issue of Nation's Business, a magazine which is published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is unique. The uniqueness lies in the fact that it includes a signed article by each of the members of the Cabinet, concerning what has been done since the new Administration came to power and what is intended and hoped for the future.

In summarized form, the views of these 10 Cabinet officers run about as follows:

JUSTICE: Attorney General Brownell says that there is evidence in the hands of his department, resulting from FBI investigations, which would prove espionage in certain cases "but this evidence cannot now be used because of present rules of evidence." He adds that a change in the rules will be sought so that his department may proceed in these cases.

DEFENSE: Secretary Wilson says that during the past year his department has recognized a three-pronged communist threat to American security—psychological, economic and military. "In the light of this threat," he asserts, "we are maintaining effective military forces and we are equipping these forces with the most modern weapons."

STATE: Secretary Dulles writes: "The Soviet rulers are on a diplomatic defense. The free world now has the diplomatic and moral initiative. We hope to keep that initiative."

INTERIOR: There has been a very marked change in policy here, particularly in the direction of home rule of natural resources. Secretary McKay says that, after 20 years of centralized federal monopoly of natural resurces policy, the government is giving the states, communities, and even individual citizens a voice in resources development and planning. He urges a partnership plan for the government and private enterprise in natural resource development, particularly in the field of electric power.

POST OFFICE: Secretary Summerfield states that his department is now saving $1,000,000 a day, through more efficient management, and will reduce its annual loss by about $440,000,000.

COMMERCE: Secretary Weeks says he opposed the past philosophy of government "running too many enterprises in competition with private industry." From now on, he says, the Administration "aims to foster business rather than to spoon-feed business against its wishes."

AGRICULTURE: Secretary Benson states that the Administration has been developing farm policies and programs which will "carry us toward permanent farm prosperity." Past ideas, in his view, "are too restrictive, too defeatist."

LABOR: Secretary Mitchell's main point is that labor "is not a class apart." He writes, "The welfare of wage earners can and must be promoted with due regard for the national general interest."

HEALTH, EDUCATION AND WELFARE: Secretary Hobby praises the Administration's past achievements in this field, particularly in the matter of administrative improvement, and predicts that future development "will make news."

TREASURY: Secretary Humphrey states his philosophy in these words: "This nation, as the land of opportunity for the young . . . cannot endure as such under the restrictive taxes which we inherited. They must be further reduced."

This is the way the top people in the government have put themselves on record. Only time can tell whether they will succeed or fail in their objectives. But the attitude in Washington now, in Administrative circles, is one of quiet confidence.

Commissioners Set $2.00 Tax Rate

for debt service. That amount under debt service includes the increases in teachers' salaries, according to J. Edward Helbig, president of the County Commissioners.

The library board will receive $5,824.54, while the Ruth Enlow library will receive $2,395 as 85 percent of a special fee from marriage licenses. The Historical society will receive $405 as the other 15 percent.

The County Welfare board will receive $45,911.22, and most of this item is necessary to qualify for Federal and State grants. The total is slightly less than last year.

The Commissioners made provision in the levy for the sum of $17,000 for the Garrett County Memorial hospital, an increase of $5,000 over the previous year. The levy for other hospitals outside of the county amounted to $13,000.

The Commissioners levied $128,611.40 for county roads department, over $50,000 less than for the previous year. The roads department is one of the few places where decreases may be made to take care of additional items, but it was pointed out that as a result of the loan for road construction through the state, that actually more money would be spent for county roads this year.

The election fund this year was increased to $19,000, due to the primary and general election.

Fire companies through the county will get $8,700, $1,300 more than last year, due to legislation.

Operating expenses for the Circuit court were raised from $626.00 to $1,250 this year because of a new law passed at the 1953 session of the legislature raising the counties' share of circuit court judges' salaries by $200 each.

Under school bonds and interest it was noted that 1949 bonds to be paid amounted to $75,000, interest $23,250; $8,994.46 interest on state bonds, and $34,071.91 for state bonds, making a total of $141,316.37. Subtracting the state incentive fund of $31,619, and the county incentive fund of $14,561.39, and the natural gas fund of $19,888.81, there was left only an amount of $75,247.17 to be levied for paying off the bonds and interest.

The state tax rate this year has been set at .0567 on each $100 of assessment, slightly less than last year. Total for state purposes is $11,395.04.

The detailed levy list is being published in today's issue of The Republican.

Theatre Week Underway

Bernard I. Gonder, Sr., manager of the Maryland theatre, Oakland, is showing a special film, "Look for the Silver Lining," throughout this week. Oakland boy scouts took collections Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Girl scouts will take collections the balance of the week.

Coin collectors were getting filled, Mr. Stemple reported. Generous patrons of the Cee-Dee tavern have completely filled a coin collector there so that it no longer will stand upright. A fresh container was rushed there.

Benefit Dance

Members of Company C, 121st Engineer battalion "C," will sponsor a dance at the National Guard armory on Saturday evening, January 30, Capt. Arthur C. Calhoun announced. Dancing will be from 9:30 to 12:30. Special entertainment is planned for the intermission. It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

I Just Don't Fit

As hard as I've tried I can't seem to fit into the sports scheme. Of late I'm getting quite a thrill out of going to that new gym to watch the games (and to confess truthfully, to watch teen-agers.)

But I can never find the right clique with whom to associate. Those who sit close by yell for all they're worth for our team to do this or do that. Some otherwise fine specimens of humanity will snort if a player doesn't make a basket when it appears from the grandstand that he should. Or he fumes under his breath if the referee misses a step or a charge or a hack.

I'll admit that sometimes I get carried away and yell to the top of my lungs, "shoot that ball."

To save my soul when an opposing player opens up and makes a beauty of a basket I can't hold back from cheering him for all I'm worth. Then I feel conspicuous for people all around stare at me and some of them—often my closest kin, say disgustedly, "Whose side do you think you're on?"

They don't seem to understand that my great sports love is the sport of good performance.

His $64.00 Question

Bob Black, the entertaining college professor who spoke at the banquet for Farming for Better Living, had a good one to tell on himself a week or so later.

His young son had advanced to the place where he could go to the phone and call his daddy at the office. He was even capable of going through the University exchange in order to reach him.

"May I talk to my dad?" the child inquired.

She heard through the receiver: "Mother, who is my daddy?"

My Two Cents Worth

We all like to get in our two cents worth when it comes to promoting good things for our community.

Monday night as I listened to the various reasons why it would be nice to have a county fair, no one hit on the thing which I feel is the most important of all.

It's the good it does for children and youth. It gives them a chance to display their products and to show know-how. Good competition is healthy for youngsters and to show off what they have done provides the opportunity for satisfying one of the essential elements in their growth, the desire for personal importance.

Unless you have been a child exhibiting at fairs you can hardly comprehend the thrill that comes with seeing your lamb or calf or pig lined up alongside many others. Or to see your bit of handiwork displayed is a thrill, even though it is not the best.

I'd like to see Garrett county have a fair and if we do I hope we keep our proper perspective as to why we have it.

John Carter has the real philosophy about it, and I hope we listen well to his words. It's to give our people pride in quality products, pride in creative ability. Its motive should be to help us help ourselves.

It is said that the most conspicuous people in the world are those who are having a good time. If we have a fair for ourselves, then others will flock to us to catch and enjoy our spirit. It should reflect the personality of the mountain top and not a copy of some other fair. It should have distinction. I hope we have it.

Parsons Cagers Down Southern

Southern High school gave Parsons' cagers a battle for nearly three quarters at Parsons last Friday night before bowing to the Panthers 78 to 59. It was Parsons' 8th straight victory and Southern's sixth loss in nine games played.

The score was tied 10 times, the last being at 45. Charles Durbin paced Southern with 16 points on seven field goals and two out of 3 fouls. Other Southern scoring included F. Colaw 4, Friend 10, Stemple 11, Savage 13, D. Colaw 2, Bachtel 3. Non-scoring were T. Colaw, Glaze and Ruff.

Fairbanks scored 21 points for Parsons and Long 18. Rosenau scored 13, Mullenax 14, Bowley 8, Henry and Felton 1 each, and McDonald 2.

F.F.B.L. To Name Officers For 1954

Dinner Meeting Scheduled For Next Thursday Night In Oakland

Officers of the Garrett County Farming for Better Living Council for 1954 will be elected next Thursday night, January 28, when the group meets at the William-James hotel, Oakland, for its first meeting of the year, L. Bush Swisher, Farming for Better Living project director, announced Monday.

Plans for the County's seventh year n Farming for Better Living will be made at the meeting that is to follow at the hotel, Swisher said. The dinner begins at 6:30 p. m.

Enrollment of farmers in the program already is good, County Agent John H. Carter said, and more families are expected to enroll.

Seventy-six families enrolled in the contest last year, and each one completed the project, S. T. Naylor, the 1953 Council Chairman, said. The group was awarded recognition for this accomplishment at the regional Farming for Better Living Round-Up at Morgantown, W. Va., December 11, in the form of a certificate and a $25.00 cash award. The certificate is hanging in the county extension service office, and the cash award will be used to promote the 4-H Club program in the county, James McHenry, 4-H Club leader, said.

Farming for Better Living is an annual contest sponsored by the local Farming for Better Living Council to promote better farm family living and encourage better farmer-business man relationships. Its members represent interested farmers, business men and agricultural workers in the county. Enrollment in the contest is open to any farm family in Garrett County. Each enrolled family is given a project booklet which lists the better farming methods recommended by county agents and the agricultural colleges. The family reports its progress for the year on forms in the book and the council uses these to aid in choosing a county winner. A dinner is given each November for those farmers and their wives who complete their booklets.

Past years' winners are: Mr. and Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Friendsville, 1948; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stanton, Grantsville, 1949; Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Bittinger, Mt. Lake Park, 1950; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Friend, Friendsville, 1951; Mr. and Mrs. Loss Crowe, Oakland, Route No. 2, 1952; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Hummel, Grantsville, 1953. Both the Schlossnagles and the Bittingers have won honors in a five-county region, and the Schlossnagles were the sweepstakes winners in the twenty-five county area in 1952. The Bittingers won the regional award last year and received a fifty-dollar bond and a certificate.

Officers of the 1953 Farming for Better Living Council were S. T. Naylor, chairman; B. B. Snyder, vice-chairman; Ethel Grove, secretary, and Howard Riggs, treasurer. Others on the council include: Howard J. White, Lowell Loomis, Maurice Brookhart, J. T. Cain, Dr. Franklin D. Custer, Mrs. W. W. DeWitt, Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, Dorsey Guard, Herbert C. Leighton, James A. McHenry, John Reckner, Jr., Blair Simmons, William Winterberg, Earl L. Zepp, Marvin Callis, John H. Carter, Merle A. Garletts, E. P. Hickman, Clyde McCurdy, William W. Nace, H. M. Shumate, Miss Cara Weber, Thornton Deffinbaugh, Mrs. Polly Hanst, George Hanst, Mr. and Mrs. Schlossnagle, Mr. and Mrs. Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Friend, Mr. and Mrs. Bittinger and Mr. and Mrs. Crowe.

Escapes Serious Injury In Wreck

An Oakland man escaped serious injury on January 8 when the car which he was driving went over a 40-foot bank about one-fourth mile above Caddell bridge on route 7, toward Terra Alta, from Kingwood, according to an account in last week's issue of the Preston County Journal.

The man's name was listed by Preston County officials as Hanson A. Friend, 40, who was traveling down the mountain when his brakes grabbed, causing his 1941 Chevrolet 2-door sedan to slide over the bank. It was thought that the car rolled over several times before coming to a rest.

When it did stop, Friend crawled from the wreckage with only chest injuries. Persons at the scene said the man was fortunate to have not been killed.

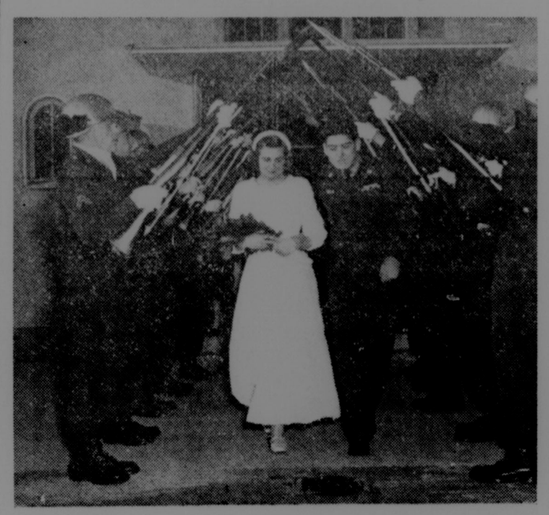
Married In Germany



Corp. Winifred Pauline Fauber, Women's Army corps, stationed in Germany, became the bride of Corp. Roy McKinney, of Oklahoma City, Okla., also stationed in Germany with the United States Army, on December 2, 1953, in Augsburg, Germany, it was announced recently. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Fauber, of Oakland.

They were married in a double ceremony, the first one in the office of the Mayor of Augsburg, where the ceremony was read in German and translated into English by a woman who stood nearby, the second one being by the army chaplain in that town, at one of the army bases.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Marl Fauber, now a member of the Air Force, also stationed in Germany. She was attired in a white velvet dress with three-quarter length sleeves, a soft neckline and a full skirt. Her slippers were white brocade with silver threads. She wore a white feather hat, pearl earrings and necklace, and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Phyllis Follensbee was her attendant and her dress was of velvet, dusty rose in color. The design was similar to that of the bride, except that the dress had a stand-up collar. She had gold slippers, a feather hat and a corsage of yellow roses. A ten-man honor guard held crossed rifles as the couple left the church. A reception followed at the enlisted men's club.

The bride was graduated from Oakland High school. She has been overseas for the past sixteen months. The couple will remain in Germany until May, 1955, according to present plans, when both will be discharged from the service.

Car Skids Into Car On Mountain

Five Men Injured On Little Savage Last Thursday Afternoon

Five Frostburg men were injured, three seriously, when their car was struck by a tractor-trailer which jack-knifed last Thursday afternoon on U. S. route 40, on the east slope of Little Savage mountain, in this county, during a snowstorm.

All were pallbearers for Mrs. Elizabeth Winebrenner, 94, whose funeral had been conducted at Frostburg and were enroute to Johnson cemetery in this county. All were taken to Miners hospital, Frostburg.

Philip Krause, 62, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, severe lacerations of face and head and possible broken back and shock; Robert Stewart, 47, severe lacerations of face, severe gash on head, body abrasions and shock; Ernest Pfaff, 39, fractured right arm, abrasions of face and body and loss of blood; Thomas Eisentrout, Sr., 72, lacerations of nose, ear and probable fractured ribs; James McGuire, 37, abrasions of face, lacerations of head and injured left thumb. McGuire was discharged from the hospital on the following day. A sixth pallbearer, William Pressman, was driving his car ahead and was accompanied by the minister, Rev. John Bayley Jones.

State Police D. R. Wade said the driver of the trailer, William Stickley, Cumberland, told him he was driving east with the trailer empty. As he descended Little Savage mountain and rounded the sharp turn at the bridge near the foot of the grade, the trailer skidded and jack-knifed into the path of the Krause car.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

OPPORTUNITY

The word January derives its name from the Greek god of mythology, Janus, who was supposed to have two heads, one capable of looking forward, one looking backward. He also was thought to be the god of the beginning of things.

The month seems well named, for during this month there is probably more looking backwards, evaluating past events, and predicting events to come, than at any other time of the year. Nearly every magazine or newspaper asks these questions: Will it be a prosperous year? What's ahead for the farmer, the worker? Will it be war or peace? Tragedy or happiness? Mercifully, we do not know the answers.

There is one thing we can be sure of, though, and that is that there will be many opportunities for each one of us, if we only see them as such.

It is interesting to read about people who have always found opportunity, no matter how limited their resources, or how drab their economic conditions.

Raphael, the Italian painter, had a habit of walking through the alleys of Rome rather than the well-traveled streets. One day he saw a young mother, seated in a tumble-down doorway, holding a baby to her breast. He found a barrel-head, which a merchant had thrown away, and using it as a canvas, he sketched this scene. From this rough draft, he painted the circular "Madonna of the Chair," a painting which since has become world-famous, and hangs in art galleries all over the world. This was done in a day and age when artists were loudly complaining that all the good subjects had already been used.

Anton Dvorak might have complained that he couldn't write music because he had no money to buy paper, but he didn't. Instead, this poverty-stricken Czech youth wasted no time in grumbling. He salvaged paper bags from the gutters of Paris, and with the stump of a pencil, scribbled immortal music, which you and I can love and enjoy today.

Johann Strauss wrote his exquisite waltzes on the back of a menu card, while sitting in a crowded Vienna restaurant.

The story of their lives, and many others like them, teaches us something very important. The persons who get things done in this world do not sit idly by. They do not grumble that, under different circumstances and given a better opportunity, they would accomplish great things. Instead, they make the best possible use of their present resources. They know that now, 1954, is their big chance.

Few of us can paint a picture, or write beautiful music, but there are many things we can do.

Think twice, my young friend, before you say, "I just never had any opportunities." Nine times out of ten, it just isn't true.

The strange thing is, however, opportunity can be deceiving. It often wears a strange face. This face is called "Hard Work." Do not fear this face, but grasp it, and you will find within yourself strengths you never knew you had. You will grow strong and capable for the tasks that lie ahead for you in this brand new year of opportunity.

What has happened to this marvelous world of ours in this twentieth century of God's grace? Mankind seems to be passing through a sea of troubles which has no counterpart in human history.

There are wars and rumors of wars among the nations, and many of the nations themselves are split into warring factions, each faction striving for supremacy, and each intolerant of the views, hopes, and rights of others.

The great trouble with the world is that men have forgotten God. They no longer seek spiritual guidance, but follow the vain ways of the modern world. We have become a cynical, materialistic generation.

If this drift toward world tragedy and chaos is ever stopped, the churches of the world must do it. The world's hope—our hope—is in God and His Church. He alone can save mankind from a sorrowful fate.

The Church seeks to turn the hearts of men from the ways of war and fear and hate to the ways of peace and love.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Maryland's multi-million dollar agricultural industry will have a great interest in the action this Congress takes on the President's farm policy recommendations.

There are 36,107 farms in Maryland, containing 2,285,117 acres, which earn millions of dollars every year from the sale of live stock and products, and additional investments in labor and products annually increase the value of farm property and live stock.

Federal Government policies—which in effect have a regulating control of the industry—can determine whether in future years the Maryland farmer's standard of living and income increases or declines.

Farm prices had been steadily dropping when President Eisenhower, Secretary of Agriculture Benson, and the 83rd Congress took oaths of office. Fortunately, new government policies halted the decline and farm prices increased 1.2 per cent during the month ending December 15, 1953.

The problems of the agriculture industry have not been solved, however, and while it is difficult to imagine that any complete solution will come from this session of Congress, I think it is assured that the Maryland farmer can expect government price supports to hold the line on basic commodities during the next year.

In the meantime the President, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Congress, and the American farmer must produce a workable farm program which will insure the farmer of his full share of the income produced by a stable prosperous country, and which will meet the requirements of the nation as a whole.

Price supports at 90 per cent of parity for 1954 are, the President said, "a legal and moral commitment that must be upheld." That is the first phase of President Eisenhower's recommendations to Congress. The second is that the program would provide for flexible parity based upon supply after 1955. Under present law there is authority to use the old or the modernized parity on basic commodities, and this authority expires January 1, 1956.

The President's plan also provides the setting aside of about one-half the commodities now owned by the Government, for a variety of purposes, including national defense, the school lunch program, and other diversions, so long as they do not have any effect upon the commercial market. In other words, government owned surpluses cannot be dumped on the open market, thereby depressing current farm prices.

The fundamental problem is one which should cause us to be very thankful, and at the same time it is, to a great degree, our national shame.

While half a world starves, we have huge surpluses. While other farmers throughout the world struggle to scrape a bare existence out of their poor land, our farms are too productive. What a contradiction! Senator Everett Dirksen, discussing the President's recommendations, spoke of the surplus of eggs and after explaining the expensive steps taken by the government to store eggs, said, "The hens had become too productive. The balanced ration fed them had become too effective. So there we were, with a surplus."

We have existing surpluses in such commodities as wheat, corn and cotton, which amount to one whole year's normal requirement.

It is estimated that by May 1 of this year storage fees alone on surplus commodities will be costing one million dollars a day.

Our farmers are doing too good a job! There was a time when 25 bushels of corn per acre—even in the corn belt—was considered to be a high yield. Today 100 bushels, and even 150, are grown and are no longer cause for comment. Improved techniques of farming, greater use of fertilizer, etc. have brought about tremendous increases in production of basic commodities.

In working out a solution of these problems I hope to learn how Maryland farmers and farm organizations feel about the President's recommendations and the specific proposals which will come before the Senate. The American Farm Bureau Federation has already reported that its president, Allan B. Kline, is backing the program and has called it a "forward-looking program with principles which are essentially sound."

Farmers are urged to study and to advise those of us in Congress of their feelings and whether or not the program will assist them.

A Remarkable Dream

I dreamed I was in Heaven—though when and how I got there I could not tell. I was one of a great multitude whom no man could number, from all the countries, and times, and ages. Somehow I found that the saint who stood next to me had been in Heaven 1800 years.

"Who are you?" I asked. (We both spoke the language of Heaven and he understood me and I understood him.)

"I am a Roman Christian," he said, "and I lived in the days of the Apostle Paul. I was one of those who died in Nero's persecutions. I was covered with pitch and set on a stake and set on fire to light up Nero's garden."

"How awful," I exclaimed.

"No," he answered, "I was glad to do something for Jesus. He died on the Cross for me."

The man on the other side then spoke: "I have been in Heaven only a few hundred years. I came from an island in the South Seas, Eromanga. John Williams, a missionary, came and told me about Jesus, and I learned to love Him. My countrymen killed the missionary, and they caught and bound me. I was beaten until I fainted and they thought I was dead; but I revived. The next day they cooked me and ate me."

"How terrible," I said.

"No," he replied, "I was glad to die as a Christian. You see the missionaries had told me that Jesus was scourged and crowned with thorns for me."

Then they both turned to me and said, "What did you suffer for Him? or how much did you give to send men like John Williams to tell the heathen about Jesus?"

I was speechless, and while they both were looking at me with sorrowful eyes, I awoke. It was a dream! But I lay awake on my soft bed for hours, thinking of the money I had wasted on my own pleasures—of my extra clothing and costly car, and many luxuries. I realized that I did not know what the words of Jesus meant: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me." Telephone Expansion Continues In State

Expansion and improvement of telephone service in rural areas of Maryland continued in 1953 with a net gain of 6,700 telephones in areas served by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company of Baltimore City.

Total telephones in rural areas now stand at an all time high of 75,000, with seven out of ten farms having service in 1953.

For new plant and equipment to serve rural areas, expenditures of nearly $3,000,000 were made in 1953. Telephone company officials said the number of subscribers waiting for service in rural areas was substantially reduced during the year and as of January 1, there were only 117 in Western Maryland. In the Oakland area, R. K. Dayton, local manager, pointed out there are 30 applicants in rural areas waiting for telephones.

At the end of 1953 more than 80 percent of the rural line customers were on lines with eight parties or less, compared with 55 percent two years ago. In addition improved ringing equipment has been installed on many rural lines so that each customer now hears only one ring besides his own.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

You will soon witness one of the greatest constitutional debates since the founding of our nation. The "Bricker Amendment" which was introduced by Senator Bricker and cosponsored by myself and 62 other Senators is scheduled for consideration by the Senate this week.

This Amendment is designed to do several things: (1) make void any treaty which is contrary to or inconsistent with the Constitution; (2) require Congress to pass legislation implementing a treaty before such treaty will be allowed to change the internal law or affect the lives and rights of our people as they are set forth in the Constitution; (3) prevent Congress from passing any law which they could not pass in the absence of a treaty; (4) subject international executive agreements, which are used interchangeably with treaties, to regulation by the Congress and to the limitations imposed on the making of treaties.

Today, our Constitution and our sacred God-given rights are in danger of mortal mutilation by abuse of the treaty power. Secretary Dulles warned:

"Under our Constitution treaties become the supreme law of the land. They are indeed more supreme than ordinary laws, for congressional laws are invalid if they do not conform to the Constitution, whereas treaty laws can override the Constitution. Treaties can take powers away from Congress and give them to the President; they can take powers from the state and give them to the Federal Government or to some international body and they can cut across the rights given the people by the constitutional Bill of Rights."

Treaties should deal only with matters of international concern. But certain groups want to use treaties to make domestic law, and would make a farce of constitutional limitations on the scope of the Federal Government's power simply by broadening that power, not by a constitutional amendment, but by making a treaty. This is a perversion and an abuse of the treaty power. Thomas Jefferson, in commenting on the treaty power, said:

"By the general power to make treaties, the Constitution must have intended to comprehend only those objects which are usually regulated by treaties, and cannot be otherwise regulated. It must have meant to except out all those rights reserved to the States; for surely the President and the Senate cannot do by treaty what the whole government is interdicted from doing in any way."

But those against the Bricker amendment never speak of saving constitutional rights; they are concerned only with saving the "treaty power."

The Bricker Amendment will not affect the present method of negotiating and ratifying treaties; nor prevent treaties which are otherwise valid under the Constitution on any subject whatsoever, including those dealing with peace, international cooperation, reciprocal trade, atomic energy, narcotics control, etc., nor affect in any manner treaties that do not make internal law in the United States. It will preserve the balance of power between the States and Federal Government; it would prevent another Yalta, Potsdam or Teheran; and safeguard the American people against living under laws imposed by international authority, particularly when such laws take precedence over and even conflict with our own American laws, including the United States Constitution.

The basic issue is this: Shall we have a government of law or men—a government of appropriate constitutional restraints or unrestrained power? Our Founding Fathers would have had no difficulty in deciding; I am confident the answer will be as clear to the people of the United States today.

TRANSFER VOTING RECORDS—These six women began work Monday in transcribing the names of 9,391 voters in the county to the new election books. Six weeks or more will be required to place the names, affiliation, address, age and other data from the old election books to the new loose leaf binder sheets. The new system will allow for substitution or elimination of pages and will also permit the filing of names in alphabetical order in Christian name as well as surname. MRS. JOHN T. BLOCHER

Mrs. Rebecca Blocher, 73, of Santa Ana, Calif., wife of John T. Blocher, died of a heart attack at her home.

A funeral service was held at Brown's Colonial Mortuary, Santa Ana, and interment was in Melrose Abbey. A native of West Virginia, she had lived in Orange County for seven years.

Surviving, besides her husband, are three sons, Frank and Victor Blocher, Michigan; Ernest Blocher, of Akron, Ohio; two daughters, Mrs. Edna Judson, of Hawaii; Mrs. Violet Warnick, Michigan; 11 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

It's A Snap . . . . . .

A Nebraska editor recently told his readers what a snap it is to run a weekly newspaper. He wrote:

"Running a newspaper is a snap, in case you have never suspected it. Machinery does all the work. You sit in the office and write beautiful prose, and the machinery never breaks down or causes any trouble. Everybody brings in news and advertising copy on time, and it is all carefully written and there are no mistakes in the dates.

"With literally thousands of names and dates and prices and places and circumstances in a single issue, nobody in the place ever gets anything wrong, even when working under pressure to meet the week's many deadlines. Nothing ever gets left out of the paper by accident. Proof readers are mind readers and can always know what the patron intended whether he wrote it that way or not. You can always get paper and supplies whenever you need them, and the firms that sell them never expect prompt payment, which is nice, because everybody you sell to always pays promptly.

"You don't get a vacation because you never need one. You never get tired. You spend long evenings at home loafing and you have time to attend all public gatherings, board meetings, entertainments and social affairs. People never ask you to keep news out of the paper or to put tripe into it. If on very rare occasions a mistake does get into the paper, the people who call about it always laugh understandingly and say, 'that's perfectly all right.'

"Newspapering is a snap any way you look at it, and it's time editors told the public how wonderfully simple and easy it is."

That man must be an editor in a town just like Oakland, and a county just like Garrett!!

County Boy, Polio Victim Six Years, Winning Fight Against Disease

A Friendsville boy, who has been a polio patient for six of his seven years, is winning his fight against the disease, but it has taken the interest of dozens of persons and the expenditure of many dollars.

Daniel Edgar Friend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Friend, became a polio victim in 1947. For a year, he was a patient in the Children's Hospital School at Baltimore, where initial treatments were given. Since then, he has lived with his parents, but has undergone a constant series of examinations, exercises and treatments. Today, a second grade student at the Friendsville school, he is able to walk with the aid of crutches and leg braces. Last week, for the first time, he was able to climb the three steps into the school—which he considered quite an achievement.

Danny has received state-wide attention during the current March of Dimes campaign. The Maryland Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis distributed his photograph to every newspaper in the state as part of the drive's promotion. The picture, taken in Oakland last summer, was sent to the state headquarters by Miss Grace Jones, Oakland, who has long taken a personal interest in young Danny.

Once a week, Miss Jones visits the patient to administer physiotherapeutic treatments. During the summer months, she sees the youngster at his home, while during the time school is in session the treatments are given in a special health room at the Friendsville school.

On regular occasions, Miss Jones also takes Danny to Cumberland, where special treatments are given and brace specialists consulted. The youngster has already worn out several sets of braces, and is becoming increasingly hard on the special shoes which he must wear, since he is able to be more active as his case improves.

Danny's trips to Cumberland are financed by the Oakland Rotary Club, which takes up a special collection at each meeting for crippled children's work. The fund is administered by Miss Jones and helps her activities throughout the county. Shoes and braces are paid for by the March of Dimes collection.

Danny has one sister, and an older and younger brother. His father, recently returned from Korea, sparked a March of Dimes campaign in his company while overseas which resulted in the largest unit collection in Korea.

MORE THAN A MUD BANK—What is shown above is more than a mud bank—it's an area on Mason street, now turned into a level spot, 82 feet by 170 feet, which will be used as a skating pond for the children and adults of Oakland. How did this come about? Ray Teets, local garage owner, offered this portion of his lot at the south edge of town for use by the city of Oakland for a skating pond, if the town would level the plot. Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh, who has had in mind for some time two tennis courts of bituminous concrete adjacent to the golf club house, which could be flooded in winter for skaters, jumped at the offer of Mr. Teets. This week he arranged for a bulldozer and grader to begin operations, and the area is now ready. When the ground freezes sufficiently, the 13,940 square feet of space will be flooded by city water to a depth of four or five inches. And anyone who can skate will have the opportunity to do so, literally right at his back door.

Case Dismissed Against Seven; Offer Apology

Hearing Tuesday of Short Duration—Accusers Admit Inability To Identify Men

The seven farmers of the county accused of being involved in the difficulties before the milk receiving station of the Fairmont Foods company in Oakland in December, not only had the charges dismissed against them at a hearing on Tuesday but heard those who accused them offer a public apology for the charges.

Through Attorney Neil C. Fraley, who represented them, the accused entered a plea of not guilty to the charges of malicious destruction of property, and assault.

State's Attorney W. Dwight Stover, whose duty it was to prosecute the case after charges had been preferred by Wilbur Coffman and Robert Latkovich, both of Uniontown, said in his opening statement that the accusers admitted they did not know personally any of the farmers involved, and that after a conferences with Messrs Kitzmiller, Harsh and Sweitzer, who occupied the back seat of the automobile, they admitted they could not definitely say who had overturned the automobile or who had assaulted them in any way.

Stover declared there was no other recourse but to dismiss the charges and to have the accusers express their regrets for having caused them to be brought before the Magistrate.

Mr. Fraley pointed out that it was a serious matter to bring persons into court on criminal charges which could result in imprisonment, if found guilty, that they had been embarrassed by the charges and had been put to some expense, and that the defendants certainly were entitled to an apology.

Both Kaufman and Latkovich, through State's Attorney Stover, announced they would be glad to apologize. Kaufman also asked that he meet the accused after the hearing so he could shake hands with them.

Farmers named in the proceedings were Owen Martin, Clyde Liller, Ervin Liller, James Gower, Harold White, Raymond Lantz and Asa Queer. Charges against them were dismissed by Magistrate W. O. Bitzer, after hearing the statements of Stover and the remarks by Fraley.

The charges grew out of an incident in front of the milk receiving plant when the two Uniontown men, representatives of the United Mine Workers, and three local men were in their automobile in front of the plant when the vehicle was turned over on its side. At the time there were a large number of farmers in the area.

At the time it was stated the car was toppled "by a big wind." Stover said that Kaufman had received bills of $241 to repair damage to the automobile and $50 for towing.

The milk plant, which had been unable to receive milk from farmers for several days due to striking employes, reopened the day after the incident.

Protest Filed On Regulations For Gas Well Drilling

A Uniontown, Pa., drilling firm has asked the Baltimore City Circuit Court to declare unconstitutional the authority of Garrett County's Board of Commissioners to disregard a state law regulating spacing of natural gas and oil wells.

The complaint was filed in Baltimore by Orville Eberly, Robert E. Eberly and William E. Snee. They claimed they have lost money in their operations around Accident because the commissioners rejected state regulations on drilling space control.

The Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources proposed the regulations first in 1951. They passed the House and died in the Senate.

The bill was passed last year but only after an amendment gave the County Commissioners here the right to accept or reject them. Virtually all of the gas and oil well drilling in Maryland is done in this county.

In urging passage of the regulations last year, Dr. Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., director of the geology department, called drilling of 90 gas wells around Mt. Lake Park in the previous two years a "shameful record of wasteful exploitation and financial loss."

He estimated it cost $2,700,000 to drill the 90 wells, of which only 41 produced about 1½ million dollars' worth of gas.

Singewald claims spacing control would have prevented "this enormous financial loss." Garrett county benefits from a tax on gas produced.

To Provide Dial Telephone Service In Bittinger Area

Expenditures of $1,775,000 for improvement and expansion of telephone facilities in Maryland were authorized January 25 by the board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company of Baltimore city.

The expenditures included an allocation of $102,000 for a new exchange and dial equipment at Bittinger. Of this amount $38,700 has been authorized, according to R. K. Dayton, manager of the company in this area.

The C. and P. has been requested to serve this area which was formerly handled by the Bittinger Mutual Telephone company.

Dayton said the work in the Bittinger area is scheduled to begin this summer which includes the erection of a building and the installation of the dial equipment. Completion is planned for the fall of 1954.

The sleet storm last winter badly damaged the plant equipment of the mutual company operating in the area and the C. and P. company was requested to render service.

"Ice Box" Of State Is Not In County

Storms This Year Move Coldest Areas To Other Parts Of Maryland

Once again the designation of Garrett County as the "ice box of Maryland" was thrown right back in the faces of Baltimoreans and Eastern Shore residents, with last week's storm activities.

While Garrett county had about one-half inch of snow last Friday and temperatures in the 20's, Baltimore was having six to eight inches of snow with temperatures near the zero mark. The Eastern Shore and southern Maryland also received their share, Baltimore schools were closed that day, and Washington traffic was in a snarl.

It was the second time this year that the balance of Maryland was caught in storm predicaments much worse than in this area. While fairly cold here on Saturday there was some thawing Sunday as the result of clear skies. Monday followed cloudy and rainy with Tuesday clear and temperatures rising to 63 degrees.

Strong west winds whipped up another storm here last night and brought a little over an inch of snow. The temperature dropped to 15 degrees above zero early this morning. Weather officials said the barometer was rising, however, and predicted this present storm would be of short duration. Skies were clear today.

Work To Prevent Spread Of Disease

Health Department Issues Instructions To Teachers

Instructions were issued to a number of school teachers this week by the County Health Department regarding precautions to prevent the spread of scarletina and scarlet fever in the area.

For the past several weeks, the department said there had been a number of persons affected by sore throat, headaches, rash, and other symptoms of scarlet fever. Some have been pronounced as scarletina, some as light cases of scarlet fever. The infections have been noted in Kitzmiller, Crellin, Oakland, North Glade and other areas.

According to information received from the health department here, and corroborated by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, health officer in Allegany county, scarletina and scarlet fever are one and the same thing so far as infectious diseases are concerned and both are notifiable diseases. Up to this morning, the health department stated there had been no official reports of either scarletina or scarlet fever, from physicians.

To Work Out Road Program Around Savage River Dam

An attempt will be made to work out a road improvement program for the Savage River dam area at a meeting Friday morning in Baltimore.

Members of a committee named recently by the Savage River Dam Commission are to meet Friday with the members of the State Roads commission. Attending that session will be J. Edward Helbig, chairman, Lawrence M. Fraley, members of the committee, and W. W. DeWitt, county roads engineer.

Two committees have been appointed to study the construction of a roadway around the dam and reservoir, and the water supply for Westernport. The question about the roadway construction concerns who is responsible for building and maintaining the roadway.

At a meeting several weeks ago it was brought out that Garrett county representatives felt the road should be built by some agency other than the county, as the Savage River dam regulates the flow of the Potomac River so that Allegany county benefits by flood control, alleviation of pollution and assists industries.

It has never been decided whether Allegany county, the State of Maryland, Garrett county or the Federal government should be responsible for construction and upkeep of the road.

In Mt. Lake Park the boy scouts will make a house to house canvass. Persons in rural areas are being asked to send their donations to the March of Dimes, Oakland.

More Volunteers Needed In Blood Donor Program

With appeals for blood donors having been made for the past several weeks, the number needed has not yet been reached, according to Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman for the county.

The Red Cross bloodmobile from Joanston will be in Oakland next Wednesday, February 3, at the fire hall. People of the area have been asked to give 150 pints of blood. To meet this quota Mrs. Stemple said it would be necessary to schedule at least 200 individuals.

Cards are being mailed this week-end giving appointments to those who already have volunteered. Walk-ins can have appointments during the hours that the blood program is being carried on. Mrs. Stemple asked that additional persons volunteer.

Blood is needed for civilian hospitals, for military use and for producing gamma globulin to prevent paralysis. During the two years the blood recruitment program has been in effect in Garrett county it is possible for people of this area to get blood free when needed for transfusions, even tho they may be in hospitals miles away from this county. Before the program started many persons had to pay $50 a pint for blood, it was stated.

Rotarians Have Good Will Acorns Sent Here From English Club

Rotarians are now prepared to have a tree planting ceremony in early spring as the result of some international relations good will.

A. J. Westmoreland, chairman of an international relations committee of a Rotary club at Oakham, England, has sent to C. Melvin Kight, president of the Oakland Rotary club, ten acorns, collected from his area.

Kight said the acorns have been turned over to Earl Zepp, who is chairman of the international relations committee, and that they will be planted in the near future at an appropriate ceremony. The letter accompanying the acorns recorded that the acorns had been collected from the smallest county in England.

Mr. Westmoreland said, "We hope you will find a suitable place to plant them. Our ambition was to let you have them in 1953 to mark the coronation of our beloved queen. However the acorns are 1953 seed so please accept them as a token of our friendship from Oakham Rotarians."

He said information on the progress of the acorns would be heard with interest or any other information about activities of the club.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

In The Byrd Direction

Whenever, in these days, anyone recalls the great principles that were once regarded as basic and unchangeable in this Government, there invariably arise shrill cries of pain, protest and disparagement from the professional "liberals," the union-labor propagandists, the spokesmen of various special groups and the congenital demagogues who infest American politics to a greater degree today than ever before.

The amount and character of the denunciation that flows from these sources is really extraordinary. A talent for name-calling has been developed, forming itself into a pattern that is in use pretty well across the country but particularly favored by the pro-New Deal columnists and commentators. A favorite expression is to accuse the culprit of wanting to take the nation "back to McKinley." He is also charged with being a "reactionary," an "Old Guardsman," a tool of Wall Street," an "enemy of human rights" and an "unenlightened backward looker."

All these names—and some others—have been used to describe Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, whose great crime is that he has consistently and effectively fought against waste of the public's money in every form since 1933, when the big spending spree began. Always in a minority in the Senate—and sometimes alone—Senator Byrd has never ceased to fight the "give-away" idea and the "welfare state." Admittedly, he has saved millions of dollars. Now, with a Republican President whose views are far closer to his own than were the views of either of the two immediate Democratic predecessors, and with an Administration which has at least checked our trend toward national insolvency, Senator Byrd is still fighting his familiar battle.

The unwilling compromises of the present President which Senator Byrd refuses to make may be accounted for by the fact that the responsibility of getting his program through rests on the President and not on the Senator. Nevertheless, the record will show the Senator as the one man in Congress who through the years has most conspicuously and consistently held to his convictions despite all the pressure the White House and special groups could exert. He never has given an inch. Perhaps the silliest thing ex-President Truman ever said was his press conference declaration that "there are too many Byrds in Congress."

—o—

If there were a few more Byrds in Congress now the Eisenhower program and the country would be much better off. The whole "give-away" and subsidy policies inaugurated in 1933 were—and are—abhorrent to Senator Byrd. But with one out of every eight persons in the country receiving Federal money in one form or another, there seems no chance ever to get back to the fundamental principle enunciated in 1887 by that great Democratic President, Grover Cleveland. In vetoing a bill appropriating $10,000 for special distribution of seeds in certain drought-stricken counties of Texas, Mr. Cleveland, after conceding the need for relief, expressed himself with great vigor as follows:

—o—

"And yet I feel obliged to withhold my approval of this plan to indulge a benevolent and charitable sentiment through the appropriation of public funds for that purpose. I can find no warrant for such appropriation in the Constitution and I do not believe the power and duty of the general Government ought to be extended to the relief of individual suffering which is in no manner properly related to the public service or benefit. A prevalent tendency to disregard the limited mission of this power and duty should, I think, be steadfastly resisted, to the end that the lesson be constantly enforced that "though the people support the Government, the Government should not support the people"

—o—

That still is a sound principle but it has been too long discarded to return to now. No one in either party advocates any reduction in the social security system. On the contrary, the President is recommending a large extension thereof. However, the Eisenhower Administration has ended the piling up of Federal employes, has reduced the number of jobholders by more than a hundred thousand and, with the Hoover Commission, is working toward further large eliminations of duplication and waste. More than any other single man, Senator Byrd is responsible for this change in direction. For the first time in 21 years, though they differ on details, he has a President who agrees with him in principle on the vital question of Federal finances. Too much water has gone over the dam to get back to Cleveland, but they both know he was right when he wrote those trenchant words, "Though the people support the Government, the Government should not support the people."

It looks like the biggest hit in BUICK history!

WE'VE had more than a fair share of success in this business—but this beats all!

From the day we opened our doors to show the new 1954 Buicks, we've been kept hopping by people, questions and orders.

It seems that folks have been hoping for a really big change in the new cars—and Buick's got what they want, right across the board.

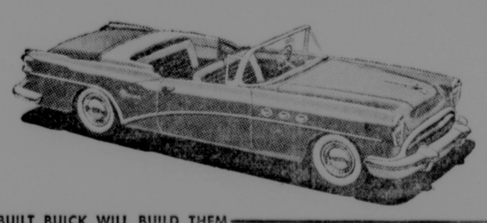
Buick's got it in style—in the sleek, swift, low and glamorous look of the sports cars, but with the room and comfort of Buick size and breadth.

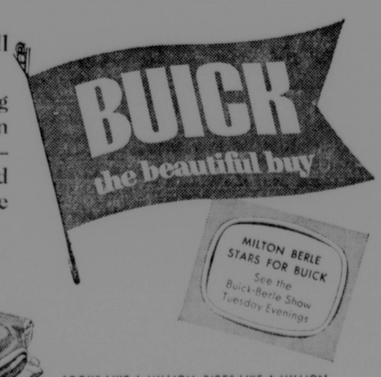
Buick's got it in power—in high-compression V8 engines all stepped up to new horsepower highs and boosted to new economy with Power-Head Pistons.

Buick's got it in ride comfort, too, and handling ease, and visibility—and a whole new list of features as up to the minute as the very look of these great cars.

But—why don't you come see what all the excitement is about?

Then you'll discover that what's helping to make the '54 Buicks the biggest hit in our history are the prices we're quoting—prices that buy more Buick beauty and power and thrill and sheer automobile than smart money ever bought before.





LOOKS LIKE A MILLION, RIDES LIKE A MILLION, yet this sweeping 1954 Buick Special Convertible—V8-powered, in record high—delivers locally for just a few dollars more than similar models of the "low-price three."

Panel Discussion On Books Is Held

Kinds Of Books Sought In Libraries Outlined At Civic Club Meeting

A panel discussion on books, with several club members taking part, featured the meeting of the Civic club of Oakland on Tuesday afternoon at the William-James hotel.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Fulcher P. Smith, program chairman, and Mrs. Ralph Weber, chairman of literature and poetry, was in charge. Mrs. W. W. Grant served as moderator of the panel.

The kinds of books sought by various age groups of children were listed by the various speakers. Miss Edith Brock, librarian at the Ruth Enlow library, told that 1,600 children were registered as readers at the library. She told the kind of books that children ask for. Mrs. Weber gave a comparison of books of years ago and the present day variety.

Mrs. Grant outlined the type of stories for the various groups: youngsters, pictures, folk tales, every day tales, community life, fanciful stories, and books on machinery and trucks; ages 9 to 10 sought stories of real people, biographies, stars, birds, girls. Pre-adolescent ages looked for adventure, animal and pioneer.

That comics had a definite place in a poor reader's program of study was brought out. These borderline readers were shown as lazy persons about reading when they could see a picture, listen to the radio or see television.

Religious books now available were discussed by Mrs. A. J. Haines, while Miss Irene Sharpe explained about books for the sick child.

Mrs. Frederick Thayer discussed the child in the third grade, the teaching of core, and about comic books. A question and answer period followed.

The program was preceded by dessert. Mrs. W. W. Dawson served as hospitality chairman.

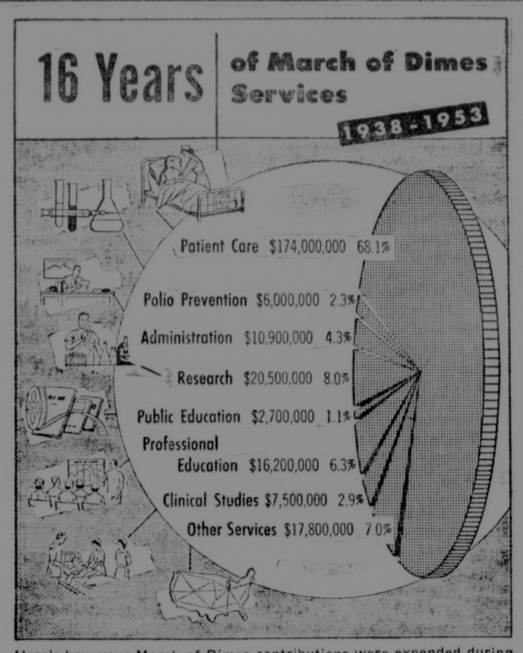
President Eisenhower called for an overhaul of the nation's housing program, putting reliance on private enterprise but asking 140,000 new public housing units.



Here's how your March of Dimes contributions were expended during the 16-year history of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. In 1954, there will be a new, costly and epic fourth front opened: Polio Prevention. It will include gamma globulin and trials of a test polio vaccine. Cost of this alone: $26,500,000. The other programs continue, too. This is why the 1954 March of Dimes must be the most successful ever. Contribute generously through the month of January.

Student Government Sponsors Handbook

The Student Council of Southern High school has had a number of activities during the past month. Some of these activities are handbook, basketball schedule pencils, school seal, March of Dimes Campaign, and other small business matters.

Sam Moore, chairman of the handbook committee, reported that he has started the handbook. He has been gathering material about different activities from all parts of the school. It is estimated that it will cost about $280 for 1100 copies. The council is going to try to raise the necessary funds, so it will not cost the students. It is hoped that it will be published by next fall. All students will receive the first copy but in the following years, only new students will receive it. The handbook will contain such material as: The functions of the school, rules and regulations of the different areas in the school, the cheers, the clubs and other information about the school.

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life

By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

MEMORY

Your memory can haunt you until you make good on something, even if it takes fifty years. Our memories serve us pretty well in this connection.

When Samuel Johnson's father became ill one day, he asked his young son to take his place at his bookselling stall in the marketplace. Samuel was ashamed and refused. Fifty years passed and Samuel was famous. By and by he returned to his native village and one morning was missed at the breakfast table. When he came home that evening, he explained: "I've been spending the day making retribution for a wrong which I did my father fifty years ago. I went into the marketplace today, uncovered my head, and stood where my father had stood, exposed to the sneers of the crowd and the bad weather. I did it because I couldn't be at peace with myself until I had made penitence for the suffering I had caused my father."

Ike And Wilson Cut Arms - - -

President Dwight D. Eisenhower told Congress and the nation in his State of the Union message that the cost of military preparedness is becoming less oppressive as the United States nears its defense goal. In spite of the decreasing cost, the President pointed out that "we are militarily stronger every day."

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, a few days later, told reporters he thought another billion dollars could be saved from 1953 defense cost estimates for the present fiscal year. Wilson said he thinks the billion dollars can be saved between now and June.

If this cut is effected, it would reduce military spending in this fiscal year to about $42,000,000,000. Last spring it was estimated the total would amount to over $43,000,000,000.

The defense plans of the Administration include manpower cuts for the Army, Navy and Marines, and a manpower increase for the Air Force. Spending figures also show that new defense plans are concentrated around a powerful Air Force.

It seems evident to those who would examine the President's defense program carefully that the Administration is moving in the right direction by trimming manpower in most of the services and saving money whenever possible. The military strength of the country is increasing daily, despite the manpower cuts, especially since the atomic weapons stockpile must be taken into consideration. We also believe that the end of the Korean War, and a slight decline in world tension, plus an obvious unrest in some of the satellite countries, justify manpower reductions and economies.

Far be it from us to question President Eisenhower's military judgment. When it comes to the military program, the President's judgment should be excellent—if he has any ability at all—and we are inclined to think the Administration has done an excellent job in its planning and programming for the military services.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Spiking A Few Rumors

Every few weeks or so rumors and speculations appear in print and over the air concerning two things which, though they differ in some ways, are, in fact, connected. One concerns the state of President Eisenhower's health; the other concerns his alleged disinclination to seek renomination in 1956. It is unnecessary to say that these speculations, rumors and statements do not come from his friends.

—o—

Obviously, should the President's health be impaired he would not be available for another term. Therefore, in discussing this subject, health should be first considered. First it should be said General Ike was neither a sickly boy nor a sickly man. He played football at West Point and so far as recorded has never had a bad illness or accident. It does seem there is nothing serious the matter with a man of 63 who can play eighteen holes of golf, put in several hours of strenuous work after dinner and get up for breakfast at 7:30. There is also testimony of his physicians as to his physical fitness and further evidence from the men who see him every day.

—o—

It is true that during the last Roosevelt Administration misleading reports of the President's condition were put out by his doctors and by White House politicians, some of whom undoubtedly knew he was an ill man. There was also the fact that Mr. Roosevelt had been a semi-invalid ever since his attack of polio, which occurred before he was elected Governor of New York. There is the further fact that Mr. Eisenhower is not only a truthful man himself but so far as known has no liar on his staff from whom lies about his health or anything else could emanate. As time goes on mistakes will be made by this President and his aides. But there will be no calculated deceit. This, in itself, affords a considerable contrast to the administrations of his two immediate predecessors.

—o—

All this makes it seem that the question of health could be dismissed and the question of whether he wants another term considered by itself. Of course, he wants another term. All Presidents have, and as the late Admiral Cary Grayson, who knew many Presidents well, used to say, "No President ever left the White House without a nostalgic pain about the heart, which no doctor could ever wholly alleviate." There is much truth in that statement. Nevertheless, it is never merely a question of what the one-term President wants to do. At the end of his first term through the power of his office he not only is able to renominate himself but he inevitably is the logical nominee of his party.

—o—

Clearly the party has to run on the record of its President. Not to nominate him would be to repudiate his record. This, of course, would leave the candidate and his party in a ridiculous position. It would be licked from the start. The party has to renominate its President and the President, whether he likes it or not, has to make the fight not only for the party's sake but for his own. There has not yet been found a President who was reluctant to run for the second time, which is now all they constitutionally can run for.

What it comes down to is this—any normal, not too aged, moderately healthy President who refused to run for a second term would be running out on his own party. To refuse to run, in effect, would be an act of political cowardice. It would be equivalent to saying that he dared not face the people on his own record. It also would be throwing to the wolves the hundreds of party workers to whom he had given jobs in his first term. For it is perfectly certain that if he could not win on his own record no other person, running either on that record or on a repudiation thereof, could win. Hence, the renomination of a one-term President is logical, right and, barring an act of God, is practically sure.

This is true, as our history will show, even of a weak and unpopular President, but with a strong and popular President, such as Mr. Eisenhower, it is inevitable. All of which makes the repetitious talk about General Ike having told his intimates that he will not run again more than a little silly. He has not told his intimates any such thing. He has had some troubles and will have a lot more. But, make no mistake, like all Presidents, he likes his job and, like all Presidents, he will try to hold on to it. That he will again be his party's nominee in 1956 is as certain as anything in politics can be—and every intelligent politician knows it. Not only in 1954 but in 1956 the political fortunes of the Republican members of Congress will be tied up with Ike, who, admittedly, is stronger with the people than any of them. Opposition there, of course, will be, but if there is a better argument why these Republicans will not wreck his program, it has not yet been advanced.

Signs Of The Road In Garrett County

A monument to an unfulfilled dream—in practical use for 120 years—the Castleman River bridge near Grantsville is one of the county's oldest remaining historic markers.

The unique high-arch stone bridge, the largest of its kind at the time of its completion in 1813, was in continuous use until 1933, when Route 40 was relocated at this point and a modern steel and concrete structure erected. In the large photograph above, the old bridge can be seen framed by the trusses of the new.

At the time of its erection, it was planned to extend the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal to the Ohio river, and engineers, among them George Washington, had chosen the Little Youghiogheny, as the Castleman River was then called, for part of the canal bed. The stone arch was made unusually high to permit the passage of canal boats.

But the day of the canal's usefulness passed before this extension was completed, and the waterway never extended farther west than Cumberland.

Opposes Any Open Season On Does

Dear Sir:

I wish to state that in my opinion Mr. Frank W. Miller's statement in his letter published in the December 7th issue of The Republican is very erroneous as to an open season on doe deer to increase the number of buck. If we kill the doe, we will have to import both doe and buck to build our deer herds.

There are not too many does and there is plenty of foliage to feed more deer as there are thousands of acres of woodland that has had the timber cut and that affords an abundance of foliage for deer.

The cause of the decrease in the number of deer in Garrett county is that too many people are using our deer season and deer to capitalize. Some have bought land and charge for permission to hunt and others charge excessively for board and room for hunters. Others have built hunting lodges to keep hunters and at the same time do not try to see that illegal deer are not killed but encourage such killings. Now that the buck deer are scarce they would try to get an open season on doe to get the hunters back just for one day for that much more profit regardless of the depletion of our deer in the future. Mr. Miller's suggestion to import more buck into Garrett county is very good. We should then have more respect and better enforcement of our game laws.

I have no objections to giving the farmers permission to kill one deer per season when they were damaging their crops but they should have to kill those deer before deer season and not wait until deer season and for the hunters to drive them from someone else's land to theirs so they can kill them, like some farmers did last year.

If this keeps on as we have, we will have extermination of our deer instead of conservation that so many are talking about.

Yours for wild life conservation,
Jacob H. Miller.

Steps Listed To Give Dairy Calves A Good Start

"If a dairyman has waited nine months for a calf to be born it's only good reasoning that the calf be properly taken care of after it arrives," says John Dietrich, Extension dairyman at the University of Maryland.

Dietrich summarizes his recommendations for preparing for the "new arrival" by listing the following practices.

1. Get the dry cow into a clean, well bedded box stall a week or more before freshening.

2. Be on hand at calving time to assist when necessary.

3. Remove membrances from the nose and mouth of the calf immediately after it is dropped to facilitate breathing.

4. Remove the calf to one corner of the box stall and dry it with a clean burlap sack.

5. Disinfect the calf's navel with iodine to reduce infection.

6. Wash the cow's udder and let the calf nurse or milk out about a quart and feed the calf in a clean nipple pail. Warm milk to 100° F. before feeding.

7. Don't overfeed—milk equal to 10% of the calf's body weight per day is plenty. More calves are killed by overfeeding than underfeeding.

8. Put the calf in a clean, dry stall free from drafts. Drafts and overfeeding encourages scours.

9. Calves can be changed from milk to milk substitutes, but make these changes gradually.

10. Encourage calves to eat grain as soon as possible.

11. Calves will start eating hay at about two weeks of age. Early cut, mixed legume and grass hay which is well cured, and free from mold makes an ideal roughage for calves.

12. Keep plenty of clean water available for the calf at all times. The bodies of young, growing calves are about 75% water, so it is essential that they have plenty for proper maintenance and growth.

"A little extra care of the calf during its first few days may be the best investment the dairyman can make toward a good herd replacement," concludes Dietrich.

Dam Passes Test During Dry Spell

The Savage River dam in this county has passed its first drought test with flying colors, according to the supervising engineer, Julian C. Patrick.

Patrick told the Upper Potomac River Board this week that water from the dam in this county kept the level of the Potomac River at satisfactory levels last year in spite of a drought almost equal to that which hit this area in 1930.

By late November the level of the reservoir had dropped 22 feet below normal levels. Engineers had suggested that the low of the river be allowed to drop to 40 million gallons daily, instead of the normal 60 million gallon flow which is usually maintained.

The water supply is now being built up and the dam is only about 13 feet below the normal levels at present.

The regular flow in the river not only aids industrial users but alleviates pollution and furnishes water supplies for Westernport and Piedmont.

The commission was told the dam had been the salvation of the Luke mill. The officials cited the value of the dam on the flow of the river as far downstream as Paw Paw.

Members of the commission are John J. McMullen, chairman; Owen E. Hitchins, treasurer, both of Allegany county; and Lawrence M. Fraley, from this county.

Shuck, two miles down the road, arrived at the site of the second sideswiping mishap and found the Davis vehicle wrecked after being thrown into guard rails along the highway. Davis reportedly had struck another car operated by Harold Armstrong, 23, of Vindex, while rounding a curve.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

When The Hair Is Silver

There is something so reassuring about an elderly person with silver hair, especially when the voice is soft.

This is especially true when we see and hear one in the pulpit. Maybe it's because we always think of the early prophets as being elderly men with white hair that gives us a feeling that these men have been endowed with a special gift from God.

The lift of the hand, the bow of the head, the move of the body as they face the altar all radiate a spirit of reverence and is felt by a congregation.

In our thinking and planning for that retired age, which is in the thinking of most socially minded groups, I hope the ministers are still used within the limits of their strength.

A little lady from whom I've gotten so much inspiration, now in her seventies, has recently been ordained a minister. She had the schooling for it as a young woman. She now has the full duties of a pastor, preaching, going to meetings, making her calls.

Having always lived in a parsonage she said, "It's so good to be back in a parsonage again. With Dad's and the children's and grandchildren's pictures on the mantel, I feel that I am home."

At least once in the lifetime of every person he should have the experience of being close to a minister who is elderly. I wonder if that isn't the period in one's life when spiritual growth is the greatest.

Look and Dream

The spring catalogue has arrived. It may not mean a thing to the men folk but to us women it's as good as a day in the city any old time.

Maybe it's a carry-over from childhood, but I can pore over hundreds of pages and want something on every page (well, now maybe not harness or valves.) By the time I've reached the back page I've purchased my wardrobe, tiled the bathroom, replenished my tailor's canvas and built fences.

The poring and dreaming is about as satisfying as the having. It's a wonderful institution—the mail order catalogue. It's a guide to buying, and thrifty shoppers soon learn that it's as cheap to buy at home—counting postage.

But it can give one a let down feeling too. Especially when you think you've been real selective in a purchase at an exclusive store—then find the same thing for less in the catalogue.

Every time the garment is worn you expect someone to say, "I saw that in the catalogue."

Whoa, Back

I had a feeling a couple weeks ago that a young reporter was going to do his darndest to make something sensational out of a talk I had made. And sure enough he picked a phrase out of a sentence—you know, the way we do to verses in the Bible—published it and now it is boomeranging.

I had said when young folk think they have found the right one and marriage is four or five years away to go slow in their love making.

And young folk, who usually ask right off if they should kiss on the first date, pushed me to the wall by asking, "How slow?" "How long should we wait?"

I answered, "Six months is not too long if you've got years of dating ahead."

Now I find it is making juicy conversation for even old ladies. One sedate soul, wife and mother, thought six months was too short. (Gee, what would a teen-age confab do to her!)

But the remark that really amused me was from a spinster of 75. She said, "Well, if I went with a fellow for six months and he didn't try to kiss me, I'd think something was wrong with me."

Southern Is Easy Winner, 63 to 34

Charley Durbin had a field day for the winners, nearly matching the Terra Alta point total, as he dumped in 34 points, on 12 field goals and eight of 16 fouls.

Others scoring for Southern: Friend 9, F. Colaw 8, Savage 5, Stemple 2, D. Colaw 7. Non-scoring were T. Colaw, Glaze, Ruff and Bachtel.

Frankhouser and Sanders had 14 and 13 points respectively, for the losers. J. Collins had 2, Hill 1, D. Collins 3 and Breeden 1.

Southern led 12 to 5, 31 to 12, and 47 to 16 at the quarter marks.

Southern will meet Valley High of Lonaconing on Friday evening at the local gymnasium.

Northern vs. Southern

The two high schools of the county will meet next Tuesday on Southern High's gym, in a game calculated to create a lot of interest.

Southern has won five games and lost six this season, while Northern has won five games and lost eight. The two teams broke even last year with Northern High winning 39 to 36 in a game played at Grantsville, and Southern High winning 41 to 37 on the old Oakland High school floor.

Cumberland Wins Over Oakland Team

Northern Alumni Win Over Southern In Benefit Games

Cumberland's basketball team defeated the Oakland Independents on the Southern High school court last Thursday night in a March of Dimes benefit game 74 to 54.

In the preliminary contest Northern High alumni topped the Southern High alumni, 63 to 50.

Approximately 850 persons witnessed the game which saw the two main quints battle to a 34-34 deadlock at halftime before the visiting team pulled away to win easily in the final half.

An oddity of the game was that the visitors did not have a personal foul called against them. Only six fouls were called on the local team. Bob Pence and Paul McGregor paced the victors with 18 points, while Jack Veader and Kyle Wilson each had 14 for Oakland.

Others in the lineup were Joe Kahl 2, Kelley 2, Rook 10, Robinson 2, Sharps 6, Treacy 4. Non-scoring were Stewart, Iden, Wolf and Davey. Others scoring for Cumberland were Fox 12, Bell 6, Geatz 2, Eversole 8, George McGregor 10.

Northern Wins

Northern alumni pulled away from Southern in the latter part of the game after having a nip and tuck affair in the first half. For Southern alumni: King 6, Miller 4, Baker 19, Sisler 11, R. Stover 9, Stewart 1. Non-scoring: Kahl, Turney, Sisler, Reckart and Post.

For Northern: B. Hamilton 6, G. Wright 15, Fruehan 13, Ringer 13, Crowe 7, Beachy 3, Bender 6. Stanton was non-scoring.

The Mt. City band furnished music and played the Star Spangled banner between halves as members of Company C, National Guard, presented the Colors. Danny Friend, Friendsville youngster, who has suffered for several years with polio, was introduced to the patrons, after which coin collectors were passed throughout the auditorium. Over seventy-five dollars was collected in this manner. The proceeds of the game also were turned over to the March of Dimes, all four teams having offered their services free of charge, for the benefit of the campaign.

She has developed the home furnishings program along these lines to provide for the maximum in family and individual development, thei satisfy the æsthetic needs through color, design and accessories selected according to good art standards.

Boost In Gas Rates Is Sought In Area

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company has asked for higher natural gas rates throughout the territory in Maryland and West Virginia. The applications filed with the Public Service Commission asked for the same rates in both areas.

Average monthly bills of non-heating customers, which cover sales of 5,000 cubic feet of gas and now cost $4.07, would go up 65 cents. Heating customers in Maryland would pay increases averaging $3.70 a month for each of the eight months of a normal heating season. The estimate is based on the cost of heating an average-sized home, one which uses 170,000 cubic feet of gas for heating.

Carl C. Robbins, district manager, Cumberland, said the increase is substantially larger in West Virginia than in Maryland because the company now has substantially lower rates in West Virginia.

C. and A. is asking for a total of $1,062,000 more a year from its customers in the two states. About $638,000 would come from West Virginia customers, the remaining $424,000 from the Maryland users.

With the company's annual revenues now totalling $4,446,000, the hikes requested in both states amount to about 24 percent overall. The bid for higher rates comes a year and four months after its last request for higher rates and the second increase in over 25 years.

The company plans to invest $1,500,000 for improvements this year, provided it can arrange the financing necessary.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Scripture: John 1:43—5:47. Devotional Reading: Romans 12:1-13.

Religion and A. A.

Lesson for January 31, 1954

SINCE this week's Bible study has to do with temperance, this is a good place to call the reader's attention to a notable little (108 pages) book, "A Sober Faith,"* by G. Aiken Taylor, (Macmillan Co., New York City, $2.00.) The author, a young minister, has been impressed by two things: the harm liquor does, and how little the church has done to help its victims. He believes that both AA ("Alcoholics Anonymous") and the church have something to learn from each other.

* * *

The Problem Drinker

The Alcoholic Foundation figures that in America, between three million and four million persons are "problem drinkers." A problem drinker is not yet an alcoholic; but he is next door to being one. He has a regular king-size hangover every Monday morning, only as he goes on and on, the hangover runs into the week till toward the bottom of the slide he would regard himself as fortunate if all he lost was a mere week-end. He may not be quite an alcoholic; but he is a problem to his friends, his family, his boss, his business, and to himself. But he does not realize the worst feature of his problem: he is only one step removed from being an alcoholic. One thing Mr. Aiken suggests, he says always arouses controversy. But why should it? There is just one sure way of not being an alcoholic and that is not to become a problem drinker. And there is only one sure way of not being a problem drinker; that is not to start with the first drink. Yes, it is as simple as that.

Dr. Foreman

The Alcoholic

The alcoholic is more than a problem drinker. He is a thoroughly sick man. No effort of will, no sanitarium, no advice, no fear of disgrace or pain or death—nothing short of sheer force will keep him from getting drunk and staying so. These are the people with whom AA works and of whom in fact AA is composed. AA began about 18 years ago with a doctor who had lost his patients and a business man whose business had folded up—both on account of liquor.

* * *

The Twelve Steps

Mr. Aiken's book goes through the "twelve steps" which are both the creed and the practice of AA, shows how they work, and calls special attention to the genuinely religious quality of the program. Here are some of the Steps: 1. "We admitted we were powerless over alcohol." (Conversion begins when a man realizes and admits his own helplessness.) 3. "We made a decision to turn our will and our lives over to the care of God as we understood him." (This is of the essence of religion.) 7. "We humbly asked God to remove our shortcomings." (An alcoholic who wants to be "cured" and yet go on as he is, is a hopeless case.) 9. "We made direct amends to people we had harmed, wherever possible." (It is very impressive, Mr. Aiken writes, to see an ex-alcoholic paying back alimony freely, or reviewing some shady business deal in which he had come out with more than his share.) 1. "We sought . . . to improve our conscious contact with God as we understood him, praying only for knowledge of his will for us and the power to carry it out." 12. "We tried to carry this message to alcoholics and to practice these principles in all our affairs."

* * *

AA and Religion

Questions will occur to every one interested. What exactly does the AA group do to help alcoholics? Is the religion of AA the same as Christianity? Why don't the churches have as good a record for saving such cases? "A Sober Faith" is an attempt to answer such questions. One of the author's comments must be quoted here: "Impotence, dependence, fellowship, service . . . They are the stages in a profound religious experience. If the (reclaimed) alcoholic hasn't got religion he has something suspiciously like it!" Mr. Aiken poses another question: The AA assumes that God can be known almost by instinct. Is it not true, rather, that we would not have known about the God of faith if he had not revealed himself in Christ?

Zenith Radio Corporation

Hearing Aid Division

Chicago, Illinois

Gentlemen:

This open letter to you has a three-fold purpose.

1. To tell you how we feel about you folks at Zenith.
2. To tell the folks in our community how we feel about them.
3. To bring an important message to hard-of-hearing folks who may be hesitating to wear a hearing aid.

First . . . When we took on Zenith Hearing Aids in our store, we knew we weren't handling a high-profit item. We knew we could make as much as $100 or more per sale on certain other makes of Aids .But we knew something else that appealed to us as far more important. It was Zenith's "crusade to lower the cost of hearing," to bring the benefits of better hearing to more and more people at a price that wouldn't leave them gasping!

We liked that idea and that ideal. And we figured that we couldn't lose by functioning as a dealer for a hearing-aid manufacturer that put a little heart-interest into his business.

Well, we haven't lost . . . not by a long sight! We've sold more aids and we've made more new friends, and our Zenith Hearing Aid business has grown steadily.

Your Advertising Department has told us to never use any superlatives—words like "best" and "finest"—when talking about Zenith hearing aids. We've never done that and we won't. But we can say that if there is any better Aid at any price, then we haven't seen it. And it's our business to know hearing aids. And we'll back up these statements anytime anybody wants to give us an argument. If further proof is needed, we'll just swipe one of Zenith's own slogans and say, "ask any Zenith owner."

Second . . . we figure that our customers aren't just customers. They're our friends, many of them of long-standing. Friendship means that a friend always wants the good things in life for his friends . . . in business and in his personal life. When it comes to someone with a hearing loss, that, to us, means a Zenith Hearing Aid if his physician has recommended that he use a hearing aid.

Third (and we're getting kind of long winded) . . . A lot of folks are making themselves (and their friends and relatives) miserable by refusing to wear a hearing aid. We wish we could say just this to everyone of them personally: try a Zenith. Just try it. Those hesitant men and women don't know what they're missing. And thanks to Zenith's 10-day money back guarantee, we can also say this to the hard-of-hearing: If you don't hear better, your money will be refunded if you return the instrument within ten days.

We guess that by now it's pretty clear how we feel about Zenith, and why we're writing this letter. In publishing it in the paper, it is our hope that a lot of folks will "read over our shoulder" what we're writing to you. One other thing: our customers really appreciate the battery operating cost of only 15c a month on the 3-transistor, no-tube Zenith "Royal-T!"

Sincerely,

OAKLAND ELECTRIC & RADIO SERVICE

A Gift TO BE PRIZED

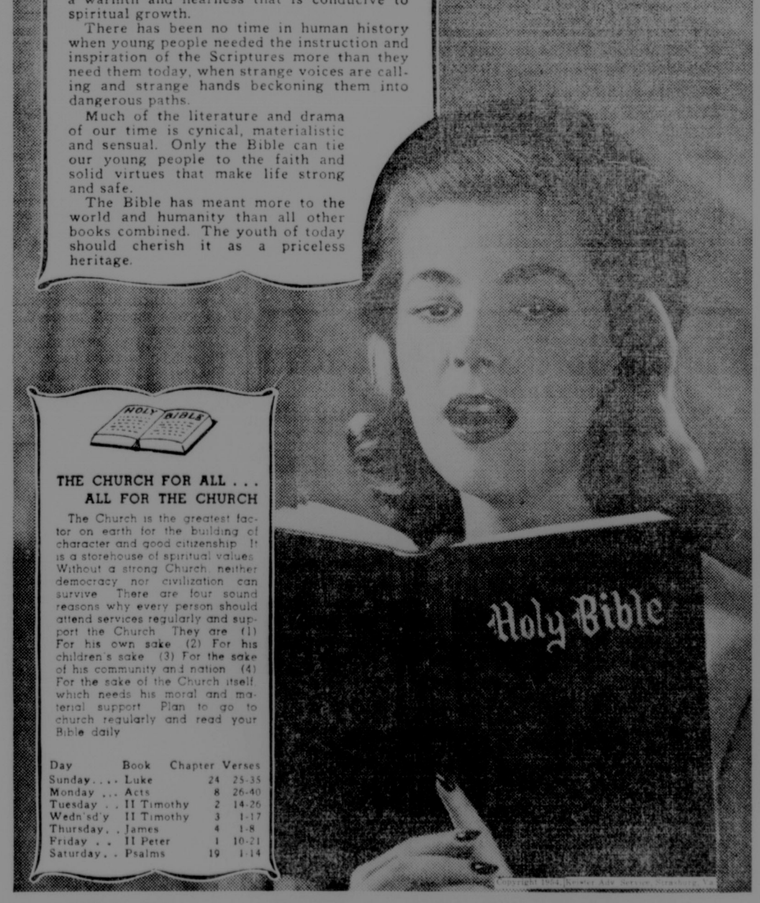
No gift is more appropriate for a boy or girl, on birthdays or any other time, than a copy of the Holy Scriptures.

There is something about the possession of a Bible that gives a young person a new sense of moral and spiritual responsibility. It invests the great characters of the Book, with a warmth and nearness that is conducive to spiritual growth.

There has been no time in human history when young people needed the instruction and inspiration of the Scriptures more than they need them today, when strange voices are calling and strange hands beckoning them into dangerous paths.

Much of the literature and drama of our time is cynical, materialistic and sensual. Only the Bible can tie our young people to the faith and solid virtues that make life strong and safe.

The Bible has meant more to the world and humanity than all other books combined. The youth of today should cherish it as a priceless heritage.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Along The Potomac

With Your Congressman
DeWITT S. HYDE

Residents of Camp Detrick, near Frederick, may eventually have their right to vote restored under the provisions of a bill I have just introduced in Congress.

Because the federal government has jurisdiction over the camp, its inhabitants are voteless, just as the people of the District of Columbia are. The bill has been referred to the House Armed Services Committee, and I am urging the members to make an early and favorable report on it to the Congress.

* * *

After studying the President's proposals to improve our Social Security laws, I can state that I am in favor of them and will vote for them if they are reported out of committee according to his requests.

The first test of this—and of any bill—is its constitutionality. In our Constitution, Congress is required to promote the "general welfare" of the United States. It is given the task of fighting our enemies, and certainly destitution is one of them.

President Eisenhower has made it clear that the social security program is to supplement, not to replace the many private pension and insurance plans we now have. The purpose of social security, he said, is to increase the standard of living of older people, but not to provide them with their only income. I think this should be repeated again and again, so that young people don't get the idea that the "government will take care of them" when they are no longer able to work.

After a year of careful study of the existing social security laws, the President has asked that 10,000,000 more persons be placed within the system. This would be many professional people—doctors, lawyers, dentists, accountants, architects. Farm and domestic workers would be included. People would be permitted to earn more money on their own during their retirement without having their social security payments limited. Contributions would be made to the social security fund on a larger part of people's income than is now the case. In addition, the President has asked that benefit payments be increased to help correct the terrible burden that inflation thrust on people of fixed incomes before the cost of living stopped rising last year.

Like any other legislation, the social security program has had its political side. There are those who like to say that this party favors it, and that party does not. I think that one effect of the President's new proposals will be to banish the thought that this is a partisan issue. In the '30's, Republicans helped a Democratic Congress establish social security. Now, in the light of nearly two decades of experience with it, it is safe to predict that Democrats are going to help a Republican Congress this year to improve the law.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Social Security has become an accepted part of our national way of life, and during this session of Congress we may expect to see its benefits increased and the number covered expanded.

Perhaps no other program demonstrates as well the changes that have taken place in our national thinking as does the Old Age and Survivors Insurance System—called Social Security. Almost no one now contends that it is not a proper program for the Federal Government, and indeed President Eisenhower recently told Congress "The human problems of individual citizens are a proper and important concern of our government."

Such a statement by the President of the United States would have at one time generated a vociferous response from the Congress and the public. The very fact that it went without comment is indicative of the general acceptance the social security program has had, and interest was primarily in what President Eisenhower proposed in the way of changes in benefits and coverage.

President Eisenhower asked Congress to extend coverage to ten million persons — self-employed farmers, doctors, dentists, and other professional people; members of State and local retirement systems on a voluntary basis; farm workers and domestic workers, etc.

He also recommended increasing the benefits now received by retired persons, and while the President suggested no particular amount, Representative Daniel A. Reed, Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, immediately introduced bills prepared under Administrative guidance which would increase the maximum benefits from $85 to $108.50 a month. The maximum payment to a married person would go up from $127.50 to $162.75, and the maximum family benefit would be increased from $168.75 to $190 per month.

Other Presidential recommendations which will be of great interest to the general public were:

1. Liberalizing the "retirement test" by exempting the first $1,000 of a beneficiary's annual earnings, and that for amounts earned above $1,000 only one month's benefit be deducted for each additional $80 earned.

2. Additional benefit credits should be provided, by increasing the earning base for calculation of benefits and payroll taxes from $3,600 to $4,200, thus enabling fifteen million people to have more of their earnings taken into account by the program.

3. Computing benefits on a fairer basis, by eliminating the four lowest years of earnings in computing a worker's average monthly wage. The present system works unfairly in some cases since the level of benefits is reduced by including the periods of abnormally low earnings, or no earnings, and averaging them with periods of normal earnings, thereby reducing the benefits received by a retired worker.

4. Protecting the benefit rights of a person totally disabled before reaching the age for retirement. The President recommended that the benefits of a worker who has a substantial work record in covered employment and who becomes totally disabled for an extended period be maintained at the amount he would have received had he become 65 and retired on the date his disability began.

Many believed that the President might recommend reducing the automatic step-up in payroll deductions and employer contributions which went into effect on January 1. The rate went from one and one-half per cent to two per cent, but the President stated that the net additional cost of his recommendations would necessitate continuing the step-rate increases already provided in the present law.

In order to clarify the worker-employer contribution rate it might be helpful if the public had a better understanding of what is of great interest only to insurance actuaries.

It is estimated that at the one and one-half per cent rate the trust fund would be exhausted by 1967, but at two percent it would last until 1975. If later scheduled increases become effective the fund will exceed $65 billion by the end of this century. The present schedule of increases is: two and one-half per cent in 1960, three per cent in 1965, and three and one-quarter per cent in 1970.

Social Security has proven to be of great benefit to vast numbers of individuals and to the country as a whole. It is not a substitute for private savings, insurance and pension plans, but it does provide protection for an individual's economic security in his old age—nearly seventy million persons and their families are covered, with six million already receiving benefits.

Complexities of our modern society made such a program mandatory, and it should remain, as the President explained, "the cornerstone of the government's programs to promote the economic security of the individual."

Inflation took a long time to catch up to our company. During six years of the worst inflation in our nation's history our residential gas rates stayed the same. Then in October, 1952, we were forced to ask for our first natural gas rate increase in twenty-five years.

Since February, 1953, we have been collecting new rates which give us a 22 per cent increase in our revenues. We have now asked for a second increase. It would amount to 24 per cent on our annual revenues.

Unfortunately, because there is now a substantial difference in the three rates our company is allowed, some of our customers would pay increases greater than 24 per cent.

But that happens only because those customers now pay, and have been paying, substantially lower rates than the other customers we serve. Those customers who now face the larger increases have already made substantial savings during earlier years.

The table below illustrates the way customers in each of our present rate zones would be affected by our proposed new rates:

FOR CUSTOMERS WHO LIVE IN THE FOLLOWING AREAS . . .

	Maryland and in Ridgeley and the Frankfort District of Mineral County in West Virginia		Barbour, Grant, Preston, Randolph, Tucker and Mineral Counties (except Ridgeley and territory immediately adjacent to it in Mineral County)		Braxton, Lewis and Harrison County, and Upshur
	Present	Amt. of Increase	Present	Amt. of Increase	Present	Amt. of Increase
When you use Gas for cooking, only (1,500 cubic feet per month) . . . Typical monthly bill—$1.93.	$1.62	31¢	$1.38	45¢	$1.38	45¢
When you use Gas for cooking, water heating and refrigeration (5,000 cubic feet per month) . . . Typical monthly bill—$4.72.	$4.07	65¢	$3.34	$1.38	$3.28	$1.44
When you use Gas for heating, the increase would average the amount shown for each of the eight months in a normal heating season based on an "average size" house.	$3.70		$5.50		$5.90

We believe that our proposed new rates are reasonable and fair when you consider that the cost of living is up over 90% since 1940.

Our costs of serving all our customers is relatively the same. Therefore, we believe the only fair thing to do is to have all our customers pay the same rate.

Calf Management Aids Dairy Profits

Poor management in the calf barn may mean no profits in the dairy barn when the animals grow up and begin production, says John Dietrich, Extension dairyman at the University of Maryland.

Dietrich recommends special watchfulness over calves for the first two months after they are born, because this is the most critical period of a calf's life. "During this period the calf should be dehorned at about 10 days to two weeks of age. The most common method of doing this job is to use a caustic preparation, either liquid, paste or a caustic potash stick. Electric dehorning equipment is available that does a quick, clean and safe job without leaving an open wound."

Dietrich says calves should be properly identified to eliminate the possibility of getting records confused. Eartags or neckchains with numbers may be used until sketches, photographs or tattoos are made for permanent identification.

Young calves need protection from severe weather and Dietrich recommends individual pens or stalls that are well bedded, dry and free from drafts. Care should be taken that all calves in a pen are approximately the same age and size so they all have the same chance to eat. Feed boxes should be located at a height that enables calves to reach them with ease and they should be attached so they can be removed and cleaned when necessary.

The Extension dairyman points out that the extra teats which dairy heifers often have in addition to the four normal ones have no value and detract from the appearance of the udders. He says extra teats may be removed when the calf is vaccinated or any time before the calf is a year old. The recommended method is to cut the extra teats off with clean, sharp scissors and to disinfect the area around the teat before and after the operation. Usually there is little bleeding and healing is rapid.

Another important step in managing heifers is vaccination for Bang's disease. Dietrich says the local veterinarian should be called to do this job before the calf reaches eight months of age.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Fifteen years ago hordes of grasshoppers invaded the growing fields, the countryside and the communities of an area of southern California. Crops were a total loss, trees were denuded, shrubbery killed. The people of the area were mobilized. They fought the destructive insects with burning oil, garden tools and brooms. Today such a grasshopper invasion could be blotted out by newly developed insecticides sprayed from low-flying airplanes. Insecticides and techniques for using them have begun to raise farm production by an astonishing amount.

The available new chemicals and those in development, still have a big job to do in the control of insects. There are 82,000 insect species and 2,600 different ticks and mites at work in the U.S.A., multiplying, destroying vegetation and livestock, killing human beings and generally making a costly nuisance of themselves. The boll weevil has destroyed as much as $1 billion worth of cotton and nutritious cotton seed oil a year in America alone. Production of alfalfa, potatoes, fruits, vegetables, grains of all kinds, and livestock has been crippled by the insect pests. For the whole world, the insect inroads on food production are staggering.

Regardless of farm policy, of politics, of so-called land reform in the backward areas of the world, the productivity of an acre of land—in America, in China, India, Africa, Europe or the Middle East—is of great importance. Whatever makes it possible to double the production on each of the two-and-a-half billion acres now growing the world's food is a greater boon to human progress than all the governmental economic blueprints ever drafted.

American industry, because it is free, competitive and dynamic, thus becomes a great world social force as it brings forth from its experimental laboratories the mechanical tools, the chemical fertilizers, and insecticides which promise to double and perhaps triple the productivity of farm acreage 'round the world. Why can't the world's political leaders all catch the vision which shines from such progress? It is the vision of a free world and a world of plenty. And any nation can achieve it which will place its faith in God, its political destiny in a government of citizen-made law, and its economic welfare in a system of private enterprise.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Just A Housewife

Picture with me for a moment this scene: A radio program is in progress, and the master of ceremonies is interviewing his guests. Turning to one he says, "What is your work, my dear lady?" And she replies in a thin, small voice, "Oh, I'm just a housewife."

Now, I ask you, why would she answer in such a manner? Perhaps there are several reasons, but there is one definite impression she gives her hearers. She just does not think much of her job. By her apologetic manner, her lack of enthusiasm, she is discrediting, at least in the minds of her listeners, one of the most unique contributions women make to their homes and families.

Let's analyze her answer. The word "just" is the key. This word has several meanings, according to the dictionary, but the tone of her voice in this case implies this meaning: (scarcely, barely)—just inching through. If there were only one lady who replied in such a manner, one would think little of it, but listen sometime to these programs, both on radio and TV, and see if they do not nearly all follow the same pattern. By their own admission, they are admitting they feel homemaking is unimportant.

Yet it is not unimportant. Of all the careers open to women in all generations, there is none so completely rewarding and satisfying as homemaking. A homemaker is many things. She is a wife, a mother, a teacher, nurse, interior decorator, a cook, and a guide and counselor to her children. If she does these jobs well, she should feel that her job is an important one.

Dr. Overstreet in his book, "The Mature Mind," says the most of us have a tragic lack of imagination, which we apply to all our living.

Maybe if we all applied a little more imagination to our work as homemakers, we would have more enthusiasm for it.

Remember the time Johnny had the measles? Who but Mother nursed him through it, told him stories to break the monotony of staying in bed? Some day Johnny, in a far off land, may remember those stories that taught him honor and honesty.

Remember when Janie needed a new dress, and you did not have the money to buy her one, but only had an old one to make over for her? She was unhappy about the made-over dress, until with some bright yarn, you embroidered a pretty pattern on it, and gave it a new look. Janie wore the dress proudly, and years afterward loved you for understanding her need.

Have you ever stood back, and admired rows of colorful canned fruits and vegetables stored in your basement? From the time you planted the garden in the Spring, you and they grew together. Finally, there are the filled jars for your family's needs, and a sense of satisfaction for you.

Look at your home and see again the pretty curtains at the windows you made yourself, and which give brightness and charm to the room. A gleaming polished floor, a white wash hanging on the line, a freshly papered room, these are some of the satisfactions of homemaking.

Dr. Overstreet is right, in my opinion, when he says we all lack imagination, failing to see sometimes the important things we all hold in our grasp, and often fail to make the most of.

There is a prayer that will give us a new vision, no matter what our tasks.

The tasks Thy Wisdom hath assigned,
O let me cheerfully fulfill,
In all my work Thy Presence find,
And prove Thy Good and Perfect Will.

Mine Re-Inspected Near Swanton

Elimination of unsafe roof along one haulageway at the 6-man, 15-ton-a-day No. 1 mine of the Duckworth Coal Company near Swanton was urged in a Federal coal-mine inspection report released by the U. S. Bureau of Mines. The report lists 31 violations of the Federal Mine Safety Code.

Inspector T. J. Ward recommended preshift and weekly examinations for explosive gas and other hazards, proper roof-testing by face workers, ample fire-fighting facilities, and the wearing of goggles or shields by employees exposed to eye hazards.

Other suggestions called for the installation of a fire door in one mine opening, the removal of combustible materials from the immediate area around the fan installation, and several haulage and electrical betterments.

Ward also warned against the use of open lights and smoking underground.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

CARD OF THANKS

We are deeply grateful for the kindness of all our friends and neighbors during our recent bereavement, in the death of our father, the late A. J. Kolbfleisch.

We also want to express our thanks to all who gave flowers and contributed the use of their automobiles for the funeral service.

Son and Daughter.
—Adv. 1t.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

I take this opportunity to thank all my friends and relatives for all the nice get well cards and letters sent to me while I was a patient in Memorial hospital, Cumberland.

All that tract of coal assessed as containing 326 acres to James Anspach, in District No. 3, and being the same coal which was conveyed to Charles E. Anspach, Frederick F. Doe Season Hit By Sportsmen

The idea of a doe season, advanced by Frank Miller a few weeks ago, has met with opposition from several sections. In addition to a letter published this week from Jacob Miller, of near Oakland, another one was received from Thomas W. Hetz, which is a copy of one he sent to Jerry Lamoreaux, Baltimore sportsman. Thoughts of Mr. Lamoreaux against a doe season were expressed by Tom McNally in The Evening Sun of last Thursday.

Lamoreaux thinks Maryland's deer season, the first full week in December, is "late" and catches some bucks at a time when they've shed racks, hence many hunters believe there is a preponderance of female deer. Another point, according to this sportsman, is that bucks are cagey during the gunning season and don't "run" with does.

"After the rutting period, males go off alone," says Lamoreaux, "and are seldom seen. An earlier hunting season would show more bucks. If we want bucks we're going to have to keep the does. Best way of killing off a herd is to slay the females. Overbrowsing occurs only when deer 'yard' and we never have these conditions in Maryland. Deer won't starve—they'll spread out over the available range. We don't need a doe season here."

Hetz, in his letter to Lamoreaux, told of his club last year offering a two weeks' buck season which he said was agreeable to many local sportsmen and farmers.

"There are a couple areas in Garrett county that are heavily populated with deer. These refuges were not hunted for several years. We can easily understand why these and adjoining areas seem to be over-populated. If we visit these areas we will find an abundance of pasture and browse plus a heavy mass of acorns of which deer are very fond. We also have many thousands of acres in Garrett county that have only a few deer, simply because deer do not travel far from their place of birth, unless food becomes scarce. Then they will spread out. Does and fawns as a rule will range within a radius of a couple of miles, while bucks will travel sometimes to much greater distances.

"If some of the deer in these heavily populated areas were trapped and moved to some of our unpopulated areas, we believe a two weeks' buck season to ease the hunting pressure and spread out the hunters over a longer period of time, and in a few years we would have the kind of deer hunting of which we could be proud."

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 77 — OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., FEBRUARY 4, 1954. — PER COPY, 8c. — NUMBER 49.

Pratt Library XX

Hats off To Leaders . .

One of America's far-reaching organizations, the Boy Scouts of America, is marking its 44th birthday during Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13. The Boy Scout movement is at its peak in membership, and probably is at a high point in the activities throughout Garrett county.

Today almost two and one-half million boys are enjoying the "game of scouting" in its three distinct programs. In past years there were just scouts 12 to as old as they wanted to remain. Now there are cub scouts, 8 to 11; boy scouts, 11 to 14; and explorer scouts, 14 and up. Each appeals to boys of various age levels.

We seldom stop to think that this great work is made possible largely through active sponsorship by churches, schools, service clubs and other community institutions. But perhaps even more significant is the fact that some 860,000 adults share their time as volunteer leaders with the boyhood of America.

Theirs is a devoted service, without monetary reward, and many of them have served for a number of years. We have such men in Friendsville, Grantsville, Deer Park, Mt. Lake Park, Crellin, Swanton and Oakland. There have been others at various times at Kitzmiller and possibly other sections of the county.

Boy Scout Week this year has been dedicated to honoring the cubmasters, the scoutmasters and the explorer advisers—the men who actually bring scouting directly to the boys.

To them has been entrusted the care and guidance of our boys and young men during much of the time they are out from under the home, the schools and the churches. It is their influence upon the scouts of today with whom they work and play, that help mold these boys and young men into better citizens and better believers in the American way of life.

Our community owes them much, our nation owes them much—as well as thousands of other adults who serve in youth movements of any kind.

Some Reports On March Of Dimes Now Available

A few reports from March of Dimes efforts throughout the county were available this week from Charles L. Briner, campaign chairman.

He reported $336.98 as receipts from the Mothers' March in Oakland last Friday evening, $72 at Grantsville, and $33 at Mt. Lake Park. He also reported that collections through Northern High school had amounted to $266.62.

Crellin school closed its campaign with $75.66, Harold Garrett, principal, reported. An ice cream party, planned by teachers, was given to room four for the largest contribution. There is an enrollment of 126 pupils in the school, an average of 60 cents per pupil. Room 4 had 26.78, Rooms 1, 2 and 3 had $15.47, $16.42, $16.99.

Citizens Donate 119 Pints Blood

The tabulation showed that 209 persons were scheduled, but that only 125 kept their appointment. Seventy-four failed to present themselves, although 10 persons called and cancelled their appointment.

There were 126 repeaters while 24 gave blood for the first time. There were 25 walk-ins. Thirty persons were rejected.

Four pints of blood were given for a Mrs. Carroll who received blood in a Cleveland hospital, it was stated.

Fined For Reckless Driving

Niles Madigan, of this area, was fined $5.75 by Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer on Tuesday, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving. The arrest was made by City policeman Henry Arnold.

Green Is Minority Leader In House

At a caucus of Republicans in the Legislature this week in Baltimore, prior to the opening of the Legislature, Delegate Arthur H. Green, of Swanton, was re-elected House minority leader, and Senator Robert B. Kimble, Allegany county, was named as Senate minority leader. Neither had opposition.

This is the third session for Green as minority leader in the House.

George E. Coddington was named chairman of the Garrett county delegation.

Asks Sheriff To Lock Up Family

Sheriff Paul W. Fisher had his hands more than full one day last week, but it wasn't with prisoners.

A man arrived at the jail with his wife and four children, the youngest one still in his mother's arms, and said, "Here they are, sheriff, lock them up."

He then explained they had been without food for two days, and had no money to buy any, and no place to go. Upon questioning, it was discovered they had resided with a relative in the southern section of the county for the past three weeks, but the relative had a hard time supporting his own family.

The man explained he had been working in Pennsylvania and was out of work. The county welfare board couldn't help because he was physically able to work, and Fisher said the hands of the County Commissioners also were tied by regulations.

But when Fisher explained how impossible it was to take care of small children in the jail, a grocery order was obtained through the Commissioners. At present they are back with relatives, and the man is trying to arrange to have unemployment compensation paid through Pennsylvania.

Gas Production Shows Increase

Report Shows Amount Has Increased Slightly Over Three Months' Period

Natural gas production in the Mt. Lake, Gortner and Bear Creek areas over the past three months, ending December 31, has shown some increase, the first time since the reports began in 1951. The regular report was received this week by the County Commissioners from the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company.

The company sent a check for $5,008.54 as the county's total from the seven percent tax on the marketable gas, which totaled $487.33 more than for the three months' period July 1 to September 30. The breakdown of the tax showed $2,003.42 as the purchaser's proportion of the tax (2.8 percent) and $3,005.12 as the producers' proportion of the tax (4.2 percent.)

The report showed twenty-eight producing wells have yielded a total of 352,075,000 cubic feet of gas during the 90-day period, or an average of 3,911,944 cubic feet per day. The marketable value was listed at $71,550.58. One-eighth of this amount which normally goes to the land owners would amount to $8,943.58.

The town of Mt. Lake Park will receive $115.27 as its share of the tax, while Loch Lynn, which did not figure in the last report, comes back again for $6.67, because of the renewal of output from the O'Donnell well.

Two new producers have given impetus to the three-months' report. The Swartzentruber well, in the Gortner section is now producing more than the N. K. Welch well, with 53,900,000 reported over the three months' period. The McCullough well on Bear Creek also shows production of 43,136,000, a less amount than the Welch well, but with a total wholesale market value of $11,367.96. The possibilities of development in this area showed improvement.

Since quarterly payments began June 30, 1951, Mt. Lake Park has received $5,657.35; Loch Lynn, $1,500.48.

The gas from the Bear Creek well was carried to a point in Pennsylvania by a pipe line of several miles, connecting with lines of the gas company.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the Commissioners in July of 1951, the county's governing body has received $99,266.60. The first check was the largest, totaling $17,344.27. Each succeeding check has been less but the first four still remained about $11,000.

Fire Damages Hotel Barroom

Fire caused by a short circuit in an electric cooler did considerable damage to the barroom of the Manhattan hotel in Oakland early last Friday morning.

The fire was discovered by Joe Snider, of Clarksburg, driver for the Clarksburg Linen company who had engaged a room at the hotel and was just arriving. He saw the reflection of flames through the glass and aroused the owners.

Nine other guests in the hotel were notified and they made their exit through a heavy smoke. The fire did not reach the hotel section but flames burned through the bar, and were spreading to the floor and ceiling.

The blaze was brought under control by the Oakland Volunteer Fire company. Damage was estimated at several hundred dollars.

Called Sunday

Oakland firemen also were called about 7 o'clock Sunday morning to a cottage along the McHenry inlet of Deep Creek Lake. Timbers around a fireplace had become ignited. Damage was not serious.

Receive Word Of Son's Death

Pfc. Earl C. Nazelrod Died Of Malnutrition In Communist Prison Camp In 1951

Pfc. Earl C. Nazelrod, army infantry, reported missing in action in Korea July 20, 1950, probably died sometime during April or May in 1951, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Nazelrod, Sand Flat, were informed last week by the Army.

The army said it based its conclusions on information received from American prisoners of war who were released by the Communists several months ago. These prisoners have been interrogated to obtain information about other missing persons and such information was compiled and associated with the records of all personnel concerned. It was added that such statements were analyzed carefully and evaluated in an effort to make a correct determination in each case.

The statements received from several returnees concerning Pfc. Nazelrod state that "he died while in the hands of the opposing forces from malnutrition during the period April-May, 1951."

Since the exact date of his death was not reported, May 31, 1951, was accepted by the army as the date of his death.

Nazelrod entered the service in 1948, receiving his basic training at Camp Pickett, Va. He sailed for Japan in April, 1949, where he was serving with an infantry division when ordered to Korea.

Surviving are his parents, six brothers and three sisters.

Weather Is Moderate

The week's weather has been mostly moderate. Sunday and Monday mornings were cold, with temperatures several degrees above zero, but the days were clear. Tuesday was partly cloudy with some spitting of snow, and this continued yesterday. The ground was covered with snow this morning and the fall was continuing.

Specialists To Aid At Farm Meetings

Specialists from the University of Maryland Extension Service will assist farmers in their problems at two annual farm meetings scheduled in the county next week by John H. Carter, county agricultural agent.

Mr. Carter said final arrangements had been made for the meetings at the Grantsville school on Tuesday, February 9, and the Oakland High School auditorium in Oakland on Wednesday, February 10. Meetings at both places will be from 10 to 12 o'clock, and from 1 to 3 p. m.

All subject matter was listed as timely for the area and Mr. Carter pointed out that it would offer an opportunity for individuals to discuss any special problems they may have. He listed the individuals and their specialties:

A. V. Krewatch agricultural engineer, to lead discussion on dairy barns, milking parlors, trench silos, ventilation, farm machinery, electricity, etc.

John Dietrick, extension dairyman, to discuss subjects on dairy, preservation and feeding of silage, dairy equipment, and recent changes in milking procedures.

Stanley Stabler, Extension agronomist, to discuss crop production from the standpoint of amount of fertility removed from the soil, and new methods of fertilizer distribution.

Each specialist will have colored slides illustrating the subject matter discussed, he said. Meetings are open to any interested person, and all are invited to attend the meeting most convenient as similar subjects will be presented at each place.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, Jeri LuRay Nordeck and Donnie Stemple were week-end guests of the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stemple, Arlington, Va.

Forfeits Bond In Mine Dispute

An Elk Garden, W. Va., man, charged with failure to obey a lawful order of a police officer during a mine labor dispute in the Kitzmiller-Blaine section on Monday, on Tuesday forfeited bond by failure to appear at a hearing before Trial Magistrate William O. Bitzer, in Oakland.

Sheriff Paul W. Fisher arrested John Dewey Willis on Monday as trouble flared up between union and non-union coal miners and truck drivers.

Willis reportedly had refused to remove his automobile from the interstate bridge between the two communities. During the dispute on Monday one man identified as Virgil Secrist, was assaulted. He was taken to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland for emergency treatment. The man later returned to his home at Cross, W. Va., after which he received treatment in Piedmont. It was discovered there he had several broken ribs.

Fisher said Willis at first refused to post collateral for his appearance before the magistrate and was taken to the county jail. Later that evening a Kitzmiller man appeared and furnished the collateral of $10 and costs.

Tuesday Maryland and West Virginia State Police were on the scene to maintain order and keep the highway open. Police said pickets were out but no trouble was reported.

The trouble flared last week, according to authorities, following a protest by union coal miners that non-union strip mine operator would not pay 40 cents a ton toward a miners' retirement fund. The E. E. Feller Coal company opened up a strip mine operation near the Vindex road intersection.

Mr. and Mrs. James Helbig and son, Terry, were in Baltimore on business the first part of the week.

Mayor Wants No More 'Mud Slinging' At Town's New Skating Pond

The town last week completed work on the site for the skating pond, had filled it with several inches of water and nature had obligingly covered it with ice by Sunday morning, sufficiently strong to hold up several youngsters.

But by Sunday evening Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh was wondering about the upbringing of the neighborhood children. When inspected Sunday evening there was a large quantity of mud slung around over the ice, stones had been used to break the ice in spots, and sticks also had been used for this purpose. One individual had even used his rifle to shoot into it.

Through the cooperation of Ray Teets, who had offered the ground, the town had carried through a program to provide safe ice skating for the people of the community, at a cost of around $200.

The Mayor didn't relish having this project ruined by thoughtless and uncooperative children. Neither did a lot of other people who were rejoicing over the fact that at last Oakland was to have a place where a wholesome activity could be carried on during the winter months.

So yesterday Mayor Hinebaugh informed this newspaper that he had obtained the names of the youngsters who were involved in Sunday's mud slinging, and that if any such actions were repeated he would be compelled to have them brought before the police magistrate and charged with destruction of property.

"We want children to have a good time, but we are not going to tolerate any vandalism," he said. Thus far the ice has not been thick enough to allow general skating.

Board Revokes 4 Beer Permits; One Suspended

Class "D" beer licenses issued to four Garrett county business places were revoked by action of the Board of License Commissioners at a meeting Tuesday February 2. In addition, the beer license issued to another place of business was suspended for four months.

The law prohibits any application for a new license for two years in instances where licenses are revoked.

Licenses issued to the following named persons were revoked as of February 5: F. R. Orr, license No. 686, for premises known as Moose Hall, in Oakland; Charles O. Ross Jr., No. 705, for premises known as VFW Post, Friendsville; Roy Zehner, No. 722 for premises known as Arlington hotel, one-half mile east of Grantsville, and Margaret Fay Sheehe, No. 723, for premises known as Manhattan hotel, Oakland.

The board also ordered that the license issued to T. R. James, No. 709, for the premises known as the American Legion Club, be suspended for a period of four months beginning February 5.

All persons involved were notified yesterday by registered mail and ordered to surrender their licenses to the clerk of the board. Members of the board are the same as members of the Board of County Commissioners, A. Edward Helbig, Stewart Stahl and Jonas W. Sines.

The board met in special session on Tuesday to take action following convictions in Magistrate's court against holders of beer licenses in the county.

Licensed only to sell beer, the three clubs and two hotels were involved in violations of the county liquor laws in having whiskey for the purpose of sale. In two instances the charge was for the sale of whiskey. Guilty pleas were entered in all cases and the persons involved were fined a total of $3,400 by Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer. It was noted the Legion club was a first offender.

Student Killed In Auto Wreck

Funeral services for Thomas Whitehair, 21, of Terra Alta, W. Va., were held Monday from the Terra Alta Methodist church.

Whitehair, a student at West Virginia University, Morgantown, was killed instantly about 11 o'clock Friday night when his car plunged into a steep rock pile at the intersection of route 7 and the Tyrone road near Dellslow.

The motor of the vehicle was pushed back into the front seat and the spare tire was driven through the rear seat by the force of the collision. In addition the front wheels and the axle were snapped off and the front was smashed against the body of the car. Deputy sheriff of that county estimated the car was going not less than 100 miles an hour.

Whitehair, a senior at the University, was the only son of Roland and Ethel Thomas Whitehair. He was known to a number of Garrett county residents.

Auto License Plates To Go On Sale Soon

The 1954-55 auto license plates for Maryland have been received by G. Harold Yutzy, county treasurer, but they will not be placed on sale until Tuesday, February 23, it was announced.

The treasurer sells the tags at the Court House as a convenience to Garrett county residents who formerly had to send their applications and license fees to Baltimore to the Department of Motor Vehicles. License fees may still be obtained there.

The new license plates will be full size and not simply a small tag to be attached to present plates. There will be only one plate which will be placed on the rear of cars by the owners. Plates are orange in color with black numbers.

Yutzy said the series for Garrett county would be GG with four numerals following. Yutzy said he had received 3,465 plates starting at 10-01. Tags cannot be displayed before March 1. The final day to use the present license plates is March 31.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

This week I propose to state very simply a few fundamentals which should be considered in passing on the merits of the Bricker Amendment.

Since the Federal Government, specifically, the President acting with the Senate, was given the power to make treaties, what is the reason for the Bricker Amendment which would restrict the treaty powers? The reason is this: whereas historically, traditionally and logically treaties were considered to be agreements between nations covering international affairs, they have come to be viewed by some as a proper means for promoting regulation of social, political and economic activities in purely internal, domestic affairs. The proponents of the Bricker Amendment maintain that the treaty power was never intended to affect such matters. Alexander Hamilton backs up this position: "The power of making treaties . . . relates neither to the execution of subsisting laws, nor to the enaction of new ones . . .(Treaties) are . . . agreements between sovereign and sovereign." Jefferson agreed: "By the general power to make treaties, the Constitution must have intended to comprehend only those objects which are usually regulated by treaties and cannot be otherwise regulated."

Now, obviously, matters of internal or domestic concern can be regulated by the Congress or the State Legislatures. Can it honestly be contended that the Founding Fathers thought they were giving the treaty power the scope that is claimed for it by those opposing the Bricker Amendment? I think the answer is clearly "no." If you disagree, then you can only say that the treaty power was intended to directly affect domestic matters, and that it, therefore, has no limitation. On this point, Jefferson said: "If the treaty power is unlimited, we have no Constitution." Opponents of the "which" clause may not realize that it is also intended to safeguard the role of the House of Representatives. The Constitution says that the House shall pass on domestic law (which is the only kind of law the "which" clause touches). Opponents would prevent the House from passing on a domestic law if it is embodied in a treaty. So the real test of the Bricker Amendment is, very simply: who is empowered by the Constitution to make the internal laws of the United States?

I believe the above quotations support the claim of the Bricker proponents that they are trying to preserve the division of powers which the Constitution intended. The battle against the "which" clause would destroy the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution, which, if it means anything, means that in domestic affairs, the Federal Government has the right to act only on such matters as were specifically assigned to its jurisdiction, and that in exercising that jurisdiction it could not invade the rights which the people kept for themselves and the States. Don't you agree that that is what Jefferson meant when he said: "Surely the President and the Senate cannot do by treaty what the whole government is interdicted from doing in any way?"

I agree with Jefferson. If opponents think the Constitutional limitations on making treaties too cumbersome, let them change the system by amending the Constitution, not by misusing the treaty power in such a way as to destroy it. In this way we can maintain our world leadership and national security without sacrificing our Constitution and liberty at home.

Celebrate Washington's Birthday With An Ice Cream Cake Roll

To celebrate Washington's Birthday, here's a Cherry-Vanilla Ice Cream Roll which makes an elegant party dessert. The cake is like that used in jelly roll, and while the recipe is long, it is not difficult.

The filling is delectable cherry-vanilla ice cream which is the February special of ice cream makers throughout the country. You'll find it in your super markets and drug stores pre-packaged in convenient pints and half-gallons. Cut it in slices to make a uniform and attractive filling for the cake roll. This roll serves 10 to 12 and uses 2 pre-packaged pints or half of a half-gallon of ice cream.

Cherry Vanilla Ice Cream Roll

4 eggs
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sifted cake flour
2 pints pre-packaged cherry vanilla ice cream

Have eggs at room temperature for greater volume. Grease bottom of a 15x10x1-inch pan; line with waxed paper and grease lightly. Beat eggs with rotary beater until foamy. Add baking powder and salt; beat until very light. Add sugar, about 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating until very thick. Fold in vanilla and sifted flour. Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 13 minutes. While cake is baking, sift confectioners' sugar lightly over towel or brown paper. Loosen cake from pan with point of paring knife. Invert pan onto towel or brown paper. Remove pan; quickly remove waxed paper. With both hands roll up cake from narrow side. In rolling, first fold all the way across roll; continue rolling by lifting towel or brown paper with left hand and guiding roll with right hand. Wrap towel or brown paper tightly around roll to hold it in shape. Cool on cake rack. To fill with ice cream, unroll cake carefully. Open ice cream carton and cut into slices approximately ½ inch thick, or enough slices to cover roll. Reroll. To serve, cut in slices. YIELD: 10 to 12 servings.

Groundhog Takes Sun Bath; Predicts More Winter Weather

"Oh, it's you again!"

Our friend the groundhog was greeting this reporter yesterday morning, from deep within his hole in a bramble patch near Weber's. We had trudged through the snow to interview the gentleman concerning weather prospects for the next six weeks.

"I suppos.," the furry prophet said, "you want to know if I saw my shadow Tuesday. Well, I did. In fact, I took a sunbath. It was delightful, too, but you can see what this morning is like. And that's just a sample of what's ahead."

Peering into the hole, we detected the tip of a nose.

"Don't worry, I'm not coming out just yet," he said. "It amuses me the way you newspaper fellows ignore me all year long, and then around February 2 you break your necks to find out what's going to happen. And even after I tell you, you sometimes don't believe it.

"Do you remember what you wrote about me last year? You wrote in The Republican, 'The groundhog saw his shadow on Monday morning, but there is still no sign of six weeks of winter weather which is traditionally supposed to follow.'

"But in case your memory's short, I'll refresh it. You had sleet and snow and cold weather clear through March. So there!"

Pausing a moment, the weather prophet continued, "I've been having a little family trouble lately. My wife wants to move closer to town, but I tell her I have to stick pretty close to Mr. Weber's weather station to check my own forecasts with his. And you know, I do just about as well as those high paid government forecasters in the cities. I believe I've been right about four out of five years. Of course, I miss once in a while, probably on account of sun spots or atomic bombs or something. But my average isn't bad.

"You see," he went on, "I keep my ear pretty close to the ground, and usually know what's going on, even though I might be in the hole. And right now I'll stick to my prediction of Tuesday—six weeks more of winter, and you can believe that whether or no."

A Message from Clinton W. Englander,
"Your Pharmacist"

TWENTY YEARS AGO, if you were sick enough to go to a Hospital, your average time spent there would have been 21 days.

SO MANY NEW TREATMENTS have been perfected since then, that should you now go to a Hospital you probably would stay there no longer than 8 days.

SOME MEDICINES cost more than you used to pay for prescriptions many years ago. The new "Miracle Drugs" require so much money to discover and perfect, but each year most of these medicines are usually reduced in price.

THEY ARE WELL WORTH their cost because they not only give you more positive results, but usually lessen the time of your illness by many days. You get well much quicker, and your Physician makes less calls. You spend less money per illness. You get back to work sooner.

WE HAVE ALL these new medicines in our Prescription Department and price them as moderately as possible. We will be glad at any time to answer any question that might perplex you about the cost of any medicine.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Winds Blew Free—But Sailors Had No 'C'

Of those who sailed the high seas of old, it rarely could be said, "they never had it so good." Food supplies on voyages were limited and outbreaks of scurvy were common. Scurvy is now known to be caused by lack of vitamin C.

It was by chance that sailors discovered that citrus fruits could prevent scurvy. Science revealed that the anti-scurvy—antiscorbutic—properties were due to the acid—vitamin C—now known as ascorbic acid.

Although scurvy is rare in this country today, a lack of adequate amounts of ascorbic acid in the diet can be recognized. A shortage will result in weakened walls of the capillaries—those tiny blood vessels which form an amazing network in the body. Those who have mild shortages may bruise easily. Lack of energy, muddy complexions and slow healing of wounds are other indications of a deficiency. Scurvy in children is frequently diagnosed as infantile rheumatism. If a deficiency of vitamin C is not too advanced, it may be corrected by adequate amounts of the vitamin in the diet.

Because the body is limited in its ability to store vitamin C, this nutrient must be obtained daily. The easiest way to meet the daily C requirement is through a generous serving of citrus fruit at breakfast. In fact, a well planned breakfast will not only furnish vitamin C but will furnish significant portions of the other nutrients we require. Enriched or whole grain cereal or toast, an egg or serving of breakfast meat and a glass of milk supply the breakfast's share of proteins, B vitamins and minerals.

Daily use of canned or fresh tomatoes, or tomato juice is also a simple way to get one's vitamin C. Often overlooked as sources of this nutrient are potatoes, cabbage and green vegetables, especially if uncooked.

Although vitamin C is more readily destroyed by heat or exposure to air than other vitamins, it is not always lost in cooking; most of the original "C" is retained in a baked potato. Acid fruits, prepared and refrigerated overnight lose little of this vitamin by breakfast time.

Nine Persons Hurt In Road Mishap

Nine persons including a family of seven were injured Sunday in a head-on collision along route 7 in West Virginia, three miles west of Kingwood.

Five of those hurt were hospitalized at the General hospital in Morgantown while the other four were treated at the Kercheval Memorial clinic in Kingwood.

Among the more seriously injured were Mrs. Marguerite Parks, 40, of Crellin, and two of her five children, William, 12, and James Edward, 9. Her husband, Encil Parks, 46, and three other children, Harold 15, Jane 13, and four-year-old Phyllis were less seriously hurt.

Also admitted to the hospital were Wayne Sell, 21, of Crellin, driver of the car in which the Parks were traveling, and Edward H. Frankhouser, Corinth, W. Va., driver of the other car.

West Virginia state police said the accident occurred about 10 a. m. on the Kanes Creek hill. It was understood that Frankhouser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frankhouser, Corinth, and a recently discharged army veteran, was driving toward Kingwood and apparently was on the wrong side of the highway when the accident occurred. The Parks and Sell were enroute to Morgantown to visit relatives when the two cars met head-on.

Mrs. Parks was suffering with severe lacerations about the face while William received a severe lacerated arm and James Edward a broken leg. Sell had a possible fractured kneecap and Frankhouser a fractured leg, according to hospital reports.

Scouts To Observe Anniversary Event

The nation's 3,300,000 cub scouts, boy scouts, explorers and their adult leaders will observe the 44th birthday of the organization during Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13. Over 250 of that number are members of scouting units in Garrett county.

The theme of the observance is "Forward on Liberty's Team," which seeks to produce a greater functioning manpower and provide a higher quality program for its ever-increasing boy membership.

In the Oakland units some activities have been outlined for several day of the week. This Sunday they will attend the Methodist church in a body at the morning worship service at 10:45. They will be guests of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club on Monday evening, sponsoring institution for the troop.

At the regular meetings during the week the cubs, scouts and explorers will rededicate themselves to the service of scouting. On Saturday, February 13 the explorer unit will select members who will "run the county" for that day, while members of the scout troop will "run the town." Those who will be sheriff, County Commissioners, Mayor, City Councilmen, and other officials of the area, will be selected at an election to be held this evening at the regular meeting, Ralph Fauber, scoutmaster, announced.

A number of activities are also planned by Mt. Lake Park, Crellin and Deer Park troops, in the Deep Creek district, and by other troops in the Mountain and Tri-Towns groups which include Grantsville, Friendsville and Swanton scouts.

NEW CHURCH NEED . . .

The Rev. Dr. Eliot L. Fisher, an executive of the Division of Home Missions of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, recently said there were more people living where churches are not established than at any other period in American history.

The churchman pointed this out at the annual meeting of the Methodist Church's Board of Missions. To help combat the situation he outlined, the Methodist Church is conducting a drive for 3,000 new congregations in the next three years. The church hopes to raise $100,000,000 to house them.

Dr. Fisher says the United States is suffering from a large "displaced" population, constantly on the move. He says that seven out of ten persons who moved in 1953 will move again before the end of 1958. He also pointed out that in some years more than 30,000,000 Americans have changed their places of residence.

The problem outlined by Dr. Fisher is one which all churches should seek to alleviate. We sometimes forget that the United States is still a very young, and rapidly growing, country, with large numbers of displaced persons, and moving families. Such changes, and population trends, place a responsibility on the churches to keep up with the growing demand in new and growing communities. The churches thus still have a wide field in front of them, as they have had since the founding of this country.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN . . .

On February 12th, 1809, Nancy Hanks Lincoln expressed her gratification that her newborn baby was a boy. Little did Nancy Hanks Lincoln dream, on that day in Hardin County, Kentucky, that she had given birth to man, who—with Washington—would become one of the most famous and inspirational of all Americans.

Lincoln's first American ancestry came from Norwich, England, and settled in Hingham, Massachusetts, in 1638. He was Samuel Lincoln and his descendants migrated to the West and South, moving to such states as Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky. Abraham Lincoln's early life was not an easy one and, after his birth in Kentucky, where he lived in various towns, he moved to Spencer County, Indiana, and then later to Illinois.

Lincoln worked as a farm laborer and served as a volunteer in the Black Hawk Indian War. He also had a go as partner in a general store, and when this business venture failed, he was left heavily in debt. Turning to politics, he was elected to the State Legislature at the age of twenty-five, after having served as postmaster in New Salem, Illinois.

In 1839, when the capital of Illinois was moved to Springfield, he moved there and opened a law office. In 1846 he was in Washington and, in 1858, he was nominated to run against Stephen A. Douglas, the Democratic candidate for the Senate. He was the Republican Party's nominee.

When he lost that race, he decided to retire, but he had made such an impression on the people of the country that his fame grew, rather than diminish, and, in 1860, he was nominated for the Presidency at the Republican Convention at Chicago in May. Because the Democratic party split and named two candidates, Lincoln was elected and took office in March of 1861.

Almost immediately, he was plunged into the work of guiding the nation during a terrible war and throughout that conflict, he remained steadfast in his belief and ideals. When the war finally ended in 1865, Lincoln was an aged man, but the entire country needed his services then more than ever before. Unfortunately, however, John Wilkes Booth, an actor, assassinated the President as he sat in Ford's Theater, watching a play. Lincoln died the next morning, only a few days after the war he had guided for four long years had ended.

Perhaps the most prophetic comment made upon his assassination was that of Secretary of War Edward Stanton, who remarked as he gazed upon Lincoln's lifeless face: "He now belongs to the ages." His tragic death and his courageous efforts during the war, which almost split the Union, have combined with Lincoln's friendly and wise policies to make him, perhaps along with George Washington, the most revered American in the history of the country. Millions of Southerners, who had disagreed with Lincoln on the Secession question and who fought against his soldiers, agreed, at the time of his assassination, that this act would hurt the South more than any other section, since Lincoln was a man too broad and too wise to support the short-sighted and punitive measures which followed during the tragic Reconstruction Era in this country.

Today, he is looked upon as a national hero, and is known the world over as the personification of the American story—a log cabin boy who became President of his country and saved the Union.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

William G. Davisson, of Ardmore, Oklahoma, is a cattleman. He also is one of Oklahoma's best known lawyers and represents a large association of cattlemen as well as many individual livestock producers. The Tulsa World, which often prints his articles on problems confronting livestock producers, notes that "he is highly respected for his judgment in the cattle industry."

In a recent article Judge Davisson wrote: "Most of the cattlemen of my acquaintance do not want either subsidies or supports, and they believe that their misfortunes are largely due to the price supports that already exist under grain, feeds and other products which cattle producers must buy. Ordinarily, the chief competition which the packing companies must meet in buying livestock is furnished by the stocker and feeder buyers throughout the country, but chiefly in the grain belt of the nation. The price supports under grain have made it more profitable for these feeders to sell their grain to the government or to other buyers at support prices than to feed it into cattle, and they have largely dropped out of the market and removed the competition which the packer-buyers would otherwise have had.

"Especially has this been true as to the types of cattle which should have gone back to the country for feeding. Thus, price supports under grain have caused losses of many millions of dollars to the livestock producer not only by forcing him to pay higher prices for his feed, but by destroying the market for his stocker and feeder cattle."

"While in my judgment the producers of livestock do not want subsidies and detest controls," Judge Davisson observed, "they may be forced to accept both as the alternative to going broke, unless processing, distribution and feed costs are reduced in proportion to the drop in the prices of livestock."

During the 170 years of our existence as a nation, the economic law of supply and demand, operating in the competitive market, has proved to be the progressive, dynamic force in our unmatched material progress. If we now discard this successful principle, for a government of controlled economy, which never has proved successful, we will be turning back the clock to the age of man's enslavement. Every citizen should clearly understand this fact.

Letter To The Editor

"Waters & Woods," Tom McNally, The Baltimore Sun, and Editor, The Republican, Oakland, Maryland.

Dear Tom and Editor, The Republican:

It seems as if my article to you advocating a doe season in Garrett county has created a lot of discussion, but far be it from me to get into a controversy with my fellow sportsmen, and this is my last writing along that line.

In your column of February 2, [in the Sun] Messrs. Streckfus and Hetz disagreed with my suggestion, but neither rendered a solution for the decreasing of bucks in Garrett county.

I killed my first buck in Pennsylvania in 1922, and don't expect to get a buck each season, and neither does any of my party, but the results of the past season were discouraging. One of my critics said it was due to a drought. Did not other counties where the deer kill went ahead have a drought? Garrett county's fell 150 short, while other Maryland counties went up. Garrett's deer were poor and below weight for age.

Pennsylvania realized several years ago that its deer herd was becoming depleted, so they had a one-day doe season, which resulted in more deer killed and still the herd increased.

Apparently some of my opponents are bow and arrow artists, who prefer (as the law allows) to shoot at and wound either sex, thus giving them more targets, regardless of deer torture. I will let the Game Department iron out this situation, but I still insist that something definitely has to be done to correct the aforesaid condition.

For the information of my criticizers, I own several acres and a lodge in Garrett county.

Yours in sport
Frank W. Miller

Letter To The Editor

To The Republican and its readers:

We are glad to learn that the law has caught up with some of Garrett county's speakeasies and brought their operators to justice. We were glad to note that a total of $3,400 in fines and costs had been imposed and collected. This must have been hard for these greedy folk to part with their ill-gotten gain.

However, we do wonder why they were not given the limit since so many were repeaters in the offenses. Even the limit seems too low. We are tired of tolerating these contributors to delinquency, debauchery and crime.

We wish to congratulate and thank those enforcement officials who were responsible for bringing the offenders to justice. We wish especially to commend our State's Attorney, our Sheriff and his Deputy. They have showed the courage we all appreciate. It is rumored that the offenders are especially angry at Sheriff Fisher and have threatened defeat at the polls should he seek re-election. Such propaganda as they would put forth would prove only an asset to his cause. Therefore, believing him to be the man for the job, we request that he declare himself as a candidate for re-election. He is the man for the job, since we feel sure that he will continue to represent the better type of citizen. They are by far the majority in our county.

In conclusion we wish to thank The Republican for its splendid and persistent efforts in better citizenship. We like its continued attack on lawlessness, the liquor traffic and other enemies of society. It has a habit of championing the right in county, state and nation.

Sincerely,
J. Timothy Moon

Looking at WASHINGTON

The Pro-Red G. I.'s . . . A Problem In The Pentagon . . . Ike's Housing Program . . . G. O. P. Opposition

Washington, February 3—The twenty-one G. I.'s who have refused to be repatriated have long been a source of worry and discussion in the Pentagon, although there has been no general agreement on the course of action which should be taken against them.

This lack of unity of opinion on the issue was clearly evident when an announcement came from the Army last week that one corporal, who had refused repatriation and then changed his mind, would be court-martialed. A day or two afterwards Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson announced he had personally taken the case under advisement.

There was also a hot discussion in military circles over what to do about the twenty-one G. I's who refused to come back to the United States right up to the deadline. In the end it was announced that all were being given dishonorable discharges, but before that announcement came there were all kinds of disagreement.

Some argued that these men should be given discharges other than honorable, but not outright dishonorable. Others wanted the twenty-one tried in absentia, if such a procedure was possible. Others wanted still other action taken.

—o—

The two angles considered in all this controversy were these: First, the effect eventual action would have on world opinion. Second, what would be right in view of the sacrifices and heroism shown by thousands of other Americans who refused to break under Communist torture and accepted repatriation at the first chance.

The latter point is one that is not yet fully understood by those who can't understand why these men have refused to return to U. S. custody. Many of the twenty-one are Americans who broke under Red pressure and "cooperated" with the Communists.

Some signed statements saying the U. S. had conducted germ warfare; others signed other untrue statements. Some were responsible for rough treatment meted out to other American prisoners who were leaders of resistance movements, because they squealed on the loyal prisoner leaders.

It was all a delicate problem in the Pentagon these past few weeks. Not much was said about courts-martial and other punishments until the deadline for repatriation was past. Then the official, sober view of the Pentagon began to emerge from officials.

It was quite a jolt to some communities where prisoners, who had at first refused repatriation and then changed their minds, were given heroes' welcomes. It seems that the Pentagon doesn't think these boys are the real heroes after all.

—o—

President Dwight D. Eisenhower's housing program ran into as much G. O. P. opposition as Democratic. The President urged Congress to pass legislation which would set up 35,000 public housing units a year and continue the present housing program in most major aspects.

Democratic criticism centered mainly on objections that the program did not go far enough but many Democratic Senators and Congressmen were surprisingly warm in their comments about the program.

On the other hand, some Republicans were surprised that the President recommended going along with most of the Democratic housing program and objected to Ike's proposals as strongly as anyone. Whether Democrats and Republicans would follow up the President's proposal to set up long-term home purchasing guarantees covering periods longer than those generally used today was a sixty-four dollar question.

AFL leaders called for a new round of wage increases and construction of public works projects to stave off serious "trouble" in the American economy.

Marshal Tito was unanimously re-elected president of Communist Yugoslavia. He was unopposed.

U. S. was ready to send its first jet bombers to a North African base.

Lowering of the voting age to 18 in Georgia in 1943 was held to be successful in that state.

United States and Japan announced agreement on need for increasing Japan's self-defense forces against threat of possible invasion.

Eisenhower told CIO convention his proposals for amending Taft-Hartley act would be fair to labor, management and public alike.

Yugoslav voters registered support of Tito's policies. They could vote only their choice between balloting for candidates or voting against the government.

A survey of a proposed roadway program for the Savage River dam area was scheduled to be made this week, it was announced following a meeting with State Roads Commission officials in Baltimore last Friday by members of a committee named by the Savage River dam commission.

The survey was to be undertaken by a State Roads Commission official, a representative of the State Department of Forests and Parks, and W. W. DeWitt, roads engineer for the county.

J. E. Helbig, chairman of the committee, said the survey is primarily to determine what the road work would cost. When this survey report is compiled the committee will call a meeting. He indicated that legislation would be sought in the Maryland General Assembly in the form of a joint resolution of the House and Senate which would petition the federal government to build the road. A meeting is also planned with Governor McKeldin.

Helbig said the roadway would traverse a large area of state forest lands and the Savage River dam was a federal project, making the construction by the federal government of the road in line with procedure in similar cases. Attending the session in Baltimore were Helbig, Lawrence M. Fraley, member of the committee, and Dewitt.

Second Of Series Of Concert Group Scheduled Feb. 19

The second in a series of Family Concerts will be presented on Friday night, February 19, at 8:15 at the Southern High school cafeteria.

Nelson and Neal, young duo-pianists, will be heard at that time. This famous Australian-American team will bring their own pianos. The husband-wife team has toured widely throughout the United States, and Mrs. O. T. Graser, president of the Family Concerts association here declared "we feel sure that this program will appeal to all ages."

The concert is limited to members. No tickets will be sold at the door, for the policy of the organization does not permit this arrangement. Baumgartner, vice-president; Walter W. Dawson, secretary; and Julius B. Littman, treasurer.

This new organization was formed last July after a group of citizens heard the plan of William Haaker. After a campaign period in September the board of directors selected three concerts. Chalifoux and Wicker, baritone and harp combination, were presented in November. The third attraction will be the Virginia orchestra in April, which will present a student concert in the afternoon and an evening concert for members. Mr. Haaker will be the conductor.

McKeldin Seeks Record Budget

Gov. McKeldin asked the General Assembly yesterday to appropriate an unprecedented 238 million dollars to run Maryland for the next year.

He said the real estate tax must go up in 1955.

The governor detailed his spending program in a speech before the Senate and House to open the Legislature's 30-day fiscal session. He also recommended building and improvement projects for state institutions of $9,950,000 on borrowed money. Thus the program totals $247,780,352. Of this, current revenues would finance an operating budget of $237,785,352. The record budget included just under 215 millions in state funds. The federal government would supply the balance.

Appropriations suggested by McKeldin mean the state would be spending $101.50 per citizen in the 1955 fiscal year, beginning July 1.

He said a rate of 11.89 cents per $100 of valuation was necessary to meet the state debt service through June 30, 1956. The current rate is 5.67 cents, lowest in history.

Plans Completed For Boy Scout Drive For Funds

The finance committee of the Deep Creek District of the Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, has completed plans for a fund raising campaign which will get underway February 8 and continue through the 13th.

John Forman, finance chairman, has named the following captains for the various sections: Oakland, William E. Sharps, Paul B. Naylor, Robert Stemple, B. Beeson Snyder, Edwin Michael, Maurice Brookhart and Fred Burgwald; Mt. Lake Park, Joseph Welch; Loch Lynn, Delbert Bittinger; Deer Park, George F. Camp, Jr.; Swanton, G. Wells Bray; and Crellin, Glenn Blauch. Forman said each of the captains would be assisted by additional workers who would make a house to house canvass for contributions.

The Potomac Council, which includes Garrett and Allegany counties and six counties in West Virginia, has a budget of $17,400 and of this amount the Deep Creek district has offered to try to raise $500 as its share. Council expenses include the cost of a headquarters in Cumberland and a scout executive for the entire district, the council camp at Oldtown, etc. Another use of the funds provides the opportunity for scoutmasters, cubmasters, den mothers and others to receive training so that they can better carry the scouting program to the future citizens.

Forman said that any who desired to make a contribution and were not contacted during Scout week, could send it to the Deep Creek district, Boy Scouts of America, care of Nordeck Shaffer, in the Garrett National Bank, Oakland.

BEFORE TURN OF CENTURY—A photograph of the original Glades Hotel in Oakland in the 1880's was unearthed a few weeks ago by Arthur Lawton, clerk-collector for the town, and is reproduced above because of its historical significance. Situated on the southwest side of the tracks, it was across from where the Gonder building is now located. This hotel burned and was replaced later by a smaller Glades hotel, also near the original site, but farther from the tracks.

December Welfare Totals $22,745.05

Amount Expended By County Department Less Than Previous Month

Six hundred ninety persons received $22,745.05 through the Garrett County Welfare board during December, it was shown by a report of the State Department of Public Welfare prepared by Thomas J. S. Waxter, director.

This was around $11 less than for November.

Largest category was the one on Old Age Assistance, where 261 persons received $9,741.61, an average of $37.32. There were five new applications here with seven being added and four cancelled.

Aid to Dependent Children had the next highest total with 305 persons in 111 families receiving $8,274.56, an average of $74.55 per family. In this group there were nine new applications with six cases being added and four cancelled.

Five blind persons received $275.25. Under the department listed as permanently and totally disabled, 88 persons received $3,264.12, an average of $37.09. There were two new applications with two being added and one cancelled. Twenty-two persons were listed under general public assistance and they received $818.76, an average of $37.22. There were seven applications with three being added and five being cancelled.

Five persons were listed under foster home care for children and they received $370.75, an average of $41.19.

Throughout the State of Maryland the total payments for December amounted to $1,462,136, the highest of the entire year. During November the state expended $1,430,374 for welfare, and in December, 1952 the total was $1,420,365.

Prune Shade Trees Now, Is Advice

Now is a good time to prune your shade trees. In the late winter and early spring, while trees are dormant and leaves gone, it's easy to see which branches should be cut and where thinning is desirable.

Carl Johnson, Extension landscape specialist, University of Maryland, says trees, like human beings, need adequate food and moisture and a bit of surgery when and where it is necessary if they are to stay healthy. A weakened tree is a natural victim for attack by insects and disease.

Remove dead and broken branches and paint wounds with a coat of shellac, followed by either an asphalt base tree paint or ordinary house paint. This prevents water from draining into the tree, causing rot. It also seals up what might be an easy entrance for fungus and insects.

Some thinning may be necessary, especially if branches grow so closely together that they rub against one another. This can cause wounds that make easy disease and insect entries. Weak crotches should be corrected with cable supports so that the trees won't break down in windstorms.

Johnson points out that a tree can be weakened primarily by drought and starvation. Normally you need not be too concerned about drought and starvation. In years of normal rainfall, trees get an adequate moisture supply, and if the ground isn't too poor, they get an adequate food supply. The long dry spell of last summer and fall might have been injurious to trees, but the ground is apparently getting a good supply of moisture this winter. A normal rainfall this spring should put trees back in good shape.

Fertilizer application are usually reserved for young trees just planted or transplanted. They need this extra food supply to help them adapt to a new situation and overcome any shock of reduced or damaged root systems. However, old trees sometimes need fertilizer when it appears that they are losing their vigor.

Eisenhower declared his administration's program would secure "our country against threats of our time," and do for Americans "those things they cannot well do for themselves."

County Roads Will Be Checked By Radar For Speeding Autos

Maryland's State Police are not as hard-hearted as some people think.

For the past month, a little black box has been proving to them that certain motorists have been speeding on certain roads, yet they have made very few arrests. That is not the intention—at least for some time. That's because the little black box, part of an accurate, compact and portable radar unit, is being used for a different purpose.

It's an intricate device called the Electro-Matic Speedmeter. Corporal Sam Conrad explained it this way: "We place it near a road, point it at traffic, look at a dial and find out exactly how fast a car is going. It's got a graph hooked up to it, too, that records the speeds.

"It will not be used as a speed trap. It will be used to study the speed of vehicles in certain high-accident areas. We are also planning to use it to determine the effectiveness of our speed enforcement program.

"The unit is simple in appearance. The little black box, a combined receiver-transmitter, is connected by a wire to a second box fronted with a gauge resembling an automobile speedometer. This, in turn, is connected with a small power unit, which can be hooked up with a graph mechanism that automatically records the speed of each passing vehicle—and the time that it passed.

"A single Trooper can assemble the equipment in five minutes. All he has to do is park his patrol car at the side of the road, place the radar receiver-transmitter on a stand made for this use, making sure that its antenna side is aimed at the traffic, prop the indicator box in front of him, put the storage battery power unit on the ground, open the cover of the graph mechanism and flick a switch.

"Then the transmitter throws micro-waves down the road; when a vehicle comes within 150 feet, the waves strike it and bounce back to its receiver. The length of time required by the waves to leave the transmitter, hit their "target" and reach the receiver is flashed to a dial on the indicator box that is calibrated in miles per hour.

"As each vehicle comes into range, the Trooper watches the needle on the dial jump to the exact speed the vehicle is traveling. He can, if the dial indicates the vehicle to be moving in excess of the legal limit, jot down the license number. The proof that the vehicle was speeding is being recorded on a paper graph in the form of a line that matches a printed indication.

Every passing vehicle is picked up by the radar. When the traffic is heavy, the indicator needle shows the speed of the first vehicle, then jumps to the next in line. The radar can also catch the speed of vehicles going away from it.

"We are enthusiastic about the radar device, because we believe that it will be a great help in alleviating some real dangers. Let's say a family living on a state road tells us that the traffic is so fast that children are in danger, and that property is subject to danger. We could send a Trooper and a meter to the location. If the radar showed us that there really was excessive, and therefore dangerous, speeding on the road, we would ask ourselves, "Why is there speeding?" Perhaps our traffic engineers would find that a reduction in the speed limit was needed, or that more warning signs were required. So we would erect the signs, and a little later, use the meter again to see if they were being heeded. And if the results were not satisfactory—we would start making arrests."

Corporal Conrad will be in charge of the device in Garrett and Allegany counties.

The Living Bread

Lesson for February 7, 1954

STRANGERS to the Christian religion are always somewhat astonished at its central and most solemn act of worship. It is nothing else than taking a morsel of bread and a sip of wine. Such simplicity is not to be expected. In fact, some churches decorate the simplicity with all manner of ritual till the simple act at its center is almost smothered out of sight. But it is always there, the simple piece of bread. Pitiful to relate, theologians and whole churches have come to blows over the precise meaning of the sacrament we call Communion, but whatever be the differences, all Christians agree that the reason we do this is because Jesus directed it. We also all agree that in this simple act Christ is present. With a divine humility he wished to be remembered in the "breaking of the bread."

Dr. Foreman

* * *

Life's Necessity

Jesus never said, "I am the cake that came down from heaven." Man can live without any kind of cake; but not without some kind of bread. When Jesus lived in Galilee, the poorest man always had bread, if nothing else, for his one meal a day. (In Palestine to this day one may see a working-man at noon crouching in a bit of shade munching on his black bread.) When Jesus called himself Bread, he meant that he cannot be "taken or left." There is no such thing as Christianity without Christ. There is no such thing as a Christian without Christ.

* * *

To Be Assimilated

Marbles are filling, but they are not food, because they can't be digested. Bread is food because it is absorbed into the system. In your bones and blood, in your nerves and skin and glands today, are the elements you have taken in with the bread you have eaten. Some of it is stored up in the fat-cells which are the body's reserve bank. Some of it builds up various tissues. Some of it is expended in energy of living. The bread has ceased to exist, as bread, it does you good only because it has been assimilated, it has become a part of your muscle and brain. So Christ intends that he shall be assimilated by the Christian. It is true a Christian cannot exist without Christ; but we must think what that means. Christ in a picture on the wall is only a picture. Christ as a definition in a catechism is only a definition. Christ as a half-understood phrase in a creed is still only a dim and perhaps meaningless name. Christ as a historical person is a figure in history, no more. It is only the assimilated Christ, Christ taken into your system, Christ a part of you, that is vital in your day's living. How does this take place? First of all by knowing him—in the Gospels, in the New Testament, and then and always as a living invisible Presence, the inner Christ who takes the wheel of your will. Bread has to be eaten to be of use. Christ must be willingly taken if he lives within.

To Be Shared

As some one has said, "A crust eaten alone is only a crust. A crust shared may be a sacrament of friendship." There is one fact about the Living Bread which is not true of ordinary bread. A loaf from the grocery will be just as nourishing if you eat it alone as if you eat it in company. A loaf stolen is as nourishing as a loaf honestly bought. It is not so with Christ the Bread from Heaven. The selfish life, the life that thinks only about its own troubles, ambitions, dreams and hopes, is not one in which Christ can live. If all you want him for is to get on better with your own schemes, he will do you no good. If you were sitting in a restaurant enjoying a good meal, and you looked out through the window and saw in the street, nose pressed against the glass, a starved-looking child, would the meal taste as good to you afterwards? And yet church members will sit in their comfortable churches, listening to sermons about Jesus, standing up and saying they believe in him, singing about him, even taking the bread of Communion,—and all the while soul-starved people are on the outside. How can we ever truly have Christ in our lives if we never try to share Him?

A New York banker told Senate investigators coffee prices were going up because producing countries were keeping coffee off the market.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

The budget for the operation of your government for the next fiscal year has been presented to Congress, and it differs in two major respects with the budgets of previous Presidents.

It differs in its basic philosophy and approach to government spending and financing. It differs in cost by some five billions of dollars. Both will affect your pocketbook.

President Eisenhower's budget has been called an "Armed Peace" budget—and to a great degree that is an accurate description. In any discussion of our national budget one of the first things to realize is that 68 cents out of every tax dollar spent goes to national defense.

That such a huge expenditure is necessary is not the fault of the Administration, or desire on the part of the American people—it is dictated by the threat of Communist aggression.

Of the 32 cents remaining in the tax dollar, 22 cents is spent on charges fixed by law such as veterans' benefits, interest, and assistance to the various States.

Only 10 cents of your tax dollar remains for the operation of your government and for the services which the American people want their Federal Government to provide. Obviously, if the fixed charges, and expenditures for defense, could be cut, the Federal budget would snap into balance and the national debt and taxes could quickly be reduced. Such miracles are not apt to happen.

Of the tax dollar your government receives, 43 cents comes from individual income taxes, 31 cents from corporate income taxes, 16 cents from excise taxes, six cents from customs and other taxes, and four cents from borrowing.

The objective of the Eisenhower Administration and the Majority in Congress is to balance the budget, and as Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said recently "You can't change the course of events of 20 years in 20 minutes, or in 20 days or 20 weeks, or I'm afraid, in 20 months . . . this whole thing has to be taken into account and moved slowly so as not to upset the balance in our economy. You have a very delicate machine in this economic machine of ours, and if you go moving it too rapidly, you can readily upset it."

Radical changes in any direction could prove disastrous, so the aim is for twin goals—tax reductions and a balanced budget.

Cutting expenditures by over five billion enabled the Administration to bring the budget within three billion dollars of balance. This advance toward a balanced budget will permit tax reductions totaling 1.25 billion dollars.

These savings and tax reductions mean that the American people will have more tak-home pay—the average person will still think his taxes are too high—no one wants to pay taxes—but at least he is assured that progress is being made. That is a major difference which taxpayers will be aware of during the next fiscal year.

In the long range view, the difference in basic philosophy between the New Deal-Fair Deal approach and the Eisenhower method will have greater significance.

An economic philosophy unconcerned with taxes, debt, and spending encouraged inflation and compelled government participation in, and stimulation of industry. This necessitated government controls and planning. Such theories have been tossed out and in place we have the economic theory as stated by the President that his recommended tax proposals "will encourage the initiative and investment which stimulate production and productivity and create bigger payrolls and more and better jobs."

Secretary Humphrey explained it to interrogators this way—"The release of this money, the tax money that is being turned back to the taxpayers, just think of it, it's between five and six billion dollars. That is beginning in January, that's being turned back to the people to have to spend. We've increased the buying power by that amount of money. That will be a great stimulant to business . . . " Mr. Humphrey explained that most Americans depend on a sound and prosperous business community for their daily earnings. He said, "They live on that, and things that help business, to help jobs, to give more tools for people to earn more money with, are the things that keep our economy going. That's the way America moves ahead, and things that stimulate business and activity and initiative and development are the things that give more money to the people as a whole to raise their standards of living with."

Many a theoretical economist would immediately spot that the Secretary of the Treasury ended his sentence with a preposition, but the average person will be more interested in his philosophy; which is, that in a thriving prosperous America there can be plenty for all.

Will Rogers, whose keen sense of humor made the depression of the thirties more bearable, once had a visitor right before lunch. Will, knowing that his friend had been out of work, kindly asked, "Have you et yet?"

"You shouldn't say 'et', Will," his friend replied, "To be correct you say 'Have you eaten, yet'."

"I know a lot of people these days," the humorist answered, "who say eaten, but who haven't et."

At all times and in all ages the Church has been a strong and mighty battle station against sin and moral decay.

Through its arches and apses and naves has constantly rung the battle cry of soldiers of the cross.

On its altar has always been found the greatest arsenal of sacred ammunition ever entrusted to any race or to any people—the Holy Bible.

The banner of righteousness has flown steadily from the fixed redoubts of quaint and quiet community churches and impressive city edifices alike.

The torch of truth and salvation has been carried with zeal to dismal outposts in distant and strange lands by self-effacing vanguards.

The Church's stirring hymns, its reverent litany, its jewelled creed, its holy festivals—all have been powerful weapons in the hands of purposeful men determined to see that right makes might.

From its pulpit parapets have resounded continual and courageous challenges to the forces of evil. Truly, the Church today is a mighty fortress in the defense of decency.

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Along The Potomac

With Your Congressman
DeWITT S. HYDE

President Eisenhower has delivered a sharp answer to his critics who say his Administration is either too liberal or too conservative: It is neither.

Prompted by a reporter's question, the President said his government is liberal in dealing with individuals but conservative in economic and money matters. His "liberal" policy toward individuals means encouraging their widest participation in setting policies. Farmers, for instance, can attest to this because a great many of them were members of his national agricultural advisory commission which helped write the new farm program.

His "conservative" policies in economics and finance, he said, are best shown by his new budget. Former presidents have sought to increase the government debt at faster rates in order to accomplish their programs. He has cut expenses two years in a row, and is working toward the day when the budget will be balanced. At the moment, the rush into further debt has been slowed, and taxes have come down, too.

Two other "conservative" attitudes of the new Administration have impressed me. In his housing program, the President has called for an "experiment." He wants to give the FHA authority to insure long-term loans of modest amounts with low down payments, so the many poorly housed, low-income families can begin buying homes, instead of having to rent them in federally owned projects.

This puts the government right where it should be—promoting, not replacing, more private ownership.

The same is true of Mr. Eisenhower's health insurance program. He said, "I am flatly opposed to socialized medicine." I think we can take his word for that. Instead of a compulsory health insurance program (which would inevitably turn into tax-supported, socialized medical care), he has asked for backing of the private health insurance programs with government resources.

Again, the government would provide a means for people to help themselves, leaving it to them whether or not they want to participate.

When the significance is grasped of these "liberal" and "conservative" philosophies of the National Administration, it can be seen at once how unimportant these labels are. What is important is that it seems to be exactly the proper philosophy for modern America.

Potato Growers Plan Lower Acreage In '54

The nation's potato stocks on January 1, 1954 were about 6 per cent larger than last January and commercial production in 1953 was 7 per cent greater than in 1952. Prices dropped about 50 to 60 per cent, and growers have indicated they plan to cut 1954 acreage between 7 and 21 per cent. This summary of the potato situation, based on U. S. Department of Agriculture data, is made by George Stevens, agricultural economist at the University of Maryland.

Commercial potato production in Maryland increased 12 per cent in 1953 and growers' prices dropped about 50 per cent, says Stevens. In other states the winter and early spring crops increased 34 per cent about 1952 and the late spring and early summer production was up about 30 per cent. In the intermediate and late states, where most of the potatoes are grown, production was only 4 per cent higher than in 1952. All potato areas suffered sharp price drops in 1953.

Down the Line

It's pretty hard to remember
What's the most important telephone call you ever made or received? You may find it difficult to recall offhand, for telephone service does so much in a single day, and fits so easily into the pattern of life, that you're likely to take it for granted. But whether it means a crop saved or a piece of equipment obtained in hours instead of days, or a long trip into town avoided, the telephone is an extra hand on the farm, ready to work the clock around for only a few cents a day.
It only seems like magic
So many party-line telephone users have discovered that service is just about as good as they want to make it. It's all a matter of neighborly courtesy—of being thoughtful and considerate of others on the line. For instance, if the Smiths start to make a call and find the Joneses on the line, they co-operate courteously by hanging up gently and trying again a little later. The Joneses, on the other hand, try to free the line reasonably soon so that the Smiths and others may use their telephones. And, of course, the result is better service for everyone!

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Responsibility

Would you like to escape responsibility? Here are perfect rules for doing it.

1. Don't think.
2. If you have to think, don't talk.
3. If you have to talk, don't write it.
4. If you have to write it, don't publish it.
5. If you have to publish it, don't sign it.
6. If you have to sign it, write a denial.
7. But most important, don't think.

Think for a moment how completely stupid life would be if we all followed these rules.

Try as we might, there are responsibilities none of us can escape.

First and foremost, we are responsible to God. He is our Creator, our Truth, our Life. Because it is His command, we are to love and worship Him above all others. In His Name we serve our fellowmen.

We are responsible to Him for the use we make of our time, our talents, and our possessions. We are to help to build His Kingdom here through His Church, not only in our own community, but in all parts of the world.

Surely we have a responsibility for our public schools, for our children are there. Next to the home, it will probably have more influence on them than anything else. Why don't we accept more responsibility for our public schools?

The home is the laboratory of life. We are responsible for the children entrusted in our care. Our children will be a reflection on how well we as parents have assumed our responsibilities. There we need a Source of Power outside ourselves, and for that we should daily seek.

We never do anything worthwhile without thinking about it. The starting point of our thinking will be what we think about life itself, its origin, its meaning. This will determine how much or how little responsibility we are willing to accept.

Think for a moment about two widely separate philosophies of life. They are today engaged in a life and death struggle with each other, for the control of men's minds all over the world.

The first one is Christian. We believe we are responsible, first of all to God, that every individual is important, and that we are to think for ourselves, weighing facts, testing to see if they are true. We gladly accept our responsibilities to serve our nation and our fellow man wherever we have an opportunity.

The second is Communist. This believes that no one individual is important in himself, but only as he serves the State, which is really a group of self-appointed dictators. The Christian religion to them is a myth.

Today might be a good time to think, "What do I really believe?" Reaching a right conclusion, we will gladly accept every good responsibility that comes our way.

The more we really think for ourselves, the wider and stronger will become "Our Growing Edge."

Return From Meeting Of Mission Board

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jones recently returned from the annual meeting of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, held at Buck Hill Falls, Cresco, Pa. Mr. Jones, who is a member of the Board, reports that the president, Bishop Arthur J. Moore, commissioned fifty new missionaries who will be sent out to serve in India, Africa, Latin America, Malaya, Philippines, Japan, Korea and in mission areas of the U.S.A. The Division of World Missions now has 974 serving around the world and the Woman's Division of Christian Service has 554, making a total of 1,528.

Fifty-four of the more than one hundred annual conferences reported that they were already engaged in a program of building new churches in America. The goals set amount to $10,246,849, of which $3,905,430 has already been raised. During the past year 235 new congregations have been organized. The Board appropriated $16,178,596 for its work next year. This amount is divided, $6,507,794 for foreign work, $2,514,355 for mission work at home, and $7,178,596 for the work of the Woman's Division of Christian Service at home and abroad.

The Board also approved the City of Anchorage as the location for the proposed Methodist college in Alaska.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College

John D. Burkholder, of Lititz, Pa., is presented in a magazine story as a good example of what's happening to industrious, progressive farm families throughout the nation. His farm life, his farming practices and his family's living standard are typical of conditions on perhaps 20 per cent of the family farms.

The other 80 per cent are constantly improving their situation, but the degree of scientific farming practiced is varyingly lower than on the Burkholder 80 acres.

He has 26 cows, 8 steers, 6 heifers, 1,500 chickens. He grows corn, wheat, hay, tobacco, potatoes. He uses chemical fertilizers and soil conditioners, fungicides, insecticides, and a barnful of modern mechanical equipment. In the course of a year he uses 38 different farm chemicals, not counting 20 tons of fertilizer.

Fungicide spraying has helped boost his potato yield 100 per cent. Insecticides, medicinals and feed supplements for his chickens have increased egg output 71 per cent. And he estimates that by eradicating flies which plagued his cattle, his milk production has been increased 20 per cent.

A big boost in his farm's productivity—and profit—came when he thoroughly mechanized his equipment. Either one of his two small tractors today do the work which used to require five men, five plows and ten horses. He has an automatic haybaler, a self-propelled harvester, and a dozen other machines—for fertilizing, spraying, cultivating, etc.

From his 80 acres, Burkholder is getting considerably more than twice as much production and income as the average 80 acres around the country produced 20 or 30 years ago. This fact is important not only to this one farmer, his wife and two children; it is vitally important to the whole population. By 1975, U. S. population will be 210,000,000—about 60,000,000 more appetities for the farms to satisfy. Ordinarily that would require, on the basis of average production, an additional 200,000,000 new acres of farm land. There just isn't that much land available. Increased production is the solution. And the chemical industries, the agricultural agencies and equipment manufacturers are going to team with our enterprising farmers to get the job done. It is my prediction that in this scientific evolution now taking place on the farms, the capable, industrious, enterprising American farmers will recognize the indispensable value of the competitive market and the economic law of supply and demand.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

The Roosevelt Boys

Though no nation-wide offices are to be filled in the election next fall, in many states interesting contests, the outcome of which will be significant, are developing. Situations such as have not been known before are already in sight and there is a chance some political history may be made.

—o—

For example, there is a state of affairs presented by the candidacies of the Roosevelt brothers—Franklin, Jr., who seems certain to be the Democratic nominee for Governor of New York, and James, who will run for the seat in the House of Representatives now occupied by Representative Yorty of the Twenty-sixth California district. Mr. Yorty, it is reported, intends to run for the Senate.

It is true that each of the Roosevelt boys has been a candidate before. Franklin is now serving his third term in the House from a New York district, while Jimmie ran for governor in California in 1950. But this will be the first time they have run in a way to justify bracketing them. The reason for this is that though both have been active in politics for some years, each has exactly the same asset—the name of his father. And, that is their only asset. Neither has achieved anything in the way of a public record.

—o—

It will be interesting to see how that asset can be cashed this time. Of course, there is some reason to believe that it has diminished in value in the last few years. For one thing, the late President Roosevelt has been dead for nearly a decade. It is a little hard to keep even the prestige of a very great man from slipping some in that time. In the case of Mr. Roosevelt, a number of things have come to light since he died which tend to detract from the so-called "magic" of his name. For example, there is the Yalta agreement by which he made concessions to Russia that now appear vastly adverse to the interests of this country.

—o—

Certainly, the re-examination of the Yalta agreement has done the Roosevelt memory no good. Nor has the so-called "Secret Diary of Harold Ickes," in which he, in effect, says that Mr. Roosevelt's word could not be taken, and that long before he died he felt he could not be trusted, added to his prestige. Mr. Ickes, himself, was not a man to tie to but he was close to the late Roosevelt and when he says regretfully that his word was not good, it can be taken as an understatement. Mr. Raymond Moley, Mr. James Farley, the late Hugh Johnson and others intimately associated with the ex-President came to that conclusion long before Mr. Ickes. Consider all these things and there is some reason to doubt that this asset of the Roosevelt boys will be adequate.

Take the case of Jimmie. In 1950, Jimmie ran against the popular Gov. Earl Warren, now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Perhaps, it was too much to expect Jimmie to defeat Governor Warren. But with the "magic name" and nearly a million Democratic registration majority, it was certainly not expected that he should be beaten by more than a million. But that is what happened. Nor did the campaign Jimmie made commend him to many. He exhibited himself as so cheap a demagogue that Governor Warren, one of the most temperate of men, was led to say, "Is there no end to this man's trickery? He has had no equal since patent medicines were sold on street corners from a buckboard." As to young Franklin, not even his friends claim he has achieved anything creditable in the way of a record. He has voted regularly with the left-wing element of his party, but has shown neither originality nor ability. He is not personally popular with his colleagues in the House and in the 1952 Democratic Convention, made rather a fool of himself by joining Senator Humphrey and the labor bosses in a futile effort to coerce the Southern delegates.

As a gubernatorial candidate he will have the support of the American Labor party, the Liberal party, Tammany and his mother. Though, of course, not a Communist sympathizer, he will have, as have had all recent Democratic candidates, such support as the Communists can give. Supporting Democratic candidates has become Communist routine in New York. And, certainly, he will have such of his father's strength as can be transferred. Also the labor bosses will help finance his campaign. With all this he may be elected, but the prevailing opinion is that if Governor Dewey runs again he will win. So might any other good Republican. This can be said of young Franklin—his self-confidence is superb. Since 1949 he has put on a good deal of weight and lost much of his good looks. But none of his self-conceit. Should he and Jimmie lose this time it would definitely prove the "magic name" a myth—which would be a good thing. It would seem a man should have something more to run on than his father's name.

Survey To Keep Tab On Maryland Insects

A survey that will keep Maryland's important insect pests under continuous observation during the growing season has been announced by Dr. Ernest N. Cory, head of the entomology department at the University of Maryland.

The insect pest survey will give entomologists up-to-date information on insect populations and make possible advance warning of dangerous outbreaks.

Dr. Cory says Extension entomologist Theodore L. Bissell is in charge of the survey, and that Wallace C. Harding, Jr., will make field observations. The project is in cooperation with the economic insect survey section of the plant pest control branch, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

More Than A Two-Way Stretch

I never like to do a column the day the boys leave for school. The house is hollow, too quiet to think. The furnace, which usually makes no sound, creaks and puffs and moans.

Then the old motto that I used to quote at every turn, "It too will pass," gives me no comfort. For that's just what I know is going to happen.

The expression on the face of Mrs. Ray Jones has haunted me ever since I heard her say "When they're in school they're always coming and going, but when they're through, they're gone."

Jeepers, life is just one adjustment after another. Pour in a little more India Rubber. It seems that each new situation takes a little more stretch.

—o—

Aren't We Proud?

Two men who have the interests of young people at heart got their heads together and in two weeks time there was a pond on which to skate.

I could hardly believe my eyes when I passed Ray Teets' field Sunday morning to see a good size field turned into a sheet of smooth ice.

Now the youngsters are watching the thermometers with the hope it stays cold. One kid let out a whoopee when the sun came out on Ground Hog day because there'd be six more weeks of skating weather.

There is real peace of mind for parents when they know if a child goes through thin ice it will be only ankle deep.

I hope that what Mr. Teets and Mayor Hinebaugh have done will spur other efficient business men throughout the county to do the same for their youngsters.

—o—

Then again, aren't we proud of that new gym. And our basketball team! People have always felt that Oakland would have school spirit when there was a place to watch games.

It's the spirit of sportsmanship that's the real thriller. The team has it, the school shows it, and the audience feels it.

When basket-making Durbin had the ball right under the basket and was wide open, he tossed it to another player to drop it through the net. The crowd let out a wild cheer which was definitely stronger than a two-point goal brings.

Then again, we're proud of Crellin. Ever since they joined us at Scout camp I've watched their spirit and it helped set the tone for good camps.

Now, our team is loaded with Crellin boys. We depend upon them.

What's back of all that spirit that's at Crellin? Is it the parents, the scouts, the school, or all three?

I do hear that Mr. Garrett brings the young ones in every Saturday so that they might practice.

Personal interest! Is there ever anything that beats it when it comes to bringing out the best in youngsters?

—o—

More Relaxed? For Whom?

Those who went to P.-T. A. to hear Dr. Gordon from the University talk on jealousy were warmed by his enthusiasm for parenthood, which is a fairly recent experience for him.

But some of the mothers with four children to their credit chuckled under their breath when he said that the way would be easier for the second one. "All the breakables have been broken and all the tearables have been torn." So he's expecting life to be more relaxed.

"What he doesn't know yet," laughed one of the mothers, "is that the second can climb higher, reach farther, spill more, and mess more."

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME AND INLAND FISH COMMISSION

BOB-WHITE QUAIL

RANGE: Is called quail or partridge but has named himself Bob-White. Found throughout Maryland. Greatest population in the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland Counties. Because dairy and beef cattle farming have diminished important food and cover plants, quail have decreased greatly in central Maryland.

BREEDING: May keep mates more than 1 year though cocks fight at beginning of breeding season usually in April and May. Nest built on ground sheltered by a thick growth of grass or small bushes, or at foot of stumps; constructed of dry grass, leaves, or weed stalks. Eggs 12-18 pure white; incubation by both hen and cock, 23-24 days. Young leave nest on hatching, reared by both parents.

HABITS: Male very attentive to mate and young. When surprised by intruder mother tries to lead him away by many wiles; chicks squat and remain invisible. Span of life to 15 years. Birds of covey sleep side by side in circular group on ground, heads out, ready to burst away if surprised by enemy. Flight speed, 85 ft., per sec., 51 m.p.h.

MANAGEMENT: Food largely injurious insects during summer; weed seeds in winter. Thrives best where there is a well distributed pattern of rather dense cover throughout the crop land areas. Border or edge plantings of the shrub lespedeza, the sericea, and the annual lespedeza provide both food and cover when planted in narrow strips. Winter food patch plantings of soybeans, cowpeas, millet, milo, and kaffir corn are effective providing nearby areas of good cover are present. Narrow strips of grain left standing along the woods' edges at harvest time will do much to carry the birds through the wintertime.

VALUE: A favorite game bird; perhaps no other wild bird to which Maryland people are more indebted; delights in the farm; friend and companion of man; a destroyer of weeds and injurious insects.

Swanton Mine Is Re-Inspected

Elimination of an unsafe roof condition along the main haulage road, use of incombustible material for stemming boreholes, and adequate rock-dusting of mine surfaces that were not definitely wet have been urged by the U. S. Bureau of Mines in a Federal inspection report released for the Virts Coal company's Shank No. 1 mine near Swanton.

The 5-man mine averaged 20 tons of coal daily when inspected recently by T. J. Ward.

The Federal inspector recommended improved surface explosives storage facilities, installation of a mechanical means of circulating air through the mine, adequate fire-fighting facilities, and the wearing of goggles by workmen exposed to eye hazards.

Other suggestions called for several haulage and electrical betterments and removal of an excessive amount of water from the alternate escapeway.

Ward also warned against the use of open lights and smoking underground.

Instrument of Education

The postoffice as a carrier of second class mail has been described by Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas as "Our greatest instrument of adult education." He said this because 14,000 different newspapers and 11,000 magazines go out this way to approximately 40 million homes, about 85 percent of all homes in the country.

These newspapers and magazines provide a flow of information vital to our national security as a self-governing people.

Today this educational structure is being critically threatened by those who are advocating a series of postage increases far beyond reason, in an effort to make the postoffice department look good on the books.

In an article in the Christian Herald, Senator Carlson, who is making a study of the postoffice department, declares that any such increases would place a "prohibitive burden on large mail users as publishers of periodicals" and would threaten "to choke off at the very source the flow of information so vitally necessary to us." "We would grow richer in dollars at the risk of growing poorer in sense."

Persons who favor increases want government subsidies terminated as far as the postoffice department is concerned. But these people forget the basic concept on which this institution was originally established. It was not created to make money, or even to be economically self-sustaining. In the words of Congress itself, the postoffice was created "for the dissemination of useful knowledge for the good of the public, and to promote the communication of vital intelligence between its citizens." As far back as 1775 our first postmaster, Benjamin Franklin, recommended that "if the necessary expense of the establishment should exceed the produce of it, the deficiency should be made good by the continental treasurers."

No other country in the world has anything comparable to our communicating method, and just as sure as newspapers and magazines are throttled by excessive postage rates, we are on the way to the end of Democracy as we know it. Adoption of modern business methods and efficiency policies within the department would accomplish the same end and keep this information flowing to citizens.

Harned Building To Be Remodeled

The Harned building on Second street, formerly the McComas building, housing the Oakland Pharmacy, and professional offices of Dr. James Feaster and Dr. W. W. Grant, will be completely remodeled, it was announced this week.

There will be a completely new front of brick and glass with the front of the pharmacy being extended across the front to include the waiting room of Dr. Feaster, and extending thirty feet to the rear, making an "L" shaped store.

The offices of Dr. Feaster will be completely renovated and during the time of remodeling he will maintain his offices on the second floor. A new heating system with a gas furnace, will be installed, with a block building erected in the rear to house the furnace.

The work is being done by Kitzmiller and Edgar and is calculated to take from two to two and one-half months. Work got under way this week.

Sheriff Fisher Cracks Robbery of Pennsy Firm

Power Saws and Equipment Sold in County Bring Arrest of Bernard Rembold

Sheriff Paul W. Fisher was credited this week with cracking a Philadelphia robbery case involving theft of power saws and other hardware equipment listed as worth almost six thousand dollars.

The robbery occurred in Philadelphia from a company known as Knife Crafters, on November 8, and Fisher did not enter the case until December 3 when he received some information from the West Virginia police, indicating some of the stolen goods might be in Garrett County.

Investigation since that time finally led to the arrest of Bernard Rembold, 33, of Silver Lake, Preston County. The arrest occurred at the home of his father-inlaw, Elmer Clark, at Red Oak, last Thursday. The arrest was made on a charge of being a fugitive from justice resulting from a burglary warrant sworn out by the Philadelphia concern. Fisher said the man readily admitted his part in the distribution of the stolen power saws and other equipment in this area and readily agreed to waive extradition.

He signed the waiver Saturday in Cumberland before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris and Pennsylvania authorities came to Oakland Sunday to take him to Philadelphia.

All property which he is said to have disposed of in this area to lumber dealers and other persons, is in the process of being returned to the sheriff's office and will then be returned to the owner. Those who purchased the equipment are required to return it, and they stand to lose the amount paid for it. Being recovered in this area are eight power saws, two sanders, two circular saws, two rolls of chains and one radio. The theft from the Philadelphia company included 13 power saws, 2 floor sanders, 2 circular saws, a reel of Oregon chain and a radio.

Fisher said George Allen Pace, of Thomas, W. Va., was also implicated in a burglary in Delaware and that he was arrested by West Virginia police and returned to that state a few weeks ago.

Whether or not the two burglaries will be laid to the same gang, could not be stated by local authorities, but Fisher said, that in the process of clearing up these two burglaries they had also discovered some saws that didn't belong to either the Philadelphia or Dover companies, and that there was hope of uncovering a syndicate of crime that would extend from the east coast into Ohio.

This particular case here was broken after portions of serial numbers on some of the stolen power saws were traced through manufacturers and jobbers not only in the east but also in California.

Airman Gives Up At Brother's Home

Ernest R. Welch Had Escaped From Bolling Field Stockade

A young Garrett county airman, of Hutton, who escaped from the stockade at Bolling Field, Washington, early in December, was taken into custody last Thursday at the home of his brother, in Rosedale, west of Oakland.

He is Ernest R. Welch, 19, who had been in the stockade for being AWOL. He gave himself up without any trouble to Sheriff Paul W. Fisher and Deputy Sheriff Ed. J. Frantz when confronted Friday and told Fisher he had planned to come into the office and report.

It had been reported that Welch was armed, and two military police from Bolling Field had come here, accompanied by Lieut. W. E. O'Hara, commanding officer of the LaVale barracks of the State Police, and Cpl. William F. Baker. Fisher turned over the prisoner to the military and state police at the scene of the arrest.

Authorizes Work On Tennis Courts

At the regular meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland on Monday night, the council gave Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh authority to proceed with plans for the construction of two tennis courts on the south side of the golf club house, just west of town

This area will be 120 by 106 feet and will be black topped and set up as two tennis courts in the summer and a place for skating in the winter.

Mayor Hinebaugh said this skating pond idea had been in his mind for some time. One mud-bottom pond was constructed just two weeks ago after Ray Teets had offered a portion of his lot along Mason street. There has been ice on this pond but not in sufficient depth to hold skaters.

Hinebaugh said he also had in mind the naming of a committee of seven citizens to a Park Board, which would make plans for a long range program for Oakland in obtaining a Community Park. "This could come only over a period of years," Hinebaugh said, "but what we need now is a start."

The debate will be on the question "Resolved the American parent does not spend enough time with his family." A general discussion will follow.

Oakland Council Opposes Planned Gas Rate Increase

Noting that an increase in the gas rate would not be to the best interest of the citizens of Oakland, the Mayor and Town Council approved a resolution Monday night opposing the proposed increase.

The resolution, signed by the mayor and all six councilmen, will be sent to the Maryland Public Service Commission. It also states that the proposed increase would work a hardship on the citizens and is not necessary on the part of the gas company for maintenance of service in Oakland. The resolution uses the words "staunchly opposes" in speaking of the proposed increase.

The balance of the regular monthly meeting was mostly routine, according to Arthur Lawton, clerk-collector.

S. T. Naylor appeared before the council in reference to improving the upstairs room in the city hall for the various groups that use the building. It was pointed out the floor was bad, the walls needed painting and that more chairs were needed.

A report from the health department showed that the public water supply generally had been satisfactory during the past year. Tests are made more than once a month.

Feb. 25 Last Day To File

It was announced that February 25 would be the last day to file as a candidate for mayor, council or treasurer. Terms expire for Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh, Councilmen Maurice Brookhart, William Rees and Harry L. Stemple; and Treasurer Miss Julia Rowan. In all probability all will be candidates for re-election, it was intimated. Hold-over members of the council are Emeric Dusic, Donald M. Browning and Dr. E. I. Baumgartner. The municipal election will be held Monday, March 8.

Sunday movie tax for January amounted to $82.75. Receipts for the month totaled $8,005.80, including a loan of $2,000 from the First National Bank. With the loan the town completely paid for the large truck which it purchased several months ago. Water receipts brought in $3,081.43, taxes $778.51, and miscellaneous, $4,145.86.

Expenditures amounted to $6,338.85, leaving a balance on hand of $3,691.34.

Next month's meeting has been called for Monday, March 3, at which time judges and clerks of election will be named.

Another Meeting on Fair Being Called

One more attempt is to be made to organize a county agricultural fair, and all persons interested are being asked to attend a meeting next Wednesday evening, February 17, at the fire hall in Oakland, at 8 o'clock.

This is an open meeting for everybody who would like to see the fair or some similar event revived.

Previous meetings have indicated a desire to have a fair, and some research work on the part of John H. Carter, county agriculture agent, shows a large number of farm people interested. A large turnout was urged for the meeting next Wednesday.

Fined for Speeding

Dale Simpson was fined $5.75 by Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer on February 6 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding on January 30. The arrest was made by City Policeman Henry Arnold. Arnold said Simpson and Niles Madigan, who was fined last week on a similar charge, were involved in speeding difficulties at the same time.

Closed Friday

The County Commissioners' office and County Treasurers' office will be closed Friday in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

Three Men Charged With Riot As Result Of Mine Violence

Will Be Tried Friday, Feb. 19, Before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer

One man was beaten and hospitalized, three men charged with riot, and a strip mine operation suspended as a result of violence in the Kitzmiller section last week.

Virgil Secrist, Cross, W. Va., a bulldozer operator for the E. E. Feller Coal Company, was attacked early Monday morning, February 1, in Kitzmiller, severely beaten, and now is in Potomac Valley hospital, Keyser.

Mike Ray, Chester Evans and Darrell Rohrbaugh, of Kitzmiller, charged with riot and assault on Secrist, are out on bonds of $500 each for their appearance at a trial scheduled before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer, in Oakland, on Friday, February 19.

The non-union E. E. Feller Coal Company, which had stripped coal for the past four weeks in an area near the Kitzmiller-Vindex road, suspended operations because picket activitity of the United Mine Workers had stopped truckers and threatened a big investment in equipment. It was learned yesterday that the company had conceded to union demands which include a 40c a ton royalty for the mine welfare fund, and signed a contract with the U. M. W.

Secrist, father of 11 children and without hospitalization insurance, is under observation for head injuries, according to Keyser hospital attaches. Dr. James H. Wolverton, Jr., of Piedmont, reported that Secrist has multiple bruises, chest injuries, and concussion. He was admitted to the Keyser hospital last Thursday after pneumonia developed, released Monday, and readmitted yesterday for further observation and X-ray.

Secrist unaccountably left Garrett County Memorial hospital Monday night without waiting for treatment by the physician on call.

He was brought to Oakland Monday afternoon by his father-in-law, Harry Brown, to report the attack to the authorities. At the suggestion of Sheriff Paul W. Fisher, Secrist checked in at the local hospital for treatment at about 5:20, but by the time the doctor arrived at 7 o'clock, he had left.

"Shots" for Jaundice Being Given 400 Students This Week

Infectious Hepatitis Prevalent In Grantsville And Jennings Area

All children of the Grantsville and Jennings elementary schools were scheduled to get immunization treatment this week in an effort by the County Health Department to limit the spread of infectious hepatitis (yellow jaundice).

The disease has been prevalent in that area since before Christmas, according to Olonzo P. Fike, county sanitarian for the health department, and this mass immunization was ordered to clear up the disorder.

Over fifty were given injections of gamma globulin yesterday and the work was scheduled to be completed today in the Grantsville school. The gamma globulin is provided by the American Red Cross in cooperation with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

According to health authorities, the treatment gives the person immunization for a period of about six weeks, and health authorities felt that this would be sufficient.

Dr. John Whitehill, Grantsville, is attending physician, who is giving his time without charge. Assisting him are Mrs. Joseph F. Fahey, and Mrs. Mildred Beachy, of Grantsville, who also are giving their time; and Mrs. Melda Trexler, county health nurse.

Mr. Fike called Baltimore last week and asked Dr. Perry Prather, assistant director of the Maryland State Department of Health, if he could send the required quantity to this county, and it was furnished without delay. Fike said the authorities felt there were enough cases in the schools and among the people of the communities to justify the course of action.

Health authorities claim that it is infectious, being transmitted in much the same way that typhoid fever is transmitted and is a virus disease. People who have had it are never accepted to give blood because of the after effect upon those persons needing transfusions.

Mr. Fike said each pupil was receiving one injection of about one cubic centimeter of the gamma globulin. He calculated about 400 would be immunized.

County Has Six To Eight Inches Of Snow During Week

Garrett county had a six to eight inch snowfall during the week at various times, but very little was left this morning except in areas where it had drifted.

Moderating weather yesterday under a clear sky melted a large portion of what had fallen during the past seven days.

There was snow last Thursday, again on Saturday, with Sunday clear and cold. More snow fell Monday afternoon and evening with the storm continuing on Tuesday. Skies were overcast today.

Steiding Has High Producing Herd

Herbert H. Steiding, route 1, Swanton, had the high producing herd in the county's dairy herd improvement association No. 2, for the month of January, according to Harland Beachy, supervisor. Steiding had 16 cows producing a total of 786 pounds of butterfat, making an average of 909 pounds of milk and 49.1 pounds of fat per cow.

Ross Crowe and Daniel G. O'Brien tied for second place with 38.1 pounds fat respectively.

Mr. O'Brien of Swanton, had the high producing cow of the association, producing 1510 pounds of milk containing 82 pounds fat, with a grade Guernsey coming close behind with 1360 pounds milk containing 78 pounds fat.

No. 3 and 4 cows produced 1850 pounds milk with 76 pounds fat, and 1170 pounds milk with 73 pounds fat. They belonged to Ross Crowe, Oakland.

Other places in the top ten were Bill Wildesen, Gormania, 5th; Mr. Steiding, 6th; A. E. Dodge, 7th; Mr. Steiding, 8th, 9th and 10th. The tenth one on the list was a grade Guernsey with 1190 pounds milk and 64 pounds fat.

Lake Promoters Name Officers

At a recent meeting of the Deep Creek Lake Promotion council, Helmuth Heise was elected president for 1954. Other officers elected were Charles Gosnell, vice-president; Gladys Vannucci, secretary and treasurer. Heise succeeds Karl Kahl.

A finance committee was named to set the budget for the council and the information booth. The committee includes Fulcher Smith, chairman; Joseph Hinebaugh, Lindsay Gonder, G. Wells Bray, Bud Vannucci, M. C. Cargo, Charles Gosnell and Helmuth Heise.

The council will attempt this year to keep the booth open 16 hours per day during the summer season which means the employment of two persons. If revenue is available the area visitors will have continuous assistance at the booth, Mr. Heise stated.

Petition Asks Court to Review Revoke Order

Claims Action of Board Was "Arbitrary, Unreasonable And Illegal"

Claiming that the action of the Board of License Commissioners last week in revoking the class "D" beer license issued in the name of Margaret Fay Sheehe, was "arbitrary, unreasonable and illegal," there was filed in the Circuit court of Garrett county on Tuesday a petition asking for a review of the action.

The petition was filed by her attorneys S. F. Hamill, Jr., and William O. Treacy. The document declared that the "petitioner was aggrieved by action of said board," and wanted a review of the decision.

It declared:

"Your petitioner was not given any notice of a hearing in this matter, nor was your petitioner afforded any opportunity to be heard by said board of license commissioners at any time prior to revocation of her class 'D' license, all of which your petitioner believes to be in violation of Article 2B, section 67a, Annotated Code of Maryland, 1951."

The petition asked that an order may be passed by the court declaring the action of the board in revoking the license, null and void.

The petition was filed in the Circuit court on Tuesday and also served on S. R. Pagenhardt as attorney to the board of License Commissioners.

The petition came as a result of action of the board last week in which class "D" beer licenses issued to four business places in the county were revoked and a beer license issued to another place of business was suspended for four months.

Those revoked concerned the Moose hall in Oakland, VFW post at Friendsville, Arlington hotel in Grantsville and Manhattan hotel in Oakland. The American Legion club, listed as a first offender, had its license suspended for four months.

The action came after representatives of five places of business, accused of violating the county liquor laws, pleaded guilty when given hearings January 19 before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer in Oakland.

At that time, James McNelis and Richard Sheehe both entered pleas of guilty to selling whiskey at the Manhattan hotel in Oakland. Both were fined $500 and costs.

No date had been set this week for the hearing before the Circuit Court.

They will assemble at 9 o'clock to perform their duties.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

The Fruitful Years

Several years ago, Walter Pitkin wrote a book, "Life Begins at Forty," which became a best seller. He was trying to say that the years after forty can be some of the most fruitful years of our lives, if we have the vision and intelligence to make them so. Since that time, we have seen a minor revolution in our thinking about middle age and the years beyond.

Many parents, their children married and with homes of their own, are going back to the classroom, some of them to High Schools as well as College. One out of five adults, enrolled last year in New York University Division of General Education were 40 or more years old. Today colleges point with pride to the student, sometimes over seventy, awarded a college degree. Nearly everyone is familiar with the Grandma Moses story, and how she began a successful artist's career after seventy years of age.

Many middle-aged people are able for the first time in years, to work at some project or hobby they have long been interested in, but the pressure of raising a family has prevented it.

Jim, who made a living as an advertising man, buys a small farm and raises vegetables, a thing he has always wanted to do. Mary, who always wanted to study music, is able to give her undivided attention to it. Betty, who was unable to study typing in high school, now goes to night school.

Joseph Hunter, President of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, is soon to retire after thirty years of service as a Post Office employe. He is studying to become an Episcopal minister, a work near and dear to his heart, as he told those of us who have known and worked with him.

One couple I knew, worked out a plan for themselves after their children married and left home. They choose different subjects for discussion and research. One year, it was famous paintings and the artists who painted them. The next year it would be well-loved music and composers. What a wealth of new thinking came their way, and those of us who knew them often said, "What interesting people they are!"

Remember we used to be told "You cannot teach an old dog new tricks." We cannot be sure about the dog, but modern educators today believe that adults often learn new skills and knowledge more rapidly than do children or young people and there is no time limit on learning new things.

A man speaking to his son said, "Son, I believe,
That we were meant to study all our days;
Something to learn each hour that we may leave
The world a little better, when the haze
Of doubt is lifted, and the beaming sun
Of truth comes up to tell us the night is done."

A task force was enroute to site in Marshall Islands for series of tests of new H-bomb in several forms.

Eisenhower struck out at "prophets of gloom" who predict the United States is headed for serious recession or depression.

Good Wiring Pays

The wiring in your home can make the difference between electrical equipment that works satisfactorily and equipment that is disappointing, says A. V. Krewatch, University of Maryland Extension Service.

The agricultural engineer points out that if you invest in good wiring, the small added investment will more than pay for itself in improved service and reduced operating costs.

How can you tell if your wiring is inefficient? Krewatch gives these examples.

When you plug in an iron, or a major appliance goes on, and the lights dim without returning to full brightness—that means low voltage. Your electrical circuit isn't carrying enough current to service the lights and additional equipment. In such a case, the wiring should be checked.

With voltage drop trouble, it takes longer to toast a piece of bread, and a slow hand iron makes you work longer hours to get the job done. Krewatch says it takes more electricity to get the same amount of work done when the motor of a freezer or washing machine runs on low voltage. Not only that, the motor life is shortened, and the motor is subject to burning out.

When fuses blow and are improperly replaced by larger ones, you may find that additional circuits are needed.

Hot Water Can Be Harmful to Fabrics

Before laundering clothing made of crease-resistant fabrics, be sure to read the instructions that come with the garment. These fabrics, which has done so much to keep clothes looking fresh and to save pressing, deserve care in laundering.

It's best to wash clothes or fabrics with a crease-resistant finish in warm rather than hot water, says clothing specialist Helen Shelby, University of Maryland Extension Service. That's because very hot water will remove some of the crease-resistant finishes after a number of washings.

Another thing you'll want to watch is using chlorine bleaches on crease-resistant fabrics. Bleaches may cause some yellowing of the finishes.

Miss Shelby points out that if water is too hot for your hands, chances are it is too hot for washing clothes. Boiling hot water isn't as good a cleansing agent as water at a lower temperature. It may cook dirt into clothes rather than wash it out, and it's likely to set stains.

For general washing, the water shouldn't be over 125 to 130 degrees—hot to the hands but not burning. Wash woolens and many of the man-made fabrics at a lower temperature. For nylon, Orlon, Dacron, Acrilon, Dynel and Vicara, Miss Shelby suggests a temperature not over 110 degrees.

If you use an automatic washer, check the water temperature before putting the clothes in. Some water heaters hold a water temperature that is much too hot for most efficient washing.

C. Of C. Discusses Ways To Attract Industries To Area

The procurement of industry for Garrett county is being discussed by the Board of Directors of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce at its various meetings. It was one of the main topics at the last meeting last Thursday, and is again on the agenda for today.

The Board last Thursday recommended a new method of advertising the Mt. Top area. A 20-minute film is to be secured about the area, and service clubs and other organizations will be contacted about presenting the film at meetings. Members of local organizations would take the film and also make a brief talk on the advantages of this area. The program will be available about March 1.

At the last Board meeting the resignation of Karl Kahl as a director for Deep Creek Lake section was accepted. Helmuth Heise was appointed in his place.

Tillage Practices Can Reduce Loss

Land management experiments in Maryland show that Garrett County farmers can reduce their soil loss by at least 75 per cent and water loss by 50 per cent if they use the right tillage practices.

This data, reported by the Committee for Conservation Now, is based on records from a field project at the University of Maryland experimental farm conducted by a research branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Two adjacent fields on the farm were alternately contour stripped and farmed up and down hill. Soil and water run-off measurements showed four times as much water the conservation practices cut loss and 2.1 times as much soil loss drainage cost by more than a half, when contour strip cropping wasn't the studies showed. With less water run-off, smaller drainage pipes applied.

Besides saving soil and water, could be used.

CROSSING THE YOUGH—The Yough Valley Line's largest steam locomotive, a 4-6-6-4 Mallet-type locomotive, crosses the miniature river from which the line derives its name. In the foreground is another of the 13 bridges of the model line. (Republican Photos.)

Small Scale Railroading Is Big Operation

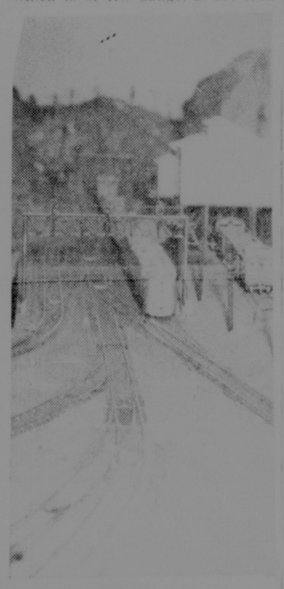
One of the most elaborate model railroad systems in this part of the country is compactly housed in its own building in Loch Lynn, and runs regular schedules each Monday and Thursday night.

Three years in the making, the road is owned, lock, stock and caboose, by four "stockholders," who also double as construction workers, engineers, trouble shooters and candy dancers as the needs arise. They are George Perrine, Mt. Lake Park postmaster; Bernard I. Gonder, Jr., R. B. Purbaugh and William Burdette.

The entire layout, including 51 electrically operated switches and a complete roundhouse and freight yard, is controlled from a central position, and any of the many locomotives can be made to start, stop, reverse, couple or uncouple from this spot. The total trackage, which is of HO gauge, is 394 feet.

AT THE CONTROLS—George Perrine (foreground) and Bernard I. Gonder, Jr., two of the "engineers" for the Yough Valley line, operate the big switchboard which controls all of the road's activities.



SIGNAL BRIDGE—A diesel-drawn locomotive gets the "high sign" from one of the detailed signal bridges on the Yough Valley line. To the left, a freight is standing under a loading loft.

There are six passing sidings for a total of 66 feet of track, a four-track passenger car yard with 30 feet of track and a freight yard and industrial sidings account for 119 feet more. The engine yard, including a four stall roundhouse and turntable for steam power, consists of 55 feet of the miniature rails. The single tracked main line reaches for 114 feet, over hill and trestle, through tunnels with hidden passing tracks and over 13 bridges.

All of the equipment, including locomotives and rolling stock, has been made by the club members. They take particular pride in making their equipment as true to scale as possible, and often journey to nearby railroads to photograph and study the real thing, before reproducing it. A number of their most unique pieces are patterned after Pennsylvania Railroad equipment.

A real model railroader, they say, turns up his nose at "store bought" model trains, and the degree of realism achieved in the hand-made equipment attests to its superiority. A list of the trains operating on the layout would include eight steam locomotives of all sizes and types; seven road diesel locomotives, four diesel switching locomotives, three electric type locomotives, 20 passenger cars, 96 mixed freight cars and seven cabooses. Also included are numerous buildings and signal bridges faithfully copied after their full-size prototypes.

Visitors are always welcome on nights when the club is in session, and a glance at the register shows guests from a wide area. The building is located opposite the Loch Lynn Elementary school, and the doorway is marked by red and green caboose lanterns.

Incomplete Report On March of Dimes Shows $3,375.70

An incomplete report from seven Garrett county communities showed receipts of $3,375.70 for the March of Dimes, it was announced this morning by C. L. Briner, campaign chairman.

This included only the cash that had actually been turned in and included Oakland, $1,619.02; Kitzmiller, $226.04; Grantsville, $522.70; Accident, $143.89; Friendsville, $349.26; Bloomington, $142.92; and Deer Park, $165.25. Northern High school students gave $206.62.

Southern High's figure was included in Oakland and totaled $115.80; likewise, Oakland Elementary school, $115.80; Swan Meadow, $10 and Sunnyside, $6.90. Other Oakland divisions included $407.66 for business men and labor; $345.98 from Mother's march; $215.85 from coin collectors, and $445.50 from the benefit basketball game.

Yet to be heard from are Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn, Swanton, Crellin, and the receipts from the Maryland theatre in Oakland. Briner said additional amounts would be received from several of the Oakland categories.

He said the money received from various communities as the result of personal letters sent out earlier, would be credited to each community as returns were made.

There were reports to the newspaper of $33 from Mothers' march in Loch Lynn and $37 from the boy scout collection in Mt. Lake Park; and Crellin school $75.66, but they were not included in Briner's report since he was tallying only the cash he had received to date.

So to protect the interest of the public in our community, patronization of the undersigned will insure fair and ethical dealings.

Needs Information

Editor, The Republican
Oakland, Maryland
Dear Sir:

I have been asked by the editor of the "Pennsylvania Angler" to write a series of articles about the rivers of Pennsylvania, and since the Youghiogheny extends well into Maryland I shall want to include some good words for Garrett County.

Unfortunately, I lack anecdotal material applicable to accounts of Yough lore, early history of the river's part in the development of the area through which it flows, etc. I'm wondering if some Garrett countians may have some data which would cover river lore of yesteryear. And I would be grateful for one or two photos depicting the scene near the headwaters. How did the river get its name? Exactly where does it head? What was the farthest point reached on the river by branch or narrow-gauge railroad? Was a ferry ever operated on the river above the Pennsylvania line?

Perhaps Charles E. Hoye (How I miss him and how I wish he were living to help me give a magic touch to this material!) wrote some extensive material about the Yough. If so, and it can be borrowed, I shall promise prompt return and perhaps publisher's credit as to source of information.

If I am successful in getting this bit of copy together, I shall be happy to see to it that the Oakland library receives a copy of "Pennsylvania Angler" when the feature reaches print.

Very sincerely yours,
Wilbert N. Savage

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

We appreciate reading Mr. Moon's letter in your columns last week. He made so many remarks that agree with our way of thinking.

We like the way he put the offenders on the spot. We admire the manner in which he complimented our good county officials. Too often we fail to give praise where it is due; that is one of our bad faults.

We thank our public servants for doing their duty. They should be encouraged in this. Again we thank them for working for the public interests.

We also wish to congratulate our Commissioners for revoking beer licenses of these many time offenders. We thank you, Mr. Helbig; we thank you, Mr. Stahl; we thank you, Mr. Sines, for doing your public duty.

We, the public, are your backers

Respectfully yours,
J. Murray

President of Costa Rica, Central America, was married to an American girl from New York state.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

On April 12, 1952, John Foster Dulles said, in an address to the American Bar Association's regional meeting at Louisville:

"Treaties make international law and also they make domestic law. Under our Constitution, treaties become the supreme law of the land. They are indeed more supreme than ordinary laws, for congressional laws are invalid if they do not conform to the Constitution, whereas treaty laws can override the Constitution.

"Treaties, for example, can take powers away from the Congress and give them to the President; they can take powers from the state and give them to the Federal Government or to some international body and they can cut across the rights given the people by the constitutional Bill of Rights."

This danger from "treaty law," as pointed out by the now Secretary of State Dulles, caused the drafting of the Bricker Amendment legislation which safeguards our people and our government from changes in our way of life which "treaties" might bring about without our consent. The American Bar Association helped draft the Bricker Amendment and the Amendment has been approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The Bricker Amendment now has the support of the American Legion, VFW, American Bar Association, Kiwanis International, U. S. Chamber of Commerce, National Grange, American Farm Bureau Federation, American Federation of Women's Clubs, American Medical Association, American Association of Small Business, National Labor-Management Council on Foreign Trade Policy, and more than 50 other national organizations.

In the world today a majority of the nations have Communist or Socialist governments, and their representatives on United Nations commissions are likely to be Communists or Socialists. We are overwhelmingly outvoted. These people write and propose "treaties" which contain new laws and which could drastically alter our way of life and which under present conditions could be made the supreme law of our land upon the action of only a few senators. More than 200 "treaties" are being drafted. The Bricker Amendment is needed as a safeguard against any provisions of these "treaties" or executive "agreements" which might conflict with our Constitution.

HITS NAIL'S HEAD . . .

The other day Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said something that made so much sense everyone in the country ought to hear about it. He was talking to a group which had come from an area hit hard by unemployment.

During the conservation, the spokesman from the area said not only was slowing defense work putting people out of work in his area but added to that was the reduced number of draftees being called. Wilson said later he had been "extremely provoked" by that argument.

The Secretary rightly reasons that young men with ambition, and a willingness to work, would prefer to get out and find a job to being drafted. And on this point Wilson later told a group:

"No one should be so selfish that they think they have a vested interest in war."

In modern times we seem to be losing some of the old work and hustle spirit, prefering to depend on the Government, or somebody else, to take care of our needs. When it comes to depending on war, or a war boom, for jobs, we are getting pretty soft, in two departments, and we applaud the Wilson approach to that attitude.

State Democrats planned to revive the proposal for automatic tax cut.

27 Marriage Permits Granted Past Week

Twenty-seven marriage licenses were issued during the past week ending Monday at noon from the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit Court. This brought the total for February thus far to 32. One license issued was marked "don't publish."

Glenn Freeman Hall, 21, woodsman, and Patricia Deane Freeland, 17, (parent's consent) both Petersburg, W. Va.

Plan To Interest More Scouts In District Program

Plans to increase the number of boy scouts in the Deep Creek district from 143 to at least 175, have been laid by the district committee. Other goals for the new year were outlined by Rev. John J. Atwell, district chairman, as the campaign got underway this week to raise funds for the scout program.

Additional troops are being sought in communities not now having troops to boost the program and to assist boys who do not at present have the opportunity of belonging to such an organization.

The Deep Creek district was organized in June, 1953, as a part of the Potomac Council. In addition to the district chairman there are six operating committees headed by George Hanst, advancement; John Forman, finance; Lewis R. Jones, leadership and training; Olonzo P. Fike, health and safety; Richard L. Davis, camping and activities; Willard Elliott, organization and extension. In addition there are Elmer Upole, district commissioner, and Paul Wright, assistant commissioner. Rev. Atwell and Paul B. Naylor are members of the executive board of the Potomac Council.

Last year 41 boys advanced one rank or more, and an increase in this number is expected this year. Training programs for leaders are being set up. These were pointed out as some of the activities for which the finance committee is attempting to raise $500 as its share of the Potomac Council Boy Scout budget of $17,400.

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life

By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

Immortality

Distressing stops and ragged detours may jar your journey through life, but it's heartening to believe that God, with His eternity, will be there to meet you when you reach the end of it.

I'm thinking of that little boy sitting quietly by himself on a train speeding through the countryside. It was a cold, dull day. The scenery was uninteresting. An old lady leaned forward and asked sympathetically: "Aren't you growing tired of the long ride?" The boy replied with a smile: "Yes ma'am, but I don't mind it too much, because my father is going to meet me when I get to the end of it."

There's something eternal, and in the words of the stage manager in the play, "Our Town," "it ain't houses, it ain't streets, it ain't even stars." God has put eternity into your heart and mine and immortality is the word that can change your life.

Kitzmiller Mine Is Re-Inspected

Failure to remove dangerous accumulations of loose fine coal from active underground workings and 36 other violations of the Federal Mine Safety Code are cited in a coal-mine inspection report released by the Bureau of Mines for the Milt No. 1 Mine of the Burrell Coal Company, Inc., near Kitzmiller.

The Federal inspector recommended preshift and weekly examinations for explosive gas and other hazards, improved ventilation in the face regions, adequate fire-fighting facilities, and stemming boreholes with incombustible material.

Ward also proposed several haulage betterments, removal of combustible materials from the immediate areas surrounding the explosives-storage magazine, the fan installation, and the mine openings, and the wearing of goggles by workmen exposed to eye hazards.

No date was set for the wedding.

Dr. James Collins, principal of Southern High school, accompanied by W. J. Fleming, principal of Northern High school, and Foster D. Perpetual Care For Grantsville Cemetery Planned

A meeting of veterans' organizations, church groups and civic clubs was held recently at Grantsville to organize the Grantsville Cemetery, Incorporated.

The purpose of the organization is to maintain perpetual care for the cemetery in that town.

During the past four years a group of citizens worked together to clean and beautify the cemetery. During that time progress was made, keeping lots mowed, building roads to the cemetery, filling sunken graves, and straightening leaning markers and monuments.

At the last meeting of the group a perpetual care plan was adopted. With this plan in operation it is possible for lot owners to have the assurance that their lots will always be kept in clean and presentable condition, the officers stated.

Officers are Mrs. Mary Livengood, president; G. W. Diefenbach, vice-president; Mrs. E. Irva Mickey, secretary-treasurer; Harry C. Edwards, business manager.

The corporation already has acquired a plot of ground adjoining the present cemetery, making it possible to expand with plans for a central mall where memorial services may be conducted. Work on this will start as soon as weather permits, it was stated.

Southern Wins 8th Of Season 74-44

Charles Durbin poured 34 points through the nets to lead Southern High's cagers to an easy 74-44 triumph over Elk Garden on the latter's court on Tuesday night. The win was the eighth of the season for the Oakland five.

Signs Of The Road In Garrett County

Slightly off the well traveled roads, one of Garrett County's most unusual attractions is often overlooked by visitors, and even many natives have never visited the Bear Creek Trout Hatchery and Rearing Station.

The hatchery, which was acquired by the State Conservation Commission in 1928, is reached from Route 219 between Accident and the Cove. Here, in large, connecting ponds, trout and other species are raised, the fish being moved progressively from one cement pool to another as their size increases.

During the summer months, regular visiting hours are maintained for the convenience of the public.

To Assist Taxpayers In Filing State Returns

Arrangements have been made to assign field representatives of the State Comptroller to various communities for the purpose of assisting taxpayers in filing state income tax returns for the calendar year 1953. Among the places in this area to be visited:

Oakland, court house, February 15; Westernport, city building, February 16, 17; Barton, First National bank, February 18; Lonaconing, Liberty Trust company, February 19; Frostburg, Fidelity Savings bank, February 23; Luke, Devon club, February 24 to February 26, March 1 to March 10; Cumberland, March 11 to April 15.

Bayard Is Winner Over Southern, 52-51

Two field goals by Tommy Kuhn in the final minute and a half of play enabled Bayard High's cagers to break a 48-all deadlock and defeat Southern High's quint of Oakland at Bayard last Friday night. The final score was 52 to 51. It was the seventh loss for Southern against seven victories.

The two fielders offset a last period rush by Southern which saw the Highlanders knot the score after trailing 15 to 12, 26 to 23 and 41 to 32 at the close of the first three quarters. Then with Bayard leading by three tallies, Charles Durbin tallied a goal for Southern with two seconds left to end the scoring.

Kuhn paced the victors with 18 points. Durbin was high man for Southern with 22 points.

Oakland Elementary Students Redecorate Washrooms

A sixth grade section of the Oakland Elementary school under guidance of the instructor, Lester Bolyard, has carried to completion the redecoration of washrooms at the annex, a much needed improvement, according to Edwin W. Elias, principal.

Using the enterprise "Improving the School Plant" the boys and girls measured the washrooms, transferred the measurements into gallons of paint needed, selected dark green and cream for walls and ceiling, and tile red for the floor.

Considered by the group were detailed planning in purchasing the paint and other materials needed; readying the walls for painting, securing ladders, setting up standards for painting and caring for equipment.

Mr. Elias said the entire student body at the annex is proud of the job done and that each home room was cooperating in keeping the washrooms neat and attractive.

Plan Assembly Program

The Student Council has planned an assembly program for Thursday, February 11, at the annex. Ernest Spoerlein, guidance director at Southern High school, will speak to the group.

An estimated 782,000 workers had jobs in Maryland in December, a gain over the previous month and a gain over mid-December, 1952.

Claim of Christ

Lesson for February 14, 1954

CAN man see God "focused"? If we are to see God at all that is the way we must see him. To quote from a wonderful little book, "Your God is Too Small" (by J. G. Phillips; the Macmillan Co., 60 Fifth Ave., New York 11, N. Y.): "There must be more than elusive sparks and flashes of the divine—there must be a flame burning steadily so that its light can be examined . . . It is a fascinating problem for us human beings to consider how the Eternal Being—wishing to show men his own Character focused, his own Thought expressed, and his own Purpose demonstrated — could introduce himself into the stream of human history without disturbing or disrupting it . . . The thing must be done properly—it must not be merely an act put on for man's benefit. If it is to be done at all God must be man."

Dr. Foreman

* * *

The Character of God

Now the central Christian belief is that God has done exactly that; he has been and is "focused," brought to the point where he can be clearly seen and known, in a man, in the Man Christ Jesus. One fair question would occur to most people just here: Is the belief that Jesus Christ is divine just a belief of other people about him, or did Jesus himself ever make any such claim? The answer is that Jesus did make such a tremendous claim for himself. Now he never went about saying "I am God." He never said that so much as once. But what he did say was so clear, and what it implied about his deity was so plain, that his enemies, who did not believe him, naturally called it blasphemy. The 7th and 8th chapters of John are made up of a sort of running debate or argument between Jesus and his hostile critics. Three points at least stand out. One is that Jesus claimed to be in complete harmony with God,—in Dr. Phillips' words, he focused God's character. "I always do what is pleasing to him," he said.

The Thought of God

Again, Jesus over and over emphasized that his teachings were not his own, but that he spoke what the Father gave him to speak. His own description of himself (John 8:40) is "a man who has told you the truth which I heard from God." "I do nothing on my own authority," he said; "but speak as the Father taught me." "I declare to the world what I have heard from him." "My teaching is not mine, but his who sent me" (7:16). Now it is not possible for any man to penetrate or understand all the thoughts of God. No human mind is capable of understanding them all. What we need, and all we need, is what God thinks about us. We want to know what he wants us to do. We want to know how he thinks we should live. (The only persons who don't want to know that are atheists; once you believe in God at all, you can understand how important it is to know what God thinks.) It is this that Jesus meant when he said his teachings were from God. But this involves a tremendously high claim on Jesus' part. He claimed that his thoughts were identical with God's thoughts, that his wisdom was God's wisdom. If he had said outright, "I am God," could he have claimed any higher authority?

* * *

The Purpose of God

Jesus not only claimed to focus the character and the thought of God, but to focus his purpose. This also was better understood later on than in Jesus' own lifetime, for the Cross and the Resurrection were a part of God's purpose. What is the great all-inclusive Purpose of God for us human beings? Why did Christ come to live and work and teach and die and rise again? Was it simply to "show off" God? Not at all. It was (as one of the great Creeds says "for us men and for our salvation." Note what Jesus himself said would come to pass when men followed him, or to use his own startling figure of speech, "ate" him like bread, "drank" him like water. "He who believes in me, out of his heart shall flow rivers of living water." "He who follows me will not walk in darkness but will have the light of life." "The truth will make you free." "If any one keeps my word, he will never see death." That the life of God should flow into and illumine all the life of man; this is the Purpose of God for us.

EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT

If a man ties a string around his finger every Saturday night, will it remind him to go to Church on Sunday?

Hardly! The man who needs that kind of reminder to care for his soul would never go to the trouble of tying the knot.

No one ever forgets to go to Church! But some folks just stay away intentionally.

And it's not that they forget to set the alarm on Saturday night! Those folks have made it a habit not to set the alarm.

The decision to worship God is not one to be made every Saturday night, or every Sunday morning. It is a decision that Christians make once and for all!

Make that decision today! Plan to worship every Sunday. Bring your entire family to Church every Sunday. Pledge your constant faithfulness to God—with no strings attached.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SNAP-COUPLER

It's simple! It's easy! It's fast!

SNAP-COUPLER is the new Allis-Chalmers automatic hitching device that lets you change rear-mounted tools in a matter of seconds. It works anywhere, any time — on your farm as well as in our store.

The SNAP-COUPLER is set in a wide funnel located at the tractor's single hitchpoint. As the tractor is backed to the implement, the funnel guides the tongue of the implement into the coupling where it automatically snaps into working position. The two implement lift-links are then quickly snapped to the tractor's lift-arm latches.

Unhitching is equally simple.

SNAP-COUPLER is standard equipment on new Allis-Chalmers WD-45 Tractors; available for tractors now in use.

Let us demonstrate. Call or stop in.

DeWITT S. HYDE

Despite the gloomy talk of certain so-called economists, there is no basis to predict a national depression in 1954.

After a careful analysis, the main trends of our economy divide into three groups: good, bad, and a combination of the two. Here are some of the bad ones:

First, slightly over three percent of our working force is out of jobs. But unemployment was as high as five percent in the boom years of 1591 and '52. Auto production is down, and will decline a little more this year. Third, steel production has declined.

In the in-between category, good and bad signs for our economy—farm prices skidded 17 percent in the final two years of the past Administration, and one percent since then. Though farm prices have now leveled off, farmers have much less money to spend than they should. Second, retailers' inventories have been rising and sales falling. But the gap is narrowing and a reasonable balance is expected again soon.

Third, the average work week is declining from overtime to normal as we move from wartime to peace. Though take-home pay is down, so is the cost of manufacture without overtime included, and that means lower prices.

Fourth on the combination good-bad list is government expenditures. They are still too high, but they have come down some. Fifth is the decline in our gross national product of goods and services, down about $10 billion from the peak rate of $372 billion last year. But again, this is due to the war-to-peace transition.

Now what are the favorable economic signs? First, taxes have come down already. That means more money for people to spend—a good shot-in-the-arm for the economy. Second, a record $4 billion is going into research which is going to create new products and new jobs. Third, prices have stabilized; we no longer fear further declining of the value of our dollars. Fourth, investment in new plants and equipment appears to be headed for a higher total this year than in 1953.

Finally, the American people spent $13 billion more last year than in '52, and their incomes were that much bigger, too. In other words, the trend is up, not down.

From these indications there is no reason why we shouldn't continue to work hard and have confidence that there is no destructive depression on the way.

On the recommendation of the Navy, I have been appointed by the Speaker of the House to the Board of Visitors of the Naval Academy . . . I will attend two Lincoln Day dinners next week—in Montgomery County Wednesday and in Allegany County Thursday.

United States Senator from Maryland

The Big Four conferences now in progress in Berlin call to mind the visit which I paid to Western Germany last fall and increases my interest in the diplomatic struggle.

So far the unity snown by the Western Powers demonstrates that at least our common alliance against Communist ambitions for control of Germany remains intact.

The French are understandingly nervous about any attempt to rearm Germany; the British are willing to participate in NATO, but reluctant to share responsibility for a European Defense Community—the United States is sympathetic to all, but firmly resolved to bring about the integration of West Germany into the European family of nations.

Last fall in Berlin there were still visible signs of World War II destruction — destruction made necessary because the German people permitted the evil of Nazism to make their country a threat to the basic principles which free men believe in and insist are necessary for Life, Liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Today, while the conferences are underway, I understand a light covering of snow hides much of the evidences of war's destruction, and in fact, is reported to make beautiful white mounds of the rubble and places soft, white embellishments around the cornices and walls of bombed out buildings.

In such a setting, in a city which has become a symbol of the differences between the freedom of the West and the tyranny of the East, the diplomats are reported to have sat down around a table under a painting of Gabriel blowing his trumpet of doom.

I imagine that the average German is justifiably concerned and, if he were inclined to look upon the setting as portending the conference results he might be curious to know whose doom Gabriel was announcing.

My observations convinced me that the Germans truly want to align themselves with the West, and—except for some fanatics—sincerely desire peace. The rebuilding of Germany and the stability of its economy is truly amazing, and now that the Germans are able to stand alone they want to again be treated as equals by other European nations and the United States.

They are also deeply aware that their country is not united and that the Communists are controlling and operating as a satellite the very important Eastern half of Germany. Therefore, I am sure that while we in the United States do not really expect any great developments from the Berlin talks the Germans know that the future of their nation, and the future of their personal prosperity and security depends to a great degree on the results of the conferences.

A superstitious German could easily be convinced that Gabriel's horn predicts someone's doom, and because of the instinct for self-preservation fervently hopes that it is not his.

To the rest of the world the Berlin meetings will have broader significance and wider interpretations, but I think we must begin to take a greater interest in the Germans as individuals and people because to a great degree our own personal security depends on them.

Our foreign policies in Europe are predicated on the integration of Germany into the European family of nations. We look upon Germany as being the front line against Communist aggression.

A few short years ago we were involved in a great conflict with Hitler's Germany, and while we here in the United States more quickly forgive and forget we must remember that the memories of the English, and the French are more poignant, and because of their personal experiences, more bitter.

Still the future of Germany is the key to peace or war in Europe and we must recognize that the free world is joined together in a continuing struggle with the forces of evil. It is not easy to forgive and forget, but we can try to set an example for other nations to follow and as Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday we celebrate this week, told the Congress in 1861, "Such will be a great lesson of peace; teaching men that what they cannot take by an election, neither can they take by a war; teaching all the folly of being the beginners of a war."

I think the people of Germany, and the West German Government, have learned that lesson and as soon as the Communist rulers in the Kremlin recognize it we may look forward to peace.

HUSBAND AND WIFE TEAM—Nelson and Neal, duo-pianists, who will be heard in Oakland, at the Southern High school cafeteria on Friday, February 19, are a husband and wife team. They fell in love while both were studying at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia. Allison Nelson, now Mrs. Harry Neal, was already a seasoned trouper on the Australian Broadcasting Company's celebrity concert circuit. She was awarded a scholarship to study with Rudolph Serkin, which brought her to the United States. From April, 1950, until the following April they appeared all over Australia. Neal, native of Tennessee, won state contests there and in Kentucky as a pianist and orator. He became one of the youngest radio announcers in the country. He studied at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia where he fell in love. Shortly after they began their Philadelphia television series and were married. They are appearing here through the Garrett County Family Concerts association.

Wisdom

Lincoln left us enriched with many Immortal sayings like the one "Liberty can Never survive without thrift". This great man Constantly preached economy and called
On his countrymen to practice it.
Lincoln also said: "Teach economy, there is No greater virtue—it begins with saving money".

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Former Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Owen J. Roberts, was the first witness to give testimony last week when legislative hearings began on Senate Joint Resolution No. 44, a bill which I introduced last February. This bill proposes an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to the composition and jurisdiction of the Supreme Court and the tenure and eligibility for political preferment of its members.

Justice Roberts cited, as an example of the need for an amendment such as I have proposed, the attempt by the executive branch of the government to "pack" the Supreme Court in 1937 when decisions of that body conflicted with parts of the legislative program which had been put into effect. He also referred to the McCardle case (1869), where Congress overrode a Presidential veto to take away the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to hear appeals in habeas corpus cases. This was done while the Supreme Court was actually considering McCardle's appeal and, as a result of Congress' action, the Supreme Court was unable to render a decision on the appeal.

The above cases are illustrations of the need to fortify the independence of the Supreme Court by amending the Constitution and thereby to forestall future efforts by a President or a Congress seeking to nullify or impair the power of the judicial branch of the government. There are loopholes in the strict letter of the Constitution as it now reads through which such a thrust might be made. It is the purpose of my proposed amendment to plug those loopholes by providing as follows:

1. Fix the number of Justices at 9.

2. Make retirement compulsory at the age of 75

3. Render the Justices ineligible to become President or Vice President for five years after service with the Supreme Court is terminated.

4. In Constitutional cases, remove from Congress its present power to impair the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.

The reason for some of the above can be seen from Justice Roberts' testimony. The Political preferment provision would relieve the Justices from political pressure and remove any suspicion that their judicial deliberation was colored by political aspirations.

If the project of "plugging those loopholes" is pursued in the politically non-partisan spirit in which it was initiated, there should be no serious opposition in principle to this proposed Constitutional Amendment.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

The Evolution of a Garage

Once we built a garage and moved into it for a few months. Though the months turned into years we kept our spirits up by thinking, "Won't it be nice when we get out of this into a bigger place?"

Then we got out, and there was that empty space. Space! The luxury of space! We brought in all the stuff that leaned against the outside and leaned it against the inside. There wasn't any room for the car. Anyway we had to wait to get money to "break through" and add a door.

But we kept thinking, won't it be nice when the car is inside? Always warm and handy for unloading groceries and as convenient for cleaning as a bathroom mirror. And we'll never have rubbers in the main part of the house, never. Now won't that be nice?

So the car finally got in its proper place, right next to the utility room. Perfect planning. But the space wasn't empty. Still every wall was a prop for leaning things. The car was in but for some crazy reason no one every left his rubbers in it. They walk clear through to the front door, drop them off just like they had come through that door.

Then I discovered that a garage right in the house is almost as dirty as a barn would be, for tires have a way of holding on to more dirt than shoes and hooves. Great hunks of snow and ice are brought in, fall off, and when they melt there are piles of cinders, sand or salt. That and gobs of oil are really dirty and messy.

Then, I look through the window of the utility room and think garages should be sheds far removed from the house. I recall what a cozy room it was when we lived in it and an idea half-way takes shape.

What do you think? A home magazine has just the right idea this month. "Make your garage a place for living." Now, that's what we should do—make a living room out of it. Not only cozy but comfortable with strong old furniture that never shows a scuff. No rugs, no excess. Though the magazine might not agree, I think an old Burnside stove would give it the right touch. And I bet my hat when friends came to call they'd always come to the garage door. They could have their overshoes on, flip their ashes on the floor and toss cigaret butts toward the coal bucket. Why, it would be as cozy as a country store.

A Chinese proberb says the usefulness of a house depends upon its empty space. That's why a garage is such an important addition to a house. Come to think of it, every house should have one so the woman could have free wheeling when she wants to change her mind.

Fair is the Forecast

While I don't pretend to be any way near as good as the woman from New England who looks at her rhododendron and can tell to within one degree what the temperature is, I have known for years when it's too cold to hang out clothes, by looking at the plant's leaves.

Every time I carry a basket of damp clothes past the bush when its leaves are curled up with the look of dead, I say to myself, "you'll be sorry."

But when they're wide open and shiny—ah, then I know there's a good day coming. Today I note there's one coming.

—o—

"A Ball of Fire"

That's what I heard Mrs. John Stevenson called the other night. I thought to myself, maybe that's what this world needs—more balls of fire.

It seems that Mrs. S. (she always seems youngish though she is a great grandmother) has always been active in P.-T.A. Now, I've looked forward to graduating from that institution but apparently that hasn't entered Mrs. Stevenson's mind. I hadn't really thought about what a good medium it would be for keeping in touch with new trends and thoughts to say nothing of keeping up with grandchildren.

This past week when Mt. Lake P.-T.A. met Mrs. Stevenson took account of the bad weather and remarked to her husband, "Oh, I don't know whether to go or not."

"After all these years, why stop now?" her husband inquired—so she went.

Now, what's running through my mind, would she be such a ball of fire if her husband wasn't fanning the air that keeps the fire going?

Court Denies County Miner's Fund Claim

Decisions of two state agencies were affirmed in an opinion filed by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Garrett County Circuit Court in disallowing the claim of Jess Perando, a furloughed Vindex miner.

Judge Harris' order affirms the decisions of the State Industrial Accident Commission and the Medical Board.

In his five-page opinion the judge noted that Perando, now more than 60 years of age, began work in the coal mines at the age of 12 and was employed by various mining companies until 1948.

His last employer was the McNitt Coal Company of Vindex, which hired him in April, 1947, to shoot and load coal. He was furloughed November 27, 1948, due to curtailment of personnel. It was not until September 23, 1952, that the Golden Clinic, Elkins, W. Va., notified Perando that he had silicosis.

The Medical Board decided the claimant did not file his claim within one year of disability and disallowed the claim. No petition for review having been filed with the State Industrial Accident Commission within the 30 days allowed by statute, the commission affirmed the Medical Board findings.

In his opinion, Judge Harris wrote in part:

"If the Medical Board and the Commission had found in favor of the claimant and the proceedings had been regular, this court would have had to reverse the award because there is not one scintilla of evidence in the record that the claimant was injuriously exposed to sand while in the employ of the McNitt Coal Company, Inc. . . ."

Steady Confidence . . . .

President Eisenhower recently told a news conference that the U. S. economy was now experiencing a transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy. He expressed the opinion that the country could make the change without serious interruption of its stability and growth.

He also called attention to one danger, which is hard for a government to control. That is the depression psychology which engulfs those who are susceptible to scare talk.

The Democrats seem to be flailing away on the depression theme. Senator Douglas is the latest one, citing temporary jobless figures, and wanting temporary layoffs included in over-all totals. There have been a number of others since last fall.

This talk by Democrats of recession and depression is in direct opposition to forecasts of economists, the attitude of practically every nationally distributed magazine, both farm and industrial. And in the middle of this new clamor there is encouragement in farm prices where a few weeks ago the administration's critics were firing away. The agriculture department reported that farm prices increased nearly two percent in the month ending at mid-January, the second straight month of higher farm prices.

It is hard to realize that there would be those who would deliberately do anything to hurt the safety and welfare of the United States, but ever since the election there are New Deal type Democrats who are seeking to convince the voters that the GOP is the "party of depression." From the ex-president on down we hear the same line. Because this is an election year it should make everyone a little more doubtful of the truth in such statements.

No one can say, of course, just what is in store. But a majority of business experts believe no real depression is in sight. A recession may be caused because of the end of the rearmament boom but the majority opinion is that such a condition will be short-lived.

What is needed, as the President suggests, is a "steady unshakeable attitude of public confidence." The business outlook does not warrant all the dire predictions which are forthcoming mostly from those who would like to be able to say "I told you so". The long-term outlook is definitely optimistic and that is most encouraging in this current adjustment.

Firemen Roll Out For Long Alarm

There was a bigger than usual turnout of Oakland firemen when the alarm blew Wednesday morning about 2:30, and continued to blow for five minutes or more.

It was the third alarm within twenty-four hours, but this time there was no fire. Water on the electric wires had caused a short circuit, setting off the fire siren and causing no end of disturbance among the firemen and townspeople until the cause of the trouble was discovered. Twenty or more firemen appeared at the fire house within a matter of minutes.

Within the previous twenty-four hour period the firemen had gone to Crellin after receiving a call about 3:30 Tuesday about a grass fire near that town, along the Terra Alta highway. The flames had been subdued by the time the truck arrived. Earlier the firemen were called to search for a lost boy.

The fourth alarm in the week was given Sunday morning during church worship service as the result of an automobile owned by Oliver Lewis being on fire near the Bray school in the Swalow Falls section. The car was badly damaged.

There is a feeling among local firemen that if there are two fires rather close together there will be a third alarm within twenty-four hours. "Seems as though that whistle just had to blow yesterday morning, whether there was a fire or not," one fireman remarked.

Vegetable Growers Select Directors

Two new directors were selected for the Vegetable Growers' Cooperative at a meeting one evening last week. They were Herbert Wildeson and Peter Pavone.

Three hold-over directors are E. R. O'Donnell, John Weber and Bob Filsinger. They will organize at their next meeting.

Members are making plans for growing cauliflower again this year and farmers interested in this program of cold weather crops are being urged to contact Mr. O'Donnell, at Mt. Lake Park, in order that needed supplies may be ordered.

Reassessment Is Proposed

The bill would accomplish a drastic change in the system of valuing and taxing property. It would not take effect until July 1, 1955. The procedure now is to divide the subdivisions into three districts, value property in one a year but keep new appraisals off the tax books until the three-year cycle has run its course.

To Seek Repeal of Law Regulating Gas Well Drilling

Scheduled for introduction in both houses of the legislature today is a bill asking for repeal of an act passed at last year's session of the Maryland legislature calling for the regulation of drilling for gas or oil in Maryland.

This is the so-called "Singewald Bill." As passed, the measure gives to the County Commissioners of Garrett county the power to reject or amend any or all regulations of the State Geological Commission insofar as they apply to Garrett County.

In the first set of proposed regulations last summer the State Commission had endeavored to set up spacing units in Garrett county of 600 acres. According to the county's legislators, this was clearly a breach of faith as they said the number of acres originally proposed and discussed before the Maryland Legislature prior to the passage of the measure was a maximum 300 acres which was in line with the acreage in the pooling units as prescribed in most of the leases in effect in Garrett county.

The County Commissioners promptly vetoed this proposal and either vetoed or amended others. Following this action Dr. Joseph Singewald, state geologist, has refused to issue any drilling permits in Garrett county, according to information released by the Garrett county legislators at Annapolis this morning. They added also that very recently one of the promoters of drilling in Garrett county had taken the measure before a Baltimore city court (not one in Garrett county) in an effort to have declared unconstitutional that portion of the law giving the right of refusal to the Garrett County Commissioners over regulations affecting this county.

Refusal of such drilling permits in the face of gas shortages and demands for increased rates by the Gas companies, clearly sets this up as an emergency, Delegate Arthur H. Green contends, and brings such an act into the realm of action in this 30-day session, he declared.

The repealer will be introduced as companion bills in both the Senate and House by State Senator Neil C. Fraley and the Garrett County Delegation, Arthur H. Green, Harry C. Edwards and George E. Coddington.

They indicated in a telephone conversation this morning that all four would devote every effort to assure its passage.

Plan Open House

An open house, honoring the 90th birthday anniversary of Francis Hamilton, will be held at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton, at Red House, on Sunday, February 21, from 2 to 5 p. m.

They are expecting a large number of neighbors and friends to call.

Red Cross Fund Campaign To Be Held In March

Rev. Olonzo P. Fike Will Again Be Chairman—Quota Set At $3,185

The American Red Cross fund campaign will be conducted during the month of March, Rev. Olonzo P. Fike, of Accident, campaign chairman, announced this week.

The quota for this year has been set at $3,185, and of this amount $1,700 will remain in the county to be used by the local chapter and $1,485 will be sent to National Red Cross headquarters. Last year's quota was $2,938.

A kick-off dinner will be held at the William-James hotel on Thursday evening, February 25, at 6:30. A film will be shown on the activities of the Red Cross during 1953. Supplies will also be distributed to the community captains.

Mrs. Grover Stemple, chairman of the blood donor recruitment program for the county, will award "gallon pins" to two persons who have contributed a gallon of blood to the Red Cross, as one of the features of the meeting.

Mr. Fike listed the following county organization in addition to himself as chairman: James Lemmert, treasurer; Willodene Evans, secretary; George H. Hanst, publicity; Thomas Cain, window display chairman; Captains—Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., Oakland; Viola Broadwater, Grantsville; Mrs. Ralph Calandrella, Kitzmiller; Lester Savage, Friendsville; Vena Beachy, Maple Grove and Jennings; Mrs. Leroy Emory, Bittinger.

He said captains for other communities would be named by next week.

Mr. Fike said persons desiring to assist in the drive would be welcomed and that they should contact their community captains. He urged the help of everyone in achieving the goal for 1954.

Court To Review Order Revoking Beer License

The Circuit Court will grant a review of the decision of the Board of License Commissioners in revoking the beer license issued in the name of Margaret Fay Sheehe, it was announced this week.

The hearing will be heard on Tuesday, February 23 and Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris will be on the bench. The County Commissioners were ordered to appear in court at that time.

The board revoked the beer license at the Manhattan hotel after five places of business accused of violating the county liquor laws, pleaded guilty when given hearings January 19, before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer. At that time James McNelis and Richard Sheehe both entered pleas of guilty to selling whiskey at the Manhattan hotel in Oakland and both were fined $500 and costs.

Three other business places had their licenses revoked and one had its license suspended for four months.

A petition seeking a review of the action of the board was filed in the Circuit court on February 9 in the one case.

Airman of Month

A/1-c TONY D. SULLIVAN

A/1-c Tony D. Sullivan, stationed with the 717th aircraft control and warning squadron, was nominated for airman of the month, according to information received by his mother, Mrs. Fannie Sullivan, of Kitzmiller. Sullivan is presently located in Alaska.

A letter from the commanding officer to Airman Sullivan informed him he had displayed character, efficiency and military bearing in accordance with the high standards of the U.S. air forces, and that his "excellent performance and initiative in carrying out your duties has shown you to be one of the outstanding members of this organization."

He was commended upon his actions as a member of the squadron. The nomination was for the month of January.

Sullivan is the husband of Mrs. Catherine Gardner Sullivan, of New Creek, W. Va.

Fund Over Top

The campaign to raise money for the support of the Boy Scout program in the Deep Creek district has gone over the top, it was reported Tuesday by John C. Forman, campaign chairman.

Forman, district finance chairman, told the monthly meeting of the Deep Creek District that the total figures would run over $700. Earlier this year the district had agreed to attempt to raise $500 as its share of the Potomac Council's $17,000 budget.

Forman expressed his appreciation for the response of the people and for the work of his various committees. It was the first time the local district had participated in the council fund drive.

Appointed Constable

Carl B. Glotfelty, McHenry, was appointed as constable by the County Commissioners this week to fill the unexpired term of Henry Patton, in district 3, who resigned.

Mr. Glotfelty was sworn in and given his commission as of February 15.

At the regular meeting of the board this week a delegation headed by William Herring appeared concerning the improvement of the Bumble Bee road between McHenry and Flatwoods. This was the same group that appeared two weeks ago.

The Board advised that the members had looked at the road on February 8 and would render a decision soon.

Two Candidates Announce This Week

Harry Paugh Is Commissioner Aspirant; Joe Welch Seeks Treasurership

The county political pot began to bubble this week and two official candidates emerged, one for County Commissioner and one for County Treasurer.

Harry F. Paugh announced for County Commissioner and Joseph H. Welch announced for County Treasurer. Both men are well known in the county.

Mr. Paugh was in the poultry business north of Oakland for a number of years, being one of the first to operate on a commercial scale in the county. He now engages in general farming and is a breeder of purebred polled Hereford cattle. For the past four years he has served as a judge of the Orphans' Court. Although his post office address is star route, Oakland, he is a resident of district No. 10 and would serve County Commissioner district which includes Deer Park, Swanton and Kitzmiller, if elected.

Mr. Welch has been a resident of Mt. Lake Park for 29 years. He is a native of Oakland, a graduate of Oakland High school and Strayer's Business college in Baltimore.

He has had bookeeping and administrative experience with the canning company in Mt. Lake Park for about twenty years while in operation there, and has been in the office of the County Roads engineer during the past four years in an administrative capacity. He feels he is well qualified to perform the duties of treasurer. He is married, the father of three children, a veteran of World War II, serving with the office of Strategic service. He asks the support of voters at the coming primary election.

With the ice more or less broken, quite a few are expected to officially announce within the next few weeks. Deadline for filing for office is Monday, April 19, according to the Board of Supervisors of Elections, and the deadline for withdrawing after having filed is Monday, April 26. The date of the primary election this year will be Monday, June 28.

Definite Move For Organizing Fair Is Effected

A definite move toward organization of a Fair association was effected at a meeting of about 50 business men and farmers last night at the Oakland fire hall.

H. G. Gortner, south of town, accepted the responsibility of serving as chairman of the committee which will assemble facts and data necessary for actual forming of an association.

Various committees were named to attend to details in exploring the possibilities for having a fair and to make a report at the next meeting.

This meeting has been scheduled for Monday night, February 22, at the Fire hall. Mr. Gortner stressed the fact that it is an open meeting, for every one interested in the project.

Wandering Boy And Rescuer

Glenn David Skipper, who won't be three years old until March 23, appeared none the worse for his experience of Tuesday when he and his mongrel pup wandered off from his home at Sand Flat and was lost in the woods and swampland for about four hours.

He was discovered about a mile from his home by William Spiker, member of the Oakland Volunteer Fire department, who was among the seventy-five or more persons who were searching for him after his mother, Mrs. David Andrew Skipper, became alarmed when she was unable to find him at any nearby place, and asked for help.

Glenn obligingly sat on Mr. Spiker's lap yesterday morning in The Republican office, but did no more than shake his head for "yes" and "no" to a variety of questions asked.

Mrs. Skipper said the boy must have wandered off with his dog around 11:15 while she was hanging up some clothes. When he could not be located either at home or at the neighbors', the Oakland firemen were notified, the Oakland National Guard unit, Trooper Robert Henline, and members of the State Forestry department.

Spiker said he picked up signs of the boy's tracks shortly after leaving the house and followed a road leading to a swamp and laurel thicket. At one time after he had halted and called, he heard crying. He continued into the brush and finally called the boy's name. Then he heard the dog bark and presently came upon the boy and dog. The child was face down in the mud and Spiker said he appeared to be exhausted. He had a scratch under his left eye and scratches on his hands but otherwise was unhurt. Others in the vicinity when the child was found were Sibert E. Skipper, uncle of the boy, Dwight Gauer and Bill Hinebaugh, of the local fire company.

Spiker said the boy had traveled at least a mile from home, had crossed two barbed wire fences, and the headwaters of Red Run. He was in a heavy laurel thicket. Later he told his mother he went out "to hunt bunnies and bear." He is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Skipper. His father is a well driller.

Mr. and Mrs. Skipper were generous in their thanks to all who had helped in the hunt.

To Build Bridge At Bloomington

The State Roads Commission will start building a $270,000 bridge over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks at Bloomington this summer to eliminate a dangerous crossing.

Russell H. McCain, SRC chairman, made the announcement yesterday, saying the bridge would be built as part of a major improvement project for the highway.

Part of the road will be relocated to eliminate a steep grade up a hill at one end of the bridge. The bridge route will start near the Bloomington School and follow the Potomac River closely over the new section of the route.

A tunnel under the B. and O. tracks had been considered but the SRC engineers figured it would be too costly.

Hearing Set Friday

Three men charged with riot and assault on Virgil Secrist are scheduled to have a hearing tomorrow, February 19, before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer in Oakland.

Those charged are Mike Ray, Chester Evans and Darrell Rohrbaugh, all of Kitzmiller. The charges grew out of an attack upon Secrist, a bulldozer operator for the E. E. Feller Coal company on Monday morning, February 1, in Kitzmiller. Secrist was severely beaten.

Thirty people began exploration of famous Crystal cave in Kentucky.

Production Of Ice Will End April 1

No ice will be manufactured at the Oakland plant of the Imperial Ice Cream company after April 1, according to E. Paige Hickman, local manager.

Hickman said the decision to stop ice production was made necessary by a leak in the brine tank, which makes it impossible to maintain the proper brine level. He added that the tank could not be repaired.

March Of Dimes Now Totals $4,229

The collections from the March of Dimes have reached a total of $4,229.37, it was announced yesterday by C. L. Briner, campaign chairman. He said there were still some areas to report but that he would have a complete breakdown of the figures by next week's issue of The Republican.

This is the highest amount ever collected and tops last year's figure by almost $1,000. Last year's total of $3,271.59 was the highest up to that time.

To Seek Bids On Hospital Addition

The Board of County Commissioners, at its meeting this week announced that plans and specifications for the proposed hospital wing should be completed by the end of this month and that bids for the construction would be sought about March 1.

More Stolen Property Is Recovered Here

Fisher Makes Rounds Again After Confession Includes Additional Robberies

Additional stolen property from hardware stores in Pennsylvania and Delaware was recovered in Garrett County Tuesday and the certainty of clearing up a series of robberies in those two states seemed certain.

Fortified with a confession from Bernard Rembold that he had been implicated in at least four burglaries and wherein he listed his purchasers, Sheriff Paul W. Fisher made the rounds and collected six more power saws, a 30-30 rifle, 2 electric toasters, 7 electric irons, 2 tires and rims for a big trailer, an adding machine, and other equipment.

Fisher said that now, instead of the two places named last week, one in Philadelphia, and one in Frederica, Del., two more reported as having been burglarized, one a hardware in East Stroudsburg, Pa., and another hardware in Kennett Square, Pa. Items stolen from the four stores were valued in the neighborhood of $20,000, Fisher said the owners told him.

Fisher was credited last week with cracking the Philadelphia robbery case involving the theft of eight power saws, sanders, circular saws, a radio, and other equipment. At that time Rembold was arrested, waived extradition and was returned to Philadelphia to await trial.

Fisher explained this week that Rembold's confession had definitely implicated George Allen Pace, of Thomas, W. Va., who was arrested and taken to Delaware about three weeks ago. Rembold admitted, Fisher said, to having been a part of all four robberies that began October 29 in East Stroudsburg and continued to December 4. Fisher said at least one power saw was sold here as early as Hallowe'en, October 31.

Fisher said his trail of recovery led from the State line south of Red House, all the way to Friendsville, and that a dozen or more persons were involved. These persons were required to give up the articles, and in addition will lose the amounts which they paid for them, as Fisher said neither Pace nor Rembold had any money about them when apprehended.

Fisher also accompanied Pennsylvania and Delaware officials to parts of Preston and Tucker counties Tuesday to locate persons whom Rembold listed as having purchased articles. Besides the items collected yesterday there were also bicycles, radios, guns, clocks, mixers, tools, and even boots and shirts. The latter items had been lifted from the Delaware store and apparently were sold in Tucker county.

Here in Oakland Tuesday were Travis Seese, assistant chief of police of East Stroudsburg; Pfc. Alex Kern, Pennsylvania State police, located at Stroudsburg; Pfc. John Peacock, Pennsylvania State police, located at Avondale, Pa.; and Detective Buhl McCoy, of the Delaware state police.

Fisher said the trail of goods may lead to Ohio and possibly other states, and others may be implicated. He said practically all of the items had either been recovered or at least located. Only one of the four stores was not covered by insurance.

Mercury Reaches 70

In the winter and summer weather of the past week the temperature ranged from near zero to 70 degrees.

When the mercury reached 66 degrees on Monday people were wondering about records, but when it shot up to 70 on Tuesday, they were sure of it. Any such conclusion, however, was incorrect.

Government records at Weber's south of town, show a similar temperature in February of 1939.

The lowest reading of the week was recorded Saturday morning when it dipped near the zero mark. Weather moderated Sunday and continued warm Monday and Tuesday. Rain began falling Tuesday evening which turned to snow on Wednesday morning. About an inch fell, and the mercury dropped to the 20's this morning.

COMMISSIONERS PRO-TEM—Donald Evans, John Brown and Dixon Nace were commissioners (for the time being) for Garrett County last Saturday morning from 9 until 12 o'clock. All are members of the Explorer troop of the Oakland Boy Scouts and the experience was part of the scout anniversary week celebration. The older scouts or explorers took over the operations of the county, while the younger scouts took over the duties of the town of Oakland. All scouts and explorers were told how the various county and city offices operated, and in some instances they were put to work solving some of the problems that arose. On other pages of today's issue will be found pictures of others who participated. All offices were filled by regular election at meetings prior to Saturday. (Republican Photo.)

Telephone Company To Improve Local Office Equipment

Expenditure of $23,400 Authorized—Work Began On Monday

The addition of needed equipment in the Oakland office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company of Baltimore city, installation of which began on Monday, February 15, is calculated to provide more facilities for all types of service in the Oakland area, it was announced by Richard K. Dayton, local company manager.

The company has authorized an expenditure of $23,400 for the job. When the work is completed the new facilities are expected to eliminate entirely the problem of slow dial tone, which is evident at numerous times at present because the dial equipment is working at capacity.

The work will require several months to complete, and installation work is being performed by Western Electric Company.

Dayton said at the present time the Oakland office was placing approximately 700 long distance calls per day, and that 600 calls are received from other offices and processed by Oakland operators.

An average of 205 calls are answered by the information operators each day from persons requesting telephone numbers and other information. An additional 1,000 calls are answered by the operators by persons dialing wrong numbers, numbers not in existence or changed, special assistance, persons requiring code numbers on party lines, etc., Dayton pointed out.

Local calls placed by subscribers average between 10,000 and 11,000 per day. Consequently, he said, the dial equipment is operating at capacity, especially during the period from 9:30 a. m. until 2:30 p. m. It is during these hours that most persons experience slow dial tone. He suggested that by placing calls before 9:30 a. m., and after 2:30 p. m., where possible there would be less delay to many persons.

Upon completion of the installation of the additional equipment Mr. Dayton felt that all difficulties in making calls would be eliminited.

He left here about 40 years ago and married Miss Emma Eiler, who is affiliated in business with their two sons, who own and operate "The Sport Center," corner of Maine and Broadway streets in Union Bridge.

Tax Redistribution Bill Stirs Fight

A bill was introduced in the Maryland Legislature last week which proposed to take some taxes away from Baltimore City and three counties and redistribute them to the 19 others.

Introduced by Delegate Whitworth, of Allegany county, the measure stirred up a fight.

The bill takes out 13 words and inserts 66 in a section of the tax laws relating to utilities, savings banks, building and loan associations, trust companies and railroads.

The change of 53 words would result in the redistribution of well over one million dollars of taxes. Many legislators didn't realize this until a breakdown of the redistribution appeared.

Whitworth's bill would change what amounts to the personal property tax on corporations. They now pay their taxes where their home office is located, although they have facilities scattered throughout the state. Whitworth would have them pay to the counties or cities where the property is located. "Why should I pay a tax on my telephone in Allegany county to Baltimore City?" asked Whitworth.

Since most of the corporations involved have their headquarters in Baltimore, the city stands to lose $1,159,000, according to estimates furnished by the State Tax Commission. Besides Baltimore City, Frederick county would lose an estimated $101,500; Wicomico county, $67,600; and Garrett county, $1,000. The State Tax commission estimated the 19 other counties would gain, Allegany's estimate was $63,666.

Discussing Problems Of Municipal Government

AROUND COUNCIL TABLE—Eddie Haupt, Dale Humberson, Bobbie Michael and Kenneth Martin, four Oakland boy scouts, sat around the city council table Saturday morning for three hours as they "took over" the duties of the regular councilmen. They decided they wanted more street lights, curbs repainted, the overhead bridge on South Third street made safer and some improvements made to the new skating pond on South Third street. They also wanted dogs licensed within the city limits, and a snow plow to clean the sidewalks of Oakland in winter. These and other measures were discussed during the morning session. They failed to vote themselves 50 cents for lunch as has been the case in former years. Humberson was president of council. All were elected at an earlier scout meeting during Anniversary week. Two councilmen were absent on account of illness, Dorris Updyke and Billy Stemple. (Republican Photo.)

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life

By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

SPECTATOR

YOU can be a spectator of life, but you'll not get much of a thrill.

Our movie and television producers miss very little these days in making films seem real. After seeing an adventure picture of the South Pole, someone remarked how much the expedition party must have suffered. Then he added: "But I hadn't suffered. I had enjoyed two hours entertainment sitting back in comfort and warmth in that theatre."

Seeing and reading a thing are good, but the actual doing is better. The spectator sees most of the game, that's true, but the player gets the thrill.

This is true in the religious life. There are people satisfied with a second-hand experience. They don't enter into it. You don't have to apply for membership in their crowd. You can have the thrill of the real thing by refusing to be just a spectator, the word that can can change your life.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

The American taxpayers are being told by the Administration's budget-makers in Washington that government expenses cannot be cut to the estimated $62.6-billion which the Federal government will receive in taxes for the 1954-55 fiscal year. Therefore another year of operating on borrowed money is proposed.

This means lifting the national debt above the $275-billion statutory limit, inflating the currency, and again making the taxpayers pay interest on borrowed money to operate the government. It means other things—none of them pleasant to think about.

When war seems less likely than at any time in recent years, there seems little justification that our government can't operate on $62,642,000,000, especially when there are so many places where common sense economy would save billions.

The job for Congress is to whittle about $3-billion of the $65.6-billion expenditures recommended in the President's budget message. Would that be so difficult? Not if hard-headed common sense is applied and petty political expendiency is ignored. The vast majority of the American people want the Federal government's expenses drastically cut; they want their tax bill cut; and they want the budget balanced—now. Any political pressure sidetracking these objectives is not important, in my opinion, to the political future of any present office holder.

Here are just a few places where some money can be saved: (1) cut 365,000 civilian government employees from the 2,365,000 pay roll. This would save approximately $2-billion. (2) reduce by one-third the force of 1,680,000 American GIs overseas—in 49 foreign countries. This would save $6-billion (this overseas force is now costing us $18.4-billion). (3) cut $2.5-billion or $3-billion from the $5.4-billion requested for "military" and "economic" aid to foreign governments.

These cuts would total $10.5 billion—and only $2.9-billion in cuts are needed to balance the budget. However, it is apparent that any such reductions won't be made unless citizens in the tens of thousands, demand it of their representatives in Congress. We need to keep the statutory ceiling on the national debt where it is, and perhaps fix a peacetime ceiling for the Federal payroll—at about 1,500,000 civilian employees.

Southern Drops 2nd Contest to Thomas

Southern High's Highlanders dropped their second contest to Thomas High school in a hard fought battle last night at Thomas. The final score was 57 to 52, after a nip and tuck contest.

The victory enabled Thomas high to close its regular season with a 15-6 mark. It was the second straight loss by Southern to Thomas as the Oaklanders dropped a 54-52 decision last week.

Charles Durbin was high for Southern with 19 points, while Friend scored 16. Huffman and Waitkus paced the victors with 17 and 15 points respectively. Southern lost its 9th game in 17 starts.

Scoring: Friend 16, F. Colaw 8, Durbin 19, Savage 7, Stemple 2. For Thomas—Sowers 12, Waitkus 15, Quattro 8, Huffman 17, M. Quattro 2, Wise 2, Evans 1.

Southern scored 20 field goals compared to 21 for Thomas and shot 12 of 19 fouls, compared to 15 of 25 for Thomas. Thomas led at the quarters 17 to 14, 26 to 25, and 44 to 39.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission

Babyish Performance

The Democratic leadership in Congress is achieving a new eminence. It is rapidly qualifying for first prize as the great unconscious humorist of the year. This is another way of saying that, aided by the propagandists of the Democratic National Committee, it is coming highly ridiculous.

—o—

The basis of this allegation is the obviously contrived and co-ordinated tirade of various more or less conspicuous sDemocrats, including Senator Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota; Sen. Lyndon Johnson, of Texas, and others who broke out this week in violent and pained protests about the terrible Republicans who have been calling them—or their party—names. On the floors of the Senate and House, in various syndicated columns and over the air there have been loud and lugubrious echoes. Some of these gentlemen have beaten their breasts and thundered bitter warnings that unless President Eisenhower at once repudiates these Republican villains, casts them out of the Republican party and personally apologizes, no further help whatever could be expected for his program from these besmirched, besmeared and justly angry Democrats.

Another group, instead of being indignant and denunciatory, chooses to pose as terribly hurt and bitterly disappointed that the President should have "let them down." And, of course, it was impossible for the highly repetitious and publicity-craving Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon, who bolted the Republican party in the last campaign and now calls himself an "independent," to keep out of such a congenial uproar. It is true that very few persons pay much attention to anything that Senator Morse says these days, but he could not resist an opportunity to grab the headline or miss a chance to assail the President.

At his most recent press conference the President expressed himself in disapproval of the extreme speeches that had been made and as hoping neither Administration officials nor the Republican Committee would contribute further to partisan bitterness. Vice President Nixon has taken the same stand. This would seem to put an end to the weeping and wailing. It does not, however, alter the fact that the Democrats have put on perhaps the biggest crybaby act that has been presented in national politics in years. The essence of the Democratic bleat is that Governor Dewey, Senator McCarthy, Attorney General Brownell and others have indicated that the recent Democratic administrations were touched by treason, graft and corruption. These allegations are not new. They have frequently been made since the cases of Alger Hiss, Harry Dexter White and other traitors in high places were uncovered. So, too, has there been vigorous and general comment upon the numerous petty mink-coat, deep-freeze, etc., grafters of the Truman regime. In addition, the tax fraud and other charges, made on the Senate floor by Senator Williams, of Delaware, have neither been challenged nor answered.

—o—

Considering all this, the sudden sensitiveness of these Democratic leaders to these old charges is somewhat amusing. No one wants to defend the uncontrollable and irresponsible McCarthy, but the names he and others have been calling the Democrats are mild in comparison with those used by that famous name caller, Mr. Truman, in his "give-'em-hell" speeches and letters since 1948. And when it comes to name calling, there have seldom been lower depths reached than those achieved by the Democrats in their years of villification of the now universally respected Mr. Herbert Hoover, who never once whimpered or bleated.

—o—

However, all these things appear to have disappeared wholly from the memories of these indignant and hurt Democrats who are calling upon General Ike personally to repudiate, eliminate and apologize for these rude Republicans. To repeat, their attitude is silly—and they ought to feel cheap. As to the threat or warning that unless Ike does repudiate, etc., the Democrats will not support any part of his legislative program, there is a very simple answer. Unless they believe in what he proposes they should not support it anyhow—regardless of McCarthy and the other name callers for whom he, of course, is in no way responsible. Furthermore, it may be asked what kind of game these wounded and inflamed Democrats think politics is, anyhow? It, of course, would be splendid if there were no name calling, no exaggeration and no bitterness in either party at any time. But no such national campaign can now be recalled. While certainly two wrongs do not make a right, nevertheless it does seem a little absurd for party leaders whose name-calling record has never been excelled and whose last two Presidents were accustomed to call liars all those who differed with them or whom they just disliked, to become so emotional when some epithets are applied to them.

Hyndman High Tops Northern 69 to 44

Hyndman High school won handily over Northern High School at Hyndman on Tuesday night 69 to 44. Allen Georg scored 11 points to pace the Huskies.

For Hyndman Bagley scored 24 points while May, one of the district's leading scorers, had 13, one of his lowest game totals.

Hyndman jumped away to a big lead at the quarter, 28 to 7, held a 43 to 17 advantage at the half and increased it to 57-29 at the end of the third period. Northern scored fourteen field goals and 16 of 39 fouls, while Hyndman made it 30 field goals and 9 out of 27 fouls.

Scoring for Northern were Selby 3, Wright 5, Swauger 7, Hershberger 2, Georg 11, Baker 2, Murphy 7, Bender 6 Savage 1.

Home Sweet Home

Not So Humble Now

A century ago when John Howard Payne wrote "Home, Sweet Home," the average dwelling was indeed humble . . . no central heating . . . oil lamps . . . few bathtubs . . . water from the well heated on the kitchen coal stove . . . a musty, dark icebox . . . a seldom-used "parlor".

Today's average home isn't so humble. It has automatic central heating, a gleaming automatic range, refrigerator, and many other work-saving appliances. Water pours from taps in kitchen and bathroom automatically heated. The parlor has become a living room with radio and television.

Today's higher standard of living calls for greater home protection. If you have not recently reviewed your life insurance program, make sure that, whatever happens to you, your family can maintain the home with its comforts and conveniences.

Call a Woodmen representative to help you analyze your protection and, if needed, select the safe, sound Woodmen certificate that best meets your needs.

Here are the reasons why . . .

New style—more beauty of line, contour and color—with stunning new Bodies by Fisher and luxurious new modern-mode interiors.

New power—more pickup, more passing ability, more smoothness and quietness of operation with either of Chevrolet's two advanced 1954 engines—the thoroughly proved "Blue-Flame 125" engine teamed with Powerglide (available on all models at extra cost) or the thoroughly proved "Blue-Flame 115" engine!

New economy—yes, even stronger gasoline savings—because both of these great high-compression engines are designed, engineered and built to wring more power from every charge of fuel.

Come in . . . see and drive the new 1954 Chevrolet . . . and place your order now!

Appeals Court Reverses Ruling

The Maryland Court of Appeals ruled last Friday that trustees of the $369,000 estate of the late Daniel E. Offutt of Oakland should decide how much allowance his son should receive.

It reversed the Garrett County Circuit Court decision by Associate Judge George Henderson which increased the 23-year-old University of Maryland student's allowance from $200 to $300 a month.

Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff said in the opinion that Offutt's will reflected "caution" in allowing the trust income to come into the youth's hands and "clearly expressed the intention that the trustees were to have absolute power and discretion in fixing the amount."

Daniel E. Offutt III receives $2,000 a year in life insurance and bonds in addition to the allowance.

When the case was argued before the appeals court last month, William J. Gunter, Cumberland, represented young Offutt, and William C. Walsh, Cumberland, was attorney for the trustees. Trustees are Attorneys William R. Offutt and Neil C. Fraley, of Oakland.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Z. R. Knotts To End Teaching At Southern In June

Sends Resignation To Superintendent

Z. R. Knotts, mathematics instructor at Southern High school for the past nine years, has sent in his resignation to, R. Bowen Hardesty, superintendent of schools, to become effective at the close of this school year.

He and Mrs. Knotts, who now reside in the Rudy Apartments on Second street, plan to move to their new home in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, sometime after the middle of June.

Mr. Knotts has been in the teaching profession for forty-five years, all but nine years in West Virginia. Prior to coming to Maryland he had been associate professor of sociology and economics at West Virginia Institute of Technology, Montgomery.

He began his teaching career in the rural schools of Preston county where he remained for three years. He was then successively at Clarksburg High school, principal of West Milford High school; principal of Benwood-McMechen high school; supervisor of Union district school at Benwood, and principal of Woodrow Wilson senior high school at Beckley.

Asked about his plans for the future he said, "I never expect to retire. Association with young people has kept me young." He added that there was a full or part time teaching position awaiting him in Myrtle Beach High school, whichever he wished. He declared he had enjoyed his nine years of teaching in the high school at Oakland.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

I Couldn't Believe My Eyes

I can't think of anything that has made me gaze in wonder as much since the day I saw the horseless carriage wheeling down the dusty road, as the night I saw "This Is Cinerama."

I had heard only a few things about it and more or less tossed it off as 3-D, or Cinemascope, or a new kind of movie. But I never dreamed it would have such an emotional or spiritual effect upon me.

"It will take something out of you," I was told. It did! But it gave something to me that I have not quite gotten over.

In the first place, "This Is Cinerama" is not a movie. It's an illustrated lecture by Lowell Thomas that moves us into a new era.

Now the scientists have given given us another invention; this time the waves reach us and tap a new sense—that of feel. Like the radio and television it makes us appreciate more than ever the completeness of this universe.

Even the senses of sight and sound are greatly improved over anything else we have ever witnessed through projection, but it's the sense of feel that is the predominate thing.

Why, when I took that roller coaster ride—I took it! Make no mistake about it, and when it was over I was hanging on to my seat, limp.

But it wasn't until I was in the gondola in Venice that I felt that God had me in his big strong hand saying, "Can't you see? I left part of it up to man."

To me, Cinerama will give us new experiences like nothing else has ever done. Entertainment? Yes. Culture? Yes. World Travel? Yes. Understanding? Yes.

What's ahead for our world is a thrilling speculation. Surely this thing that has been invented or inspired is part of God's plan for us to appreciate His world.

As I worshipped in a large cathedral, listened to a boys' chorus in Austria, saw America by plane, I couldn't help but wonder if perhaps Heaven wouldn't have more for us than golden streets and pearly gates.

It's In Your Hand

The hand seems to play an important part in rearing a family. The discussion that followed the debate at Southern P.-T. A. on whether or not "Parents spend enough time with their children," was full of puns and punch.

When one parent aired a problem another replied, "You didn't get the upper hand at the right time."

Or said a little differently, "a pat on the back sometimes does more good when applied below the waist."

—o—

We Hope

There's nothing wrong with the younger generation that 20 years won't cure."

But then, think of the problems they'll be having.

—o—

Isn't It The Truth?

When Jean Ridder got on her feet for the last word in the rebuttal of the debate she said, "I want you to think about one question. If parents do not spend enough time with their children, why do they heave such a sigh of relief when the child starts to school?"

—o—

But here's a point for these teenage debaters to ponder. When they're in their teens, why is it that parents heave a greater sigh of relief when they come in than when they go out?

Thomas High Wins By Two Points, 54-52

Thomas High School's quint came from behind in the final period last Thursday night to eke out a 54-52 decision over Southern High school in the first of a two-game series. It was the seventh straight triumph and a season record of 13 wins and four losses for Thomas. The loss still gave Southern a fifty-fifty record with 8 wins and 8 losses.

Thomas jumped off to an 18-8 lead in the opening period by hooping nine shots in ten tries from the field. The Tucker countians led at the half 30-24 but trailed going into the final stanza, 42-40.

Charles Durbin, Southern center, hung up a new school scoring record with a 23-point effort that upped his season total to 347. The previous record of 335 points in a season was made by Harland Kelley in 1948. Friend got 17 points on seven field goals and three fouls.

Sowers, Waitkus and Huffman dumped in 13 points each for Thomas while Quattro had an even dozen. The latter fouled out in the last quarter.

Oakland led on field goals 21 to 20, but lost at the foul line, making good on only 10 of 25 attempts. Thomas shot 14 to 27.

Scoring: Southern—Friend 17, F. Colaw 4, Durbin 23, Savage 1, D. Colaw 3, Stemple 2, T. Colaw 2. Thomas—Sowers, Waitkus, Huffman, 13 each; Quattro 12, M. Quattro 3. Non-scoring were Smith and Wise.

Lease Forest Area For Public Hunting

Nearly 4,000 acres of Garrett county forest land, comprising some of the finest deer hunting territory in Maryland, has been turned over to the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, to be used as public hunting lands.

Blaine Frantz, Friendsville, has leased lands in the Salt Block and White Rock sections of the county to the commission for ten years, without charge, according to Dale H. Arner, Frostburg, wildlife field superintendent for the commission.

The agreement allows the commission to administer the land, with permission to cut and clear 10 percent of the total area for seeding of grasses and legumes for wildlife administration.

The management division of the commission has sent a crew into the new public hunting area to cut second growth trees of poor commercial value for emergency supplemental browse for a large herd of deer which have been found in the area.

Arner said the tract also contains two of the better trout streams in the state.

Frantz told Arner that he felt that opening of such areas would give hunters some place to hunt, rather than ganging up on nearby farm land. The area was posted against hunting last year.

District Warden Theodore Thoerig and Arner have been contacting owners of large tracts of forest lands in recent months in an effort to buy or lease the areas to the Game and Inland Fish Commission, to be used as public hunting lands. Arner termed Frantz's offer a "very large gift to the sportsmen of Maryland." Cooperation of other conservation minded land owners, he said, would give sportsmen of the state a hunting paradise. Interested landowners are urged to contact Mr. Arner at 39 West College avenue, Frostburg.

Organized New Homemaker Club

Organization of the Mountain View Homemakers' club was recently completed, according to Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent. Miss Grove and Mrs. Clarence Rollman, county council president, met with a group in December to complete plans.

At the January meeting they elected Mrs. Alvin E. Beachy president. Others named were Mrs. Forest Lee Jacobs, vice-president; Mrs. Cecil Sebold, secretary; Mrs. John A. Menges, treasurer; Mrs. T. H. Taylor, clothing chairman; Mrs. Clyde Bowman, culture and music; Mrs. Emerson Sebold, family life; Mrs. Lloyd Kamp, foods; Mrs. Harold Butler, health; Mrs. John A. Menges, home furnishings; Mrs. Charles R. Watts, home management; Mrs. Cecil Sebold, membership.

Other members are Mrs. Edward Wisseman, Mrs. Harold Hetrick, Mrs. Irvin Baker and Mrs. Cleve Ashby.

Miss Grove said the group was made up of families living in the Keyser Ridge and Negro Mountain areas. A few of its members had been members of the Mars Hill club, but the new organization made it more convenient to attend.

The club will meet every third Monday at 8 p. m., and is scheduled to meet February 22 at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Kamp.

Other Homemaker Meetings

Commercial Classes To Include Course In 'Phone Etiquette

A course in telephone etiquette as it relates to business contacts, will be offered in the Commercial classes at Northern and Southern High schools, it was learned this week.

An introduction to the course was given at a meeting last Wednesday evening, February 10, at the William-James hotel in Oakland. A similar course was developed previously by the C. and P. Telephone company through one originated and designed by Chauncey R. Tatum, of the company.

It consists of a telephone amplifier kit with two dial telephones. It permits two students to converse while the rest of the class listens to the amplified conversation. The kit also contains a teachers' manual, a student's manual, and work sheets.

Richard K. Dayton, local telephone company manager, said commercial teachers of the county had felt the need of a course in proper usage of the telephone as related to business contacts, and F. D. Bittle, junior-senior high school supervisor, recently asked the company to make available to them materials and information for such a course. The meeting last Wednesday was arranged by Bittle and Dayton. Also attending were Mr. Tatum, who conducted the introduction to the course, Miss Elaine Wise and Thomas Cook, Northern High school; Ervin S. Smith and F. DeNeal Dean, Southern High school.

The manual to be used, "Good Telephone Usage," spells out telephone etiquette for various business offices and includes 23 cases of unsatisfactory and then pleasing versions of conversations applicable to present day working conditions.

Mr. Tatum explained that "today the telephone is an integral part of every phase of business operations. It permits the instantaneous communication of intelligence, and hence, in the interest of speed and efficiency, is used for buying, selling, obtaining quotations, making reservations, checking credit, acquiring information, transmitting orders and other applications." The course also makes use of sound movies to be loaned by the telephone company.

The time spent on the course will be up to the commercial teachers, who will work it into other phases of the learning process.

The twelve women in Congress will ask voters to return them to their jobs in elections this year.

State Bar Lists Essay Contest For High School Pupils

County Winner To Receive $50.00 And Compete For $500 State Prize

An essay contest in which a state-wide winner will receive $500, was announced this week by the committee on American Citizenship of the Maryland State Bar association.

The county contest is being conducted by the Garrett County Bar association, with Lewis R. Jones as chairman of the committee. W. Dwight Stover is assisting him.

Five county prizes also are being offered. The First National Bank of Oakland has offered a $50 Savings bond for the best essay in the county, and the Garrett National Bank in Oakland has offered two $25 U. S. Savings bonds, for the best essay in Northern High school and Southern High school, other than the county-wide prize winner. The First State Bank of Grantsville has offered two $25.00 Savings Bonds for the second best in each school other than the county-wide prize winner.

The subject of the essay is "Our Liberties Under the American Bill of Rights." The phases of the subject to be included in each essay are (a) a brief historical background of the American Bill of Rights (first ten amendments to the Constitution of the United States), (b) the rights and liberties guaranteed us under the American Bill of Rights, and (c) the value of these rights and privileges to every American citizen today.

The length of the essay is limited to a maximum of fifteen hundred words.

The prize winning essay in each county, and the six best essays received from Baltimore City are to be submitted to the Secretary of the Maryland Bar association not later than May 1, and the best of these twenty-nine essays, as determined by the state-wide judges, will be awarded the $500 prize. The deadline for submitting the county essays to the local committee is April 1.

The contest is open to any high school student at Northern or Southern High schools. Essays are to be typewritten.

The state-wide winner will be a guest of the bar association at its meeting in Atlantic City in June, where the winner will be officially announced. Local judges are R. Bowen Hardesty, county superintendent of Schools; George H. Hanst, editor of The Republican, and Charles C. Nathan, Grantsville.

A Baltimore Negro was named assistant State's attorney of Baltimore City.

Court Must Settle Ownership of Boat

A confusing chain of ownership of "My Holiday," a 17-foot inboard motor boat used on Deep Creek Lake, was revealed last Thursday in the Circuit Court of Allegany county as Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris heard the evidence in a $1,000 suit over the boat's ownership.

Robert Kern, of McDonald, Pa., through attorney S. R. Pagenhardt, of Oakland, sued Francis Cosgrove, Frostburg, for $1,000, charging that the latter had converted "My Holiday" to his own use illegally. Attorneys Walter C. Capper and Donald W. Mason represented Cosgrove.

At the trial it was revealed that Kern and Howard Weter, who lived near McDonald, together assembled the boat and shared in its ownership. They used it for a time on Deep Creek Lake. Subsequently Weter sold the boat to a Robert McCann after representing himself as sole owner of the boat.

McCann, thinking he had sole ownership of the boat, subsequently authorized the operators of a boat club on Deep Creek Lake to sell it for him. They sold it to Cosgrove for about $900, which was considered a fair price. Kern never got any money for the boat, although Cosgrove did pay for it.

Judge Harris said he would think over the confusing case and would write an opinion settling the ownership of "My Holiday."

Cosgrove Must Pay

In an opinion filed the following day Judge Harris instructed Cosgrove of Frostburg to pay Kern, of McDonald, Pa., $450 for his half interest in the boat.

In concluding his opinion Judge Harris also stated "It is quite probable" that there is a criminal violation involved in the intricacies of the proceeding. He said he was transmitting to W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney for Garrett county, a copy of the opinion for "appropriate action." He suggested that the parties involved in the boat dispute extend to Stover their full cooperation.

387,850 Trees Are Planted in Area Forests In 1953

There were 387,850 trees planted in the state forests of Western Maryland last year, a report of District Forester William H. Johnson, showed.

About 324,000 were planted by machine and about 59,000 were planted by hand on steep or rocky areas where machinery could not be used.

A breakdown reveals that 6,600 were placed at Swallow Falls State forest; 35,000 at Potomac Manor state forest and 346,000 saplings at Savage River state forest.

With last spring's planting the reforestation projects at the Potomac Manor and Swallow Falls forests are nearly completed. In these two forests there remains only a small acreage of land that needs reforestation.

However, at Savage River forest several more years of planting is needed to cover denuded land, at the present rate of reforestation.

British research men established a definite but complex relationship existing between heavy smoking and cancer of the lung.

Ford's New Ball-Joint Suspension gives you the Newest Ride on the Road!

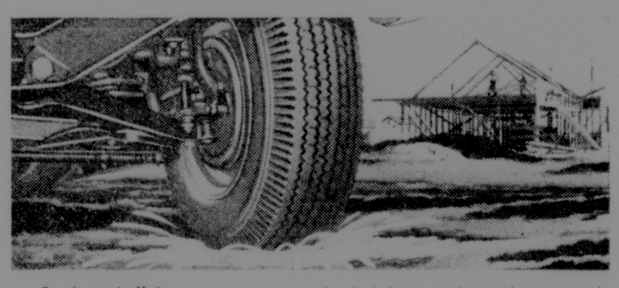
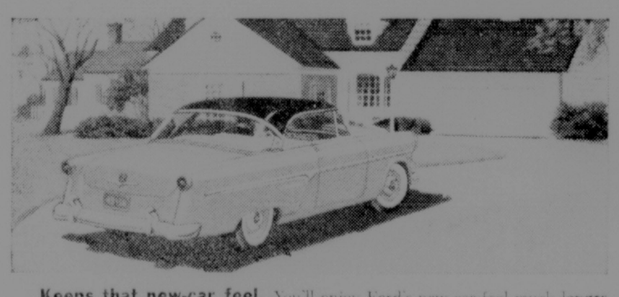
This revolutionary new Ford front suspension soaks up road shock before it reaches you! Makes all riding and handling easier!



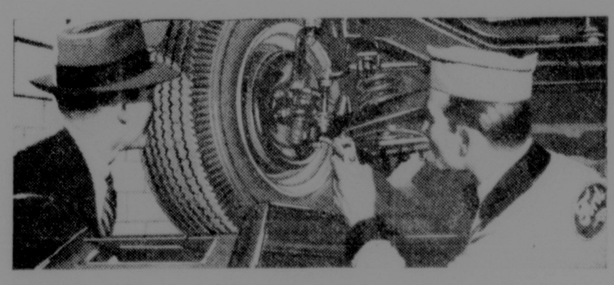
Seals out dirt. You can forget road splash because dirt and water can't get into the ball joints in Ford's new front suspension. Each of the four joints is effectively sealed by a unique rubber-and-metal shield. This means that contact surfaces of each ball and socket remain clean—wear is kept to a minimum.



Keeps that new-car feel. You'll enjoy Ford's new-car feel much longer because ball joints are spring-loaded to compensate automatically for any wear. Front wheels hold alignment far longer than with conventional systems. Ball joints can't stick or bind. Steering remains consistently easy.

THE "OLD" ROADS won't seem the same with Ford's new Ball-Joint Suspension "paving" the way for you. You'll enjoy a softer, more level ride because Ford's new system allows greater shock-absorbing movement of the front wheels. Handling is far better, too, not only on turns but on the straightaways as well. That's because conventional kingpins have been replaced by simple, sealed ball joints that won't stick or bind. No other car in Ford's field can equal this modern ride—because no other has Ball-Joint Suspension.

Agile new performance, too, is yours in a '54 Ford. Whether you choose Ford's new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 or 115-h.p. I-block Six you get the quick response and smooth, quiet operation of a modern overhead valve, low-friction deep-block engine. And no matter which of Ford's 28 new models you choose you enjoy recognized style leadership—with clean, modern lines . . . sparkling new colors . . . and harmonizing upholstery fabrics and trim.



Eliminates 12 wear points. Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension eliminates 12 of 16 points of wear found in conventional systems. Rubber-bushed supports at inner ends of suspension control arms not only reduce the number of wear points but also insulate chassis from road noises.

We cordially invite you to Test Drive a '54 Ford

With Your Congressman
DeWITT S. HYDE

With the Republicans having fired the opening guns of the Congressional campaign in their Lincoln Day speeches, it is apparent that there will be quite a slugging match right down to November.

With less than a year of their own record to boast of, Republicans are still beating down hard on criticism of past Democratic Administrations and Congresses. This has brought a complaint from some of former President Truman's supporters in the Democratic Party that Republicans should start talking more about their own record.

When the Democrats urged President Eisenhower to caution Republican spokesmen against intemperate statements, they told the President they could not support his legislative program if the attacks continued. It looked like the might become an innocent bystander who could be injured in the argument. That, I think, is what prompted him to suggest that everybody take it a little easy and tone down their partisanship.

Democrats are not willing to give it to a long period of Republican control in Washington. Republicans are not willing to give up what they won last year. Since the parties are so evenly matched in the House and Senate now, the 1954 campaign will be like a heavyweight prize fight, with the ex-champion trying to regain his title, and both fighters weighing and measuring the same. The outcome will depend on skill and strategy.

There are just two techniques of campaigning—boast about your own record and criticize the opposition's. Every member of the House and one-third of the Senators who are up for re-election this year are going to determine what proportions of these two techniques to use. Each candidate will talk in his district about things he thinks his constituents are interested in. Nobody will refuse to support President Eisenhower's program unless he thinks his constituents are not in favor of it.

It will be a noisy campaign, in Maryland and all over the country. Personally, I will debate the issues as I see them. My opponent will do the same. That's been the American way for nearly 200 years. It seems to be a pretty good system.

For the past 21 weeks, I have been broadcasting a weekly commentary on the news to the people of the Sixth District over four radio stations. Now, a fifth station, WASH-FM, in Silver Spring, has joined in carrying the broadcast every Monday at 10 a. m. The other stations are WDYK in Cumberland, at 10:55 p. m. Mondays; WARK in Hagerstown, at 9:25 p. m. Mondays; WFMD in Frederick at 7:30 p. m. Tuesdays, and WGAY in Silver Spring, at 12:25 p. m. Saturdays. I invite you to tune in to these broadcasts.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Scripture: John 9.
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 2:11-22.

The Best Proof

Lesson for February 21, 1954

HOW do we know Christianity is true? How do we know Jesus was right? How do we know religion is not a very fancy illusion? It is a fair question. When E. Stanley Jones was talking about his Christian faith to a group of professors in a great university, one of them rose to ask him: "How do you know all this is not a hallucination?" "Well," said Dr. Jones, "if religion is a hallucination and I am crazy, then I am thankful; for this 'insanity' has done more for me than all the 'sanity' I had before." Dr. Jones did not suppose that he could answer all the riddles about religion that any one can think of. But he did know Jesus and he knew what Jesus had done for him. G. Studdert-Kennedy was another thorough-going Christian. At the end of a poem on "Faith" he says something like this: "You think Christianity is an argument, but it is not. It is a choice; and I choose Christ."

Dr. Foreman

'One Thing I Know'

The Bible story for this week tells about a young man who did not claim to know much. If you had put him into a modern theological seminary he could not have passed an examination in "Christology" to save his life. In fact, it seems doubtful whether he would even be admitted to membership in some orthodox churches today. The theological experts of his church, the Pharisees, in fact tried to grill him. They tried to confuse him, they wanted him to admit that Jesus was a fake, a liar, all the bad things they kept saying he was. But the young man stuck to one point. He does not seem to have been well educated. It may be doubted whether he could have met those Pharisees in a formal debate. But he stuck to his one point. "One thing I know, that though I was blind, now I see." The best proof that Jesus was right, that Christianity is true, is not arguments from books, it is the argument from people. It is what Christ has done for them, it is the difference between what they were before they met Jesus and what they were afterwards.

Samples

In an American seminary the same year, studying for the Christian ministry, were a Japanese and an African. Their ancestors did not speak the same language. Only a few years ago the father of the Japanese boy was an officer in the Japanese army fighting the Americans. Neither he nor his wife was a Christian; but after the father's death the boy came to know some Christian missionaries, and now instead of an errand of death his aim is to return to his own people on an errand of life. "I can see now," the young man said, "that Japan was wrong." Christ had opened his eyes to a way of life, and of truth, which has changed his whole life and will change others. As for the African, a few generations back his people were as far from Christian as the Japanese officer. Then some one thought it worth while to tell the story of Jesus in Africa . . . and now this boy, son of native African Christians, is another demonstration that Christianity is true. You would not have found it safe to sit down with some of his ancestors (nor with some of your own, for that matter!); but you would be glad to have him in your Sunday school class.

* * *

Prevention Mission

Not all the "samples" of Christianity are as dramatic as ex-cannibals, or sons of former idol-worshippers. For every "rescue mission" there are many "prevention missions"—for the ordinary little church is just that. Consider what a community would be without the church, consider what the church members would be without their religion. Granted that church members do not live up to their possibilities or their professions. We do not want to tear down the hospitals because they do not cure all the diseases. We do not abolish medicine because some people take it and are not quite cured. We know the world is better for hospitals and medicines, imperfect as they are. So we know that Christianity does work. We do not see great saints every week, more's the pity. But you do not have to look far from your own home to see some living proofs that Christ has power.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

During the past several months, a Senate Internal Security Subcommittee "task force", of which I am chairman, has been engaged in a series of hearings devoted to the problem of communism in labor organizations. These activities will culminate this week with additional testimony from government, labor, management and public representatives concerned with the merits of legislation I have introduced, intended to deal with this serious problem.

The courts have held that the Congress clearly has the right to require that labor organizations be free from communist domination or control. The remedies to meet this problem thus far advanced have proven inadequate. My bill would amend the Internal Security Act of 1950 and would utilize the extensive experience gained in the general field of communism by the Subversives Activities Control Board. This proposal would have the effect of supplanting Section 9 (h)—the communist affidavit provision—of the Taft-Hartley Act, with the Subversives Activities Control Board, rather than the National Labor Relations Board as the regulatory authority.

In considering any form of labor legislation, it must be remembered that through the exclusive bargaining agency concept established by the Wagner Act and the Taft-Hartley Act, the government bestows a privilege or license upon a labor union rather than reaffirms a right inherent to any labor organization. The creation of this extraordinary privilege, coupled with a congressional finding that there exists a world communist movement dedicated to the overthrow of this government characterizes this problem as one of clear and present danger to the national security, in which there is an over-riding public interest. Several allegedly communist dominated national unions still hold strategic positions in industries essential to our national defense.

The vast majority of the workers in plants controlled by communist unions are, of course, loyal Americans, and much has already been done by groups of organized labor to expose and expel from their midst those who would betray this country to the international communist conspiracy. But the job has not been completed, and it is a continuous, tedious, and painstaking process which, like the preservation of liberty itself, requires eternal vigilance.

The desire to eliminate this evil situation is not enough. It is not a partisan issue, for it transcends partisanship. The problem requires the combined efforts of the free labor movement, industry, the public at large and adequate legal machinery in proper hands. My bill places upon the alleged communist dominated union the burden of coming forward and proving that it is eligible to receive the special benefits and privileges accorded by the Taft-Hartley Act, rather than play into the hands of the Communist Party, whose tactics of protracted litigation are notorious.

It is my deep conviction that the adoption of my amendment to the Internal Security Act of 1950 will provide the great free labor movement in America with the practical machinery it has long sought, to purge itself forever of the small but united minority within its ranks which is a part of the Kremlin-inspired treacherous international conspiracy dedicated to the suppression and subjugation of the entire free world.

Concert Team Will Bring Own Pianos

Nelson and Neal, the piano duo team appearing at the Southern High cafeteria on Friday evening in the second concert of the season of the Family Concerts association, will bring their own pianos along on tour. They not only bring them —they tune them.

They have developed into an exact science the process of packing their instruments as well as unloading and reloading them, so that there is never the question of "How is the piano" when they arrive in a strange town.

Traveling in a specially-built truck, Nelson and Neal not only have their two matched grand pianos in the "back seat" but also space left over for a full-width sofa bed, coffee table, cabinets, dressing room with curtains, and almost all the comforts of home.

The couple has a daily routine that includes unloading pianos, one hour; tuning pianos, three hours; concert, two hours; reloading pianos, one hour. Out of the hundreds of thousands of miles traveled, Nelson and Neal have had only one accident, amid a snowstorm in Missouri in November, 1951. No one was injured. They are planning bigger and better transportation facilities to provide dining and sleeping quarters for themselves and a driver.

Try this great NEW gasoline in your car

"TOTAL POWER" ESSO EXTRA

The best gasoline you can buy!

You can have absolute faith in NEW "TOTAL POWER" ESSO EXTRA. It is a new product development of the famous Esso Research Center. It has peak octane power . . . with three great additives that give you protection against knock, protection against stalling and protection against valve sticking. Here is a gasoline engineered to meet the total power and anti-knock requirements of even the highest-compression new cars. No other gasoline now available to motorists has a higher octane rating than "Total Power" Esso Extra. For millions of older cars it means better working horsepower and better total engine performance. If you've tried it, you know what we're talking about. It is the finest gasoline made by the Esso Standard Oil Company in its many years of leadership . . . it's by far the largest-selling premium gasoline in the area served by Esso Dealers. See your Esso Dealer for a tankful today.

LATEST TRIUMPH OF ESSO RESEARCH!

TOTAL POWER means:

• PEAK OCTANE POWER to kill off knocks and pings • POWER for quick starting in any weather • POWER for fast warm-up • POWER to resist cool weather stalling • POWER to take steep hills in stride • POWER to pick up swiftly from a standstill • POWER to get the most possible working horsepower from any engine under today's all-round driving conditions

KNOCK AND PING in millions of cars are completely stopped by the peak octane power of this great new gasoline, particularly in the overwhelming majority of new cars and especially those with high-compression engines.

FULL PERFORMANCE is made possible for many other new cars which now have their sparks deliberately retarded to prevent knock.

COOL WEATHER STALLING and power loss caused by carburetor icing are effectively combated by an anti-stalling ingredient. Esso Extra was the first fuel to give you this extra value.

BETTER MILEAGE and better all-around performance can be obtained in short trip, round-town driving this winter by motorists who formerly used "regular" gasoline.

Eisenhower will ask Congress to give American private industry permission to develop atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Eisenhower asked a group of State governors to go to Korea and appraise the situation there for benefit of the American people.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

The Congress has been in session just short of two months and despite partisan criticism the accomplishments are better than many past sessions.

President Eisenhower delivered his State of the Union Address on January 7, and immediately followed that by sending a series of special messages to Congress. The President's recommendations have been reduced to legislative proposals and referred to proper committees.

This is a brief progress report on the status of ten Presidential recommendations.

1. Mutual security pact with the Republic of Korea. This has been ratified by the Senate.

Legislation taking away citizenship of persons convicted of conspiring to overthrow the government by force and violence. Bills prepared and now being studied by committees.

3. The budget. Reduced expenditures by five billion and now Congressional committees are making an intensive study of the entire budget, and will undoubtedly propose other reductions.

4. Taxes. President Eisenhower made 25 specific tax recommendations and the House Ways and Means Committee is making a study of the entire internal revenue field.

5. Agriculture. Probably has provoked more comment and discussion than most other recommendations so far, and is now being carefully studied in committee.

6. Post Office. The President recommended passage of pending legislation establishing new rates on first, second and third class mail and the House committee has voted to report the bills out of committee.

7. Labor. Amendments to the Labor-Management Relations Act of 1947 have been drafted and the committees are hearing the views of labor and industry.

8. Health. Congress and the Administration are definitely opposed to any form of socialized medicine, but recommendations for Federal re-insurance of group plans are being studied.

9. Housing. Special message to Congress covered the housing field and legislation has been prepared which will shortly be studied in committee.

10. Statehood for Hawaii. A bill granting Statehood for Hawaii has now been agreed to by the committee, and will undoubtedly come before the Senate in the very near future.

This partial summary of the legislative progress after only seven weeks have gone by of the second session of the 83rd Congress indicates that it should be a constructive period.

The Lincoln-Jackson Day Dinner will emphasize partisan disagreements and the sound and fury generated will make it appear that Congress is getting little, if anything, done. But all the time in the more quiet atmosphere of committee rooms constructive legislative work is being done.

Two Teams Remain Unbeaten In League

The Blue Devils won over the Silver Streaks 16 to 15 with Wesley Lane and Darwin Friend as high scorers respectively. Ruff's Housers won over the Cardinals 12 to 10 with Bowen Hardesty and Jerry Wine as high scorers.

Games will continue on Saturday morning.

TAKE OVER HENRY'S DUTIES—Henry McRobie, left, and Carroll Miller, Jr., took over the duties of Police Chief Henry Arnold on Saturday for three hours. The work was limited to filling out a number of pink slips for the automobile owners who had overstayed their parking privilege without providing that extra cent or nickel. Accident P.-T.A. Hears One-Act Skit

Northern High Students Present Program on Monday Evening

Northern High school students presented the entertainment at the regular meeting of Accident Elementary P.-T. A. on Monday evening, February 15. The program was arranged by Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle.

Janet Beachy served as stage manager with Audrey Ault as property manager. Doris Ohler had charge of costumes and assisted Ault.

There was also a group of vocal selections by the "Glee Co-eds," girls from the music classes at Northern High, under direction of Miss Lou Brock. The group included Eleanor Georg, June Green, Karol Rush, Donna Yommer, Kay Hare and Deloris Wright. The latter gave a piano selection, Misses Yommer and Green sang a duet and the entire group sang several selections.

Mrs. M. E. Franke, president, had charge of the business meeting and also gave a brief history of "Founders' Day," and what effect it has had upon the present-day school program.

Acknowledgement was made of the five electric record players which the P.-T. A. presented to the school the past week. March of Dimes total in the Accident school was $37.30. Mrs. Ethel Siebert was in charge of the hospitality committee which had charge of refreshments. The Valentine theme was carried out.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

In the February 5th edition of Collier's magazine is an article all of us should thoughtfully read. It is called "Speak Out, Silent People," and is written by Howard Whitman, who was sent by the magazine to report on our public schools, all over the country. He has been assigned to make a long-time study and will write future articles.

I read the article through once, then twice, a habit I have when I really want to understand something.

After the second reading, I am convinced there will be two very extreme reactions to it. First, there are the gloom and doom people (the ones who find no merit in anything). They will say, "See, I told you our public schools are just plain lousy." Then there are the so-called progressive educators (all the rest of us are much too old-fashioned, in their opinions). They will say our schools were never better, and that the parents who dare question their opinions and methods are really quite greedy people, who are complaining because the schools cost too much. I have already heard that one. Personally, I do not believe either one is true.

Even if we don't agree with everything that is said, try reading it with an open and honest mind. It will cause you to think.

The editors say American education has drifted into the greatest crisis in its 300 year history, and that even our country's future may depend on what we do about it now. They say many parents are discovering that their children no longer are being given the basic education needed to face today's problems, let alone enter college. Some children were taught only how to print, not to write script, and were unable to read it when they saw it. Censorship is reaching into the classroom to ban objective study, even of such American supported organizations as the United Nations. Those were quotes from the editors.

Mr. Whitman found that what sometimes appears like a surface argument, say over the 3 R's actually goes to the core of our constantly evolving philosophy of living. Wrapped up in arguments over laxity of discipline, are the most pointed differences in philosophy and morals. A debate over abolition of report cards, stems from fundamental views about competition, incentive and reward not only in school but in life.

One man thought competition and achievement should be encouraged, not discouraged, for he knew the adult world rated people on what they accomplished—not on how satisfactorily they were doing what came to them easily. For these statements, he was branded as an enemy of the schools. That actually happened.

Robert Hutchins, former Chancellor of the University of Chicago, writes in his new book, "Conflict in Education," that the modern trend "has ended in the concept of the educational system as a gigantic play pen in which the young are to amuse themselves until we are ready to have them do something serious."

As a parent, deeply interested in our public schools, I believe some of these charges are true, and we cannot brush them aside.

I do not mean in any way to discredit our many fine teachers or the many fine things our schools are doing, but I do believe we have made some tragic errors, one of them being to eliminate competition on a scholastic level. Competition is the spur that helps us to do our best, and the loss of it, I honestly believe will reduce our thinking from a standard of excellence to one of mediocrity.

Since our editor has been kind enough to print this column, I am sure he understands I will not write anything I do not actually believe. My sense of intellectual honesty would allow me to do no less. I have talked to many parents over the county who think as I do, about school problems.

Next week, I want to give a few of my own reactions to this thought provoking article. Your comments would be appreciated.

County Is 15th In Bond Sales

Garrett county residents purchased E and H bonds totaling $25,687 during January, it was announced in a report from the State chairman. The county ranked fifteenth among other counties. The county's quota for the year is $371,000.

Total sales of E and H bonds in Maryland for January were $5,507,074, by far the highest month in sales since the H bonds became available in June, 1952.

Information from the national office showed that January purchases of E and H bonds nationally of 487 million, 670 thousand, was up 10 percent over the corresponding period last year. Maryland sales were up 4 percent for the same period.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

We deeply appreciate the kindness of many people who helped us get adjusted after fire destroyed our home on the Loch Lynn-Deer Park road on December 5. Material for a two-room addition to our temporary home, much other material, clothing and other items were given and many neighbors and friends assisted in constructing the two rooms. We are so thankful for this generosity on the part of others.

BITTINGER

There are many gems in lifes path,
Which we do not pause to measure;
They are richer far than a jeweled crown,
Or a miser's hoarded treasure.
It may be a smile with kindness fraught,
Or the ripple of childish laughter,
For these are the gems that tarnish not
That shine through all the hereafter.

The Womens Missionary Society of the Lutheran congregation met last Sunday evening in the church auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Glotfelty, Miss Lucile Glotfelty and Mrs. Raymond Klotz, of McHenry, attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Mary Martha Ferguson, at Fairmont, W. Va., last Friday. The deceased was a native of this community, and departed this life on her ninety-second birthday.

The usual flow of sugar water, expected at this season of the year, has not yet started, and likewise the usual run of political candidates anticipated has not yet appeared.

Miss Ruth Zeller, of Oakland, visited in this community, Thursday of last week.

Clonzo Fike, of Accident, was a business caller in this neighborhood one day last week.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 77 — OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., FEBRUARY 25, 1954 — PER COPY, 8c. — NUMBER 52.

Game Reactions . . . .

We had a number of reactions to the event of Tuesday evening at Northern High school gymnasium.

We liked the way the young boys were going about parking automobiles as we approached the school. We were particularly pleased when we were greeted in such a friendly manner as we entered the lobby of the gymnasium—not that we were expecting anything unfriendly, but we just never thought of being greeted officially going to a basketball game.

We liked the attitude of the officials who endeavored to seat everybody. We thought the referees did a good job. We appreciated the efforts of the cheerleaders of both sides and the splendid job of playing by the Northern High school band.

We gloried in the spirit of both teams and how hard they fought for their particular school. We are strong for competition all along the line. We expected the friendly feeling to continue after the game was over—and it did.

Have we forgotten something? We sure have. We've a complaint. The two gymnasiums so recently completed ARE NOT BIG ENOUGH. Really it's nobody's fault in particular. Who would have dreamed that fifteen hundred people would try to attend a basketball game between the two high schools of the county? But Tuesday's turnout is indicative of the great amount of interest generated by this two school system.

We have a suggestion. It concerns what is yet to be built on the opposite ends of the two schools—the auditoriums. As citizens we can surely visualize the tremendous possibilities of an auditorium at each school capable of seating at least 2,000 people. As yet the two schools have no place where the entire student body may assemble. There is no adequate place to hold the annual commencement exercises. There is no adequate place for expression in dramatics, glee clubs, music recitals and pageants. These are just a few of the things we must think about right now and resolve to do something about it. We must not let up on the importance of obtaining the auditoriums at the very earliest moment. And when we build them, let's make them big enough. In the meantime somebody might have a bright idea on how to increase the seating capacity of our gymnasiums.

To Get 50-Year Pin

Santford Moon, of near Hutton, (above) will receive a fifty-year jewel at the anniversary meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge on Friday evening, February 26, in Castle Hall, Oakland. He became a member of the lodge in 1904.

Four twenty-five-year pins are to be presented also, to H. D. Maffett, S. W. Graham, W. H. Teets and H. L. Schell.

The occasion marks the 65th anniversary of the local lodge and the 91st anniversary of the national organization. Also observed as Ladies' night, a crowd of 250 or more will gather for the affair.

Grand lodge officers will attend and there will be a group of variety entertainers from Cumberland. The program, to begin at 8 o'clock, will be in charge of Walter W. Dawson, toastmaster.

Majority Of Stolen Property Recovered

Practically all of the hardware items stolen from the four stores in Pennsylvania and Delaware have been recovered, it was announced by Paul W. Fisher, sheriff. Quite a large number of items were recovered in this county.

The final batch of items was brought in on Tuesday to the sheriff's office, and Fisher noted that most of those who had purchased the stolen goods either knowingly or unknowingly, had cooperated fully in returning the items. He said of the fourteen persons from this county involved in purchasing the goods, only one had blamed him and the ones who had sold the goods.

Technically charges of receiving stolen goods could have been preferred against these people by the owners. The owners, however, in several cases, offered to dispose of the property at cost.

Honor Society to Gain 12 Members

The Northern High School chapter of the National Honor society will induct twelve new members at an assembly program next Tuesday afternoon, March 2, in the school gymnasium at Cove. The program will begin at 1:15.

The twelve members include seven seniors and five juniors.

Speaker will be R. Bowen Hardesty, county superintendent of schools. The senior high chorus will provide music for the occasion. The arrangements are being planned by five seniors who are the present members of the honor society.

The public is invited to attend.

The National Honor society was organized for the purpose of recognizing outstanding scholarship and achievement. Eligibility is based on a "B" average and a recommendation by faculty members. Members are judged on character, service and leadership. Membership is limited to 15 percent of the senior class and 5 percent of the junior class.

STRUGGLE FOR POSSESSION—Five members of both teams struggle for possession of the ball under Northern High's basket during one of the tense moments of Tuesday night's game, while three others are poised for action. Identified in the picture are Savage No. 12, Southern; Stemple No. 3, Southern; Murphy 91, Northern; D. Colaw No. 5, Southern; Hershberger No. 81, Northern; Friend No. 4, Southern; Wright No. 86, Northern. Another player is completely hidden and is probably Durbin, Southern. Northern won the encounter 65 to 49 before 1,500 howling fans.

Northern Quint Spills Southern

Fifteen Hundred Crowd Into Northern Gym To Witness Contest

Northern High, the county's class "B" representative, provided a big surprise at Cove Tuesday night by upsetting Southern High school of Oakland by the score of 65 to 49.

The victory enabled Northern to avenge an 81-58 loss at the hands of the Highlanders at Oakland on February 2.

Approximately 1,500 fans crowded the Northern gym to see the contest and at least 100 were unable to get inside the gymnasium doors. The outcome of the game left the county championship race in a tie with each school having won one game.

Southern drew first blood when Durbin fired in a field goal on the opening tip-off and in the early minutes led 9 to 2. Northern soon started clicking and was behind only two points, 11 to 13, at the end of the first quarter. Scoring fourteen points in the second quarter while holding the opponents to seven, Northern forged ahead 25 to 20 at the half, increased its lead to 44-35 at the third quarter and kept pouring in the points in the final frame, outscoring Southern 21 to 14.

Lambert Wright led the Northern attack with 19 points while Georg was not far behind with 17. Murphy had 15, Hershberger 12, and Swauger 2 to complete the scoring.

Charley Durbin was high man for Southern with 21 points while Larry Friend was next with 13. Durbin, high scoring center, was kept bottled up most of the evening and appeared nervous at the foul line where he connected for 9 out of 15 attempts. Others scoring for Southern were F. Colaw, 3, Savage 8, Stemple 1 and D. Colaw 3.

Northern poured in 25 field goals and 15 of 25 foul attempts, compared to 15 field goals for Southern and 19 out of 36 fouls.

Between halves of the main game the Northern High school band performed with drills and lively numbers, while the majorettes gave an exhibition of their skill in handling the batons.

In the preliminary contests the two schools split. Southern Jayvees won their encounter in a close and exciting game, the final score being 38 to 37. In the opening game the Northern junior high team defeated Southern junior high 45 to 28.

Southern has two more regular games on its schedule prior to the tournament in Cumberland in March. Tonight the Highlanders will meet Bruce High of Westernport, Allegany's class "B" champions, and on March 2 will meet Mt. Savage. Both games are at home. Southern, the county's class "A" representative in the tournament, will play Frederick high school.

To Seek Bids on Kitzmiller Bridge

George E. Coddington, member of the House of Delegates, said that in a conversation with Russell McCain, chairman of the State Roads Commission, he had learned that the commission definitely will advertise for bids for construction of a highway bridge over the Potomac river between Kitzmiller and Bloine, and that bids would be sought by early March.

The bridge will be 28 feet wide, with side walks on each side, and will cost in the neighborhood of $200,00, it was thought. The project is in cooperation with the State of West Virginia, each state to pay its proportionate share.

A new approach to the bridge from the Maryland side will eliminate two dangerous turns, it was stated.

Weather Spring-like

Weather during the past week was spring-like for the most part. There was some rainfall Wednesday and a slight rain Saturday night and early Sunday.

The balance of the week the weather has been clear and cloudy upon occasion and temperature from heavy frosting in the mornings to moderate throughout the day. Today was clear and cool.

Power Interrupted

What was described as "switch trouble" at the West Maryland Power Company substation near Eglon caused an interruption of service in some sections last evening shortly before six o'clock. In Oakland, some users were without electricity for about 45 minutes, while others experienced a drop in voltage for a like period.

Weather Brings Recollections Of Events Of Forty-Two Years Ago

Was Twenty Degrees Below Zero—Two Fires Battled

The balmy weather of Monday, February 22, Washington's birthday, for some unknown reason, made some older residents of the community turn their thoughts to that very same day forty-two years ago—1912—when it was twenty below zero and there were two damaging fires in Oakland. It was the same day that four Oakland gentlemen, heading for Deer Park, were lost in the snowstorm and were found next morning half frozen.

Digging back into the files of The Republican we re-record the following excerpts:

"With the wind blowing a gale exceeding 30 miles an hour, snow flying in blinding clouds with the thermometer away below the freezing point and a fire raging in the central business portion of town was a combination before which Oakland's fire lads stood, fought and—won!

"The alarm was given about five o'clock when fire was discovered in the store of Mr. Truman West, located on Railroad street, adjoining the stores of D. E. Offutt and Sons on the west and the Ravenscroft building on the east. (Now Rudy building and Gonder building.) . . . In a short time the hose reels and hook and ladder trucks were at the scene and three lines of hose were playing upon the fire. The fire was finally subdued but not until it had been communicated to the Offutt building. A rear window in the Litzinger building (now Gortner) was burned through. . . . Loss to Offutt and Sons was occasioned more on account of water.

"Two or three hours after the West fire a second alarm was given when the new home of D. M. Dixon, Second street, recently erected by N. U. Bond (now owned by the Howard Turners) was discovered burning. With characteristic energy although almost exhausted from the efforts expended at the earlier fire the firemen were soon on the ground and had two streams of water playing on the burning building. After an hour's hard work brought it under control. The building was badly damaged, while the contents were ruined. Insurance carried by Mr. Dixon will cover the loss.

Recalling the event Monday Harry L. Stemple said the wind blew with such force that it blew the water back on the firemen and froze on them. The fire was finally subdued by hoisting a hose to the roof of the Ravenscroft building and pouring water down on the flames.

Sleighers Frozen

"A sleighing party composed of Messrs. A. A. Nally, Harper Bartlett, John Sweeney and James Howell left here in a two seated sleigh for the home of Thomas Garrett, a mile and a half east of Deer Park where they spent the evening as Mr. Garrett's guests and later started for home. By some means they got on the wrong road when they were overtaken by the storm which developed in this section about ten o'clock and which blew a gale from that time on. The sense of direction was evidently lost by both the driver and the horses and the men becoming chilled lost consciousness and all four were found this morning in an unconscious condition several miles north of Deer Park, near the home of Charles E. Miller who took the party to the home of Robert Hamill and a physician called to attend them. Messrs. Nally and Bartlett had their feet frozen and are in serious condition."

Hearing Postponed

A hearing on the application of Genevieve D. DeWitt for a permit to sell beer at her Lake View motel at Deep Creek Lake, scheduled for February 15, has been postponed on account of the illness of the president of the Board of License Commissioners. No definite date has been set, according to word from the Commissioners' office yesterday.

The application for a similar license some time ago was refused upon objections of its location being near the Deep Creek Baptist church.

Similar objections are being raised again and Dr. Paul Parker, pastor, and Rev. William C. Rogers, of Mt. Lake Park Baptist church, both stated this week they had petitions with many names ready to present to the Commissioners when the hearing is held, opposing issuance of the license.

The Mt. Top Ministers association also opposed the application on the property which lies across the highway from the Deep Creek church.

Rev. Rogers said that a large group of citizens also planned to ask the county legislators to introduce and pass a measure prohibiting the sale of beer and other intoxicants within one-quarter mile of any church or public school in the rural area of the county and within 500 feet of any church or public school in any city, town or village.

Youth of Kitzmiller Jailed at Kingwood

An unidentified juvenile from Kitzmiller was among four young men arrested February 12 in Preston county, W. Va., after an Albright plant employe had told police he was beaten and robbed by four youths the evening before.

The juvenile gave his age as 17. The other three were identified as Jack Fultz, 21 and Lyle Wolfe, 19, both Terra Alta, W. Va.; and Lester McCrobie, 21, of Kingwood.

They are being held under bonds of $1,000 for their appearance before the Grand jury in Preston county on March 9. The juvenile was being held under $500 bond.

The victim was identified as F. J. Davis. He said he had been robbed of $316.

Arrangements Made For Lenten Services

Arrangements have been made by the Mountain Top Ministerial association to conduct Union Lenten services in Oakland at three of the Protestant churches, St. Paul's Methodist church, St. Mark's Lutheran church, and the Church of the Nazarene.

Pastors of churches in nearby areas are participating, since two churches are without regular pastors at present.

The first service is scheduled next Wednesday evening, March 3, in the Lutheran church, with Rev. W. S. Patterson, Methodist pastor, preaching on "John (the Baptist) the Man who Went Before."

The theme to be followed throughout the Lenten period is "Followers of the Christ." Sermons will be on Peter, John, Matthew, Thomas, and Judas.

The March 10 service will be at the Church of the Nazarene with Rev. William A. Renn, Lutheran pastor at Red House as the speaker. Assisting in the Lenten program will be Rev. Paul S. Parker, Deep Creek Baptist pastor; other speakers will be announced.

The three-hour union Good Friday service will be held this year in the Methodist church.

House Approves Utility Tax Bill

A plea to the majority Democratic delegates that the Republican governor might capitalize on their action failed to sway the House of Delegates yesterday from approving redistribution of taxes on capital shares of public utilities.

The plan to go into effect three years from now passed the House 63 to 46.

The tax change was sponsored by Del. Whitworth, Allegany county. Twenty counties will gain money from it. Garrett will lose $1,000. Whitworth's plan would provide that taxes on capital shares of public utilities be based on location of property. Payments are now based on location of the home office.

Scout Leaders To Meet

There will be a meeting of scout leaders of Potomac Council at Potomac State college, Keyser, W. Va., this evening at 7:30 p. m. All chairmen of the Deep Creek district operating committees and unit committees are expected to attend.

Mt. Top Ministers To Meet Monday

The Mountain Top Ministerial Association will meet in St. Paul's Methodist church on Monday afternoon, March 1st, at 2:30. Final plans for the observance of the Lenten Season will be announced. The program will be presented by Dr. W. S. Patterson and will be the review of the autobiography of Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed entitled "As I Remember." This program was held over from the last meeting due to special business. It is expected that a large group of the county's ministers and those from nearby communities will be present.

Beer License Review Now Goes To License Board

Attorneys agreed last week to an arrangement which will bring the order revoking a beer license back to the Board of License Commissioners.

Attorneys agreed to dismiss the appeal from the previous board action, and the Attorney to the Commissioners agreed to give Margaret Fay Sheche a hearing before the board. The date for the hearing was set for March 2nd.

The hearing will determine why the class D beer license No. 723, issued by the Board to Mrs. Sheche should not be suspended or revoked for violation of article 2B of the annotated code of Maryland (1951 edition.)

The board revoked the beer license at the Manhattan hotel after five places of business accused of violating the county liquor laws pleaded guilty when given hearings January 19, before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer. A petition seeking a review of the action of the board was filed in the Circuit court on February 9 in the one case.

To Address Meeting

Dale Arner, of the State Game Department, of Frostburg, will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Garrett County Conservation association next Tuesday evening, March 2, at the fire hall in Oakland.

Mr. Arner will discuss the deer situation in this county, of which there has been much talk in recent weeks.

Annual World Day Of Prayer Scheduled

The World Day of Prayer will be observed in Oakland at the St. Matthew's Episcopal church on Friday, March 5, beginning at 3 o'clock p. m. All church groups in the Oakland vicinity are invited. It is being sponsored by the Oakland Council of Church Women.

Mrs. Vernie Smouse, local chairman of the Christian World Missions, will be in charge. Mrs. William W. Grant will present the theme, "That They May Have Life," and others who will participate are Mrs. James Lemmert, Mrs. Delbert Bittinger, Mrs. Paul S. Parker, Mrs. Allen S. Paugh, Mrs. Robert D. Henline, Mrs. Willard Swartzentruber, Mrs. Stanley Ashby, Mrs. N. A. Coplin, Mrs. Kenneth Ridder, Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mrs. Gordon Mealy, Mrs. Veryl Weimer and Mrs. Beeson Snyder. Mrs. Donald R. Sincell will be organist.

Mrs. Thornton Deffinbaugh will briefly outline the story of the beginning of the World Day of Prayer movement. Home mission projects will be presented by Mrs. Alfred J. Haines. The work being done in the foreign field will be told by Mrs. Randall Prince.

There are eight United Councils of Church Women in Maryland which will be meeting for a similar service at the same time. Mrs. Smouse termed this program perhaps the "greatest ecumenical demonstration in the world today, for on this day women, regardless of denomination, creed, nationality, race or color meet." Men and young people also take part.

Mrs. Earl S. Lee will serve as registrar for the day, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Milton Tucker.

Students to Visit College Campus

A group of Southern High students interested in drama have made plans to visit the West Virginia university campus at Morgantown to see a production of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Members of West Virginia university dramatics classes will be cast in the play. The date of the trip is set for Saturday, March 13.

Members of the speech class and a core class which have been studying Shakespeare's works are expected to make the trip.

File For Re-election

Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh, Councilmen Maurice Brookhart, Harry L. Stemple and William D. Rees, and treasurer, Miss Julia A. Rowan, all have filed for re-election, it was learned this week from Arthur Lawton, clerk-collector for the town of Oakland.

Last one to file was William D. Rees, who filled out the necessary papers Tuesday afternoon.

Today, Thursday, February 25, is the final day for filing for any municipal office. The town election will be held on Monday, March 8.

Mr. Lawton also reminded persons who have not previously registered that the last day any person may register prior to the election is Saturday, February 27. Any eligible person may register at the city hall during any day that the office is open, as the result of a law passed at the last session of the legislature.

The Mayor and members of the Council serve for two years. The treasurer serves for one year. Hold-over members of the council are Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Donald M. Browning and Emeric Dusic, who have another year to serve.

Two Others File

Carroll E. Miller, proprietor of Carroll's Sport Shop, filed as a candidate for city council yesterday afternoon.

Robert Maroney filed for Council at 11 o'clock today.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Fairness Is Not Enough

There seems to be a growing number of propagandists and politicians in Washington whose settled policy is to deal with the American people on the theory that they have very little sense, less memory and no humor. Or, perhaps, it is the propagandists themselves who are devoid of these qualities. At any rate the present output over the air, in the press and by way of the so-called "party literature" is of a silliness that has hardly been exceeded in our political history.

—o—

Reference is to the current effort to scare the President by picturing the professional labor bosses as "displeased," "opposed," "dissatisfied," "disturbed," "angry," "hostile" and "resentful" because of the Administration's proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley law. As a result of these emotional upheavals in the stalwart bosoms of the labor bosses, we are told that the Eisenhower effort to "appease" them has failed, that the prospects are that both next fall and in 1956 the "forces of union labor" will be lined up against the President. The preparations of both CIO and AFL to do this are given in detail with particular emphasis upon the amount of money each intends to raise to overthrow the "enemies of labor" and elect for president next time a "friend of labor," by which they seem to mean Mr. Adlai Stevenson.

—o—

In brief, we are solemnly warned that General Ike's inability "to appease" Mr. Walter Reuther, Mr. George Meany, Mr. James Carey, Mr. David Dubinsky, Mr. David Beck, Mr. Michael Quill and others of the widely advertised labor bosses, means that the Republicans in the 1954 elections not only will lose what little control of Congress they now have but that Mr. Eisenhower will be ignominiously defeated in 1956. That is the only possible deduction that can be made and it is, of course, an unfounded deduction, evolving total disregard of the fact that all these labor bosses were unitedly and vociferously opposed to Mr. Eisenhower in 1952 and were so overwhelmed that no one was able to point to any section where their influence was potent enough to count in the result.

In the light of their complete political impotence at that time it is almost incredible that they should be able to repeat the same threats and the same denunciation time after time and time after time with the expectation of being taken seriously. Nor does it reflect credit either upon the radio and newspaper commentators who seriously treat these denunciations as news. In fact, it does not reflect much credit upon the intelligence of the reading public that these repetitions can be made year after year and year after year without seeming ridiculous. Certainly it should be unnecessary again to recall that in addition to their general defeat in 1952, the late Senator Taft took them all on in his last Ohio campaign and showed them up as powerless to deliver the rank and file of the unions.

The fundamental fact to remember when these labor-boss outbursts occur is that practically without exception they are—and have been—an important segment of the Democratic party since the late Mr. Roosevelt first lent his name and position to the recruiting of the CIOI back before the 1936 election. They are today—and have been for nearly twenty years—part and parcel of the Democratic party, able to veto or dictate national nominations and secure party adoption of whatever legislation they want. In brief, the Democratic party is their party and they are not very far from being the actual Democratic leaders.

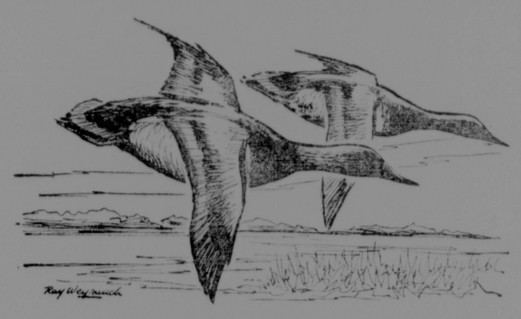
If they had a good word to say of Mr. Eisenhower, it would be a little more surprising than if one came from Senator Humphrey, of Minnesota; Senator Sparkman, of Alabama, or Chairman Mitchell, of the Democratic National Committee. They know—these labor bosses—that General Ike is a real friend of labor and wants it to be treated fairly. But that isn't enough. They want more than that—much more. They want to run both parties and the country. They came pretty close to doing exactly that under Roosevelt and Truman. When the noble Mr. Stevenson caved in to labor-boss pressure soon after his nomination and echoed the labor bosses' demand for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, thus accepting their view that it was a "slave labor" law, it was equivalent to stating that the Roosevelt-Truman policy of complete subserviency would be continued if he were elected.

—o—

The election of General Ike put an end to that kind of White House favor. But, of course, there is no end to the desire of the labor bosses to see it restored. What they are "disturbed," "amazed," "dissatisfied," "resentful," "angry" and "hostile" about is not that they can't get a fair deal under General Ike, but that they can't get the servility they were accustomed to from Presidents. But that is one of the things the American people voted against in 1952.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME AND INLAND FISH COMMISSION



CANVASBACK

(Aythya valisineria. Derivation, "aythya" meaning diving, and "valisineria" meaning wild celery.)

RANGE: The Canvasback is one of Maryland's most prized ducks. It breeds to a limited extent in the northwestern states and winters along our coast with large numbers remaining in the Chesapeake Bay and some of its larger tributaries. Because of the abundance of wild celery in the Susquehanna Flats, this is a favorite area for the "Can."

BREEDING: Male courts duck by throwing back head and by "some pursuit. Nest of weeds surrounded by water, down-lined. Eggs 7-15, olive gray. Incubation by duck, 28 days; young, deep yellow. One annual brood, beginning May-June.

HABITS: Believed to be one of the fastest flying ducks; clocked at 72 m.p.h. from an airplane. Most nests contain eggs of the ruddy duck or redhead, but Canvasback is not known to lay in nests of other ducks.

MANAGEMENT: For a diving duck, its proportion of animal food is small. Favorite food is wild celery which makes its flesh superior and accounts for its specific name. Illegal market hunting, drought, drainage projects, and overshooting have decreased numbers. Creation and management of impoundments, and planting of grains and aquatic plants is doing much for the "Can" in Maryland.

VALUE: Possibly most valuable of game ducks. Good canvasback shooting grounds have high commercial value.

Report Given On 1953 Forest Fires

There were 38 fires in Garrett county during 1953, it was reported by William Johnson, district forester. The fires burned over 352 and one-tenth acres. The total for the district was 139 forest fires with 567 acres being burned. In Allegany county 47 burned 105½ acres; in Washington county 17 fires damaged 550.6 acres; and 27 fires in Frederick county burned 58.9.

For the five year period, 1946-50, yearly average of fires was 75, burning an average of 422 acres each year.

AURORA - EGLON

Mrs. Mildred Forman, of near Aurora, underwent surgery Friday at the Garrett County Memorial hospital.

Styled like years from now—the stunningly beautiful, sensationally powered 1954 Buick CENTURY Riviera.

Try the POWER of the CENTURY

It's the buy of the year for folks who want high performance at a low price

AT the wheel of Buick's 200-hp CENTURY, something tremendously exciting is waiting to happen to you.

We can give you here just a quick summary of the sensational facts about this spectacular automobile:

It has the highest horsepower ever placed in a standard-production Buick—and the highest compression ratio, 8.5 to 1.

It has the highest power-to-weight ratio of any Buick ever built—with a cyclonic 200-hp V-8 engine driving with unbelievable ease the nimble weight of this sizable car—3852 pounds, for the CENTURY shown here, as it comes off the assembly line.

It carries a price that puts it substantially below the highly popular Buick SUPER—a price that buys more horsepower per dollar in a CENTURY than you get in any other automobile in America.

If it's true high performance you want, at a truly modest price, come in and meet the CENTURY close up—behind its wheel. You'll find it the buy of the year, hands down.

Leaf Analysis Shows Fertilizer Needs

Leaf analysis gives a better indication of the fertilizer needs in orchards than soil analysis, Dr. Leland E. Scott of the University of Maryland horticulture department told a group of fertilizer manufacturers who met at the University recently.

The manufacturers were attending a Fertilizer Manufacturers conference which was sponsored by the University of Maryland Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Dr. Scott said the leaf analysis method of diagnosing the nutritional status of fruit trees is effective in diagnosing deficiencies in nitrogen, potassium, magnesium and boron. He added that many orchards in Maryland are on soils deficient in these nutrients.

Leaf analysis has also enabled the horticulturists to set "minimum" and "optimum" levels of nitrogen, potassium and magnesium. Knowledge about the minimum and optimum levels makes it possible to get the most efficient use of the nutrients.

The orchard specialist illustrated the practical use that has already been made of leaf analysis by pointing out that in 1952 leaf samples from 231 commercial peach and apple orchards in Maryland were analyzed. Results of the analyses were sent back to growers with recommendations for fertilizer treatment. These 231 samples represented all commercial orchard areas in the state.

Duty Performed - - -

There are always some people who have a rather distorted sense of values. We have seen the reactions of some of these persons and heard from reliable sources about others.

To explain a little more fully, the citizen go to the polls to elect honorable men to office. Every four years they select a sheriff who is not only duty bound by law to preserve the peace, but to bring to justice those who have disobeyed the statutes.

The majority of the people, of course, want to see the job well executed. But when it is, inevitably there are a few who gripe, and inevitably too, it is because they have had their toes stepped upon.

These past few weeks we have had examples of the gripers. Some who had violated the liquor laws of the county pleaded guilty and took their medicine. They knew the laws and the penalty if they were discovered breaking the law. But some vowed to get even with the sheriff, who after all, was just doing the job for which he was elected.

Again, it can be safely said that most of those who bought articles throughout the past few weeks at bargain prices from a person who went about from door to door, had a good idea that the articles were not obtained in a lawful manner. When the articles were traced most of those involved acknowledged their mistake, and cooperated with authorities. Here again there were a few who blamed everybody but themselves for the predicament in which they found themselves. And in their minds it was the sheriff and those detectives from Pennsylvania who were the "stinkers" —Oh, no, not themselves.

We have a sort of quiet feeling that the great majority of the people of this county realize the high calibre of the man we have in the office of sheriff, and would back him to the limit as long as he performs his duty as he has been doing it and as it ought to be done.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

A commission of citizens appointed by the President has made a study of the pay scale for members of Congress and has recommended substantial raises. A higher salary scale for Congressmen would be a good investment for the American citizenry. I think one should be approved at this session. It should be a straight salary raise and should not include any tax-free allowances or provisions.

In our present day American society Congress is the most vitaliy important agency of government, the heart of the Republic. Its members have a value to the nation that cannot actually be measured in dollars and cents. Only a few are independently wealthy, and this will likely be the situation in future Congresses. Therefore, for nearly all Congressmen and Congressional candidates the size of the pay check—and the "take home" pay—is a determining factor in their career.

The American people should be in favor of any reasonable measure that would help attract the very highest order of citizens to serve in Congress. Once they are in Congress the members' pay is not calculated on comparative merit. Unlike employees in private enterprise and other governmental fields, Congressmen may not expect additional salary compensation or promotion for unusual ability, extra hard work, long hours, or extraordinary diligence.

Yet Congressmen and prospective Congressmen are human. They desire for themselves and their families an improving living standard, the good things of life. It is to our advantage to place the salary scale for Congress in balance with the challenging requirements of the job. The philosophy of Americanism is for reward on the basis of worth.

If Congressional salaries now are raised to $27,500, as the presidential commission suggests, the Congressmen actually would be only $1,322 better off than they were in 1939 while drawing only $10,000—because of inflation and increased taxes.

We citizens might well tell our Congressmen that the raise we are suggesting at this time, to bring their living standard in line with the value and importance of their service to our nation, is being approved with two stipulations: (1) that Congress balance the 1954-55 federal budget and thereafter keep the budget balanced; and (2) that a program of tax reduction and reform be continued until taxes are drastically lowered and are levied equitably, without favoritism.

Plan New Courses For Adult Education

The Board of Education is currently planning four classes in Adult Education to begin October 1 for any adult persons who do not have a high school diploma but desire refresher courses in English, history, science, and mathematics with a plan to take the Equivalence Examination given by the State Department of Education.

R. Bowen Hardesty, county superintendent, said he had several such requests. A successful score on the Equivalence Examination will entitle the adult to a Maryland high school diploma.

Adult classes are not required before taking the examination, he said, however a number of counties in Maryland find citizens requesting the refresher courses in adult education which they feel are helpful in their preparing for the examination. The courses in Garrett county will begin in both high schools in October if as many as sixteen persons enroll for each class. Those interested in enrolling in such a course may write the Superintendent of Schools, Oakland.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

It is most gratifying to be able to report that the responsibility for Senate handling of legislative proposals dealing with very vital segments of our State's economy—shipping, railroads, trucks and fisheries and wildlife—has recently been assigned to Senate Subcommittees of which I have been appointed a member. This is indeed another opportunity for service to the people of Maryland, which I welcome wholeheartedly.

With the reorganization of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, I have been named Chairman of the Water Transportation (Merchant Marine) Subcommittee. In addition to this extremely important assignment, I will serve as the ranking majority member on the Surface Transportation Subcommittee and the Fisheries and Wildlife Subcommittee.

As Chairman of the newly created Water Transportation Subcommittee, it will be my privilege to direct and supervise the legislative consideration of matters directly affecting the Port of Baltimore's leading industry, shipping, as well as its chief related activity, the shipbuilding and ship repair yards.

Immediately after assuming these duties, a meeting was held with the Joint Working Group of the shipping industry, representing both management and unions, to whom I pledged utmost efforts toward the strengthening and upbuilding of the American Merchant Marine.

A Defense Department spokesman, appearing before my subcommittee last week, testified that "the Department of Defense is concerned about the lack of a comprehensive merchant-ship construction program to provide for the orderly replacement of the vast proportion of our merchant fleet which is fast approaching obsolescence."

So am I concerned. We must, as a nation, give vastly more thought to the maintenance of our merchant fleet. No one can foretell when there may be a need—an urgent need—for all types of ships in enormous numbers. This has happened twice within the lifetime of many of us. It could happen again tomorrow, or whenever the Communist leadership might decree.

We must be prepared for such an eventuality—and we are NOT prepared at this moment. It will be my purpose, as Chairman of the Water Transportation Subcommittee, to alert the Congress, and our people, to the dangers inherent in the present situation. Our future as a nation may someday depend upon our Merchant Marine.

With the three major railroads serving the Baltimore and Maryland area, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Pennsylvania and the Western Maryland necessarily playing such a significant companion role in city and port activities of every nature, membership on the Surface Transportation Subcommittee places me in a particularly favorable position to ensure that our transportation problems receive rightful and thorough attention.

In the field of fisheries and wildlife, I already have had an opportunity to be of assistance to the seafood packing industry of the Chesapeake Bay area, and will be more than ever able to protect and advance this aspect of our economy, as ranking member of the Fisheries and Wildlife Subcommittee.

Tuna packing, for years a West Coast monopoly, was made available to Maryland and East Coast packers by action of the Senate in the 82nd Congress in which I was most happy to take part. A successful floor fight was conducted against pending Senate legislation that would have imposed a 3 cent per pound tax on East Coast tuna imports, while exempting the catch of the West Coast tuna fleet. Aa a result, employees of State packing houses were provided with employment in the slack season that otherwise would have been unavailable.

WASHINGTON NEWS REPORT

Benson's Optimism—
The Secretary's Position—
Lesson At Berlin—
U. S. Top Military Power—

Washington, February 24—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's assertions before Congress recently that he was confident most of the Eisenhower farm program would pass, and his statement that a great majority of Republicans, plus some Democrats, were behind the flexible support system, were brave statements.

The Secretary is fighting a host of opponents on Capitol Hill, including the chairman of the House Agriculture committee, of his own party, on many of the proposals contained in the Administration's farm program.

Like he found last year, when he made a controversial speech in the north central part of the country, farmers are slow to change their minds, but not any slower than Congressmen. And Benson has gone so far he can't turn back. He stands by his proposals for flexible price support. Though he knows he is walking into a storm, he is walking on in anyhow.

The Secretary has courage. But he may be optimistic. The latest report from inside both House and Senate committees indicates he will not get his flexible price support program. The suspicion is that Congress will write its own bill covering the level of price supports.

If this is done and the law is passed by a good majority in both houses, the Secretary's position could become a hot one. He could be a liability in the elections this fall. Nevertheless, he would not be a cinch to get the boot. President Eisenhower, like former President Truman, is slow to kick anybody off his team merely because what he is doing isn't popular. If Ike had wanted to boot Benson, the time was ripe in 1953.

Yet if Benson's ideas fall on deaf ears in Congress and he cannot get his program through, his effectiveness may be limited. These are questions which will not have to be answered today but which will have to be answered in the coming months.

Meanwhile the Secretary is in a tough position. He is pushing a program Congress seems unlikely to accept. He says support for it is growing, but there are those who wonder. He is having to face opposition from powerful legislative sources, including many of his own party's top men in Congress. And the chorus of dissent from the farms is not diminishing.

It is not an easy seat to be sitting on. The President feels for his man, but he also knows that he may cost the Republican party votes. It is a delicate situation all the way around, and cannot persist indefinitely.

The major lesson learned by the State Department at Berlin was that the Russians have changed little in their foreign policy aspirations, since the death of Joseph Stalin. The first international conference since Uncle Joe's death brought the same disgusting performance from V. M. Molotov as have all the rest since World War II—and even during that conflict.

Even President Dwight D. Eisenhower's atom pool plan was only talked around in a circle. It was obvious that the Reds came to the conference table hoping to come away with plums like they won at Yalta. In this hope, however, they were disappointed. The western powers weren't having any of that; they were ready to concede no major points.

It also seems obvious that Molotov is almost completely in charge of USSR foreign affairs—a sad and disappointing revelation. Malenkov, the Fat Boy, seems to be dealing the cards (under the table) only in domestic affairs. As long as Molotov is the guiding hand behind Soviet foreign policy the United States won't expect anything in the way of improvement. That's the conclusion drawn from the Berlin meet.

* * *

Armed Forces chiefs have told Senators and Congressmen that the United States is no longer leading from military weakness in dealing with other countries in the conduct of its foreign affairs. They have convinced them that the United States today is the world's greatest military power—and is respected as such.

The U. S. now holds the lead in atom and hydrogen weapons, is said to have the best air force in the world and the strongest navy. Only the army is weaker than that of some other power, or powers. But the army is said to have superior equipment and weapons, and to be capable of rapid expansion.

Lawmakers have been impressed by these reports, and think that peace prospects are brighter now than they have been in years as a result. The great rearmament drive, touched off just after the June, 1952 attack on South Korea, has now achieved its primary purpose—to make this country so strong an aggressor would not dare attack us.

School Receives Visual Equipment

The visual aid department at the Southern High school has recently received several pieces of new movie equipment. The equipment includes one set of film rewinders, a new tripod for the big metal screen, a catalog rack, a hand operated film splicer, and a public address system.

The rewinders operate by hand and are helpful for checking film defects while the operator slowly rewinds the film. The rewinds take both 8 mm and 16 mm film up to 1200 ft. capacity reels.

The catalog rack is used to hold all film catalogs, projector operating reference books, and equipment catalogs.

The splicer reel eliminates most of the splicing work, besides saving the operators' time. The splicer handles both 8 mm and 16 mm film. The splicer trims both ends of film, overlaps and binds or welds it.

A committee of teachers is currently studying the visual aid needs of the school to make recommendations on needed improvements.

Increase Provides No Added Security

By DeWitt Emery, president of the National Small Business Men's Association

If the recent increase in payroll deductions to 2% on the employer and 2% on the employee on the first $3,600 of wages or salary would provide more or better security for those covered by the Social Security Act, then I'd be for it. But it won't. Actually, all the increase does is to give the Treasury more money to spend (it already has too much) and to increase the national debt, which is already too high.

Here's how it works. When social security deductions are remitted to Washington these funds are deposited in the general account of the Treasury and are used by the Treasury to pay the ordinary day-to-day operating expenses of the government. Once a year Congress appropriates for social security the amount of money the Social Security Board says will be necessary to pay benefits and operating expenses for the coming year. Then the Treasury gives the Social Security Board an I.O.U. in the form of a special issue non-negotiable government bond covering the difference between social security collections and the amount appropriated by Congress for social security. Each of these special issue bonds is added to the national debt as soon as it is issued to the Social Security Board. Actually then, the net effect of remitting social security payroll deductions to Washington is to increase the national debt. So far as I know there isn't any security for anyone in debt.

As of December 31, 1953, the Social Security Board had eighteen billion eight hundred million dollars in its reserve, all of it invested in the special issue non-negotiable government bonds referred to above. Presumably this reserve fund provides protection for those covered by the Act so that when the benefits they have paid for become due there'll be funds available out of which to pay them what they have coming. This is a 100% fallacy.

The only way in which the government can get money with which to redeem the social security reserve fund bonds is by collecting additional taxes from all taxpayers, including those covered by the Act who have already paid once. So, in the final analysis, whether a person covered by social security will be able to collect his benefits when they come due ten, twenty, thirty or more years from now will depend entirely, not on the social security reserve fund, but on the government's ability to collect taxes from the taxpayers of that day to pay the benefits the person covered thought he paid for by the deductions made from his pay.

I have frequently stated that social security is the biggest fraud that was ever put across on an unsuspecting public. I repeat that statement with even greater emphasis, if that is possible.

Sooner or later, the sooner the better, the whole social security set-up must be overhauled and put on a realistic basis. Of all the suggestions made for this purpose, the one I like best is:

1) Put social security on a voluntary basis. You can sign up for it if you want it or you can pass it up if you don't want it.

2) Remit social security funds directly to the Social Security Board, thereby passing the Treasury and prevent the Treasury from spending the money as fast as it gets to Washington.

3) Have the Social Security Board pay its own operating expenses and current benefits out of the collections it receives. The balance of the funds each year to be invested in government bonds purchased in the open market. If this is done, then any time the Board needed cash it would sell bonds in the open market just as any insurance company or any investor does. The special issue government bonds the Board now has are non-negotiable and can only be sold back to the Treasury, which may or may not have the money when the Board needs funds.

4) When the change-over is made from a compulsory basis to a voluntary basis, give everyone now covered the opportunity to drop his coverage and draw out what he has paid in, or to continue to pay as formerly. Every new worker added to the working force would have the privilege of taking social security or not as he chooses.

Personally, I've never wanted any part of social security, but nevertheless I've paid in the maximum amount every year since the law was passed. I had no choice. There must be millions of others who feel as I do.

About the only thing we can do at once to get started in the direction of making an honest agency out of social security is to have Congress rescind the increase which went into effect January 1. If you haven't written to the congressman from your district and both of the senators from your state telling them you want the old social security rate reinstated retroactive to January 1, 1954, I suggest that you do so immediately.

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life

By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

Obstacles

You can't escape the obstacles, but there's something you can do about them.

Let Abraham Lincoln's old farmer friend tell you what. Remember the familiar story the famous President used to relate about him? The old farmer had a stump in his field which was too hard to uproot, too knotty to split and too wet and soggy to burn. So he plowed around it!

That's what you can do with those obstacles which resist your removal tactics. Plow around them!

Have you ever seen a barrier you couldn't get around in some way? There's no successful way of fencing in the world.

Credit the Apostle Paul for a timely reminder. "We are co-laborers with God," he says. Work the field of life with Him and if you can't remove the stumps, God will help you plow around them. Plow God's furrows and you're bound to find ways to get around the obstacles, the word that can change your life.

Is Your Name SHAFFER

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

SHAFFER, an old and honored German surname, is of relatively simple derivation, for it is of occupational origin and stems from the German "schafer" which signifies "a shepherd." It therefore was bestowed, when surnames first came into vogue, upon those who were engaged in such a calling; and in this connection, it should be noted that SHAFFER lies in the same field of derivation as such commonly used names as Zimmerman, meaning "carpenter," and Ackerman which denotes "a farmer."

The Pennsylvania German Pioneers, published in 1834 by the Pennsylvania German Society and listing the immigrant arrivals at the Port of Philadelphia from 1727 to 1808, has 96 references to SHAFFER and its equivalent names Schafer, Schaffer, Schaefer, Scheffer, Shafer, Sheafer and Shaver.

ANDREW SHAFFER (1760-1853), a native of Hagerstown, Maryland, served as a private in the Maryland volunteers during the Revolutionary War.

There are seventeen listings of the name SHAFFER in the latest directory of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

NEWTON MELMAN SHAFFER (1846-1828), a great-grandson of WILLIAM SHAFFER who migrated to this country from Holland in 1750, was recognized internationally for his accomplishments as an orthopedic surgeon.

JOHN CHARLES SHAFFER (1853-1943) was publisher of numerous newspapers, including the Chicago Evening Post, Indianapolis Star and Louisville Herald.

PHILIP ANDERSON SHAFFER, a chemist of note, is professor of biological chemistry at Washington University Medical School, St. Louis, Missouri.

W. ROBERT SHAFFER is vice-president, Commonwealth Shoe and Leather Company, substantial manufacturers of shoes, with headquarters in Whitman, Mass.

FLOYD ELMER SHAFFER is medical director, Bethlehem Steel Company, Bethlehem, Pa.

GEORGE WILSON SHAFFER has been dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Johns Hopkins University, since 1948.

Women Told Home Sewing Can Be Easy

Before starting your spring sewing, check to see that you have the right equipment and supplies to save labor, time and patience.

Clothing specialist Helen Shelby, University of Maryland Extension Service, says that home sewing is just what you make it. Good tools are just as essential for a neatly made dress as a good oven is for a perfect cake.

For easy home sewing, see that your sewing maching is in good stitching condition. Study the booklet that comes with your machine for valuable information on its care and use. If you haven't such a booklet, write the Bulletin Room, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland, for USDA bulletin No. 1911—Sewing Machines, Cleaning and Adjusting.

Another must for good sewing is an ironing board and iron for pressing as you sew. A sleeve or child's ironing board set up near the machine saves time and prevents skipping this most important step.

Have good shears for cutting and scissors for hand work. For general use, Miss Shelby recommends scissors measuring seven to eight inches. If you plan to do much sewing, you may prefer dressmaker's shears, measuring nine to ten inches with bent handles for cutting, and a pair of five or six inch scissors for general use.

You will need pins with sharp points. Buy them by the box and test them before buying. With plenty of good pins, you can substitute them for basting and save time. A pin cushion with an elastic band to fit the wrist is a convenience.

Fine sewing calls for fine needles and a thimble that fits the middle finger. You will need a tape measure, a yardstick, razor blade for rippings, thread to match your fabric, dressmaker's chalk for marking fitting lines, and a seam guide to aid in stitching seams the correct width. A definite place to keep small tools and equipment adds to the ease and pleasure of sewing.

Government Directs Activity Program

The Student Council of the Southern High school has had several activities in the last month. One of the main problems is getting up an activity program for next year. Every student will get to be a member of the club of his choice. At present there have been about twenty clubs suggested. This club program will be worked in with the schedule, probably with a rotating period. One week the clubs would be the first period, the next week, second period, etc. It is hoped that all students will cooperate and give any suggestions that they might have.

The handbook is moving along. All articles are in and the material is ready to be compiled. The council is going to try to raise the money needed so it will not be of any cost to the students. One way is a basketball show on March 16, by Wilfred Hetzel, who is considered the world's greatest trick shot expert.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Schools Are to Educate

The article, "Speak Out Silent People," has aroused quite a lot of discussion, I am sure, and Mr. Whitman found in his travels over the country, that parents were more disturbed than anything else over his very fundamental fact; their children were sent to school to earn, and many of them weren't earning as much or as fast as they should.

In Arlington, Va., one troubled parent said, "School ought to be a place where a child goes to learn, not to fritter his time away on non-essentials and activities at the expense of learning." One parent said the 3 R's stood for Rest, Relax and Receive.

According to Mr. Whitman, students themselves were resentful of their lack of preparation for college work. One boy said he had gone to college, so poorly prepared in English grammar that he was unable to take foreign languages courses. Another had received high school credits for tinkering with a car, and remarked that it was little help with his freshman courses.

One college established special courses to bring some of their freshmen to a point where they were able to do college work. A faculty member said they had to be taught a vocabulary. Some did not know a noun from a verb, and had no idea of a complete sentence.

A farmer from Minnesota said "Oh, well, they say the only goal of education today is to teach children to get along with each other, but they don't get along either." He told how there were fist fights right in the school room.

Many of these things are the extremes of education, but some are the weaknesses of our own schools. I have known parents here in Garrett county who have had to help their children with English courses so they could enter college. Others have bought expensive correspondence courses in English to cover their inadequacy. I have talked to students who have been embarrassed by their poor English when they went to college or business school. To my way of thinking, English is our basic tool of learning, and sometimes it seems to me to be the weakest one.

I was talking to a parent the other day about so much competition being taken out of our schools and he remarked about the competition that used to prevail, and how a girl in his high school class made an A grade while he only made a B. It hurt his pride to see a girl do better than he, so he tried very hard, and the next time he, too, made an A. Finding he was able to make an A, that became his standard from then on. Competition had helped him set a new standard for himself. There are times competition can be cruel and unfair to a child, and we need to guard against that, but I believe we should give more recognition for real merit, not only in sports, but far more important in scholastic achievement. Competition helps to put zip and zest (to use a slang expression) in learning. I heard a parent say her small son had made the remark that he was sure of passing, no matter how little work he did, so he was sold on doing as little as possible. Teachers are told not to make the youngsters work too hard. I think there is little danger.

Another criticism that hits our own schools, is that they are going too far afield. In my opinion, there are some areas of instruction that belong to the home, for example, the field of sex education. As a parent, I object to that being taught in a strictly biological sense without the moral and spiritual implications of it, which are so deeply imbedded in human personality. I doubt that the schools should get into that field at all. I know there are many that think otherwise, but that is still my opinion.

I personally would like to see less acrobatic antics taught to our youngsters, especially on a high school level, and more English literature. Imbedded in English literature are truths that are guides to personal purity, and will add to our well-being and happiness as long as we live. One I have always carried with me, and I believe it as strongly as the day a teacher taught it to me. It goes like this: "My strength is as the strength of ten, because my heart is pure." Let us as parents and teachers, working together, get more of that kind of thinking in our schools.

Psychologists tell us that most of us go through life using only one-third of our potential capabilities. The thought of it makes me a little sad. What happened to that other two-thirds God so generously entrusted to my keeping? Something to think about, isn't it?

Marriage Announced

Miss Betty Jean Lohr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Lohr, Takoma Park, became the bride of Pvt. Don Scott Beebe, U.S. Army, son of Dr. and Mrs. Steven O. Beebe, Sandy Springs, Md., on Sunday, January 30.

Walter Reed Memorial chapel in Washington, D. C., was the scene of the wedding at which Chaplain William Donaghy officiated. The chapel was decorated with baskets of mixed white flowers, palms, ferns and candles.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white satin with a chapel sweep train. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Lohr's three attendants, all classmates at the University of Maryland, wore gowns of sapphire blue satin and nylon tulle and carried bouquets of mixed spring flowers.

The bride attended the University of Maryland where she is a member of the Delta Delta sorority. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Cullers, Oakland, and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Lohr, of Randolph, O.

The bridegroom attended the University of Maryland where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He is at present serving in the U. S. Army at Aberdeen.

Route 40 Group Asks State to Expedite Work

U. S. Route 40 should be developed both from the economic and engineering standpoint to remove the barrier of the Allegheny mountains that tend to isolate Allegany and Garrett counties from the rest of the state.

This was the crux of a statement made last Friday by several speakers to Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, Russell McCain, chairman of the State Roads commission, and the citizens who gathered in Cumberland at a meeting sponsored by the route 40 association.

The association was informed that $33,230,000 would be spent on 80 miles of route 40 during the 12-year road program. During the first four years in Garrett county there would be relocation and modification on the west slope of Little Savage with a third lane, cost $230,000, with work expected to start by this summer.

Second four years, Garrett county--Keyser Ridge to Allegany county line, 16.8 miles, surveys and acquisitions of rights of way for modification of curves, resurfacing and third lanes on steep grades. Cost $1,190,000.

Third four years, Garrett county, construction of projects surveyed in second four years. Cost $2,600,000.

Coal Tonnage For County Decreases

This information is revealed in the preliminary report of the Maryland Bureau of Mines headed by Frank T. Powers, of Frostburg, as director.

The total mined during 1953 in the two counties, the only ones where coal is found in Maryland, was 540,313 tons.

In 1952 it was 569,866, which was slightly up over the 1951 amount, 549,125.

Reasons Are Varied

The slash in the coal industry began in 1947 when the two counties accounted for 2,049,996. In 1948, the total was 1,648,487 and has been dropping since.

In Allegany County last year the tonnage reported was 220,674; in 1952—226,267, and in 1951—303,537.

During 1953 in Garrett County the total amounted to 319,638 tons; in 1952, it was 343,588, and in 1951, 245,588 tons.

This was reversed in Garrett County in 1953 when 147,642 tons were strip-mined and 38,689 tons pick-mined.

Further Breakdown

Machine-mined coal totaled 42,994 tons in Allegany County in 1953 and 133,306 tons in Garrett County.

Fire clay mining in Garrett County fell to nothing, dropping from 91,179 tons in 1951, to 20,336 in 1952.

Powers said the tonnage figures on fire clay are not an indication of the fire brick business.

Haul From Somerset

Both the Union Fire Brick Company at Jennings and the Big Savage Refractories are hauling strip-mined clay from Somerset County, saving their underground supplies, he said.

The number of employes connected with the coal mining industry decreased along with the drop in tonnage. In the two counties last year there were 667 miners employed. The year before there were 772 and in 1951 there were 871.

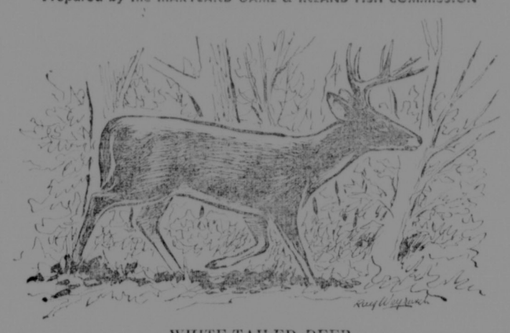
MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION



WHITE-TAILED DEER

RANGE: Found in all 23 counties of Maryland; most abundant in the Western and Eastern Shore counties; increasing in Southern and Central Maryland.

BREEDING: One male forms a herd with 2-3 females, fighting rival bucks; breeds in October- November; 1-3 spotted fawns born seven months later, each weighing, at birth, about 3½ lbs. Young hidden and nursed every 4 hours; (people should not disturb fawns) by 4-5 weeks follow mother; weaned and lose spotted coat at 4 months; doe have no antlers, follow mother 2 years or breed first year; bucks follow mother 1 year, have antlers which are shed annually, first set in most cases have no prongs or branches; animals are then called "spike bucks"; succeeding years, the branches increase show large development after the first year depending on food quality and quantity. The points do not necessarily increase with the years unless feed is A-1 every year. But the health of deer have more to do with it. Average span of life is about 10 years.

HABITS: Raising the tail and showing the white underside when disturbed is considered a warning gesture to others. Can survive on plants which kill sheep and other animals such as rhododendron, laurel, and hemlock. Speed 30 m.p.h., jump 8 ft. high, 30 feet horizontal.

MANAGEMENT: Much controversy among public as to what deer eat. In Spring and Summer they nip the tender buds and leaves of grasses, legumes, vines, wild flowers and trees. In the Fall, store away layers of fat for coming cold and gorge on acorns and other mast. In Winter, subsist on what is at hand; pick and nibble on twigs, needles, buds, catkins and other native vegetation. Nearly all native grasses are heavily utilized. Food patch plantings of common grains, grasses and legumes within woodlands and establishing large refuges have been effective in building the population in Maryland and at the same time helping farmers protect crops against deer damage. Screw-worm and botfly infestation may take a greater yearly toll than is generally realized.

VALUE: A most valuable game animal providing sport, flesh, hide, and trophies of high grade. About 1500 or more killed annually in Maryland; record weight—232 lbs., killed in Kent County.

DeWITT S. HYDE

If Secretary of Agriculture Benson's order to lower dairy price supports stands, it will put nearly 40 different foods on our tables at cheaper prices.

The cut in supports—15 percent—may be too rapid right now, however. A more orderly transition from rigid to flexible supports has been suggested for other farm commodities, though the problems connected with dairy products are unique.

There are more millions of pounds of butter, cheese and dried milk in government warehouses right now than anyone can conceive of. Some of these commodities will spoil if they are stored very long. Cutting government price supports will result in lower prices for consumers, and will also discourage some further surplus production, thus putting the whole dairy business on a sounder footing.

A more gradual reduction, however, would prevent too sharp a drop in farm income. Secretary Benson has the support of the American Farm Bureau Federation in his new move, and certainly has he support of consumers and taxpayers, who will be shelling out less money to buy surplus commodities. So while most people will be happy With his action, there is one moral to be drawn from it that we should not forget:

Although Benson's order is for the eventual benefit of all the American people, it represents a great amount of power in the hands of one man—power given him by Congress. We should remember that wherever this amount of authority lies, it could sometime be used in quite another way.

To the many people who have written me about the problem of income tax taking a heavy bite out of their retirement income, the action of the House Ways and Means Committee last week should be heartening news. Chairman Reed (R-NY) announced his Committee has agreed to an exemption from income taxation of the first $1200 of retirement income.

On my calendar: Tuesday Mrs. Hyde and I have been invited to a reception by the President and Mrs. Eisenhower for Members of Congress and their wives; Wednesday I'll address the Frostburg Republican Club; next Thursday Mrs. Jacob Vorous, president of the Fifth Ward Republican Club in Washington County, will bring her group to the Capital for a visit to Congress and the White House. I look forward to greeting them.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

The Word That's Heard Around The World

The Word that's heard around the world. Strange, how many things go on right under our noses that many of us seem to be totally unaware.

For instance, take the World Day of Prayer. I had heard of it, mostly through a friend who was always promoting it, but I just tossed it off as something belonging to those with the missionary spirit.

Not until I was president of a church group did I go and then merely because I was conscientiously carrying out one of the duties of the office.

There I discovered one of the loveliest, most worshipful services that is available in our community throughout the year. Three of these are held yearly but the one on the first Friday in Lent is the most spiritual.

It does something for an individual to feel that she is helping form the chain that links the whole world together in a day of prayer. The first service starts in New Zealand and the Tongo Islands, west of the international date line, and closes with St. Lawrence Island, Alaska. There will be 1,900 praying groups in the United States and added to that, 118 countries.

The influence of this organization is so much greater than even so many interested people know. It has a voice (though no vote) in the United Nations. Often its counsel is sought in this important body and highly regarded. Who knows the great impact of it?

Most of all, it is spiritually refreshing to feel a part of the praying women of the world.

One Cure For Giggles

They remind me somewhat of an escalator—as soon as some step off, others step on.

Giggling girls can be frustrating and they would be the last to know what caused the frustration.

Every time I get ready to blow my top when I'm working with a group of these humans who remind me of ginger ale poured into a glass, and you wait breathlessly to see if it overflows, my memory jags me. I recall that once I had a part in a play in which I did nothing but giggle, and someone had said the part just suited me.

Then I remember what a wonderful time I had at that age and the first thing I know I'm giggling right along with them. There's nothing in a giggling girl that a year or two won't cure. Before I can blink my eyes, it seems, the escalator has carried them to the next floor where they will pick up sophistication.

Wonder Why?

When people are smart enough to use big words why they also couldn't be smart enough to use little words with the same meaning when they're talking to an audience who knows only little words?

—o—

The Influence Of Television

There's always a lot of talk about television pro and con. Some fear it will only make lookers out of our children and not doers.

The Girl Scout International party was seasoned with television and it doesn't seem to be hindering originality.

For instance when Janet Jackson put on her commercial about Handy-Dandy dog food she brought out her big Blackie to demonstrate how well dogs like it. And the thing that brought down the house was the dog's refusal to eat it—after the terrific build up—and with her coaxing and even forcing.

Then we later discovered she had TRAINED her dog to refuse the food! Just a part of the act.

That Scout party was almost as good a show as the Northern Band at the basketball game. Now please don't say, what ball game?

—o—

To Continue The Commercial

We'll have to admit that Northern outplayed us—but (here's our commercial) you Northern folk had better stand back for our snapback.

Reforesting Idle Lands Continuing

The Department of Forests and Parks will continue its plans to reforest idle lands this spring when seedlings are delivered to landowners throughout the county.

R. Thomas Thayer, assistant district forester said the planting program destined to get underway in March will include the setting of approximately 800,000 seedlings on private and state-owned lands.

Species will include red pine, white pine, scotch pine and spruce. To date around 175 private landowners have signed orders to receive trees. One of the largest orders was signed by the Western Maryland railway which will have planted 50,000 trees by machine on its lands in the Kempton section. The Mayor and Council of Oakland will continue its reforestation program on the town watershed, with the setting of 15,000 additional seedlings.

Last year over 300 landowners participated in the program. As in past years Thayer said tree planting machines would be available for landowners with larger tracts to plant. The state rate is $10 per acre with a minimum of five acres or $50 per day, all labor and materials included. In addition, for those persons owning tractors who wish to do their own planting, the planting machine alone will be available at the rate of 50 cents per thousand trees.

Thayer also stated that a check of the million trees planted in the county last year shows a high survival in spite of the drought. Trees of the pine species lived in excess of 80 percent, while the spruce which requires more moisture, was somewhat lower. He said the continuing dry weather has prompted many landowners to plan on planting the areas around their springs to protect the water supply.

Seedlings are still available for planting this spring and landowners should contact Thayer, box 201, Oakland, or by calling 2-3871 after 6 o'clock p. m.

Deep Creek Church To Hear of China Missionary Work

An account of missionary work in China will be presented by Miss Myra McDale at the Deep Creek Baptist church next Sunday morning, February 28, at 11 o'clock. Miss McDade served for eighteen years under the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions in China.

Miss McDade, whose Chinese name is Jong Maylee, served during a period which embraced before and after the second Chinese revolution, as well as during the Japanese occupation. She was expelled by the Japanese who were searching for Chiang Ki Shek who lived at the other end of the avenue, and the house they searched happened to be her residence.

She served at Foochow, Nanchang and Chinskiang, and at the latter place she was overtaken by the second Chinese revolution and became a refugee in Seoul, Korea. Upon her return from Korea she served as hostess in the Methodist Missionary home for a period until she was transferred to the Baldwin School in Kangse province, from which place the Japanese expelled her.

County Jail Given Excellent Rating

Garrett county's jail was given an excellent rating in the twenty-seventh annual report of the Board of Inspection following a visit to all lock-ups throughout the state. The board, however, continued its annual recommendation to remove prisoners to Allegany county and use the county jail merely as a lock-up.

The board declared that the jail had so few prisoners most of the time that it was more economical to have it run by the sheriff than to have an appointed warden take care of it, such as is now being done, but it recommended that the fee system for food be eliminated as being unsound and costing the sheriff money.

Food is served to the prisoners by the sheriff under the fee system. He contracts for this service at the rate of 80 cents per day. Three meals per day are served.

There were no complaints as to food and it was found to be good and plentiful, the report showed. A check showed an average of one prisoner per day from January to May and in May the jail was empty for over half of the month. The jail is empty at present, the last prisoner being Bernard Rembold, who was taken to Philadelphia about two weeks ago.

History of Building

The building is a two-story affair erected in 1900. The first floor has two sets of 9 cells each with toilets in the rear opening on a ventilating shaft. There is a cell corridor in front of each unit and an officers' corridor on the outside in front of the windows. There is a dark cell on one side of the first floor and on the other side is a washroom. Doors are of the sliding type with a central control for each section. On the second floor there are seven cells on one side and three single cells and two double cells on the other. At the rear o fthe jail are the women's quarters and quarters for youthful offenders.

The space set aside for women prisoners was declared more than adequate. It is possible to keep youthful offenders isolated from other prisoners.

The report declared, "The jail was found to be in a clean and sanitary condition. No bed bugs or vermin of any kind were found. All the plumbing was found to be working properly. In fact no jail in the state was found to have bed bugs."

Among recommendations it was pointed out that the entire jail was in need of painting. Overhauling and repairing of security screens was suggested to prevent the smuggling of contraband into the jail in this manner.

In former years there were three local lockups used in the county, at Friendsville, Grantsville and Kitzmiller. The one at Kitzmiller, although still in use has not been occupied for ten years. A new lockup is being built in the fire house at Grantsville containing 2 cells, and was scheduled to be used to hold prisoners overnight.

Deer Park Firemen Busy

Members of the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire department were called to extinguish three grass fires last week, reaching from the Bowser property to the former Deer Park hotel grounds, along the railroad tracks. It was thought that the fires were caused from sparks from a train passing through.

Governor McKeldin broke ground for the addition to Miners hospital at Frostburg on February 19.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Scripture: John 10.
Devotional Reading: Ezekiel 34:11-16.

All People

Lesson for February 28, 1954

IN BOMBAY, India there is one of the most exclusive religions in the world, the religion of the Parsees. There are more Baptists in Georgia alone than there are Parsees in the whole world. If you aren't a Parsee born you can never get in. Even if you marry a Parsee it does you no good; you are an outsider the rest of your life. That is precisely the opposite of the Christian religion. Billy Graham preaches to thousands of people night after night and he invites every one of those people in the great tabernacles and auditoriums to become a Christian. The congregations are not screened. No one has to pass an intelligence test or an FBI screening or a financial credit rating, or any sort of previous sifting whatever. Billy Sunday did not know, of course, his audiences by name. All he knew is that they were people. And being a Bible Christian he knew that wherever people are, there God's invitation holds good.

Dr. Foreman

* * *

All People Are Lost

Two things are quite clear from the New Testament. One is that all people are lost. The other is that God does not want any one to stay lost. Jesus spoke of himself as the Shepherd and of people as lost sheep. To be "lost" does not mean to be hopelessly accursed. Any one who has ever seen a lost sheep knows what a forlorn sight it is, bedraggled, bewildered, not likely ever to get home unless some one shows it the way. Lost cats need nobody's sympathy; they will find their way back all right. But we are not lost cats or homing pigeons, we are lost sheep. That is a picture-way of saying that unless God sets us on the right track and leads us home, we are all of us more likely to go wrong than to go right. A lost sheep has no pride.

Some men have said that pride is the root of all sins. Jesus did not seem to think so; weakness and stupidity account for just as many sins as pride.

* * *

God Invites All

God never meant heaven to be exclusive. He never meant us to be snobbish about our religion. There are some mistakes here, commonly made, which need clearing up. One is that because God wants all men to be saved, he is going to save everybody regardless. Now if all we knew of the New Testament were this parable of the sheep, we might suppose God would work it that way and bring all people to his eternal home regardless of how they felt about it, as a shepherd does with his sheep or a cowhand with his little dogies. But the rest of the gospels show us that God deals with us as free men. Heaven is not a sack into which God dumps everybody sooner or later, with their leave or without it. Heaven has a door, and the name of the door is Jesus Christ. You can put that in different ways too. Christ is the only door to the Christian life. He is the only door to the kingdom of God. If we wish to belong to God's kingdom we cannot turn away from Christ, we must come to God through him. But another mistake is to suppose that God has a private list of those he really does not want to come in to "the marriage supper" as Jesus put it once. His invitation is to all, really to all; but he never forces any one to accept.

The Church for All

A common sight, and a sad sight too, is a "class church." It doesn't make any difference what class it may be; it may be entirely of country people, or entirely of city people; it can be made up of high-brows or the uneducated; it is a class church if the people in it just don't want to have others in it whose circumstances are different from theirs. If all men are lost and if God's desire is that all shall be saved, no church should be more exclusive than God is. God does not draw color lines or class lines or money lines. The ideal church, the one that reflects the facts of Christ's love and the calling of God, is one in which no human being who loves the Lord Jesus and gives his heart to him, can feel strange or out of place. There is no use saying, "We only want our kind of people", if Christ lived and died for all people. For that means all kinds of people!

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother and sister, Mrs. Grace Gilmore, who passed away a year ago February 19.

Only God knows how we miss you
He alone can know our pain.
And how we have suffered since you left us,
Life can never be the same.
Although your smile has gone forever,
And your dear hand we cannot touch;
We will never lose the memory of you,
And your great love that meant so much.

Sadly missed by Daughters, Sons, Sister and Brothers

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

The health of our national economy is currently being diagnosed and opinions vary as to the extent of the illness and prescriptions for remedial action.

Political partisanship accounts for a great deal of this controversy, and, unfortunately, some attempt to gain political advantage by exploiting fundamental differences of opinion.

If anyone reads this column regularly it will be recalled that the first issue of this session of Congress commented on our national economy, and at that time I stated it would be a grievous error to permit our judgment to be influenced by fear.

Two recent editorials and a radio broadcast have made a great deal of sense to me, and in my opinion are deserving of thoughtful consideration.

Eric Sevareid in his nightly analysis of the news commented on the President's statement that if employment didn't pick up in March, then government anti-depression measures should be put into effect.

By virtue of his high office, Mr. Sevareid said, President Eisenhower's remark has the effect of establishing a deadline for determining the extent of our economic illness. If in March things get better then there will be a general dispelling of gloom and fear, but if employment continues to decline then the interpretation will be that the United States is actually in a depression and Federal action will be demanded.

The Baltimore Sun editorially pointed out that the Department of Commerce made two different surveys on unemployment in January—one showing that 2,359,000 and the other that 3,087,000, were unemployed. (The two surveys covered different geographic bases.)

The Sun rhetorically asked, "Which of these two figures is correct?" And answered its question by replying, "Probably neither."

Little faith can be placed in statistics, without many accompanying qualifications, but as the Sun said, "Americans are suckers for statistics."

There is an old adage which says that "Figures don't lie, but liars figure." And I have found that statistics can be gathered which appear to prove almost anything, and that even accurate, established statistical information can be interpreted in many different ways.

Therefore, let us not become unduly excited by statistics.

One of my greatest concerns is that this country may have become psychologically adjusted to prompt and extensive Federal action to meet every apparent crisis that in any anti-depression move we may shoot the works.

In our anxiousness to overcome an economic setback we may overprescribe, and the patient's reaction to the medicine may delay recovery rather than hurry it.

A sound suggestion was contained in a recent Washington Post editorial. The Post suggests that the transportation tax be eliminated. The savings resulting from the elimination of this tax could be passed on to the consumer in the form of lower prices, and business costs would be reduced.

I urged the ending of this tax last year, and I think the time has come when such taxes as those on transportation and telephone services, which were established in war time to limit use of such facilities, should be eliminated.

"The transportation levy is the kind of price-boosting tax that ought to be eliminated at the first sign of a downturn," the Post stated, "It would help reduce prices and therefore stimulate consumption."

Careful and well-placed government stimulants can assist in overcoming any minor economic difficulties which this nation may be now experiencing.

Footlight Footnotes

1 Maiden in distress—all that housework, and no modern appliances! Today the average family uses a dozen different electric work-savers. And electricity has gone down in price—even since World War II!

2 Dramatic build-up. It's terrific—but it can't compare with build-up in the electric industry. Electric companies have tripled their supply of electricity in 15 years! And they'll add half again as much by 1960!

3 Beware of smooth-talkers. Some people have talked the federal government into the electric power business in a big way—$6 billion worth—at the taxpayers' expense. And they're still pressing to have the government spend more.

4 The big question. It's a question every American should ask when he hears of any plan for a new federal power project: "Is it really necessary or is it a job electric companies could do better—at their own expense?"

The marriage of Norma Jean Neilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Williams, Washington, Pa., to S-Sgt. Everett Albert Groves, also of Washington, has been announced by her parents.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Clarence E. Neiderheiser of the First Church of Nazarene on Sunday, January 31, at 3 o'clock, before an altar decorated with palms and ferns. Mrs. Neiderheiser played the traditional wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her step-father. She wore a poudre blue wool suit with navy trim with poudre blue hat and navy accessories. The bride's mother wore a plum colored crepe dress with black accessories while the mother of the bridegroom was attired in blue taffeta with white accessories. Both wore white rosebuds.

A reception was held in the home of the bridegroom for the immediate families.

Southern to End Season Next Week

Southern High's Highlanders will conclude their regular basketball season with games tonight and next Tuesday.

Tonight the Highlanders play host to Bruce High of Westernport. The Bruce team boasts one of the better teams in the area with a 16-3 record. The Bulldogs, coached by Augie Eichorn, captured the class "B" championship of Allegany high in the WMI league.

The Bruce quintet is paced in scoring honors by center Dave Marple, who also captured scoring honors of the WMI league with 210 points in 10 games. Bruce won the first game of its series with Southern at Westernport.

On Tuesday the Southern court will be the scene of action between Mt. Savage and the Highlanders. The Mt. Savage quint is suffering one of its worst seasons on the basketball court, although one of its wins was scored over Southern.

BITTINGER

When you're urged to lose your temper,
Or inclined to give offense,
Just pause and face your tempter,
And command him, "Get thee hence."

Late last Monday afternoon, the dwelling house on the Thomas Stanton farm, adjoining this village, was entirely destroyed by fire. The Grantsville fire department was called and quickly responded, but the fire burned so rapidly that nothing could be saved and the entire building, with all its contents, were completely consumed.

The building was occupied at the time by Mrs. Thomas Stanton, more than eighty years of age, her son, Allen Stanton, his wife and four small children. None of the inmates were injured and neighbors provided them with shelter and food and supplied their immediate needs for clothing, shoes, etc.

Mr. Stanton was away from home when the fire occurred and the origin of the blaze has not been determined. The loss, we understand, was partially covered by insurance.

The fair warm weather of the past week produced much activity in the local maple sugar groves, the owners of which report a very satisfactory gathering of sweet water from their trees.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hershberger, Grantsville, are spending this week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brenneman.

Marvin Beitzell was taken suddenly ill at his home on Tuesday evening of last week and was taken to the Garrett County Memorial hospital, Oakland, where he has been under observation.

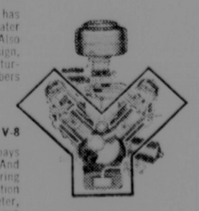
Again this year, all eyes are on the stunning new 1954 Ford. Its long, low Crestmark body continues to set the styling trend . . . its completely new interiors are a decorator's dream come true! Its new Ball-Joint Front Suspension is the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years. And Ford's new deep-block Six and V-8 are the most modern high-compression, low-friction engines in the industry. All in all, you get America's low-priced fine car when you choose the 1954 Ford.

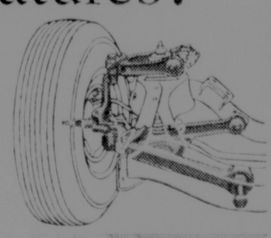
With the greatest engine advances since the original Ford V-8!

NEW 115-h.p. I-BLOCK SIX
Like the V-8, this new Six has deep-block build for greater rigidity and smoothness. Also you get low-friction design, modern manifolding, high-turbulence combustion chambers for more "Go."



NEW 130-h.p. Y-BLOCK V-8
Its new deep-block build pays off in greater rigidity. And that plus Ford's new 5-bearing crankshaft and low-friction design results in quieter, smoother operation . . . longer engine life.

With a dividend of Ball-Joint Front Suspension!



This new system allows greater total up-and-down wheel travel for a smoother ride . . . helps keep front wheels in true alignment for consistently easy handling.

Plus 5 optional power assists!*

You can have Master-Guide power steering, Swift-Sure Power Brakes, 4-Way Power Front Seat, Fordomatic Drive (or Overdrive) and Power-Lift Windows!
*At extra cost.

Friendsville School Has Story Hour

Friendsville Elementary school's P.-T.A. is sponsoring a story hour for pre-school children of the community, beginning Friday, February 26, at 2:30 p. m., in the school library.

Children from upper grades will serve as story tellers, and a play period will follow the story hour.

First grade children from Mrs. Savage's room will teach the pre-school children some games being used in the regular physical education program at school. The program will be continued each Friday.

Arrangements for the project were developed by a P.-T.A. committee, Mr. Swauger, school librarian, and Miss Edith Brock, county librarian. P.-T.A. funds will purchase suitable materials to be supplemented by the county library for resource material. The committee included Mrs. David Dixon, Mrs. James Frantz and Mrs. Ernest Savage.

Recreation Club Reorganized

In order that students will have an opportunity to participate in more than one school club activity during the year, all recreational clubs were reorganized. There are now groups in Arts and Crafts, Rhythmic Play, Tonettes, Art, and Choral Singing. These club activities are a new part of the school program.

The Friendsville school contributed $78.64 for the March of Dimes.

Floods killed sixteen persons in Australia.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

To the Republican Voters of Garrett County:

I hereby announce as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of Garrett County.

Inasmuch as I live in Election District No. 10, under the present system of electing County Commissioners I will represent the First County Commissioner District if nominated and elected to the office which I seek. At the present time, I am a member of the Orphans' Court of this county.

I have lived in Garrett County all of my life, am a farmer, have been interested in a number of business and other organizations and believe that I have a pretty thorough knowledge of affairs in our county and what should be done for its improvement and well being.

If nominated and elected, I will give careful attention to the duties and demands of the office and to the best of my ability will serve all of the people of the county alike.

Harry F. Paugh

I have been a resident of Mt. Lake Park for twenty-nine years and have had bookkeeping and administrative experience for the past twenty-four years which I feel qualifies me to fill satisfactorily the office I seek. For the past four years I have been in the office of the County Roads engineer.

I pledge an honest and efficient administration in the duties of the treasurer's office should I be nominated and later elected.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give handy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

The Belle Of Bagdad Chosen For Southern High Operetta

"The Belle of Bagdad" has been selected by the Senior High School Chorus as the operetta they will present Tuesday, March 9, at 8:00 p. m. in the new gymnasium at Southern High School.

The operetta's setting is Fair Day in Bagdad. This day is marked by the arriving of various visitors which include Mrs. McConn, the new American consul, with her daughter, Elsa, and her daughter's friend, Anne. As they are presented to the Caliph and his daughter they hear that an assassin is abroad and carries a bomb in a camera.

The comedy comes in when Dick Taylor arrives from Hollywood with his two mechanics, Bob and Bill. They are looking for a lovely girl, known only as the Belle of Bagdad, as they want to engage her as a moving picture star. They have only a few small photographs by which to identify her and they bring with them a large camera to take pictures of all prospects.

And all stories must have a romantic old maid and a handsome Cassanova as does this story.

The cast is composed of Mrs. McConn, Ida Moon; her daughter, Elsa, Jackie Browning; Anne, a friend of Elsa's, Gladys Harsh; Archie, from London, Gene Williams; Zelinda, a dancer, Barbara Biser; Rose, daughter of the Caliph, Phyllis Lee; Lily, another daughter, Jenny Kessel; Ali Ben Mustapha, the prefect of police, Jack Harvey; Hassan el Carib, the Caliph of Bagdad, Bud Savage; Jewel, his favorite daughter, Kitty Wainer; Bob Ballentine, an airplane mechanic, George Lee; Bill Blake, his friend and companion, Frank DeWitt; Henrietta, a romantic spinster, Gene Ridder; Dick Taylor, from the Super-Supreme Film Company, Dave Benner; Hassan's bodyguard, Reuben Rodeheaver. Others in the chorus will play the part of natives, dancers, and tourists.

Prices of tickets are thirty-five cents for student tickets and seventy-five cents for adults.

Check Wiring Systems For Electrical Safety

An electrical wiring system is no better than its weakest link. That is the opinion of A. V. Krewatch, agricultural engineer, University of Maryland Extension Service.

Krewatch says that a poorly installed new extension or repair job can make a safe wiring system hazardous. He recommends that electrical wiring, additions or repairs be checked by a qualified person. In many Maryland counties, because of county laws, it is necessary that wiring be done by qualified electricians. Temporary wiring, unnecessary extension cords, and other makeshift installation should be avoided.

Even the best wiring systems need some attention now and then, says Krewatch. Check outside wiring often for broken insulators, frayed insulation, and loose or sagging wires that may contact trees and other obstructions. Inside the buildings, watch for defective outlets or switches, loose clamps at junctions, and damaged insulation or worn fixtures.

Appliance cords need frequent attention. When defective, discard or repair them immediately. When purchasing replacement cords or plugs, choose those of good quality that are right type and size-wise for the intended use. Avoid plastic caps that break easily or those which cannot be grasped firmly when pulled from a receptacle.

Use cords with asbestos insulation for heating appliances and heavy rubber jacketed cords for motor equipment. Avoid unnecessary kinking, twisting, knotting or exposure to heat and mechanical injury.

Watch your circuit loads and fusing. An ordinary household circuit with a No. 14 wire should be protected by a 15 ampere fuse—no larger. When a fuse blows, something is wrong—too much load on the circuit or a short circuit somewhere. Locate and remove the source of trouble before inserting a new fuse, and then be sure to use the proper size. Before attempting electrical repair jobs, always disconnect the current.

Washington's Garrett County Visits Recorded On Highway Markers

The many visits of George Washington to Garrett county at various times in his career are duly recorded on some of the highway markers along local highways.

One marker, at Little Meadows (shown above) records six times the famous American stopped along Route 40 in this county. The marker is east of Grantsville. Another highway sign on Route 40, at Little Crossings, discloses that the section was "so called by George Washington when he crossed on June 19, 1755 with General Edward Braddock on the ill-fated expedition to Fort Duquesne, Pittsburgh."

Washington is mentioned on one other county road marker, located on the Crellin road near Oakland. Here, it is noted, he stopped while on a surveying tour in an effort to locate a water route to the west. This survey later resulted in the building of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal from Georgetown, D. C., to Cumberland.

It is of local interest to note that the two Route 40 signs are located on what in Washington's time was known as Nemacolin's trail, an ill-defined Indian path through the Great Meadows from Wills Creek. This road, later known as Braddock's Road and still later as the Cumberland Road, was built by the famous British general to serve his armies during the French and Indian War. With military headquarters at Fort Cumberland, Washington and Braddock were closely associated, which explains his frequent excursions into this area.

It was many years later, while on a land survey tour, that Washington stopped, on September 25, 1784, at the cabin of Charles Friend, where McCullough's Path and the Glades Path join, near Oakland. Washington Spring, where the general is reported to have refreshed himself on this journey, is located on the Little Youghiogheny river near the Carnation plant at Oakland.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 77 — OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., MARCH 4, 1954. — PER COPY, 8c. — NUMBER 1.

Worthy of Support . .

Seems like we are always having drives of one kind or another. Most of them are worthy. Particularly do we feel that the American Red Cross is a worthwhile organization, devoted to alleviating human misery.

In recent years we have seen specific examples of the type of work the organization does. It gathers blood which is made available to local and nearby hospitals for transfusions. The blood also provides gamma globulin which is being used to prevent infantile paralysis and infectious hepatitis.

In this week's issue is a letter from an Oakland young woman, Miss Rita Bittle, who tells the type of work the American Red Cross is doing in Japan and Korea, and how much this work is needed even after there are no battle casualties.

Olonzo P. Fike, chairman of this year's drive in the county, pointed out at the kick-off dinner last Thursday night, how the Red Cross aided during the ice storm of 1953, the forest fires of last fall, the assistance given to those who received 589 pints of blood at the hospital, and the help received at Grantsville and Jennings just a few weeks ago in preventing the spread of yellow jaundice. The same thing was true when the tornado struck several years ago. The same organization will be here in case of any disaster. First aid, home nursing and lifesaving are some of the other ways in which citizens are served.

The Red Cross will continue to strive to take care of many emergencies, but it depends upon the generosity of individuals to provide the funds. This county is asked to provide $3,185, and of that amount $1,700 will remain in this county for local activities. The people of this county surely will open their pocketbooks to give freely to this campaign.

The Oakland Hardware company was given the job of refinishing the floor on second floor of the city hall, with natural finish, including steps and landing, with rubber stair treads, for $150.

A permit was granted W. T. DeWeese to construct an addition, 16 by 30, to the present building of the American Oil company, just off Liberty street.

Sunday movie tax amounted to $75.45. Receipts totaled $1,911.74 with expenditures amounting to $1,066.45. The clerk reported a balance on hand of $1,531.63. Bills did not include the electric statement.

Dept. Of Geology, Mines And Water Resources Will Have No Say In Gas Drilling Operations

The State Senate enacted House Bill 136 on Tuesday which repealed those sections of an act passed at last year's session of the legislature calling for the regulation of drilling for gas or oil in Maryland.

It takes out all regulations in regard to gas and oil and keeps the regulations of a former measure which gives the regulation, development, production and utilization of other natural resources in the state in the hands of the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources.

As passed last year the new sections gave the Department certain rights to promote rules and regulations considered proper for conserving oil and gas resources but it provded that no rule or regulation adopted by the department should be effective within Garrett county unless the regulations were approved by the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County.

In the first set of proposed regulations last summer the State department had endeavored to set up spacing units in the county of 600 acres. The county's legislators said when previously discussed the maximum of 300 acres had been decided upon, and subsequently the County Commissioners vetoed this proposal.

The legislators further declared when they introduced the bill for repeal, that since the action of the Commissioners, Dr. Joseph Singewald, state geologist, had refused to issue any drilling permits in the county.

One of the promoters of drilling in the county also had taken the measure before a Baltimore city court in an effort to have declared unconstitutional that portion of the law giving the right of refusal to the Garrett County Commissioners over regulations affecting this

License Board Hears Appeal Case

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners, sitting as a board of license commissioners on Tuesday heard the case of the Manhattan hotel of Oakland and will issue a written opinion soon.

Stuart Hamill, Jr., and William O. Treacy represented the licensee of the hotel, Mrs. Margaret Fay Sheche.

The board revoked the beer license of the hotel after it was raided and two of its employes pleaded guilty last month of violating the county's alcoholic beverage laws by selling liquor. Beer is the only alcoholic beverage that can be sold legally in the county.

Hamill and Treacy both sought to have the board change its decision of one of revocation to one of four months suspension, pointing out that the other first offender, the American Legion club, received this sentence. Other second offenders also had their licenses revoked which means they cannot apply again for two years.

Two years ago another licensee of the hotel, Mrs. Frances Sheche, was ordered to give up the license as she was a resident of another state. At the time one of the proprietors was charged with knowingly permitting gambling in the premises adjoining the hotel which housed the Amvets. At the time the Amvets were fined for having whiskey in their possession and the hotel owners were charged with selling beer on Sunday.

A petition seeking a review of the board's action was filed in the Circuit court but the petition was withdrawn when the board granted the licensee a hearing.

Carlton Whitmer Is Shot Accidentally

Is Patient In Oakland Hospital After .38-Calibre Bullet Enters Right Hip

Carlton Whitmer, aged 16, is a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland after having been shot accidentally by his brother, Glenn Whitmer, on Sunday afternoon.

The accident occurred about 3:45 o'clock right after the younger man drove up to Glenn Whitmer's home at Gortner. Young Whitmer was carrying a holster around his body with a .38 calibre Iver Johnson pistol. As he approached his older brother, the latter made a playful lunge for the gun and as the younger one drew back, the gun was brought out of the holster, the movement apparently cocking the gun. The gun was in Glenn Whitmer's hand when it went off at close range, entering Carlton's right hip.

Sheriff Paul W. Fisher, who investigated the case, said both persons gave the same account of the happening and both stated it was entirely accidental.

The bullet lodged so close to the spine that it was thought best not to attempt to remove it at this time, and he remains a hospital patient.

Save Sawmill From Destruction By Fire

Oakland firemen, called out last Saturday morning about 7:30, aided materially in saving a sawmill on route 50 from complete destruction.

The sawmill was operated by Jackel Sausmann, and was located about two miles west of Red House. The fire was caused when a motor caught on fire when workmen were attempting to thaw it, and the flames spread to the surrounding area.

53 Percent of 1954 Taxes Are Collected

County tax collections for the first two months of the year are almost 54 percent of the total, it was announced by G. Harold Yutzy, county treasurer. This is about two percent under the amount for the first two months of 1953 when 56 percent had been collected. The exact figure as of March 1 this year was 53.87 percent.

Five percent discount is allowed on county taxes if paid during January or February. Four percent will be allowed on county taxes if paid during March or April, and three percent if paid during May or June. There is no discount on taxes paid after that date.

Yutzy said the collections to March 1 had totaled $297,169.74, with discounts allowed taxpayers, $16,178.03, making a total of $313,-801.86. According to figures in the annual levy he is charged with collecting $582,455.50, less the discounts allowed taxpayers. The report was made this week to the County Commissioners.

Mr. Yutzy has issued around 500 passenger automobile license plates since February 23. Some car owners already have placed them on their automobles, as this was permissable March 1.

Government Ready To Contribute To Hospital Addition

Is Prepared To Furnish $110,000 Toward Construction of Wing

It was announced through U.S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde this week that the Federal government was prepared to contribute $110,000 toward construction of a twenty-bed addition to the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved the application under the provisions of the Hospital Survey and Construction Act. The total estimated cost of the addition is $330,000 and the Federal government estimates its contribution at $110,000 or one-third.

Bids for the addition of a wing to the hospital will be advertised around the middle of March, according to J. Edward Helbig, president of the County Commissioners and president of the hospital's board of governors.

Application for assistance on the project was made some time ago and the legislature in 1953 made provision for the Commissioners to borrow up to $200,000 to complete the addition. Enlargement of the hospital has been made necessary because of crowded conditions in the hospital that was built in 1950.

Helbig, himself a patient in the hospital since suffering a heart attack three weeks ago, said the original structure cost $625,000, financed by a bequest from George W. Loar, by local contributions of over $100,000 and by a grant from the Federal government.

This next work will be financed through Oakland banks, according to Helbig, at a saving to the taxpayers. The addition will provide 20 more beds, more space for the bookkeeping department and quarters for the Garrett county health department.

Helbig said he had been informed by the architects designing the new addition that plans would be ready soon. Johannes and Murray, Silver Spring, are the architects.

Helbig commented that there have been patients bedded in the halls ever since he was hospitalized three weeks ago.

School Operetta Set For Tuesday

Director Says "Sheik Of Araby" Will Be Here In Person

The Belle of Bagdad, an operetta, will be presented next Tuesday evening, March 9, at Southern High school by the Senior High School chorus. The play will be given in the school gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

Rehearsals have been in progress for the past two weeks under the direction of Mrs. Russell H. Brown. As an added attraction Mrs. Brown announced this week that "The Sheik of Araby" would be in Oakland in person on that evening. When pressed for additional details of the "sheik's" appearance, Mrs. Brown admitted that the "person" might be Tommy Turney, local high school student, who has won quite a reputation in recent months as an impersonator.

Three Arrested on Charges of Larceny

Three Garrett county persons of the Underwood section were arrested last week on charges of larceny and breaking and entering. The charges against Alvie Thomas, John Thomas and Elmer Dilsworth were preferred by Eberry Arbogast, of near Red House, who said the trio had gone to a vacant house on his farm and had taken some window sash and a roll of brick siding. The arrests were made by Sheriff Fisher, Deputy E. J. Frantz and Corporal Sam Conrad of the State Police, on Friday night.

At a hearng before Magistrate W. O. Bitzer in Oakland on Tuesday afternoon Alvie Thomas and John Thomas were held under $500 bond for action of the March Term grand jury. Dilsworth was released on his own recognizance, to appear when called.

Ort Groves, of Mt. Lake Park, also charged on the books of Magistrate Bitzer with larceny of a purse belonging to Mrs. Helen V. Kalbaugh, also of Mt. Lake Park, was released when Mrs. Kalbaugh appeared before the magistrate and asked that the charges be withdrawn. Groves was arrested Saturday in Oakland.

Hear Road Delegation

Josephine Clark visited Mary The County Commissioners listened to complaints about road conditions in the Dry Run section on Tuesday at their regular meeting.

Twenty-five residents of that area, headed by Joe Faulkner, asked for improvement of the road leading from Dan Green's, on the Swanton-Bittinger road, toward the Savage river dam.

The Commissioners said they would consider the problem and let them know as soon as possible. Routine business occupied the balance of this week's session.

Plans Shaping Up For Summer Season Stock Car Racing

Stock car racing this summer at the Deep Creek Speedway at McHenry will be done on Sunday afternoons, it was definitely decided this week by the owners.

It had been announced tentatively earlier this year that they were trying to make arrangements to have night races, either on Friday or Saturday nights.

The definite time of Sunday afternoon was selected again when it was learned that groups at Reedsville and Elkins, W. Va., were having races on Friday nights and a group at Cheat Lake was having races on Saturday nights. Inasmuch as many of the drivers would also be competing at these places, it was felt advisable to keep the Sunday date for Deep Creek. However, it was stated that the races would be held only on Sunday afternoons and that there would be no races on special holidays or two days in a row. Opening date will be Sunday, May 23.

There will be a meeting at the City Hall in Oakland on March 16, at 7 p. m., for all local drivers and stock car owners, to discuss various phases of the coming season, purses, times of races and particular types of races. At present it is the plan to have heat races at 1 o'clock, with the first race at 2. All races will be completed by 4:45.

Special Events Planned

Owners said they also were planning for some special events during the summer season at night, including wrestling matches. A portable stage is now being constructed, with plans made for special lighting.

Bloodmobile Unit To Be At Accident Monday, March 29

Accident And Friendsville Areas To Cooperate In Visit

The Red Cross bloodmobile unit will be in Garrett county for the second time this year on Monday, March 29, it was announced by Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman.

This time the bloodmobile will be at Accident and persons of Friendsville and Accident areas are cooperating in this event. The unit will be set up at the Accident fire hall and will be operated from 12 o'clock noon until 6 o'clock p. m.

Serving as chairmen for the area are Paul Muha, for Friendsville area; and Mrs. Marvin Callis, Accident area. Mr. Muha said Tuesday that letters already had been sent out to residents in both areas advising them of the date and time of the visit and asking for their help.

Committees are making arrangements to provide transportation for any citizen pledging a pint of blood, and this service is being offered by members of the Friendsville Rotary club.

The letters are urging all citizens 18 to 60, in good physical condition to donate blood on that day. Some of this blood will be used by the Garrett County Memorial hospital for emergency needs.

The bloodmobile unit is expected to visit the Grantsville area at a later date. During the first visit in the county in 1954, at Oakland, citizens gave 119 pints of blood. The quota usually sought is 150 pints.

Riot and Assault Case Still Postponed

The hearing on charges of riot and assault upon a bulldozer operator, against three Kitzmiller men, is still postponed pending recovery of the prosecuting witness.

The defendants are Mike Ray, Chester Evans and Darrell Rohrbaugh, who were released under $500 bond each following their arrest early in February. The trial was scheduled before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer on February 18. At this time Virgil Secrist, operator for the E. E. Feller Coal company, was in the hospital at Keyser. Sheriff Paul Fisher said the trial would be held when the witness is able to appear.

Work Of Red Cross In Far East Is Told By Local Young Woman

Some of the work that the American Red Cross does with members of the armed forces is told in a letter this week from Miss Rita Bittle, who was in Korea during operation "Big Switch," and since that time has been in Japan. She is a Red Cross recreation worker who has been in the Far East for two years. She expects to leave for the States the latter part of March and will arrive home shortly after Easter. Since the American Red Cross campaign for funds got underway this week, we reprint the letter in full so that persons at home may get some idea of the diversified work carried on by that organization. Miss Bittle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster D. Bittle, Oakland.

Mr. George Hanst
THE REPUBLICAN
Oakland, Maryland.

Dear George:

Received your letter several days ago as I was thoughtfully eyeing my luggage in preparation for my return to the States next month. My tour in the Far East has seemingly been a very short eighteen months, in fact, it's difficult for me to believe that I've been working in Red Cross Hospital Service for almost three years! During these three years, I've had assignments in five different military hospitals (Army and Navy) in the States, Japan, and Korea, plus the opportunity to work with the repatriates at "Big Switch."

My position on a Red Cross staff is hospital recreation worker. Depending on the patient capacity of the hospital, the Red Cross assigns a number of workers who have college degrees in the social group work field. As recreation workers we are responsible for planning and conducting medically approved recreation programs and activities for the patients. We are sometimes confused with occupational therapists in the hospitals; however, our objective is not necessarily rehabilitation but is to help in the patient's release of tension and boredom through leisure time activity in which he participates voluntarily.

The type of programs varies depending on the types of patients and facilities available, but whether it's overseas or at home there are specific services that we provide. To mention a few, we provide

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

March Is Feminine Gender

March is a moody old gal. Reminds me of some people I know. In fact I believe I see a bit of myself in her. One day bright, the next blustery. Always changing her mind; in fact, she can hardly make up her mind.

But there is something about her that beckons one on to have hope—and to get out the seed catalog and to buy a few onion sets. She even inspires some ambitious souls to clean dresser drawers.

—o—

Conversation about house cleaning is like the sap in the sugar maples—it's on the up and up.

—o—

It's A Pick Up

Now that coffee is the price it is some folk are taking to tea again and finding it has a real pick up—especially if you follow a new type of advertisement that says a teaspoon of sugar will raise your blood sugar level—whatever that is.

Many old timers think there's nothing like sassafras at this time of year to give them zip. Makes your blood thin, they say.

Another way to thin the blood is to give a pint of it away. When I finally got enough to give I thought for a couple of days I'd given my last drop and was heading for a lazy spring.

Lazy? No! Never felt in a better mood for work. It's as good as lemon instead of salt, or sugar in tea, or a brewed pot of sassafras bark. Whether my blood sugar level is up or my blood thinner, I believe I gained the extra push by losing a pint.

A Squabble Over Scrabble

It's a squabble over Scrabble at our house these days. That's the game we had never heard of until Christmas. It's the reason the card table hasn't been down since, and the book case has a vacancy just the size of Webster's dictionary.

If by chance one needs to look up the meaning or the spelling of a word he first turns toward the card table, and if not there it's sure to be on the floor by the daughter's bed which once was the comic book catcher.

In these two months Webster has been used more than in the last five years. Some of the queerest sounding words are between its covers.

In case you aren't familiar with this crazy sounding Scrabble, I can introduce it by saying it's a first cousin to crossword puzzles and a grandchild of anagrams. It appeals to all ages who can halfway spell.

The youngest in our household comes up with the strangest words of all. Guess it's because she's willing to take a chance. More often than not she'll prove us wrong when we say, "There is no such word."

For instance she'll get squelched for even thinking there's such a word as FID. But she proved her point by Webster and stuck in a bit of humor with "I get fid in my throat when I get scared." (She meant a small lump—and we learn too.) She goes off the deep end with "visorwoe" and Webster will have none of that. In this game he's boss.

Now the old folk—they get thick headed. When anyone above first grade, after figuring all the plays, asks, "does D O O R spell anything?" you're ready to go to the foot of the class.

Take father, who prides himself on spelling and fumes a bit if the proof reader doesn't catch every mistake—he comes up with the word T H I N E.

"Isn't that something or other like basil that you put in soup?"

"That's 'thyme,' pronounced 'time'."

"Fiddlesticks," says he, taking another look. "It's t h i n e. Have thine own way." His expression takes on that of a self conscious nut as he drops THINE into place while he gets the hee-haw from the rest of us.

Scrabble is a scrapping game, partly based on wit, partly on chance. But it's a real game for two or three or four and it can really take your mind off your troubles.

—o—

Speaking Of Troubles

I read recently where some minister in trying to help people live more abundantly, suggested that we not worry about anything today that is not worth worrying about next week.

He said, "stop and think! What were you worrying about this time last week?" Most usually we can't even remember.

But as I glance at the clock I find the same old worry hacking away at me. "It's almost lunch time and here I sit with nothing going through my mind, and nothing for lunch."

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life

By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER

Pastor, Grace Reformed Church

Washington, D. C.

Bigness

Does mere bigness get more of your attention than you think reasonable? If so, you're in popular company. Almost anywhere you can find a carbon copy of that man in the Gospels who was so obsessed with bigness that he kept building bigger and bigger barns for bigger and bigger crops, as though that's all there is to life.

Whatever it is you're doing, determine whether it's deep enough, not only big enough. Discover whether it goes to the depths as well as the heights. Ask yourself whether it's good work? Is it doing anybody any good? Is it constructive? Is it contributing to the general welfare of the community in which you live? The sad fact is that some of the biggest businesses in the land aren't doing much good for anybody.

If you really want to be big, then be big-hearted. But let's not give any more business to mere bigness, the word that can change your life.

county. Since the 1953 law has now been repealed, everything will revert to its former status.

Other Legislation

The House concurred in Senate amendments and enacted a bill to require persons under 21 to prove financial responsibility when applying for a driver's license.

The Senate enacted House bill 89 to allow deduction of federal income taxes in paying state income taxes.

The assembly voted to allow Maryland municipalities to govern themselves, subject to a vote in November. This would give municipal governments power to amend their charters, pass strictly local laws and thereby relieve the General Assembly of those burdens.

A bill that would keep two judges in Allegany county even if Maryland voters approved a constitutional amendment on this year's ballot was given an unfavorable report. The amendment would give Garrett county a resident judge in the Third Judicial circuit. The county has never had a judge who lived in that county.

For years it has been the practice to have two judges from Allegany county and one from Washington county in the Third circuit which includes Garrett. The two Allegany county judges handle Circuit court matters in this county at present.

The amendment to give Garrett county a judge has been given an unfavorable report by a subcommittee of the Mines Commission on Judicial Administration.

The House passed a bill to set a minimum three-day sentence for drivers convicted of driving under the influence of narcotics or alcohol.

The House passed a bill by Delegate Green to set the 1955 real estate tax rate at 10.39 cents per $100 valuation.

The Senate crushed Del. Whitworth's plan to redistribute the utilities shares tax by taking away more than three million dollars from Baltimore City and three counties and giving it to the other 20 counties.

The budget bill passed the legislature giving 237 million dollars to the state to pay its bills for the year beginning July 1.

The legislature set the real estate levy at 10.89 cents, as compared to 5.67 for this year but it had been expected to jump to 11.89.

Auto owners also got assurance they may buy tags in 1955 as cheaply as this year.

The House of Delegates agreed to let Maryland people decide whether or not to pay a bonus to war veterans but the Senate still had this one to vote on last night.

Students Conduct Survey on Deer

Dear Sportsmen:

We of the 11B core class of Southern High School have conducted a survey on deer season in Maryland. This survey was conducted in a cross section of Garrett County to find out how the people felt about a doe season.

This survey consisted of the following questions:

1. What part of Garrett County do you live in?
2. Occupation? Age?
3. How many years have you hunted deer in Maryland?
4. How many deer have you killed in Maryland?
5. What was the average weight of the deer that you killed?
6. Have you ever gone out of Maryland to go deer hunting?
7. Are you in favor of a doe season? Yes? No?
8. Why?

Two hundred and forty-three hunters filled out our survey. From our survey it showed that it took these 243 hunters a total of 1329 years to kill 345 deer. It took approximately five years for each of these hunters to kill one deer. The average weight of the 345 deer killed by these 243 hunters was 137 pounds. Out of the numbers that filled out our survey 105 were in favor of a doe season and 120 were against it. Some of the reasons for a doe season were the following: There are too many does. We would have bigger deer. Some of the reasons against a doe season were: Too dangerous. Poachers keep them thinned out.

We are going to follow this letter up with one or two more articles to show how many other states have built up their deer herds by having a doe season. If anyone has a question about this letter we would appreciate it if he would write to Southern High School 11B Core Class and we will try to answer it in our next articles.

Demonstration on Mine Rescue Listed

The Maryland Bureau of Mines plans an extensive demonstration on rescue of persons trapped in debris or earth, at a rescue field day to be held Saturday, March 27, at 11 a. m., in Beall High stadium, Frostburg.

The program is being prepared in conjunction with the Civil Defense activities. Frank T. Powers, director of the Bureau of Mines, said two mine rescue teams would be on hand to display their skill.

One will be the Kitzmiller Mine Safety crew that held the national championship during 1951 and 1952. The other will be from Georges Creek area.

Earth will be piled up to show how these teams tunnel into areas that are cut off by cave-ins. Sherley Ewing, state CD director, commented that there are only 870 persons in Maryland who know how to dig people out of bombed debris. He called for a minimum of 10,000 rescue workers for an emergency.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Washington, March 1, 1954.—This week I should like to discuss the McCarran-Walter Immigration and Nationality Act, about which there has been considerable recent controversy. This law—the result of years of intensive study; endorsed by every department of the Federal Government to which it was submitted, and by over 100 nationwide patriotic, civic and religious organizations; and passed overwhelmingly by the Congress over the veto of President Truman—has three principal phases:

First, the Act revises and codifies all of the pre-existing laws on the subject which consisted of veritable hodge-podge of thousands of provisions.

Second, the Act closes the loopholes through which Communists, criminals and other subversives have been gaining admission into our country to further the designs of the international Communist conspiracy. The revelations of our Internal Security Subcommittee establish conclusively the intimate relationship between the immigration and naturalization system and the Communist conspiracy which is an alien seed transplanted to these shores. Already, since the enactment of the McCarran-Walter Act, over 10,000 cases have been instituted looking toward deportation of alien Communists.

Third, the Act liberalizes the requirements for admissibility and humanizes many of the rigid, inflexible provisions of the old archaic laws.

1. Although under the old laws certain races were inadmissible to the United States and to citizenship, under the McCarran-Walter Act no alien is inadmissible for permanent residence or to citizenship on the basis of his race and a quota is established for every quota area based on the same formula as every other quota area.

2. Under the inflexible provisions of the old law great difficulty was often experienced because of the separation of families, but under the McCarran-Walter Act special preferences in the allocation of quotas are provided so as to keep families together. Stepchildren are accorded the same status as blood children and both spouses and children of citizens are admitted nonquota without numerical limitations.

3. Although the McCarran-Walter Act is tough on real Communists, the Act has redemption features for aliens who have broken with the Party or who were innocent victims of the Party, or were dupes.

The Communists, unsuspecting liberals, and "do-gooders," and those others who are seeking to repeal the Act or to emasculate it with weakening amendments have claimed that under the McCarran-Walter Act, immigration to this country is reduced to a "trickle." The fact, however, is that since these and other liberalizing provisions of the Act have gone into effect immigration has actually increased, but we are able to effectively screen out those who would subvert this country and its institutions.

Work Of Red Cross

musical equipment, such as guitars, banjos, radios, and phonographs. In most of the hospitals we have a crafts program consisting of short-term craftswork. For those patients in bed we furnish bedside games, crafts, reading materials, and plan ward parties with the patients. There are very few hospitals that don't have an ARC lounge or auditorium where the ambulatory patients are provided with ping pong, pool, table games, phonographs, piano, and reading material. We also plan tours to local places of interest which the patients have found to be particularly interesting and instructive here in Japan. In the States and Japan, we are very fortunate to have American and U.N. women who serve as Gray Lady volunteers. Their services include purchasing, wrapping and mailing of packages; teaching crafts; writing letters; distributing reading material; and doing specific services for individuals under the supervision of the ARC staff. There are also volunteer groups that come to the hospitals through ARC with entertainment such as musical groups, hosts and hostesses, and other entertainment specialties. All of this helps to provide valuable assistance to the mental and physical recovery of the patients.

In the hospitals in Korea during the war we attempted to provide the same type of program and activities for the battle casualties before they were evacuated to Japan. How often I wished for Gray Ladies to help keep up with the many, many requests that flowed into our office! It was there that I learned to work in a quonset hut while thirty or forty patients entertained themselves playing games, the piano, guitar, radio and phonograph—all at the same time! Our lounge was always an amazing place to the fellows from the front with its bright colored drapes, comfortable chairs and couches, card tables, writing desks, and few of the comforts of home. An episode that occurred over and over again to all of us was to be working at our desks and notice a fellow just sitting and staring at us and upon inquiring if he wanted something to receive the answer "No ma'm, it's just been so long since I've seen an American girl!" We met every train or plane load of patients as they arrived at the hospitals and checked to be sure they all had what we call comfort items (tooth brushes, soap, shaving equipment, etc.) as most of them had lost their belongings. We also checked with each group again before they were evacuated to Japan. The one request that even outnumber cigarettes was to simply sit down for a few minutes and talk. It was impossible to remember each patient's name during his short stay in the hospitals in Korea, but we did try to remember home states as it was not unusual to reunite "home-town buddies" who might be in the same hospital but not the same ward. Several times a month we received homemade cookies from Red Cross volunteers in Japan. Awed patients commented "You mean REAL AMERICAN women baked these?" as we distributed them in the wards. The UN patients were always a challenge since very few of them spoke or understood English; however, with the help of American patients we were able to teach them to play checkers, do jigsaw puzzles, and a few card games by playing "charades." Just try to settle a minor dispute in game rules when the six players are six different nationalities and five understand only gestures!

Thankfully, we are no longer receiving battle casualties in the hospitals; however, the cease of fighting in Korea does not mean there are no longer any military patients, as illnesses and accidents still occur. These patients have the same anxieties and boredom that result from hospitalization. Our hospital program functions during peace as well as during war. Only now it is possible to know a patient by his name rather than state or bed number so we are able to give him more individual attention, learn his interests, and help him develop new interests during his stay in the hospital. Overseas, especially, few servicemen have their families so we like to think our Red Cross contact as "a home away from home." Hospital staff as well as patients come to us to talk over their problems, to show us the latest snapshots from home, or just to talk.

I hope this helps to explain a little of my work in the Red Cross and its services to the serviceman in military hospitals. It's been both challenging and rewarding to all of us.

Sincerely,
Rita Bittle

United States Senator from Maryland

March 15th is near at hand and in addition to the tax which must be paid—that alone is disturbing enough—the income tax return itself appears an almost insurmountable maze of blanks, squares to be checked, and arithmetical problems confusing to an electronic computing monster.

The average taxpayer wants, expects—and will get—a reduction in personal income tax, but would also greatly appreciate a simplified system of informing the government of what he earned and how much tax he pays.

When the Eisenhower Administration took office and started making changes in Washington one of the first things looked into was the possibilties of simplifying the forms used in filing returns.

Some 35 million people will be pleased to learn that after this year they may not have to file a return with the Federal Government each March 15th. Internal Revenue has discovered that by obtaining a little more information on the W-4 (that slip of paper your employer has to compute your withholding tax) 35 million citizens would have their tax accurately computed and the government could tell at a glance whether they deserved a refund or a bill for more money.

Proposals to accomplish this will be shortly submitted to Congress and will surely enjoy almost unanimous approval. Internal Revenue says the "new W-4 will be a junior size 1040"—a glance at one page of a current Form 1040 shows approximately fifty blanks, squares, or dotted lines, all complicated by instructions to "add amounts shown in items 2 and 3, and enter total here," or "enter your tax from table on page 4, or from line 13, page 3.

There is something wrong when a small taxpayer feels it is necessary to surround himself with a small army of lawyers and certified public accountants in order to determine how much he should pay the government.

In this field the Administration is making great strides and the Congress, through the House Ways and Means Committee, is continuing to look into possible tax reductions and exemptions.

Simplified tax return forms would be helpful not only to the individual but to the government as well.

Of the 60 million returns filed, some 15 million, or one out of four, are erroneous—mistakes not intended to defraud the government of any money due.

Certainly no one is going to look forward to March 15th as a holiday but the agony of filing a return can be reduced, and it may be that some 35 billion of us will approach future March 15ths with greater peace of mind.

Primary To Be Held Monday, June 28th

Maryland's primary elections will be held on Monday, June 28, after all.

The House Judiciary committee turned thumbs down on a bill to advance the election two weeks to June 14 for the convenience of Shrine members.

The National Shrine convention will be held in Atlantic City, June 28, and sponsors of the bill in the Maryland legislature had hoped to make it possible for them to attend that session without being absent on election day.

Radar in Operation

State Police had the radar unit, designed to register the speed of automobiles, in action in Garrett County Saturday and Sunday. Saturday the motorists were clocked in the Grantsville area, and on Sunday Corporal Sam Conrad had it in use on U.S. route 219, near Oakland, and around Mt. Lake Park.

A number of warning tickets were issued to speeders.

Scouts Play Ball

In boy scout basketball games on Wednesday night Mt. Lake Park defeated Oakland C 11 to 4, Crellin defeated Oakland B 11 to 5; Crellin explorers defeated Oakland explorers 38 to 12; Crellin defeated Oakland A 19 to 13; Oakland C defeated Oakland B 10 to 8 and Oakland A defeated Mt. Lake 24 to 11. James DeMoss and Timmy Sisler served as referees.

March Winds Bring Worst Storm of Year

March winds brought the winter's worst storm to Garrett county this week, and the past week-end brought the greatest amount of rainfall to the area in the past several months.

After a blustery night of high winds and swirling snow, the temperature dropped to 10 degrees above zero this morning, and it was predicted it would drop even lower tonight.

About two inches of snow fell yesterday and last night to add to the four or five inches which fell earlier in the week.

A resume of the week's weather showed rain on Friday, later turning to snow. Saturday was icy with Sunday moderating, turning to more rain at night. There was some sleet and snow on Monday morning with more snow falling Monday in a cold and blustery atmosphere. Tuesday dawned clear and the weather moderated during the day. More rain fell Wednesday, turning to snow later in the day with a regular blizzard occurring toward evening. Snow continued to fall today.

School busses experienced little trouble in meeting their schedules. Snow plows kept the highways open. There was some drifting because of the high winds and some roads were icy.

The weather man predicted that the cold spell would ease by the week-end.

Red Cross Begins Annual Fund Drive

A movie showing the activities of the Red Cross during 1953 was shown. Rev. Fike spoke briefly on what was done during 1953 and pointed out that those who worked for the organization did many things for "your community, your nation and your world through the American Red Cross.

"You were there at Munsan, Korea, when our boys left the Communist prisons and came through freedom gate. You were there during the ice storm at Accident giving hot coffee and food to those who labored long and hard to restore power and telephone service. You were there during the fire last fall at Yough River giving first aid and refreshments to volunteers who fought to save our forests. You were there by the beds of those who received 589 pints of blood in the Garrett County Memorial hospital during 1953, because YOU WERE THE RED CROSS."

He declared as people give their money and time for the 1954 fund that they will be there again by the side of those who need most a helping hand in disaster, grief and pain.

Mrs. E. Z. Tower was recognized for her 37 years of service in the county and Mrs. Grover C. Stemple was recognized for her work with the blood recruitment program. Miss Floss Shaffer, treasurer, read a report of monies spent. Mrs. Arthur Ofsthun and D. C. MacMurray were presented pins signifying they had given 8 pints of blood, making them members of the Gallon Club.

A Message from Clinton W. Englander, "Your Pharmacist"

NOT SO LONG AGO a visit to a Dentist was something to be feared. The average person therefore waited until a cavity grew so large and painful that his Dentist would have to extract the tooth.

HOW DIFFERENT IT IS NOW. You go to your Dentist before your trouble is serious, because MODERN DENTISTS are more concerned with the preserving of your teeth, than their extraction.

THE DENTAL PROFESSION is also having its "MIRACLE AGE." Many new chemicals and antibiotics have been perfected for Dental use, so that if you have recurring troubles with your teeth, proper Dental advice can help you.

YOUR MODERN DENTIST now prescribes the proper Vitamins or Minerals you or your children lack. He applies treatments that help to prevent cavities and receding gums.

AS "YOUR PHARMACIST," we are carefully observing the newest Dental discoveries, so that we can compound your Dentist's prescriptions, and supply the Dental Aids he may recommend.

WE SINCERELY ADVISE YOU to visit your Dentist at regular intervals. He can now do more for you than was possible in past years.
